SENATE

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 1961.

The Senate met at 1:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The PRESIDENT. The prayer today will be offered by a very old and dear friend of mine, a gentleman with whom I had the privilege of going to high school, the Reverend Doctor Mervin A. Heller, Executive Secretary of the Greater Reading Council of Churches, Reading Pennsylvania.

The Chaplain, Rev. DOCTOR MERVIN A. HELLER, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, we thank Thee for all the blessings of this life and, especially, for those that are ours in this free land; for the fruits of the soil, the untold resources of the earth, the opportunities for work and play and healthful living; for liberty in speech and written word; for public education and regard for every man's welfare. We pray Thee that, as we thank Thee for these and all Thy mercies, Thou wilt continue Thy good hand upon us and make our Nation great in that greatness which alone is pleasing to Thee, even the righteousness which is the doing of Thy holy will.

O Thou, Who art the God of generations of men, we thank Thee for all who have walked humbly with Thee. Especially do we pray for Representative Agnew, in whose life we have seen the vision of Thy beauty. May we know that in the body or out of the body, he is with Thee. Make us glad in his living; comfort and teach us through his dying.

Unite us still, God of our souls, in one household of faith and love; one family in heaven and upon earth. In Thy Name, we pray. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. May I ask the Senate to remain standing for one moment of silence, in deference to the unfortunate death of Representative Agnew?

(Moment of silence was then observed.)

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the bill which I am about to introduce relates to the election of school directors in the school districts of Pennsylvania.

It is very trite to say that education is one of the biggest problems facing any State in the 1960's. I would also add that in a very crucial role, in public education in Pennsylvania, stand the boards of education.

This bill would provide for a different method of electing school directors. The present laws, it would seem to some of us, make it almost impossible for public education in Pennsylvania to call upon many fine citizens and get them to serve on school boards. I am referring to perhaps the thirty per cent of the school districts, where one of the two major parties are so far in the minority that the good leadership in those parties is reluctant to offer themselves as candidates for school director. If they do offer themselves, they have little chance of election.

Mr. President, I think this bill will cause no difference in perhaps sixty or seventy per cent of the school districts of the Commonwealth. I am offering it, primarily, for the twenty, thirty or forty remaining per cent of the school districts in Pennsylvania.

Our former colleague, Senator Ruth, for years—I think he told me for as long as he was here—introduced a bill to elect school directors on a nonpartisan ballot. This bill I would prefer to call a method of electing school directors on a bipartisan basis perhaps, in that it would call for the election of school directors in the same manner as judges of the county courts are now elected. This means that a person could cross-file in the primary election to run for school director.

I hope the Chairman of the Committee, to which this bill is referred, will kindly give consideration to it and urge the Members of the Committee to report it favorably.

Mr. President, this bill has the cosponsorship of Senator Sesler, Senator Seyler and myself.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. HAYS, SESLER and SEYLER presented to the Chair SB 408, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), entitled "Pennsylvania Election Code," providing for bipartisan election of all elected school directors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

Messrs. SEYLER, HAYS, STAISEY, MILLER, YATRON and HALUSKA presented to the Chair SB 409, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1959, (P. L. 350), entitled "Public School Employes' Retirement Code of 1959," by further providing for the duties of the Retirement Board and authorizing the withholding of appropriations to school districts in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Messrs. FLEMING, PROPERT and KESSLER presented to the Chair SB 410, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for and regulating Commonwealth debt for capital improvements and certain other purposes and prohibiting debts and obligations inconsistent therewith.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. STROUP presented to the Chair SB 411, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929, (P. L. 343), entitled "The Fiscal Code," providing for fiscal information for the members of the General Assembly.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Messrs. STROUP, KELLER, SHAFER, SCOTT, and EHRGOOD presented to the Chair SB 412, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949, (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for additional payments to certain school districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

The PRESIDENT. The President of the Senate has been perturbed by the presence of a great many of the younger element in our gallery. I understand, Senator Wade, that you have the information on this group so that we may properly recognize them.

Mr. WADE. Thank you very much, Mr. President.

I am delighted to present to you, and to the Members of the Senate a rather large group from the Newport Union High School. Newport is located, as you know, in Perry County, which is almost the center of the Thirty-first Senatorial District. These young folks are led by Professor Earl Kipp and Professor Don Steinhart.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair might add that the District is ably represented by you, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. I was too modest, Mr. President, to state that.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will add that for you as a postscript.

Mr. WADE. Thank you very much, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the ladies and gentlemen of the Newport Union High School rise, please, and be recognized?

We are very happy to have you with us to see at firsthand the workings of your Legislative Bodies. We hope you will enjoy yourselves here in Harrisburg.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent at this time to present a resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Senator, if you had waited just one second longer, the next item of business will be Original Resolutions and we could dispense with the unanimous consent. Will you wait just a second, and the Chair will state that the next order of business is Original Resolutions. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Washington County, Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I certainly do appreciate your great favor. As a matter of fact, it is one of the few favors I have received since I have been in the Senate.

Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Weiner, Senator DiSilvestro and myself, I am about to offer a resolution and request its immediate consideration.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDING JOHN S. RICE FOR HIS MANY SERVICES TO PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. LANE, WEINER and DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution (Serial No. 24), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, March 14, 1961.

John S. Rice, Secretary of the Commonwealth, was born in Adams County, educated at Ardentsville, Gettysburg Academy and Gettysburg College. His college career was interrupted by World War I. In 1921, he finished Gettysburg College with high honors.

He organized a number of manufacturing concerns and also became interested in fruit growing.

He launched his highly successful political career in 1932 as a write-in candidate for Senator from the Adams-Franklin District and was elected. His outstanding record as a public servant is a matter of public record. His record is such that it has come to the attention of the present Administration in Washington, with the result that he has been selected as Ambassador to Holland.

We are, indeed, sorry to lose the public service of John S. Rice, but we are proud that a fellow Pennsylvanian has been chosen for this high office. It is with much regret that we note our loss of the services of John S. Rice as a public servant; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby commend John S. Rice for his many services to this State and his unfailing services to the public; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to John S. Rice, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

EXPRESSING REGRET UPON THE DEATH OF REPRESENTATIVE WILLARD F. AGNEW, JR.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, possibly the reason Senator Lane was unaware that Original Resolutions was the next order of business is due to the situation which occurred this morning, because the Majority Leader and I and all of our colleagues understood that we would omit the major portion of the regular business of this session due to the very tragic death of Representative Willard F. Agnew, who was the Minority Leader in the House of Representatives.

His death occurred this morning in the early hours, and we were apprised of it ourselves around 7:30 or 8:00 o'clock. The House of Representatives very properly opened, offered a prayer, and adjourned. We agreed that we, in the Senate, out of respect to Representative Agnew, would do only those things which were essential, and, as Senator Weiner has done, would pass over the Calendar and omit other business.

Mr. President, at this time, due to the fact that the shocking news is so new to us, it is impossible for me to eulogize this young man, who was only thirty-seven years of age, and was an able, intelligent, aggressive and likeable young man who had the respect of all of his colleagues, including all of us in the Senate on both sides of the aisle.

Consequently, Mr. President, I thank the gentlemen of the Senate, on behalf of the Members of the House who were close to Representative Agnew, for deferring as they have in the business of the Senate to his memory.

It is very difficult, of course, to try to assign or even contemplate a reason for what has happened. I believe this is one time when the meaning of the word "inscrutable" is most apparent to all of us.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Berger. I know that all of us here in the Senate feel so deeply about the death of our colleague, Representative Agnew.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to add to what the Minority Leader has stated.

Representative Agnew was a Member of the Bar, an attorney in Allegheny County, and had been a Member of the House since 1955. I had gotten to know him quite well over the years that we served together in the Legislature.

I think, in a sense, his death sort of highlights the pressure and the amount of difficulty that is entailed in doing the job of a legislator. Too often people get the impression that this is an easy task; that it is the kind of job that people do in which all that takes place is what can be seen. As you can see, there were pressures on this young man who would probably, if not for this extra pressure, still be alive today.

This is one of the problems. We have seen in this Session—and the Session is not too old; we are only in the third month—that we have lost a number of Members in the House, none of whom was an old man or none of whom was a person who had been ailing for years. This business of politics is a tough one. It is relentless. The positions of leadership within this circle are hard ones.

It bespeaks well for all of the Members and the public at large to concern themselves with the kind of service they are getting from the people who represent them here and who try, through many difficult situations, to arrive at just conclusions that will be for the best good of all of the people of the Commonwealth.

Therefore, I feel as a Member of the Legislature,—although Representative Agnew was not a member of my political party—as we say farewell to Mr. Agnew, I think we should consider for a moment the kind of service he gave and the dedication he gave to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to his own Party and to the general area in which we live, the area of politics.

We have lost an important person and a person who was on his way up, I felt, in the business of politics.

GUESTS OF SENATOR SAMUEL B. WOLFE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, a few moments ago when you extended me the privilege of introducing a group from Newport, I was unaware of the fact that a rather large and representative group from the Lewisburg High School, under the leadership of Mrs. Ames, one of their instructors, is also with us today.

On behalf of Senator Wolfe, therefore, I ask you to extend the greetings of the Senate to this representative group.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Wade. Will the representatives from the Lewisburg High School please rise?

We are very happy to have you with us in this Session of the Senate. Thank you again, Senator Wade.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF PUBLIC HEARINGS ON SB 350

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, his morning, the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish had a meeting, and Senate Bill No. 350, which has to do with the Delaware waterways, was discussed.

It was decided by the committee, Mr. President, that on March 28, 1961, a public hearing will be held in Easton, Pennsylvania, at the Courthouse, commencing at 10:00 o'clock.

On March 29, 1961, in Philadelphia, there will be a meeting commencing at 10:00 o'clock in the State Office Building in the quarters of the Lieutenant Governor.

On April 5, 1961, here in Harrisburg, there will be another meeting, and we will designate a place and time for that hearing at that time.

It is the feeling of the committee, Mr. President, that this is a bill of considerable consequence and it is far-reaching. We want to develop and gain as much testimony and information as we can in order that a sensible disposition of this matter might be made.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, March 20, 1961, at 3:00 p.m.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Right Reverend Monsignor ROBERT J. MAHER, of Saint Patrick's Cathedral, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

"Unless the Lord build the house, he labors in vain who builds it . . ."

Upon this assemblage of thoughtful and energetic lawmakers, we pray a divine blessing, O Eternal God, our Creater and the Source of all thought and energy.

On behalf of these Senators of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we ask for the gift of intellectual enlightenment and the direction of their noble purpose to offer sound and practical legislation, all destined for the common good of all the people.

Give to these lawmakers, this day and every day of this Session, an awareness of their titanic responsibility before You, their God, for amicable consultation with colleagues in this Senate, with experts in specialized areas, that they may advise, direct and prescribe in the practical order with a view to the solution of practical problems for the common good.

That the government of Pennsylvania may advance in a fashion consonant with its historic prestige, favorable location and wealth, and enterprising citizens, we ask Thee, O God, to give a full measure of divine direction to each and every Member of this distinguished and esteemed Senate. Let it be possible for the heart of each to know Your compassion; for the mind of each to be filled with Your light and truth; for the mouth of each to speak with Your justice; for the hand of each to write law with a share of Your clarity and Your solicitude for all men. Amen.

HONORABLE JOHN S. RICE INVITED TO ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. As my eyes wander over the visitors to the Senate, I note the presence of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, John S. Rice.

I wonder whether he would come forward.

(Honorable John S. Rice approached the rostrum.)

The PRESIDENT. The other day, the gentleman whom I have just called forward was the subject of a resolution adopted by this Body.

I would particularly like to call on former Senator Rice —now Secretary Rice and Ambassador-to-be—for a word.

REMARKS BY HONORABLE JOHN S. RICE

Mr. RICE. Thank you, Mr. President.

I consider it a distinct honor to have the privilege of appearing before this distinguished Body, one in which I have served. I do consider perhaps the most gratifying experience I have had, in a somewhat varied career, was my service as State Senator in Pennsylvania. That is something which I consider one of the highlights of my career.

I also would like to take this opportunity to express my very deep appreciation for the resolution which was passed the other day by the Members of this Senate. It is something which will be treasured most highly. I deeply appreciate it, particularly since the resolution was sponsored by some of the Members of the Senate who were colleagues of mine at the time I served in the Senate. I think, perhaps, time may have mellowed somewhat and I do appreciate it.

I presume I will be leaving for what will be for me a somewhat different experience than I have ever had. During my service here in Pennsylvania, I have served in several capacities; one as Secretary of the Commonwealth, in which capacity I have tried to be of service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and the other as Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania, where perhaps I may, at times, have been somewhat partisan.

I am now leaving for another assignment and, of course, I do not intend to change my Party registration, nor do I intend to register as an Independent. However, in my new assignment, I will not be in any Party capacity, but will be representing the United States in a foreign country. As such, I will be representing all of the people of the United States.

I do not know when I shall be leaving, but I came over this afternoon because I thought I would just like to spend a little bit of time back in the old haunts. I do appreciate this opportunity and this privilege which you have extended to me.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Secretary Rice.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if I may speak from somewhat of a partisan point of view, I think we are going to miss Colonel Rice. He has been an excellent State Chairman and I believe the results speak for themselves, without my going into any great detail. I know Secretary Rice had a wonderful record here as a Senator. The job which he has done as Secretary of the Commonwealth also speaks for itself, without my going into any great detail.

I think it is certainly fitting that we here in Pennsylvania take great pride in the fact that two of our people who have served in the Governor's Cabinet have been chosen for these positions. These two gentlemen, Colonel Rice and General Biddle, who will represent the United States in foreign countries, might be the only contact with Americans for the people who live on these foreign shores. I think it is also of interest that President Kennedy has seen fit to name both of these gentlemen to represent us and our interests in these foreign lands. I also believe it rises above partisanship to choose men of this caliber. I think we should be justly and doubly proud that one of them has served here in this Senate.

I am very happy that Colonel Rice is going to be with us this afternoon. I hope the gentlemen on the other side will not mind if I call upon him to give us a vote, just in case we need it.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like just a moment to vocalize on its own behalf.

I have had the privilege of working for two years not only with this Body, but with Secretary Rice in his capacity as Secretary of the Commonwealth and, thus, a member of the Pardons Board over which I preside whenever I am away from this august Body. I think the true merit of a man shows up in the very difficult work of the Pardons Board.

Therefore, I can say to you that I, personally, am going to miss him very much as my colleague and as my right hand in the work of the Pardons Board.

Pennsylvania is making a real sacrifice in allowing the United States to have him as our representative in The Netherlands.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think without any question all of us on the Republican side of this Senate join in reiterating the congratulations that were given to ex-Senator John Rice upon his leaving the service of the State of Pennsylvania and entering into new and—if you will—possibly higher fields.

I think that no one will disagree with me when I say that in the various offices which he has occupied in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, both elective and appointive, we are convinced and feel that the service given to all of the people of Pennsylvania, both Republican and Democrat, has been appreciated and was the very best that could be offered.

As to his service as Democratic State Chairman, I cannot say but this: That if they are going to send effective people out of the Country, I would very much go along with that policy, and there are one or two others I might mention.

We do wish Secretary Rice only happiness and success in his new environment, and the good wishes of the people of the Commonwealth go with him.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Berger.

John, we are going to miss you a great deal. However, we do wish you Godspeed on this new venture.

Mr. RICE. Thank you.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

MEMBER OF THE PENNSYLVANIA FAIR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICE COMMISSION

March 20, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate A. Leon Higginbotham, Jr., Esq., (Democrat), 44 West Upsal Street, Philadelphia 19, Philadelphia County, for appointment as a member of the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Commission, until February 21, 1966, or until his successor shall have been duly appointed and qualified, vice Charles R. Brown, Hollidaysburg, resigned.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. RIPP, SARRAF, DEVLIN, STAISEY, FLEMING and McGINNIS presented to the Chair SB 413, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304), entitled, as amended, "Local Health Administration Law," changing the number of signatures required on a petition to dissolve or withdraw from certain departments of health. and changing the form of the question to be submitted to electors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, two of the essential characteristics of Americanism are decency and courtesy. In many instances in the past, the people in Philadelphia have been denied such decency and courtesy on some of the public transportation vehicles, such as buses, trolley cars and, in many instances, cabs. The operators are very rude to the public.

Therefore, in order to protect the public, I am about to submit a bill which would require that each vehicle should have, in a conspicuous place, the name and the photograph of the operator, so if he does get rude and vociferous, at least we will be in a position to know who the person is.

The other bill I am going to introduce deals with transfers. I believe a fraud was perpetrated in Philadelphia when a transfer, enabling a person to travel from one region to another, was made good for only one-half hour. Sometimes you wait a half-hour for a trolley car, and then when you present the pass or transfer, some of them are declared void and the people are charged an additional fare. These two bills will correct those evils.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL presented to the Chair SB 414, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1937 (P. L. 1053), entitled "Public Utility Law," requiring facilities transporting passengers to have on display the name and operator thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

He also presented to the Chair SB 415, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1937 (P. L. 1053), entitled "Public Utility Law," requiring that passes, transfers and tokens issued by common carriers be usable for at least two hours from the time issued.

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, the bill I am about to present, on behalf of Senator Ehrgood and myself, deals with a problem which touches every community in our Commonwealth. We all know of the growing problem which faces families of limited means in sending a worthy son or daughter through college.

Expenses have been rising. Scholarships so far are inadequate. Loans given by the Federal Government are inadequate. This bill, which Senator Ehrgood and I are presenting to this Senate, would create the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority. This Authority would raise money through contributions by corporations or individuals who are interested in helping to provide higher education for students who need it. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would invest very little in this program. As a matter of fact, all this bill calls for is an appropriation of $250,000 to get the Authority rolling. Moneys thereafter would be raised by contributions from corporations and individuals. Students who have proven their worthiness in college, through the first year, would become eligible for a loan. The rates of interest would be moderate. They would not be required to repay the loan until after graduation, and would be given sufficient time until they are able to earn money to repay it.

This would cost the Commonwealth very little, as I said. A revolving fund would be created through the repayments by students who have gone through college, who have been helped by this loan, who are able to earn decent incomes and are able to repay this loan.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this Authority-lending to students has been tried out in the State of Massachusetts, and for the past several years it has been very successful. We certainly should give it an opportunity in our Commonwealth.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SILVERT and EHRGOOD presented to the Chair SB 416, entitled:

An Act creating the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority; defining its powers and duties; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Governor, President pro Tempore of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Department of Banking; and making appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Messrs. SILVERT, DiSILVESTRO and WEINER presented to the Chair SB 417, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 23, 1949 (P. L. 1669), entitled, as amended, "An act to provide revenue for school districts of the first class by imposing a tax on persons engaging in certain businesses, professions, occupations, trades, vocations and commercial activities therein; ....." establishing an alternative appeal procedure in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. MILLER presented to the Chair SB 418, entitled:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the court of common pleas in the thirty-sixth judicial district, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. MURRAY and WEINER presented to the Chair SB 419, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 789), entitled, as amended, "The Insurance Department Act of 1921," constituting insurance agents and brokers fiduciaries with respect to funds received as insurance agents or brokers and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STAISEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, seniority is rewarded in every area of our living except one—old age. This is a circle that is ever increasing. It is one that all of us will ultimately join.

The purpose of the bill I am about to introduce is to induce investments in housing for the aged. The purpose is also to bring to bear on this problem private groups, churches, clubs and groups of that form, and to receive a capital investment from State funds in order to get this type of project going.

Any other Senators who are concerned with this growing problem are welcome to join us in the sponsorship of this bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STAISEY, DEVLIN, SARRAF, RIPP, McGINNIS, SESLER and FLEMING presented to the Chair SB 420, entitled:

An Act providing and regulating assistance for housing for the elderly; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Messrs. DEVLIN, STAISEY, SARRAF, RIPP and McGINNIS presented to the Chair SB 421, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723), entitled "Second Class County Code," authorizing clerks of the courts of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer to appoint solicitors, and prescribing a means for paying the cost of litigation relating to the office of said clerk.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. MAHADY, MURRAY and DEVLIN presented to the Chair SB 422, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897 (P. L. 292), entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation," further specifying the dates for certain reports and clarifying the applicability of the act to building and loan associations and federal and state savings and loan associations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, the bill I am about to introduce calls for an appropriation for the operation of Penn State—the State University of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—for the 1961-1962 year.

Penn State, since the end of World War II, has been providing facilities for higher education for about twelve per cent of the students in higher education in the Commonwealth. It is the judgment of those who administer Penn State that the amount requested in this bill is the amount necessary for Penn State to continue to care for this twelve per cent of the total college population of Pennsylvania.

I understand this request will enable Penn State to increase its 1961-1962 student body by 1,100 students over its enrollment of the current year; 1,100 of the high tidal wave with which each Senator in this Body, I am sure, has already been made cognizant.

You see, this request is not an educational empire-building proposal, but rather instead to continue to make it possible for the State University of this Commonwealth to provide higher education facilities for twelve per cent of the higher education student body, as it has done now for the better part of two decades.

When the present Penn State student body completes its courses, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be richer because these additional trained Pennsylvanians will be ready to help Pennsylvania advance; 4,190 teachers, 4,747 engineers, 1,676 farmers and agricultural scientists, 1,306 chemists, 857 mineral technologists and 6,851 business and professional people. Truly there is a diamond mine in those hills.

I am, accordingly, Mr. President, introducing this bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HAYS presented to the Chair SB 423, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of April 1, 1863 (P. L. 213), entitled "An act to accept the grant of public lands, by the United States, to the several states, for the endowment of agricultural colleges," making an appropriation for carrying the same into effect.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. McCREESH and STASEY presented to the Chair SB 424, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Philadelphia Working Home for the Blind, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania for maintenance and the purchase of apparatus, supplies and equipment.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. KESSLER and PROPERT presented to the Chair SB 425, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for the payment of office expenses of the county superintendent by county board of schools directors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. KESSLER presented to the Chair SB 426, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," further regulating the passing of school buses and school bus loading zones.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. BERGER and WEINER presented to the Chair SB 427, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), entitled "The Insurance Company Law of 1921," authorizing purchase or investment of bonds, notes and obligations issued, assumed or guaranteed by the Inter-American Development Bank.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

They also presented to the Chair SB 428, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624), entitled, as amended, "Banking Code," enlarging the powers of banks, bank and trust companies, and savings banks to deal in fractional interests of evidences of debt.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

Messrs. STEVENSON, LANE, HAYS and MALLERY presented to the Chair SB 429, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 4, 1943 (P. L. 886), entitled, as amended, "Municipal Employes' Retirement Law," reducing the number of employes necessary for the Municipal Employes' Retirement Board to be constituted.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Van Sant and myself, the resolution I am about to introduce concerns an inquiry. I emphasize the word "inquiry"—not investigation, not study or anything of that sort—concerning the Bureau of Highway Safety in the Department of Revenue.

I was very hopeful, along with many Members of this Senate, that the Governor would seriously consider a very stringent, restricted license provision in the Highway Safety Law. However, of course, he seems to be adamant in his position.

I am sure even the Governor does not believe that people should be unduly penalized when they do lose their license. That, I think, is occurring throughout this State. I know it has occurred with many of my constituents in my District who are complaining to me about the fact that they have lost their license and they do not get it back in time. It is a week or two weeks later. Many times they do not even receive their operator's license. This does not only happen in Lebanon County. It may be a Republican territory, but I am sure the Governor would not even like that to occur in such a territory. It has occurred in other places, as well.

Thus, this resolution requests an inquiry into the procedures of the Bureau of Highway Safety; to tighten them up and to see that the people are not unduly penalized by any whim or caprice of some individual in the Bureau of Highway Safety.

This resolution was hastily drawn, incidentally, Mr. President, because I wanted to offer it today inasmuch as I understand a highway safety bill will be coming up for consideration, and I thought this would be a good time to bring this to the attention of the Senators in this Chamber.

Mr. President, on behalf of myself and Senator Van Sant, I am offering this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is this resolution to be acted upon immediately, Senator Ehrgood?

Mr. EHRGOOD. No, Mr. President. I do not believe I am that optimistic.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Ehrgood.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INQUIRE INTO THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE BUREAU OF HIGHWAY SAFETY

Messrs. EHRGOOD and VAN SANT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 112), which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, March 20, 1961.

There are millions of persons in Pennsylvania whose livelihood depends upon the operation of a motor vehicle. These people find it necessary to drive to and from work in order to earn a living, yet many of them are being denied this opportunity because of capricious decisions of the Bureau of Highway Safety.

The executive order of the Governor which gave the bureau the right to suspend operators' privileges was based upon the need for greater safety on our highways. We are all in accord with this need, but there are instances where the bureau has abused its discretion and has not followed the intent of the order. Certainly the Governor did not intend to have drivers lose their licenses upon the whim of any one man, yet this is what is happening in many cases. Possibly the whole program and the administration thereof is getting out of hand, therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, who together shall constitute a committee to inquire into the administration of the Bureau of Highway Safety to determine if its policies are being carried out in the proper manner, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall elect a chairman and such additional officers as it may deem necessary, that the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such case. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall report its findings, together with a recommendation for appropriate legislation, as soon as possible.

WEEKLY ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SESLER offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, March 20, 1961.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, April 4, 1961, at THREE-THIRTY o'clock p.m., E.S.T., unless sooner recalled by the President pro tempore; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvenes Tuesday, April 4, 1961, at FOUR o'clock p.m., E.S.T., unless sooner recalled by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 79—On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, before making a motion, I would like to explain the procedure that I am now about to inaugurate.

I desire to offer an amendment to this bill which is now on the Final Passage Calendar. I intend to move that the vote by which the bill passed Third Reading be reconsidered. If the amendment is adopted or if it is defeated, there will be no objection made to the continued consideration of the bill after it moves back to Third Reading.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate do reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 79 passed Third Reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BERGER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1002), page 2, line 17, by inserting after "operation": and. (iv) the speed recorded is five or more miles per hour in excess of the legal speed limit."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the amendment which I have offered is such that I believe it can be agreed to by every Member of this Senate, particularly in view of the explanation which was made by the Majority Leader as to the use of radar in the enforcement of the Vehicle Code of Pennsylvania.

All or most of us have seen the operation of the radar device and regardless of whether or not we favor its use, we do realize there is some margin of error, although it may be small, in the recordings made by radar. Senator Weiner acknowledged there was such a margin of error, I believe. I also believe Commissioner McCartney agreed to the same thing. He stated that a tolerance of five miles per hour would be permitted in the use of it in the enforcement of the law.

Mr. President, this amendment merely states that no conviction may be had by the use of this device, unless the recorded speed of the vehicle is five miles over the legal speed.

We have on the Calendar a bill, which was amended providing that the Secretary of Highways could establish on any of the highways in Pennsylvania any speed limit, provided it is considered and found to be that that speed limit is a safe limit to use upon that particular highway. I am in favor of that bill. I believe, Mr. President, that the adoption of this amendment will only put into the law what will be the practice in accordance with the statements made by the Commissioner of the State Police and which, I believe, were concurred in as a policy by the Majority Leader.

In brief, Mr. President, to reiterate, it only provides that no conviction shall be had, excepting upon a speed in excess of five miles over the established speed limit upon the highways.

Therefore, Mr. President, I suggest and ask that the Members of the Senate support this amendment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this amendment for the reason that speed limits have been set and for us to go for a variance or say here and write it out that we are in favor of a five mile variance, would be to change what those speed limits are.

Today there is a bill on the Calendar—I will be glad to furnish anyone who has not looked at the Calendar the number of the bill—which will permit the Secretary of Highways to work out the traffic pattern in a particular area and to rise, to realistic speed limits, the speed at which automobiles may move through certain areas.

Asking for a speed in excess of what the legal speed limit is, in effect, raises the sixty-five mile limit on the Turnpike, for example, to seventy miles per hour. As you well realize, we used to have a seventy-mile per hour speed limit on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. I was advised that the reason it was reduced was because it was just too fast for conditions on the Turnpike and, subsequently, the accident rate was cut down. Five miles per hour may not seem to amount to very much, but I think in these days when we are traveling in high powered automobiles and maybe the people are not up to the caliber of the cars, then you will have difficulty in controlling this mechanism which, in turn, becomes no longer an instrument of transportation, but a lethal weapon.

For that reason, Mr. President, I must ask that we vote down this amendment. I do not make that request because we want to be unreasonable or because we do not want to give in to something which might be well for us to consider. However, we feel it is not our duty to raise the speed limits or to ask the police to overlook anybody who breaks the law and the laws established by the speed limits.

Therefore, Mr. President, I must ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this amendment.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of Senator Berger's amendment, the amendment which was just offered and which would give a tolerance of five miles per hour.

I repeat what was said by Senator Berger a few minutes ago, in that the Majority Leader, Senator Weiner, had said on the Senate floor that he would agree to a tolerance of that much. Also, on our trip, on March 7, when we went out to observe the workings or the experiment of the radar machine, Colonel McCartney accompanied us and said on two different occasions that he would instruct his men to use a tolerance of that kind. Mr. President, the question was asked of the Colonel whether or not he would agree to write it into the law.

In the first place, in my judgment, it is very, very poor to make laws by word of mouth. In that case, we would need no written document. It is a bad method, unless Colonel McCartney would inform each one of the members of his police force, in front of this Body, and also each member of the judiciary in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. However, as I see it, there is a deeper reason for that. Colonel McCartney said, last summer, that he would not use unmarked cars for making arrests.

I have here a good authority; namely, the Popular Science Magazine—a magazine of national publication—of November, 1960, in which this article appeared. It is entitled "Unmarked Cop," and reads as follows:

> "I was tagged by a cop in an unmarked car while driving through Pennsylvania. This was a real ringer—the car was his own, and so was his uniform. He was wearing an old winter hat and a raincoat, and needed a shave. It was impossible to tell he was a police officer. But I paid."

This was signed by William Gildone, of Conneaut, Ohio.

Mr. President, that is just one experience.

I am not betraying anybody's confidence when I read into the record a letter received from a citizen of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, in which he said the following:

> "It has been widely read in newspapers of Pennsylvania that Mr. McCartney states, since the start of his program, that more than 1,000 arrests have been made and that concerning all vehicles stopped, arrests were made by men in uniform only. This, in itself, is a fabrication.
> "My wife made a recent trip to Harrisburg as a volunteer helper in the State Hospital and came upon a car driving less than the legal speed. When she passed, a short distance later this same car passed her again and then slowed down. So, she in turn passed the car again and, approximately, one mile down the road, this car pulled her off the road and arrested her for speeding. This was an unmarked car and the policeman was not in uniform until getting from his vehicle and putting on his jacket and hat. If this is not a distasteful method, then what is it? I do realize that the Pennsylvania State Police have a very important job to do and that in ninety-nine per cent of the cases, the officers are very fair and are only doing their duty. I certainly do not advocate anyone breaking the laws as written. But when you go to the extent that our present Governor and our Commissioner of State Police have done, then what can we expect from the patrolmen force to do the job?
> "You may show or read this letter to the Commissioner or anyone else that you think would be interested."

I choose not to give the writer's name because of projudices which might work against him.

However, Mr. President, these are experiences that I have had. I firmly believe that Senator Berger's amendment should be written into this bill before it is considered by this Body.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am glad the Senator decided to omit the name in order to protect the guilty.

I think one of the difficulties which everybody has is that in maintaining the proper speed limits in order to save lives, I believe these speed limits have been set so that nobody will exceed them.

The gentleman just read a letter by somebody who exceeded the speed limit and was picked up by the State Police. He or she, whichever it might be, admits they were violating the law. It might very well be that their speedometer is not calibrated. One of the things which any State Policeman must do in any speeding arrest is to state, under oath, when his speedometer was last calibrated and what the result of that calibration was.

I also want to correct a statement which the Senator made. I am sure that he also wishes the record to be correct. I never stated that I would be in favor of any tolerance of five miles or any other number of miles. I merely stated on the floor of this Senate the same thing which the gentleman from Cumberland stated; namely, that the State Police Commissioner had stated that he would allow or instruct his men to at least permit a five mile variance in case there is some degree of error in the calibration.

I think for us to write this into the law, as I stated earlier,—and I do not want to spend a lot of time by repeating what we have already said—is for us to tacitly admit to the average citizen that he does not have to obey the law and that we are only kidding and do not really mean it when we say this is the speed limit. What we are really saying is that five miles over the speed limit just set is the law. I think that is somewhat confusing.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, let me say at the outset that I believe there should be a five mile tolerance. We have been assured by Colonel McCartney that this will be the case. However, I am opposed to putting this into the bill for this reason.

Let us take, for instance, the Turnpike limit of sixty miles an hour. If we put a five mile tolerance into the bill, in the mind of the average automobile traveler, the speed limit immediately becomes sixty-five and not sixty miles an hour. He will lose that protection of five miles which would save him from a conviction because this time he will figure the speed limit is sixty-five miles, and the minute he goes over that, he will be picked up and subject to a conviction.

I believe, Mr. President, if we put this amendment into this bill, it will lead to more convictions than we would have without it being in the bill.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I want to speak in favor of this amendment because when we observed the radar fiasco on March 7, the radar set was tuned to radar tuning forks. I saw, with my own eyes, that when they used the fifty miles an hour tuning fork, the set registered forty-eight. When they used the sixty miles an hour tuning fork, the set registered fifty-nine. When they used the seventy miles an hour tuning fork, the set registered sixty-eight.

On each one of the calibration tests, that set was off two miles an hour, and it can—as far as my thinking goes—be off the other way just as it was off this way in favor of the motorist.

If the Majority Leader wants further evidence of State Police on the State highways, I would like to give him times and facts. On Friday evening of this week, at a quarter of six, p.m., at the Lebanon Interchange, I was sorely dismayed by what I saw. I saw a State Trooper giving a ticket to an out-of-State driver. He was in uniform from head to foot, except for one thing. He was wearing a civilian sport jacket over his State Police uniform. I saw that. There are times and places. I was not a guilty, speeding motorist.

I have always been one of those who have held the State Police in the greatest respect. They are a wonderful body of men. However, it just hurt me to the deep to see one of our State Troopers arresting a motorist in full uniform, wearing a civilian sport jacket.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to correct an impression that might have been given here by some of the people who said they opposed this amendment, because this amendment does not apply to any situation excepting as provided by the section which will permit the use of radar to convict motorists for a violation of The Vehicle Code—the speeding section. It will not, in any sense, increase the speed limit as provided by the Code. The policemen in the State Police cars will still be enforcing the speed limit as established by the Secretary if the law is amended or, under the present law, as established by the statute.

This does not apply to any situation excepting it will prohibit convictions by the use of the radar device if the speed is not in excess of five miles per hour over the limit established for that particular highway. This seems to me to be an eminently desirable thing, and will certainly take care of the situation which might possibly arise in somebody's mind that possibly even the Commissioner of the State Police does not have any right to amend the law of Pennsylvania. It should only be done in these halls.

Mr. President, I may be doing a disservice to some motorists on the highway. However, I say that the place to put that tolerance is right here in this bill, and not have it come out of the mouth of some official.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to state—and I hope this will conclude the discussion here—that we have many laws on the books and, fortunately for us, these laws are administered by human beings, who, I hope as public officials, have some understanding of other human beings and do not try to enforce these laws to the very letter in which they were written. If that were the case, there probably would not be enough jails to hold everybody who violates some law or commits some infraction of the law.

Therefore, I think we can feel confident that whether it be this Police Commissioner or those who succeed him, they will take in the human element, and I am sure will advise their people, as they do in all things, to use moderation.

This is not a law, as I stated earlier, to punish people, but it is merely an instrument to help enforce the law and enforce highway safety.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this either. However, I would like to ask one question of the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Majority Leader if he can cite for us one law in Pennsylvania, either within or without his experience, that has been nullified before it was passed?

Mr. WEINER. I am sorry, Mr. President. I did not hear the last part of the question.

Mr. BERGER. Could you cite for us one law that has been nullified before it was passed by the Legislature?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I must say that I do not know of any law that has been nullified before it passed the Legislature.

Mr. BERGER. Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I rise in support of the amendment offered by Senator Berger.

Usually during the Session, during past years, I have made this remark, which has stayed with me for many years. In college, I took a course in Roman Law. In that course, there is a section which states that in the known certainty of the law is the safety of all.

If the thinking is that there should be a tolerance of five miles an hour, then I see no reason whatsoever why that tolerance cannot be included in this bill. I am as much in favor of safety as anyone in these halls. I am tremendously interested in safety, and I made up my mind to vote for this bill. However, if this amendment, which is entirely fair, is not adopted, I may change my mind in the meantime.

As I say, no one in this hall is more interested in saving lives than I am. However, I want a good law. I do not want to rely on what any officer in this State may or may not do. Therefore, I ask the Majority Floor Leader to reconsider. I respectfully urge all of the Members of this Senate to be sure of what we are legislating.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Bell,	Fleming,	Propert,	Taylor,
Berger,	Hawbaker,	Scott,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Keller,	Shafer,	Wade,
Confair,	Kessler,	Stevenson,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Kromer,	Stroup,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Mallery,

NAYS—24

Camiel,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Lane,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

RECESS

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I now request a five minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus, to be held in Senator Berger's office.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a five minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WADE, Mr. President, I rise to oppose Senate Bill

No. 79 for various and sundry reasons. I want to repeat what I have said to this Senate body on several different occasions, and that is that I am in favor of highway safety as much as any Member of this Senate or any Member of this Administration. My record will prove that statement.

In the first place, I want to refresh the memories of those present in the Senate today regarding the highway test of radar on, I believe, March 7, 1961. This was a complete fumble, and any excuses given by the Commissioner of State Police or anyone else are simply alibis and excuses. They are not statements of fact. I can bear that statement out by the men who worked on the cars, whose names they wish retained and everyone will understand why. With respect to the statement made and read by Senator Rooney, I am not attributing that statement to Senator Rooney because he said when he read the statement, he was merely reading the statement of the Comimssioner of State Police.

Now this is not the first observation of a radar test. I have attended some twelve or fifteen tests in Pennsylvania and out of Pennsylvania, because I have been very much interested in this subject.

This test on March 7th was in line with other tests that have been made and that I have observed. In this test, Senator Rooney and I were privileged to ride in three different cars end each time we were to go through the beam, so to speak, of this radar machine in operation. The first time, unfortunately, our car had to pass another and no recording could be accurately made. The operator of the machine agreed to that and so did we. I have maintained right along that where there are two lanes of traffic, the machine cannot be acccurate, and so did the operator of the machine in this instance.

The second test was, as you know, in the automobile that had been worked on the Saturday previous to this test and again on Monday. It was carefully gone over by the State Police and the mechanics for the State Police, and any excuse that that speedometer was not working right is merely an excuse and not true to fact.

When we went through, the State Police driver agreed to try to hold it at sixty-five. He told me later that he was not quite up to sixty-five and if he gave it the impulse of his foot to go up to sixty-five, he thought it would throw it over. So he maintained a speed between sixty-two and sixty-three miles an hour. I suggested to Senator Rooney —and I think he would affirm this fact— that he sit over close to me so that we could get a straight view of the speedometer. The hand was not moving. In fact, it was very, very steady on the line between sixty-two and sixty-three miles an hour.

When we got out of the car, they announced a speed of fifty-four miles per hour. That was a variation of eight miles, and in my experience that variation could have been the other way just as well.

When we went through in the third car, again it was not accurate.

I repeat; on different occasions I have watched the operation of radar. On March 5, after Senator Rooney, Senator Flack and I had been privileged to be in Atlantic City attending a convention of highway builders, Mrs. Wade was driving our car and we noticed that the State Police of New Jersey were operating radar on eastbound traffic. I asked Mrs. Wade to stop, and sometimes she obeys my requests. We did stop, and I walked across and observed the officer operating this machine. On my word of honor, when I asked him how he determined the speed of a car and the identity of a car, he said this: "This is mostly guesswork anyway with this machine."

Is it fair to the people of Pennsylvania or the motorists of Pennsylvania to arrest them or bring charges against them on only guesswork?

That is the history. I hope not to talk too long today, but that is the history of the operation of radar all of the way.

My first experience—and I alluded to it very briefly the other day—was with Mr. O. D. Shipley. I do not like to bring him into this discussion because I understand he is ill at the moment. However, I repeat what I said on this floor the other day. He is the strongest advocate of this traffic device.

My first experience with radar and Mr. Shipley was at the New Cumberland Maintenance Shed of the Turnpike. This was late in the afternoon. It was some years ago. Mr. Shipley was then the safety officer of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association. The machine had been set up and he, with others, was attempting to demonstrate its use. The operators apparently were not well-informed, and it certainly was a sad demonstration, as was the one the other day.

The thing I noticed most, I regret to say, was Mr. Shipley's statement in reference to truck drivers, which was: "We will persecute them with this." I repeat; this statement of his annoyed me. When I went home, I wrote his statements down so that I would not forget them. His first statement about the truck drivers was: "We will persecue them with this." In reference to a young driver who had just passed, he said: "We can fool h--- out of these kids into behaving."

Now I ask you, Mr. President, are those the proper statements to be used by an officer of the law? He was not then an officer of the law. He and I were then friends, as we are today. However, that was not the proper language for anyone in an official position, even with the Motor Truck Association, to use or to make statements of that kind.

I, perhaps , should be rather reluctant to say this, but about 115 members of the State Police—and they are a good organization—have left the force since our present Commissioner of State Police has come into power. There were ten deaths, three dismissals and one Major left because of his age. Some of the very best men from the State Police have left the force and—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Wade, will you yield?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state his point of order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, my point of order is that I believe the bill we are on deals with radar, not with Mr. Shipley, not with the State Police and not with any of these other matters. I believe that I have been very tolerant in not calling the gentleman to order earlier. However, I think this ought to come under Petitions and Remonstrances, and not under the discussion of Senate Bill No. 79.

The PRESIDENT. We will come to Petitions and Remonstrances, Senator Wade. Would you like to wait?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask for your ruling, please.

The PRESIDENT. The ruling is that it is out of order.

Mr. WADE. That is perfectly satisfactory to me, because I was through with that item anyway.

Now, Mr. President, I want to refer to a national magazine known as "Argosy." I am not reading this for the benefit of the other Members of the Senate because I favored them with a copy of the April issue—April of this year—of the Argosy Magazine. It sums up radar in a very able manner. The title is "Radar—Hoax of the Highway!"

I am not reading this for their benefit, because they all have a copy, as I said a few moments ago, but I am reading it for the benefit of the record. The title again is:

> "Radar—Hoax of the Highways!"
> "How accurate can a speed-clocking device be when a bunch of keys jingling in an officer's pocket makes it register forty-five miles per hour without a car in sight?
> "Ever been caught in a radar speed trap? It's the biggest bum-traffic rap in the books. Yet most drivers don't even bother to fight it."

And I add, they cannot afford to fight it.

> "But Charles A. Weil of New York is an exception. Last October, Weil was tagged by radar in a forty-mile speed zone on the Long Island Expressway. Weil's speedometer registered thirty-five.
> "'The machine says fifty-four,' the cop said, pointing to the radar graph. 'And you can't argue with radar.'"

I am not quoting any longer. That is the argument against radar—right or wrong—and it is very often wrong. The man accused has no defense at all, and that is contrary—as I said on this floor the other day—to American jurisprudence. The man accused is entitled, under our form of government, to his day in court, and with radar he does not have it.

This aritcle further states:

> "In Flushing Traffic Court, Weil did argue with radar—and won. He convinced Magistrate Thomas Fitzpatrick the device was wrong.
> "If Weil is right, radar is wrong—a highway hoax hoodwinking thousands of judges and millions of motorists. And it's time we asked some of the experts just how accurate police radar really is.
> "According to Philip J. Martin, Chicago Auto Club, 'The flagrant misuse of these devices (radar) is becoming a serious menace to the entire motoring public'
> "J. Kelly Johnson, electronics expert and former radar consultant to the Secretary of the Navy, says: 'The use of radar to catch speeders has more holes in it than Swiss cheese.'
> "To most drivers, police radar is a mysterious contraption, an invisible 'Big Brother' haunting the highways.
> ". . . the machine can't think; it can't tell the difference between a moving car and any other source of energy. And therein lies it weakness.
> "In Greenwich, Connecticut, Judge John P. Knox accidently jingled a set of keys in his pocket and activated a radar unit in his courtroom. Today, radar evidence is not allowed in Greenwich.
> "Last June, I sat in a radar car on the Bronx River Parkway in New York while a cop, thirty feet away, dangled a set of keys. The radar registered forty-five miles an hour without a car in sight.
> "Speed radar is so sensitive (ten tubes, thirty-five capacitators, sixty-nine resistors) that the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University warns police not to use it 'within a quarter of a mile of a diathermy machine, railroad or busy intersection.'
> "A manufacturers of speedmeters supplies tuning forks to calibrate the machine. Held in front of the set, the fork will produce readings of fifty to a hundred miles an hour. If a tuning fork can produce a radar reading, what about other noises? The ringing of a bicycle bell has made the meter go up to thirty.
> "Louis N. Ridenour, electronics expert who received the Bronze Star for war-time work on radar, says this about the doppler system used by police:"—and I remind you what I said the other day; that doppler radar is different than that used in the military service—" 'One can never be absolutely sure that any observed peak is not due to a chance noise fluctuation, and one cannot even say how probable it is that the peak is not due to noise.'
> "Under cross-examination, radar cops have admitted that even operation of the police radio can cause readings of forty-five miles per hour. Interference from other radio channels, especially the amateur band, can also affect radar readings. In licensing radar speedmeters, the Federal Communication Commission warns: 'Such devices must accept any harmful interference from other services sharing the same band.'
> "And these outside influences cannot be screened out. In proceedings before the Institute of Radio Engineers, radar expert Edward J. Barlow reported: 'Any modulation, at a frequency corresponding to the doppler frequency of the moving target, cannot be filtered out without removing the desired target signal also.'
> ". . . if you're driving a small car through the radar beam at forty mph and a larger car comes into range at seventy mph, the radar meter can shoot up past the speed limit and you can be tagged for somebody else's speeding."

I would like at this point, while we are mentioning the State Police, to break away from the article to say this. I have two volunteers. One is a former sergeant and one is a former corporal of the State Police of Maryland, who voluntarily would come here at a hearing to testify that they knew their machine was not operating properly and when the accused were brought into court, they refused to testify against them. Within two months after that time, they lost their jobs on the Maryland State Police.

Quoting further from this magazine article, it states:

> "'The radar speedmeter will record the speed of the faster car,' says the research director for a speedmeter manufacturer. Here are some reports from actual field tests which bear out this statement.
> "On a Wisconsin highway: '. . . to asses the radar's performance where two cars pass, the readings varied over such a wide range, they were unuseable for determining speed.'
> "Another major source of error is the split-second timing of a radar arrest. In dismissing a radar ticket in New York City last June seventeenth, Magistrate Edward D. Caiazzo said: 'At fifty miles an hour, everything connected with the judging of the speed of this vehicle is taking place in probably less than two seconds: the police officer spotting the car he thinks is going too fast; the shifting of the officer's eyes from the rear-view mirror to the speedmeter of the device; and his activity in using the radio telephone to warn his apprehending officer down the road. In view of this,' concludes Judge Caiazzo, 'the opportunity for error in interpreting the impulses recorded as pips on the graphic recorder gives too great an opportunity for inaccuracy.'

"Despite the defects, every State except Pennsylvania accepts radar evidence. Police and prosecutors promote the idea that radar is infallible. They point to miraculous feats performed in World War II—but they fail to mention that police and military radar are completely different in concept, design and operation.

"But you can't completely blame judges for being hypnotized by the radar label. Judges, jurors, even radar victims, have been fooled by phony tests. For example, I sat in a radar car while a cop in a patrol car parked alongside make a racket honking his horn and racing his siren. The radar speedmeter stayed at zero. I was convinced noise did not affect the instrument—until I discussed the test with a radar expert."

And so forth and so on, Mr. President, I could repeat from this very informative article, and I could say more about my own experience.

However, I would like to say to the Members of this Senate today that a reasonable and decent amendment was offered a few minutes ago by Senator Berger. The opposition is not willing to take a reasonable and decent amendment.

Senator Mallery pointed out that law is law only when it is written on our law books.

Today, Mr. President, each man in this Senate has a vote. Today, Mr. President, because of the inaccuracies that we can point out by the hour, my judgment is that a bill which would legalize radar evidence in our courts is most unfair and unjust. I am going to cast my vote in favor of those who drive automobiles, or trucks or whatever on the highways of Pennsylvania which they have paid to build. They are the ones who really own the highways because only through State Government have the roads been built, and they furnished the money to build them. Now, by an affirmative vote on this bill, Senate Bill No. 79, you would say to them that we are going to trick you, we are going to take undue advantage of you, and we are going to authorize or legalize a machine that has been proven inaccurate so many times that the books hardly would hold the times that it has been proven that way.

I, for myself, am going to vote against this bill and in favor of the citizens of Pennsylvania who pay taxes, build roads and drive automobiles or trucks.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the amendments about which the gentleman was talking would make little or no difference to him. I do not think he would ever be in favor of a radar bill, nor do I think he would ever vote for it.

I think it is a little farfetched to read a magazine such as "Argosy," as an authority on this matter. Of course, I never read the magazine, but I was informed it used to deal with subjects other than radar. I am sorry the Senator did not send me a subscription at that time. I will say that the gentleman is very forward-looking. Here it is only March and we have an April issue of "Argosy" today.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman that I think the use of radar is more of an adjunct to law enforcement and safety on the highways. It is not Mr. Shipley's radar and it is not Colonel McCartney's radar. It is radar for all the people, to be used as such. I think the Senator is reaching pretty far down in his arguments when he must attack people like Mr. Shipley or the State Police. I think we should just stick to the issue and that is whether it is good or not.

I might point out to the Senator one other aspect of this matter. We are one of three States which does not have radar. There are forty-seven other States which now use radar in one form or another. Therefore, we are not going off on the deep end, nor are we doing anything that is radical. We are not departing from the normal course of operation. We are merely trying to get into the same category that other States have found to be so useful and helpful.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to oppose radar. We have heard Senator Wade state that he was in the car which was clocked. He personally saw it going sixty-two miles an hour. I was the closest person to the gauge of the radar set and I read it at fifty-four miles an hour. I saw a newspaper photograph which had Senator Weiner almost as close as I was, but not quite.

However, Mr. President, there is no question in anybody's mind in this Chamber that there was an eight-mile an hour variance between a speedometer and a radar set last week. I am sure that if forty-seven other States had a number of their Legislators there to see that farce, you would not be boasting about forty-seven other States with radar. I think that Legislatures, as a whole, are deliberate bodies. We are sent here by the sovereign people of our Districts in order to carefully consider proposals and then vote on them. That is what I think we are endeavoring to do here today.

On March 7, 1961, we saw an error of eight miles an hour between a radar set and a speedometer. I think everyone in this room thinks the same as I; that one of the most basic foundations of American justice is that evidence shall be accurate. I believe this is a principle which the police of our Commonwealth follow. I believe it is a principle which our courts seek after. I believe it is something which our juries carefully search after when they meet with two types of conflicting evidence. They go after the accurate evidence. They try to find the truth of the matter.

Gentlemen, do you realize how miserable it would be for a citizen of this Commonwealth to be framed in a criminal proceeding by the inaccurate evidence of a faulty radar? Think that one over.

We are all interested in highway safety. Every man in this room is interested in highway safety. I see in the Chamber of this Senate two other men who are representatives of the great Motor Clubs of this Commonwealth, who are also interested in highway safety. I speak of the Keystone Automobile Club and the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. Mr. President, I know, as far as I am concerned, that the Keystone and A.A.A. Motor Clubs were interested in highway safety before I was born. Both of these great federations of motorists have taken a position against radar. I happen to have in my possession the news release of March 17 of the American Automobile Association. It says:

"Current Senate legislation designed to legalize radar in Pennsylvania as an instrument to arrest speed law violators fails to embody the safeguards with which we feel its use should be qualified and the Federation, therefore, cannot approve the bill."

Therefore, let us get away from this branding people with names.

I think this entire debate resolves itself to whether or not radar is accurate. At this display of March 7, we had two instruments. One was a speedometer of a State Police car and the other was a radar set, operated on a State Police car. I, personally, saw the radar set calibrated, as I said earlier today. I made inquiry of the operator of the State Police car and he said that that car had been calibrated the night before. Gentlemen, I have in my possession a copy of The Harrisburg Evening News, dated Thursday, March 16, 1961. On the front page is a feature article, written by The Evening News Staff Writer, Revere Stoner. I have great respect for this newspaper and I have great respect for this Staff Writer. I am going to tell you how a State Police speedometer is calibrated. The newspaper article reads, in part, as follows:

> "In the dynamotor method,—the one used by the State Police—a set of steel rollers is mounted in the floor. The rear wheels of the car are driven onto the rollers, the car is placed in gear and the motor started. The speed of the wheels drives the rollers.
> "As the wheels begin to spin, their speed registers on a large dial mounted on the wall. The indicator begins to note the speed of the wheels immediately . . ."

The article goes on much further, but I shall not read it.

In other words, there is a mechanical test which has been used by the State Police for years and, frankly, I would assume that it is accurate. I have heard the flimsy excuse, given by the State Police to my good friend, Senator Rooney, last week, that the speedometer cable was dry or it was kinked. Since then, I have made inquiry as to these speedometer cables. Gentlemen, they are geared. When a gear on a speedometer cable is kinked or dry, it makes a tremendous noise, strips the gears and destroys itself. I am not charing my good friend, Commissioner McCartney, with fabricating that. I believe somebody gave him that report, just as it was given to Senator Rooney and he presented it to the Senate. I think all of us realize that a poor excuse is worse than no excuse.

We have this situation with two mechanical devices; one, a speedometer and the other a set which utilizes radio microwaves. Where was the error? Was it in that speedometer which was tested the night before on those heavy rollers? Was it in that little box, the radar set? I do not know. However, if it was in that little box, it indicates that radar is not accurate.

I do not know how many of you gentlemen know one of my constituents by the name of Gus Houtman. About a year ago, Gus was Pennsylvania President of the Boroughs' Association. In this afternoon's mail, I received a letter from Gus. I want to belabor you by reading from his letter, as follows:

> "Driving through New Jersey recently, I could swear I was not doing over 55, because I knew there was a trap. I was watching my speedometer, which I know very well. All of the cars you met gave you the trap warning—turning on their lights.
> "The officers at the trap said that the radar indicated that I was doing 60. Then the same officer made me feel good by charging me with doing only 59 so I would not lose my license.
> "Either that radar was a crook or the cops had to make a showing to counteract the warning signals given by one car to another. So, they stop you and tell you you were doing 60"—and the following is the whole keynote of this letter—"(who can argue with a radar) . . ."

Mr. President, I think our question resolves itself on one single issue and that is: Is police radar accurate? I do not think it is a proper comparison to compare it with military radar. That little box—a radar set—cost about $1,000. This military radar, which they use a lot on either airborne missiles, intercontinental ballistic missiles or manned aircraft, costs hundreds of thousands of dollars and even more than that. It is constantly handled by trained technicians.

Gentlemen, I say that police radar has its relation to military radar in the same way as a crystal set has with colored television. We go back to the question of whether or not radar is accurate. By what I saw with my eyes, it is not accurate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I have always felt that we are here in this Legislature to legislate for the majority and not for the minority. Figures show that out of some 5,000,000 drivers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, some one and one-quarter per cent were disciplined. Ninety-eight and three-quarters per cent of the drivers throughout the Commonwealth, throughout the year of 1960, drove in a legal manner.

Mr. President, Senator Wade stated that an officer on the New Jersey Turnpike told him that radar is guesswork. It is pretty good guesswork for the State of New Jersey, because that Legislature will not repeal their radar tests. They have had it there for several years and they intend to keep it.

Radar is used in all the surrounding States. Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to vote for the safety of ninety-eight and three-quarter per cent of our drivers and not worry too much about the one and one-quarter per cent.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, several weeks ago when I introduced Senate Bill No. 79, commonly referred to as the "radar bill," I predicted that it would be the bombshell of this legislative session. Apparently, after hearing all of the debate during the past week, I was not too far from wrong.

However, I would like to say, with respect to the demonstration which was held on March 7, 1961, that as Chairman of the Highways Committee I invited all of the Senators to participate in this demonstration. We did not want to hide anything. We wanted to give every Senator an opportunity to see radar in action. To me, Mr. President, the test proved one thing. It proved the infallibility of radar because, despite the fact that the car in which Senator Wade and I were riding was traveling at the rate of sixty-two miles an hour, the radar clocked us at fifty-four miles an hour. It gave an uncalibrated speedometer reading and it gave the driver of the car the benefit of the doubt. I suggested that Commissioner McCartney return the car immediately to the garage. I received a statement from Mr. McCartney and I received a statement from the garage attendant. I have every reason to believe that the statement, which was issued and which was read on the floor of this Senate, was accurate and true.

I would like to also say that I disagree with my distinguished colleague from Delaware County. First of all, the three tuning forks which were used registered fifty, registered sixty and registered seventy, right on the button. I would like to say that my distinguished colleague from Delaware County is very much interested in radar at this time. I wonder why he did not look into the infallibility of radar when he voted for it in the 1959 Session? Senator Wade, and my colleague from Delaware County, stated that they were both interested in highway safety. Well, gentlemen, if you are interested in highway safety, I should like to remind both of you that within the past thirteen months, while we have used radar in Pennsylvania for educational purposes, we decreased the death toll, compared to the previous thirteen months, by 142. There were still over 1,600 lives lost last year, and I am sure that if we adopt radar, that same amount will not occur this year.

I should also like to say that the Keystone Automobile Club and the A.A.A. submitted amendments which would have emasculated this bill. One amendment would have called for a sign to be posted 750 feet before the radar set. If that amendment would have been adopted, I would have voted against the bill because I think it would have been a waste of the taxpayers' money.

I sincerely urge my Democratic colleagues to support this bill. We had four subsequent demonstrations during the past week, and some of my Republican colleagues have also stated to the press that they were greatly impressed with radar and the infallibility of it. As far as the five mile leeway is concerned, that is a gentleman's agreement with the Commissioner of the State Police. I am sure there will not be one motorist picked up in Pennsylvania who is traveling at fifty-five miles an hour or less. When and if that occurs, I will vote for the repeal of radar.

I urge you today to vote for this bill. It will save lives, and Pennsylvania can then join the other forty-seven States.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate Senator Rooney, the Chairman of the Highways Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Rooney, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROONEY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, both Senator Rooney and myself have referred to our presence in the automobile that went through the radar test on March 7th. So, it is not necessary to interrogate him as to whether or not we were together.

I should like to ask him, however, if the driver in each instance showed us a certificate of the speedometer test and the automobile in general being in good condition before we started through the speedometer calibration?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I saw the certification of the car. I believe it was certified on the Saturday previous to March 7th.

Mr. WADE. That is correct. I think two days prior.

Again, I would like to ask Senator Rooney if I understood him correctly to say that if the radar did not prove to be an instrument that would bring down the fatality rate, he would vote to repeal the use of radar two years hence? Did you make that statement?

Mr. ROONEY. No, I did not. You misunderstood me or apparently you were not listening, Senator. I said that if any motorist is arrested at fifty-five miles or less, I would vote to repeal the use of radar inasmuch as Commissioner McCartney gave me the assurance that he would allow a five mile tolerance.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am sorry. I misunderstood the gentleman, and I apologize to him.

I now would like to ask him if the experience of Pennsylvania, if radar is adopted, proves similar to the experience of Virginia, where the fatality rate went up eight-tenths of one point the following year, would he be willing then to vote for the repeal of radar in Pennsylvania?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I do not have the figures here at my disposal, so I do not know whether or not they are correct. I heard the gentleman quote some figures last week which were incorrect, and I do not think I can answer that question at this time.

I would like to know, if the Senator has the figures at hand, whether or not he would give me the New Jersey and Connecticut statistics.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think that is off the interrogation. However, I shall be very glad to give him—

Mr. ROONEY. I did not hear that, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. I say, I am interrogating Senator Rooney through the permission of the President, and that he is interrogating me by his last question. However, I shall be very glad, if he wishes, to give him the last available figures from New Jersey, Pennsylvania or any other State which I have in my hand.

The third question I wanted to ask him is this, and I do not know that the question is in good order. The demonstration that he put on for all of the Members of the Senate was handled very nicely, and I compliment him on that. However, I should like to ask him why the other demonstrations given were not given the same broad invitations as the demonstration put on during the latter part of last week. Why were the invitations to those demonstrations so limited?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, the demonstrations were given to various Senators, out of courtesy, at the request of the Senators. Senator Miller had one. I believe he requested one. Senator Van Sant stated on the floor of this Senate that he needed more time and he would like to perhaps see another demonstration, and I arranged for it.

We are getting on past the hour and we are nearing a vote. However, this Senate Bill will go over to the House and if the Senators in the meantime would like to have a demonstration, I would be very happy to set one up upon request.

Mr. WADE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President, and I simply say this. I do not understand why the change in pace. Why do we give demonstrations for individuals after the first demonstration was given for everyone? That is not the way to put on a demonstration, as I see it.

Thank you very much.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in the past several weeks, I have heard a great deal in this Chamber about radar and about highway safety. Every man appears to be in favor of highway safety, and I am no exception, of course. I am in favor of highway safety. Is radar the answer? As long as we build cars with 380 horsepower and 400 horsepower, there is going to be carnage on the highways.

I am going to find out, I hope before the Session is over, the sincerity of my colleagues. There is but one answer. It is not radar, although I will vote for it until I get the answer. I shall introduce to this Body a bill to put governors on every car in Pennsylvania. If you are sincere about highway safety, I believe every man in this Chamber will vote for it. In the next couple of weeks, I will present such a bill and find out once and for all whether we are for safety or whether we are not.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I am speaking on this bill and not necessarily for or against it. There has been an awful lot of poppycock and extravagant claims brought up here in this discussion.

I heard one speaker say, for instance, that there were 142 less deaths. Now we could not even drive a car from December 16 I suppose up until the end of the year, which I assume was his time if he is using the year as an indication. Naturally, you would have less traffic accidents during that period. Then, again, a car that is brand-new can go sixty, seventy and eighty miles an hour on any road with very much ease. On the other hand, an older car must, of necessity, travel with less speed on the highways.

Also, we have to consider the highways and also the terrain. None of those things are taken into consideration by radar.

In addition to that, people are people. They make mistakes. They are in accidents around their houses. They are in accidents every place they go. It would be nice if we were all careful in everything that we do. I know that some people with the lowest I. Q.'s drive cars. Some of them have accidents. Other people with very high I. Q.'s drive cars and have accidents. Some people with a lot of things on their mind have accidents.

I believe the article in "Argosy," mentioned by a previous speaker, stated that when accidents went down, they went down for other reasons, and they went down where we had radar and where we did not have radar.

It is pretty hard to get rid of something after you have it. I think that is the origin of Parkinson's Law. If you get something, especially something in public government, it is hard to get rid of it because the people there keep building it up and building it up, and in time you cannot get rid of it. We witnessed that in Pennsylvania with our great number of local governments or spheres of interest in government. They are there, but they are there when people fill the gap and they do not want to get out unless some big upheaval happens and then they are thrown out.

We can overdo this persecution of drivers on the highways. We can overdo it by punishing them too much. We may overdo the punishment of drivers on the highways. We can also have better inspection laws for drivers. We can have better inspection laws for automobiles. That is very important, and right now we do not seem to have adequate inspection laws for automobiles or adequate examination of drivers. They are matters which, in my opinion, should take precedence over other types of legislation.

A far as radar is concerned, I think if there are any erros in radar, I do think that our government will try to correct them. If a radar machine is not working properly, I do believe that whoever iis operating that radar machine will try to make it more perfect than it is so that it will not create an injustice. I do not think there is any deliberate intent here to use radar to persecute people.

Also, we have to take into consideration that the more radar you use, the fewer State Police you use, and that, perhaps, is one of the reasons why the State Government wants to use radar. They might save on the expense of operating the State Police because they can use less police and more radar equipment.

Last week, it was sort of indicated that we would pass a commercial driver's license or a restricted license. I would not want a restricted license. However, I would want a commercial driver's license. I believe that operating an automobile is no longer a privilege to be afforded by some gracious sovereign. Today, an automobile is a necessity. You cannot get anywhere without an automobile. Even in the city, you cannot get anywhere in your community without an automobile. There is no transportation to take anybody anywhere. Public transportation has fallen flat. It does not meet the needs of modern society, and we do need the automobile. It is about time we came to the conclusion that it is a right—a fundamental right—of the American people to drive an automobile. I think we are overstepping the bounds of constitutional and fundamental rights to take any man's license away from him when we have other means of punishing or disciplining people for overstepping their rights, just the same as we do in other infractions of the law.

I would hate very much to see radar become a fetish and put up as a barrier to further accidents on the highway. It will not stop any accident on the highway. You will have to put a new mind into the head of every person in order to stop accidents on the highway. Everybody sees their friends, the bright ones, the dumb ones, the careless ones and every other type of person, driving an automobile. All he has to do to drive an automobile is pass a little examination and he drives on the highway. However, by passing that examination, he does not become more careful in the things he does.

I can sympathize with the people who do not want radar. I can sympathize with them very much. Today every time a State Policeman writes you up, you are fined. There is no back tracking. His word is gospel, and everybody knows it. It is just the same with radar in having a State Policeman put a charge of speeding against you. He cannot be wrong. No one is ever acquitted of a traffic charge where a State Policeman makes the charge of speeding on a State highway.

I also understand why some motor clubs, unions of auto drivers and owners of trucks are opposed to this bill. I have not received one letter from anybody asking me to vote in favor of radar.

I do say this: If the Governor and our Party puts it in their Platform and seems to want to try radar, I do not think it is momentous. I do not think it will be too much abused. However, I do not think it is going to stop accidents or lower them. If Governor Lawrence and others say that the engineers thinks so, I certainly will give them an opportunity to prove it.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I recall two things that I was going to mention. One relates to supporting Senator Rooney in his reference—the first I have heard during the two days in which we debated Senate Bill No. 79—to the fact that we now use radar in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I would like to suggest that I have heard no opposition, whatsoever, to the present use of radar or the present method by which our State Police are using it. In fairness to the driving public, it merits continued use and support.

Secondly, I hope my distinguished colleague from Northampton County will forgive me if I remaind him that sometime ago, shortly after the vote on March 7, I said that I would like to see another test of radar. Somehow or another, in these individual tests which have been granted, I have been overlooked. I believe there are some other colleagues who feel the same as I and, therefore, possibly we could have another demonstration.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

GUESTS OF SENATOR JO HAYS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in Harrisburg today and tomorrow the Pennsylvania Council of Churches is conducting a citizenship seminar, and some of the people connected with that seminar are present in the Senate Chamber at this time. Therefore, I would like you to recognize them. I can only mention two names. The leader of this seminar I believe is The Reverend George Evans. Another member of the seminar is a person I have known favorably for a number of years, Mrs. Helen Hays.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Hays.

REMAINING BILLS ON CALENDAR OVER IN ORDER

All remaining bills on today's Calendar were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILLS SIGNED

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I desire to request time for a Republican caucus to be held immediately in the old House caucus room.

The SPEAKER. The request is for a caucus of the minority group immediately. For how long?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that I hope it will not last over thirty minutes, but I cannot be sure.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and leave is granted. The members of the minority party will proceed to the appointed place.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I realize that the Republican membership must have their caucus at 5 o'clock today. I would like to say, if the Republican caucus can complete its action from 5 to 5:30, we will come back here and operate in the House from 5:30 to 6:30. If they cannot, if they find it impossible and their caucus would go until 6, I will ask for a recess from 6 to 8 or 8:30, whichever the case may be, upon agreement, and the House will reconvene at 8 o'clock tonight to work until 10 o'clock.

Mr. Speaker, we have bills that we would like to have introduced and reports of committees now before they go to caucus.

ALBERT W. JOHNSON RETURNED AS MINORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I have been instructed by the Republican caucus to announce for the information of the members and for the record that the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Albert W. Johnson, has been elected minority floor leader.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, minority floor leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it is sure pleasant to be back as minority leader again. I express my deep appreciation to my caucus and I want to say to the members of the House that we will carry on as a vigilant minority over on this side. I have always appreciated my very pleasant relations with Mr. McCann and the rest of the majority, and we on the Republican side hope from here on out to carry on the wonderful work that Representative Agnew put forth as our floor leader. It was a terrible blow, not only to this House but to the Republican Party, that such a fine young man was taken so untimely in his life. Despite that terrible loss, we hope to carry on for the good of this House, for the good of the Republican Party, and for the good of the State of Pennsylvania.

I want to give my greetings to the House and I will do my best to carry on the traditions of the Republican Party.

I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we, of course, are not privileged to be a part of the deliberations of the Republican Party in the selection of their minority floor leader, but we say to you, as we have said in the past, our relationship has always been excellent in working for the betterment of all the people of Pennsylvania, and I am confident that Mr. Johnson and the Republican leadership and the Republican Party will continue to strive for what they believe to be in the best interests of Pennsylvania. There will be times that we will disagree, but we will disagree honestly along the paths by which we are trying to achieve the same goals.

Therefore, we say, welcome back, Albert, and say hello to your wife, and thanks to those people for electing you to that position.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 343, printer's No. 1020, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 369, entitled:

An Act requiring employers to pay for medical examination fee, where such examination is a condition for employment.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader on one point, that is all.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Fineman also worked on the bill, I believe, clearing out the final amendments.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, my interrogation is this: As I read the bill there is a question in my mind as to the meaning of the phrase dealing with requiring a physical examination, with the phrase, "if the applicant or employe works for the employer for one work week." Now, do I understand that phrase to mean that as a condition to employment the employer may ask the employe for a medical examination at the expense of the employe if he does not have him work for a week in the first instance?

Mr. McCANN. I believe the intention of that phraseology was that if you, as an employer, were employing someone and you were going to employ him for one week or more, that by requiring a medical examination to be a part of the condition of the employment, then you, as the employer, would pay for the said medical examination. Suppose you were to employ a person for one day or two days as temporary help, that you have such an examination does not fall in the category, unless it were required by law. For example, the waitress who handles food or a cook in a restaurant, and so forth.

Mr. BOWMAN. I thank the majority leader. I only suggest that the way the particular condition is phrased, and I just read it, I think it can very easily be construed to the contrary and certainly I do not think that is the intent of the bill as explained by the majority leader. I merely point that out. It is, perhaps, not serious, and I certainly do not oppose this legislation; I merely pointed it out. I would also point out that there is a typographical error on line 14 of the same bill.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman, desire to be recognized?

Mr. HOLMAN. I had the same question to ask, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Is it satisfactory to proceed with the bill? The Senate will amend it if it needs a correctional error.

Mr. BOWMAN. I am only suggesting, Mr. Speaker, that the bill can be rephrased much more precisely and concisely to attain the objective which you have expressed. Whether you desire to roll the bill or not is, of course, not my prerogative to say.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if this is the situation, I will let House bill 369 be voted on today and then, if the error does need to be corrected, I will amend the bill in the Senate on that phraseology. Satisfactory?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I was busy reading a bill and neglected to vote. I would like to be recorded as voting "aye," if you please.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record. He cannot be recorded as having voted. His intention will be recorded.

Mr. FOOR. I will now be recorded in my home paper as missing a roll call vote. My perfect record is now broken.

The SPEAKER. We will correct that. We will find a way of establishing the gentleman's presence in the House because he arose immediately after and said he was so busy studying legislation that he did not have time to consider that bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 485, entitled:

An Act to encourage and permit the prospecting for and development of certain valuable minerals on State forest land and providing for the waiver for competitive bidding requirements therefor.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 11, 1917 (P. L. 758), entitled "An act for the protection of the public health by regulating the possession control dealing in and use of certain drugs and keeping records thereof * * *" clarifying the definition of "drug" to include heroin in any quantity.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, will explain to us the purpose of this bill and what it does.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, to explain the bill.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, briefly, we want to be very sure that heroin in any quantity shall be deemed a drug under the narcotics law. The Narcotics Law of 1917 provided, and I am reading from 35 Purdon's, section 852, that the word drug shall not be construed to include preparations, and remedies, and compounds, which do not contain more than two grains of opium, or more than one-fourth grain of morphine, or more than one-eighth grain of heroin, or any salt or derivative of any of them.

This was amended in 1955 so that the word "drug," which presently appears, shall not be construed to include preparations and remedies and compounds which do not contain more than two grains of opium, or more than one-fourth grain of morphine or more than one grain of codeine, and so forth, eliminating the words "pertaining to heroin."

Heroin, the chemists tell me, is a derivative of morphine, and morphine in turn is a derivative of opium. We are afraid that the law as it presently exists eliminates the one-eighth of a grain and in its place provides for one-fourth of a grain. Our experience in Philadelphia indicates that many astute defense counsel take advantage of this and some persons who are charged with possession of drugs or as addicts are getting away with it. We know that dope addicts in Philadelphia, notwithstanding the prosecutions and the care that the police exercise, secrete their drugs and very often are apprehended with their droppers and their needles with almost infinitesimal quantities of film which do not meet the one-fourth of a grain, which we believe the law presently is. We would like to be sure that possession of heroin, in any quantity, is a crime.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman. That clarifies it as far as I am concerned.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am wondering whether or not, Mr. Speaker, the definition of "drug" under section 2 would be inconsistent then with this amendment, because under this amendment you have two distinct and contradictory clauses, namely, under the first, the word "drug" shall not be construed to include preparations, et cetera, which do not contain more than—I am just reading this over now. I would ask you to bear with me. I saw something when I was sitting here and now I do not seem to see it. I thought there was a provision in there with respect to heroin prior to the amendatory clause defining the amount of heroin, but now in looking it over further I cannot seem to see that, so I am wrong and therefore I do not wish to interrogate the gentleman. I am satisfied. I am sorry.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor or Mr. Eilberg, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GRAMLICH. I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, why on page 2 of this bill, line 15, it plainly states, underscored, "except that heroin in any quantity shall be deemed a drug under the provisions of this act"?

Now I would like to ask you, sir, why that is incorporated in this bill.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I thought I had answered that, but I will attempt to answer it again.

The law as it presently stands, as amended, provides that the possession of opium, marihuana and coca-leaves is against the law, but there are certain exceptions. Those exceptions involve the possession of such substances of a drug base that are so insignificant in quantity that they will not be considered as being in violation of the law, so that the law as presently amended says that the word "drug" shall not be construed to include preparations, and remedies, and compounds which do not contain more than two grains of opium, or more than one-fourth of a grain of morphine, or any salt or derivative of any of them.

Mr. Speaker, since heroin is a derivative of morphine, if one were in possession of heroin of less than one-fourth of a grain, this would not constitute a violation of the narcotics law which we are so anxious to amend.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I would like to inform the gentleman that heroin, in case he does not know this, is not permitted to be even handled in the United States. So I see no reason why heroin should be considered a drug in this bill, or why it is in the bill, when heroin is not allowed in this Country.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is quite correct, and the State of Pennsylvania is now in the inconsistent position of allowing persons to have heroin in quantities of less than one-fourth of a grain, whereas the Federal law contradicts our local law. I say to you that this is the opportunity to have the Pennsylvania law conform to the Federal law.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Will the gentleman please repeat that?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the law as presently on the books, as amended in 1955, allows one to have possession of heroin in quantities less than one-fourth of a grain per ounce.

The State of Pennsylvania allows anyone to have possession of heroin in quantities of less than one-fourth of a grain per ounce, whereas the Federal law says you cannot have it at all.

So we say, let us have the Pennsylvania law be exactly the same as the Federal law. Let us have Pennsylvania outlaw it just the same as the Federal Government has outlawed it.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Thank you, sir.

Will the gentleman kindly tell me what law that is on the books, the Federal law, that will grant you permission to have a fourth of a grain of heroin in an ounce? I realize that you can have an eighth of codeine . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. EILBERG. The gentleman evidently has not heard me. I agree with him in his statement of the Federal law. The Federal Narcotics Control Act of 1956 states just what the gentleman said. It is against the United States Federal law to have possession of heroin in any quantity, but if the gentleman will look at 35 Purdon's Statutes, section 852, as amended, it specifically says that the word "drug" shall not include preparations, and remedies, and compounds, which do not contain more than two grains of opium, or more than one-fourth of a grain of morphine. Heroin is a derivative of morphine. So what this means is that if you have a composition consisting of less than one-fourth of a grain it is perfectly all right in Pennsylvania under our State law.

Now we are in the awkward position of our State law conflicting with the Federal law.

Mr. GRAMLICH. I understand it is an opium derivative, there is no question about that, but I still do not agree that heroin should be in this bill. I am agreed entirely on the rest of it, but I do not see why heroin should even be considered in this bill. I most assuredly say it is a drug and a potent drug, and it should absolutely be unable to be used in any way, in any prescription.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for a moment?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack?

Mr. GRAMLICH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I was confused myself and maybe I can clarify this by asking the gentleman from Philadelphia a set of questions.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the floor.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I was thinking that perhaps since the Federal law prohibits the possession and use of it in any quantity, and, since the Pennsylvania law, the penal laws of Pennsylvania with the respect to the use and possession of narcotics, allows possession of heroin in the stated quantity, you might be confronted with the situation where the Federal authorities refuse to prosecute and the Pennsylvania authorities, despite the fact that the person has that quantity in his possession, cannot prosecute because of the present law, whereas, if this amendment were adopted, the Pennsylvania authorities would then be in a position to prosecute for the possession and use of heroin in any quantity.

May I suggest that might be the reason?

Mr. EILBERG. I will agree with the gentleman that that might be the reason.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in short, this bill makes the Pennsylvania law conform to the Federal law?

Mr. EILBERG. Exactly.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 297, printer's No. 326

was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 328, entitled:

An Act amending "The Borough Code" approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), redesignating the burgess as the mayor.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to file this for the record.

The SPEAKER. The letter will be spread upon the record, if there is no objection.

Mr. McCANN submitted the following for the record:

RESOLUTION

Be It Resolved The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania amend the Borough Code in regards to designating the Executive and Administrative Officer of a borough to read The Mayor of a Borough instead of the former title of that of a Burgess of the Borough.

Whereas this should be done to bring the borough form of municipal government up to its level as many boroughs have populations greater than many third class cities.

Whereas other states surrounding the Commonwealth have nothing but mayors even in small villages of a few hundred persons. There they are called the major of the village, in cities the mayor of the city.

Whereas too the title of mayor will add more dignity and prestige to the office that is now held by the Burgess.

The above resolution was passed by the Westmoreland County Burgesses Association on February 24, 1960.

Pat Bucci, Burgess of Derry, Pres.
Theo. Ceconnie, Burgess of Hyde Park, Secry.
Wm. L. Hurst, Burgess of Irwin, Chm. Legislative Committee.

A copy of this resolution to be presented to the Allegheny County Burgesses Association.

Michael J. Kallock, Burgess of East Vandergrift, Rec. Secry.

Ordered, That the clerk presents the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to comment that we have now lowered the tax on liquid fuels for airplanes within 10 or 11 days of the date when the tax on gasoline for the motorists of Pennsylvania and the truckers of Pennsylvania will go up two cents.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so the record will show clearly, the agreement was that unless this was passed the planes of the Pan-American and the airline flights scheduled to start from Philadelphia to Europe, would not fuel in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and by this very act we are producing more money in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which money can be used in the construction of airports in a county like Bucks.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 636, entitled:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1961. No. 30.

SENATE

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1961

The Senate met at 1:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Right Reverend Monsignor ROBERT J. MAHER, of Saint Patrick's Cathedral, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

"You are the salt of the earth . . ."

"You are the light of the world . . ."

Here in this distinguished Assembly are gathered, O almighty King of Kings, the Senators elected by the people of this Commonwealth to consult and advise on those practical problems which may be solved by legislative action. Often their thought, study and effort are too hidden to be reached by words of praise and public appreciation. They, like all human beings, are heir to weakness and temptation. There are hours of fatigue and frustration. At such times, let them remember Your admonition, conveyed through Your Divine Son: "You are the salt of the earth . . ." "You are the light of the world . . ."

Let these words, O eternal Truth and Strength, renew in each Senator his sense of dignity, as one set apart by a trusting people; his sense of confidence, in his assets of character and intellect; his sense of fulfillment, for having given the full measure of objective thought to the practical end of devising laws for the people of the Commonwealth.

No man can be greater than his master. Your master, O Senator, is the Divine Master of all men. To Him you are responsible for the welfare of the citizens of this great State. To him you will answer for deliberate and studied cowardice when your voice of protest is silenced by personal self-seeking, or from Him you will receive your reward as His just and deserving servant and numbered in heaven as a lawmaker who, in the words of the Book of Proverbs, "Decreed just things."

Give, then, O God of law and truth, a full measure of enlightenment to these Senators and their counselors, that from their deliberations may issue legislation of a character befiitting their own noble purposes and reaching the desirable end of all law—the common good of the people. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

GUESTS OF SENATOR THOMAS A. EHRGOOD PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, it is with a great deal of pleasure that I request the Chair to extend the greetings of the Senate of Pennsylvania to some good Lebanon County Dutchmen from Myerstown, which, of course, adjoins what was your home county of Berks at one time.

We have with us today seventy members of the senior class of the Myerstown High School. They are here under the tutelage of Mr. Dwight Fake, Chairman of the Social Studies Department; and Mr. Harvey L. Nitrauer, Administrative Assistant of the Eastern Lebanon County Joint School System.

I would appreciate it, Mr. President, if you would welcome this group on behalf of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Would the seniors from the Myerstown High School please rise?

Some years have passed since I used to tread the streets of Myerstown. However, it was always a lovely town and we are very happy to welcome you here to the Senate. We hope you will enjoy yourselves today.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO OLNEY HIGH SCHOOL, PHILADELPHIA

Mr. SILVERT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 25), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, March 21, 1961.

WHEREAS, Olney High School, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is now celebrating its thirtieth year of community service, and

WHEREAS, Olney High School has made for itself a unique place in Philadelphia by graduating over 25,000 young men and women who have taken their places in the arts, professions, sciences and trades as worthy citizens of their community, State and Nation, and

WHEREAS, These graduates have further brought distinction to their school by loyal, patriotic service in the uniforms of their Country and have established homes devoted to the sanctity of a wholesome family life, and

WHEREAS, The faculty and administrative staff of Olney High School have maintained the highest professional standards and shown their personal devotion in helping these young people to take their productive places insociety; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extend its recognition and congratulations to the Olney High School and the city it serves so well in preserving its distinguished position as a community school and fulfilling the highest goals of public education that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has always sought to encourage in its long and honorable history; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Olney High School, Front Street and Duncannon Ave., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, on Friday evening, the Bethlehem High School lost a heartbreaking decision to Reading High School in the P.I.A.A. interdistrict playoffs. Earlier in the season, Bethlehem High School defeated Reading High School by thirty points. Last Friday, it was a different story. The score was 49 to 48 and Bethlehem was defeated. This defeat eliminated Bethlehem from the P.I.A.A. playoffs.

About the only consolation, Mr. President, which I have in this defeat is the fact that the Coach of Reading High School was a former All-State Basketball Player at Bethlehem High School.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Van Sant and myself, I am offering this resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDING BETHLEHEM HIGH SCHOOL FOR WINNING THE DISTRICT 11 BASKETBALL CROWN

Messrs. ROONEY and VAN SANT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 26), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, March 21, 1961.

It is with pride that we take this opportunity to congratulate the Hurricanes of Bethlehem for winning the District 11 crown. This is an outstanding job that has been done by coach John Howard and the boys who make up this remarkable basketball team. Playing an extremely difficult schedule, the boys showed the qualities that have made them champions.

The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania takes this method to congratulate and commend the Harricanes of Bethlehem and their coach, John Howard, for a job well done and for the honor which it gives not only to the city of Bethlehem, but to the Lehigh Valley and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate hereby commend the Hurricanes of Bethlehem High School for winning the District 11 crown, and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Principal of Bethlehem High School Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and to John Howard, coach of the basketball team.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, possibly because of the newspapers giving so much space to these types of stories, we are becoming more and more aware of the problem of the sex offender. I have introduced resolutions from time to time, most of which were discussed in the Joint State Government Commission and elsewhere. However, nothing has actually been done, other than the Acts which we have.

We do have in Pennsylvania the Barr-Walker Act, which deals with six offenders. If a judge finds a man guilty, he can sentence him to from one day to life imprisonment. This is not used too much in Pennsylvania by most of the judges for a number of reasons. One reason is that we do not have the proper institutions in which to place these people.

Secondly, I think many of the judges are not that intimately acquainted with the proceedings in the prisons. However, I think they are aware of the fact that there is not proper personnel to handle this type of a problem.

My own solution I feel would be to examine these youngsters, beginning with the day when they go to school. Just as we look at their teeth and check them to find out whether or not they have tuberculosis or elements of other diseases which might affect the community or their schoolmates, I think we should begin with perhaps some kind of an investigation into their personalities in order to find out whether or not they are adjusted.

I think all of us have heard about people who get into serious trouble. Their teachers will say: "Yes, I knew that youngster. He had a problem when he was here and I found him to be troublesome." I think the teacher who is living with the youngster more intimately, and sees him in a background of being out in society,—even among his own classmates—is somewhat of a better judge than his own parents who have difficulty in being objective about someone with whom they feel a kinship.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am offering the following resolution, which requests that the Joint State Government Commission look into this type of a problem. By expending perhaps not too much money, we can probably have some of these youngsters receive phychiatric treatment. It might very well be that we will be able to find some of these youngsters who should be put out of society for their own good and the good of society, and not wait until such time when we find they have committed some very horrible crime or have done serious injury to someone.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask that this resolution be referred to committee.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROBLEM OF SEX OFFENDERS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 113), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, March 21, 1961.

The problem of sex offenders is one which demands immediate attention in this Commonwealth. It is absolutely necessary that a study be undertaken to prevent the recurrence of offenses by sex maniacs similar to those which have recently so shocked the public.

The best way of avoiding such tragedies is by prevention. An immediate study of ways and means of trying to discover such latent tendencies during the formative school years should be undertaken. Psychiatrists know that by proper examination, such tendencies can be detected and, with proper treatment, these leanings can be avoided in later life; therefore be it

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the problem of sex offenders in Pennsylvania, with a view toward establishing a program of a preventative nature during formative school years; and be it further

RESOLVED, That in connection hereby, the Joint State Government Commission shall invite the departments of law and psychiatry of the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh to participate in the study of this problem; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next Session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE SECRETARY OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY TO MAKE A STUDY OF UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION PAYMENTS

Messrs. MAHADY, SESLER and YATRON, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 27), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, March 21, 1961.

There has been a considerable amount of discussion concerning improvement in the method of paying unemployment compensation. The time that elapses between the application and the receipt of the initial check is usually from two to three weeks. It would appear that in a great many cases, this would amount to undue hardship on the members of the family.

It would appear that a more efficient method, with considerably less expense, could be made by a study of the procedure now in operation by the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry. It is the purpose of this resolution to urge the Secretary of Labor and Industry to make a study of the present procedure of unemployment compensation and also the possibility of checks or vouchers issued at the source of the application; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Secretary of Labor and Industry be requested to make a complete study of the unemployment compensation payments, and the possibility of having these payments made at the source of the application which, in addition to saving time and considerable expense, would prevent undue hardship.

GUESTS OF SENATOR GEORGE N. WADE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, with apologies, I interrupt to introduce a very lovely group of high school seniors from the Perry Joint High School in Perry County. They are led by Mrs. Ralph Swan, who is an English and language teacher, and Mr. Norman Harrison, music superintendent of this high school.

Mrs. Swan, incidentally, is the wife of the Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction.

If you will, Mr. President, I would appreciate it if you would introduce this group to the Members of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I would be very happy to do so, Senator Wade. On behalf of the Senate, I will ask that the student body of the Perry Joint High School, and the respective teachers whose names were mentioned, please rise so that the Senate may give you a grand welcome.

It is nice to have you with us, and we hope you can remain as we begin today's Calendar; Tuesday, March 21, 1961, page one thereof.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 75—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. MALLERY.

SB 84—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

HB 95—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 95, Printer's No. 95, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to just add here, as an observation, that this bill is a tax measure which will bring in eight millions of dollars. It has been on the Calendar for some little while.

I can understand the reluctance on the part of some of the Members on the other side of the aisle to vote for this measure. However, I do not think I am asking too much, if the Members do not want to vote for this bill or to help us to pass this measure, I cannot do it without your help—when I ask that you, at least, have all of your Members present so that we can vote on this bill and have the Lieutenant Governor break a tie on it.

This bill would mean the loss of $8,000,000 to the Commonwealth. As you have heard the Governor state when he delivered his message, if he does not have the mony, he does not intend to spend it. Therefore, there will be cuts in the appropriation measures as well. I am sure that when he cuts the $8,000,000 from the appropriation measures, he will cut in areas where none of us in our own Districts can afford or would be willing to live with it.

I, therefore, respectfully ask the gentlemen on the other side, if we cannot get any help in passing this measure, that you at least have all of your Members present so we can vote this measure ourselves.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I know the gentleman would very much like to have sufficient votes to pass this measure, and I also know that the Governor would very much like to have the eight million odd dollars which they estimate it will provide. However, it should be considered also that this $8,000,000 is coming out of the pockets of people who are asked to be tax collectors for the State of Pennsylvania, with no recompense. That, I think, is what is uppermost in the minds of most of the people who are opposing this legislation.

In so far as the Lieutenant Governor casting a vote in case of a tie, I assure the gentleman that none of our Members are absent for any other reason than the fact that they are incapacitated and, in fact, in the hospital.

If we do have twenty-five Members on the floor, I cannot speak for how those Members will vote. The Majority Leader, however, seems to be confident that he can speak for the vote of the Lieutenant Governor, and if such a vote is permitted and if the Lieutenant Governor cares to cast it in the way that the Majority Leader has indicated that he will have him do, then we will have no objection when we can get our people on the floor.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to debate this bill. However, I think of all the measures that we have passed, this is the least obnoxious, for the reason that the employer today has to be a collector for the Federal Government, the City Government and the State Government as well. He is not reimbursed for withholding the income tax that he must do each week. He is not reimbursed in the cities where they have a wage tax. He is not reimbursed for withholding the Social Security. This he must do on a regular basis. As a matter of fact, many employers have set up special bank accounts, some of which they pay to have serviced in order that this money will be there at the end of each quarter or whenever the payments are due.

These people who are in this business certainly are not losing anything. As all of us well realize, this is a difficult tax to collect and a difficult tax to administer. I think the people who are doing so are not being hurt by it. I will admit there is quite a bit of mail in regard to this measure, but that is true of every tax measure. I have never, since I have been here, received a letter on a tax measure where anybody ever wrote in favor of it. That does not make a tax good or it does not make it bad.

As you well realize, the taxes we have passed so far have helped to bring revenue to the State and they are helping us to operate the State in a manner in which we can all be proud, and which is our duty to do.

This is another area in which we must try to get the money for the State in order to take care of a problem. It is not a new tax. It is a tax that we already have. All we are doing is strengthening our position in it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not going to comment any further upon this bill, because we should not be debating it. However, I do want to thank the gentleman for his dissertation on comparative obnoxiousness.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair agrees that the bill should not be debated. The question was whether the bill should go over in order. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 100—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 100 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I doubt very much whether there is any particular objection to this legislation. I have none. However, I believe the amendments to this legislation are not in there in the right place, and I requested that the bill go over in order to make certain that it is in good order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 134—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 134 go over in its order inasmuch as I understand this bill needs some more attention.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL REREFERRED

SB 175—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 175 be rereferred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I understand, of course, that this bill can be rereferred upon the motion just made. However, I do want to reiterate what I said previously. This bill would only permit townships to repair the floor and approaches to their twenty-foot bridges without a permit from the Water and Power Resources Board. I can see no reason why it is not pretty desirable legislation. However, the motion having been made, I know it will carry.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill was rereferred.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, in the March 8, 1961 edition of the Delaware County Daily Times, which is a daily newspaper in the county of Delaware, there appeared a letter from a doctor, criticizing the Legislature because it had done nothing with respect to implementing the medical care for the aged, better known as the Kerr-Mills Act of 1960, or the Social Security Amendments of 1960.

We, in the county of Delaware, have just gone through a rather trying ordeal. Chester Hospital, which handles perhaps thirty-five to forty per cent of the indigent care, medical-hospital care in the county, was forced to close its doors to indigent patients for a period of fifteen days, from March 1 to March 15, 1961.

I am glad the Majority Leader has returned to the floor of the Senate because I asked him several weeks ago as to what the Administration plans are with respect to medical care for the aged. Therefore, Mr. President, I desire, at this time, to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BELL. Senator Weiner, could you enlighten the Senate as to the present status of the Administration's plans for medical care for the aged?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman is referring to the Kerr-Mills Act, which passed during the past Session of Congress. We have until June, of this year, in which to make some determination as to which program we would like to be under. My reason for making this statement is because there has been stated publicly—and some of the Congressmen to whom I have written have also advised me—that there is another program which they are now getting into position. They hope to have it passed before that time.

I am certain the gentlemen in the United States Congress are somewhat constituted as we are and are aware of the situation as it exists. They will probably try to work out a compromise between these two measures. If we decide at this moment to be tied to the Kerr-Mills Act,—which many people feel is not a good measure or feel it not a proper way of handling this problem—we would be wedded to it with no chance of getting out from under it if a better measure came along. As long as we are in Session and we are not leaving here, this wait-and-see policy is doing no injury to anyone at the moment. I think we will be able to resolve this problem before we are through.

We feel that if we adopt the alternative measure, which has been suggested and which looks as though it is going to become the law,—President Kennedy has stated that he is in favor of this program—this would bring approximately to the Commonwealth about $5,000,000. This is not a figure that I have arrived at, but it is a figure which has come about by the people who are concerned with this problem, each taking a position. The figures have varied between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000. I am purposely choosing the lower figure so that anything we get over that amount will be considered so much more, added to our chest or fund. If we received this $5,000,000, it will release a lot of money which will make available other funds for other activities. We would be able probably to raise the money, which we are paying back to reimburse the hospitals, from the rate that they are getting now to possibly a higher rate. I think, although that would not relieve the problem, it would make their deficits that much less.

I tried comprehensively to answer the gentleman's question. I tried to anticipate what other questions you might be interested in in this area.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I congratulate the Senator on his answer.

Now the next question is: I have shown the Senator the Sunday Bulletin of March 5, 1961, where there is a feature article by Mr. Chardak. He states in this article that a new Federal Act, which has not been passed yet, would not be effective until October 1962. I believe the Senator has checked on that.

Does the Senator have any information as to, if such a new Federal Act is passed, when it would be effective?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as I stated earlier, they were talking about this coming into effect in 1962.

Of course, in the meantime, Senator, as you well realize, we do have the State-aid to hospitals that we have been living with all of these past years. Maybe that is not a happy solution to the problem, but I think the over-all picture or the future picture is one that we must constantly keep in mind.

To my way of thinking,—and it is a philosophy I believe in—we should tie this problem in with the problem of the aged, and the hospital care should fit into part of our Social Security system, and so on and so forth. I do not want to take the time of the Senate to go into that in great detail today.

Mr. BELL. Thank you very much, Senator.

Mr. WEINER. I think this is the area that we should go into. It might not be the philosophy that other people would subscribe to, but I feel that eventually if Congress does take a position, they will make some sort of compromise between these two measures. If they do not, I think at that time we will have to make a decision.

Mr. BELL. Thank you very much, Senator.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think this situation with respect to our hospitals is a very serious one. All you have to do is face what we have gone through in Delaware County in the past month and see a hospital that is carrying a great share of the indigent care forced to either close its doors to indigent care or else go broke. We had that situation and, fortunately, the County Commissioners of the county of Delaware, by emergency action, poured money into this private hospital.

When you analyze the proposals of the General Fund Budget, you will see that on page 124, we are proposing to appropriate $18,000,000 to the private State-aided hospitals. I have gone into this, and I find that it costs about twenty-two dollars a day for an indigent patient. The State gives ten dollars. That is a big spread. You can have happen in your District what has happened in mine.

It looks like we have to face, in the very near future in this Session of the Legislature, either raising the ante of ten dollars a day to a higher figure, or we have to get into some purchase of care plan, or we might have to be in the position of adopting an implementation bill to the Kerr-Mills Act of 1960 to carry these hospitals through this trying period. I say this because if we have a situation, such as almost hit Delaware County, hit a number of our hospitals and you have any of these hospitals go down for the long count, gentlemen, the State is going to have to come in and bail them out.

You know one of the finest things we have—and I am not being political and I do not want to be taken politically on this thing—in this Commonwealth is a group of people throughout the Commonwealth who are willing to support the private hospitals by charitable work. Our experience with Chester Hospital was frightening, because if one of these private institutions goes down, those who do work in this private, charitable field will be discouraged.

I urge that this Senate look into this very carefully. I hope to keep this nonpolitical. I know the Governor said that he did not want to do anything until he saw the enactment of the new Federal law. I know some of my friends in the Democratic Party see as repulsive some of the features of the Kerr-Mills Act of 1960. However, that is water under the dam. Right now we are faced with the pressing problem in this Commonwealth of how and in what way the State can assist these private hospitals.

Thank you.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to make a brief observation, if I may. I have listened to the discourse of the distinguished gentleman from Delaware County, and he probably knows that in order to bring about appropriations, we must have the revenue to do the job. As of right now, we have one tax bill here on our Calendar which would bring in eight millions of dollars. As of this date, we do not have the votes to pass this legislation.

I believe all of us should assume our proportionate share of our responsibility to the people of Pennsylvania. I believe Senator Bell is very sincere, and I know I certainly am. I know we must do something for these hospitals. However, in so doing, we must have the intestinal fortitude to take the lead and stand on the floor of this Senate and vote for revenues to do the job.

Therefore, Senaor Bell, if you have any device or any idea how we can increase these appropriations without enacting tax revenues or passing the revenue bills that are now on our Calendar, I certainly would like to hear from you.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am afraid I have crossed the line into a political discussion, and I am going to cross it.

Senator Lane, there are two ways you could raise the $1,010,000 that the Pennsylvania Hospital Association estimates will be needed to put the Kerr-Mills implementation into effect. There are two ways to raise that $1,010,-

000. Your way is to raise taxes. My way is to dig into that budget and find that $1,010,000. I am not a budget expert. I have no crew available to me to search through this budget.

However, I recently read in the Harrisburg papers that someone in the Administration found a half-million dollars; a half-million dollars to build a new mansion for the Governor. He found it from a source which apparently had to do with either past appropriations that were not used, or maybe it was from the sale of the Governor's Mansion site in Harrisburg. Maybe the Harrisburg paper is wrong. I do not know.

I am sure the Governor of Pennsylvania, whom we perhaps ridicule on a political basis but admire as a man, would forego a mansion which he will not live in, politically speaking, because I am sure a Republican Governor will live in it. I do not want to give you the answer as to where the other half-million dollars might come from. It was in the papers last week. It is something perhaps some of us could do without. However, I would be very happy to talk to the gentleman in private.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the gentleman's statement, of course, is sort of vacillating. In the first place, we are not advocating additinal taxes. The eight millions of dollars which we are planning to use represents commissions which the merchants formerly received under the Sales Tax Law. We do not want to levy additional revenues. All we want to do is try to balance this budget and, in so doing, we may have the money to do the job. However, we need the eight millions of dollars, but we do not have the votes to get it.

With reference to your statement that you would like to talk to me confidentally, are you talking about—I do not know exactly what you are talking about—the pension system? Is that the thing that you are bringing up?

Mr. BELL. That is right.

Mr. LANE. If so, speak up, man. That is the thing to do, because this pension system will apply to every Member of the House and of the Senate. You have the prerogative of either voting for or against it, and I am in that same position. We have not committed ourselves one way or another on that particular program.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am glad the Senator brought that to the floor. When the pension comes for a vote, I think he will see the way I am going to vote on it.

I am also going to say this. I think the basic philosophy of when we need money for hospitals, let us raise taxes or cut off some little merchants, which is your philosophy, differs from the basic philosophy which is my personal philosophy. I am not here with the blessing of my Party leadership. I am speaking as the Senator from Delaware County. I can show you in the budget far less pressing expenditures than the money necessary for the hospitals of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it is very easy for a Member in the Minority to take the floor and criticize consistently the positions of the Majority Party and the problems they have.

I wish to inform the distinguished Senator from Delaware County that there was a time when we Democrats were in the same position, and we, too, pointed with pride and viewed with alarm. We expect those things. However, in this particular case, a hospital in your District is affected. Therefore, if it were I, I believe I would take a broader point of view. My point of view would be cooperation, especially when it affected my own Senatorial District.

I can understand your position. I know you are trying to make political hay. That is all right with me because we have a two-party system. Nevertheless, we have the responsibility on this side of the Senate, as the Majority Party, to intelligently set up a legislative program to do the best we possibly can without levying additional taxes. Occasionally, we get some help from your side from those men who realize, too, their responsibilities. If we had a little more cooperation, I think we would be out of this Session within the next six weeks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair make the comment that this discussion appears to be taking the form of the Kennedy-Nixon Debates? Please do not forget that we are on Petitions and Remonstrances, and if we proceed along that line, I think we will be in order. Otherwise, we are going to go far afield.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, your brief admonition is much on the order of what I was going to say.

I want to conclude this by stating that I regret exceedingly that politics crept into this discussion.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out to the gentleman from Delaware County, before we leave this discussion, that under the proposed Kennedy program that is now pending in the Congress, three times as many people will be covered by this Act, and also considerably more money will be brought in by this bill than under the present Kerr-Mills Bill that we have before us now. Therefore, I think nothing will be lost by our being patient.

I also would like to point out to the gentleman, as I stated earlier, that we still have our State-aided program, and that this takes up a considerable amount of the deficiencies that the hospitals experience every year.

I do not want to get into the field of politics. However, I believe the gentleman's predecessor in the Senate, who was beloved on both sides of the aisle, was very much against the State taking any position. I now find, and happily so, that he is one of the fine Commissioners in Delaware County and he was quoted in the newspapers as stating that he thinks this is a State problem and that we ought to take care of it up here. I am happy that now he has seen both sides of the issue, and his position still remains the same.

I would also like to point out that this hospital situation is not only peculiar to Delaware County. We have a situation in the Philadelphia General Hospital which has existed all of these years. It is a nonsectarian institution and it does all of the very same things that the hospital down in Delaware County does, and they never get a penny from the State, even though they have met all of the requirements as did every other Senator's hospitals which now participate and enjoy this type of aid. They have never participated and never received aid. As a matter of fact, we have great difficulty even bringing it up here to discuss it.

I think if we are going to be fair in this problem and discuss it with an objective point of view and deal with it as a problem, we ought to take the over-all picture and the over-all view on this thing.

I am sympathetic with the problem you have in your county with your hospitals, Senator, because this is not a political issue, and it should never get into the realm of politics. I certainly hope you will be as kind and as charitable when the Philadelphia problem comes up as you have been on this, and as you will find us when your problem comes before us.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have no more statements, unless Senator Bell has another observation. In that case, I might speak for at least a half an hour.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want the record to reflect that House Bill No. 132, Printer's No. 686, has been reported from the Committee on Education.

This is the bill which deals with the library problem. This matter has been before the Legislature not only during this Session, but during a previous Session. I think, however, this bill is a little bit different than the other one. It is our intention to work on this bill when we return on April 4. I believe everyone here has received mail on this measure. I think everyone here has had people importune them about it and have had long discussions on this matter.

I would like to say to my colleagues on the other side of the aisle that I would respectfully suggest, if they get an opportunity during this recess, they look at this measure. I think it is one of the most important measures that has come before the Legislature during this Session. I think it will be one of the milestones in this legislative session, if we pass this bill. It is a rather lengthy bill; to be exact, it is forty-five pages. It involves some appropriation in this Session and some in the coming Sessions, in order to implement it and cause it to operate correctly. It will affect every Member here, as well as every District and every library in Pennsylvania. There has been a lot of misinformation about this measure.

Therefore, I would respectfully ask the gentlemen, if they get the opportunity, to look at it. If any of the gentlemen would like to discuss it with me, I will be here Monday and Tuesday of next week and will be glad to discuss it with them. I think we should work on it and get it as quickly as we possibly can in the hands of the Governor.

O Lord, Our Heavenly Father, the high and mighty Ruler of the universe, Who dost from Thy throne behold all the dwellers upon the earth; most heartily we beseech Thee with Thy favour to sit amongst and bless with Thy grace these who make our laws.

May these rulers whom the people have chosen to serve them, serve Thee in honesty of purpose and uprightness of life. May they never forget their answerableness to the people whom they serve and to their people's God. Deliver them from the love of power and from motives of personal gain; from considerations of men or money in place of the demands of truth and justice; and from the abdication of personal responsibility in the face of partisanship.

Bless them in their ministry with an ever wider vision of the truth, and ever deeper sense of the demands of righteousness, that through their faithfulness the life of our people may be guided in wise principles and lifted to higher ideals and nobler achievements.

All these and the private petitions of our hearts we ask in the names of our father Abraham and our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. RESOLUTION No. 39.

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1961.

The Commonwealth and its political subdivisions and all Pennsylvania business and individuals in need of labor, services or materials, should be urged to limit their contractual relations for such labor, services and materials to persons and companies located within the Commonwealth whenever possible. By adopting such a practice, we will realize many lasting benefits, first and foremost of which would be to provide employment for many of our presently unemployed residents. This would increase the buying capacity of such persons and thus help build up our over-all economy. Another benefit is that by dealing locally there is better opportunity to determine the capability, experience and background of those with whom you are dealing, thus giving more assurance that the labor will be properly performed, the services properly rendered and that the materials will be of the proper quality; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Commonwealth, all political subdivisions thereof, and all Pennsylvania businesses and individuals to do as much of their business as possible within Pennsylvania; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Commerce with the request that he make the contents of this resolution as widely known as possible by whatever media or methods he may have at his disposal.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Mrs. KOOKER and Mr. GALLAGHER. RESOLUTION No. 40.

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1961.

The United States has become the most powerful democratic nation on earth. This position of leadership carries with it the solemn obligation to assist the peoples of all those nations struggling to maintain their freedom as well as to those seeking to lift the yoke of tyranny to which they are now subjected. Our own existence as a free, democratic nation depends in a large measure on our friendly foreign relations. Our way of life, our security and our ability to assist others are inextricably intertwined with an economy which depends considerably on world trade. Our nation must, in the years ahead, look toward coexistence and competition with powerful totalitarian nations whose values, cunning and ruthlessness require the utmost in intelligence and strategy on our part so that they may be effectively dealth with.

These aforesaid factors require a diplomatic corps whose education and training should be such as to cultivate the respect of all nations on earth, especially for their ability to appropriate and understand the needs, culture, and aspirations of the people of the nation to which they are assigned. Education is basic to any effort to improve international good-will. It seems fitting, therefore, that we seek opportunities for our youth that will provide higher education, particularly of a kind that will advance our nation's best interest and the cause of peace for all mankind; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recommends the establishment of an academy of foreign service which, in the fashion of the academics of the armed services at Annapolis, West Point and Colorado, would prepare the key personnel in our diplomatic corps for their unique, important mission to the end that the cause of freedom will be advanced and the prestige of the United States as a nation of friendly, cooperative, compassionate people, will be enhanced throughout the world; and be it further

Resolved, That because of its excellent geographical location and outsanding historical heritage, a suitable site in the County of Bucks, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is hereby recommended for the location of such an academy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to President John F. Kennedy, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BACHMAN, TOMASCIK and MEHOLCHICK. RESOLUTION No. 41.

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1961.

Industrial development has become a great problem in the Commonwealth. Many communities throughout the State have set up industrial development agencies to try and lure industry into their areas yet, in many cases, snags develop because of administrative procedure; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Governor be urged to appoint a joint administrative committee consisting of the Secretary of Commerce, Secretary of Revenue, the Attorney General or their designees and a representative from the Governor's office, whose duty it shall be to constantly work with the industrial development agencies to ascertain what changes should be made in administrative procedure to further aid the industrial development of the Commonwealth, particularly in the depressed areas; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Governor.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. McCORMACK. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1961.

In 1951 The Philadelphia Inquirer, a newspaper of general circulation, commenced the waging of a vigorous campaign to compel the Trustees of the Barnes Foundation, located in Merion, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, to open to the general public its multi-million dollar collection of paintings.

The Barnes Foundation, despite the fact that it enjoys tax immunity as an educational institution, has successfully resisted every attempt made to open its gates to the public as well as to artists, students, and critics, because of rules laid down by its founder, Dr. Albert C. Barnes.

In further pursuit of its campaign on behalf of the public, the aforesaid newspaper instituted lawsuits in the Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts of Montgomery County to compel the trustees of the aforesaid Foundation to open its doors to the public.

Through the personal efforts and intervention of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who relentlessly, and with diligence unparalleled in the history of the Attorney General's office, prosecuted on behalf of the public the aforementioned lawsuit in the Orphans' Court of Montgomery County.

On Decemeber 12, 1960, it was announced that an agreement had been reached between the Attorney General and the Trustees of the Barnes Foundation wherein and whereby the fabulous gallery would be open to the public.

On Saturady, March 18, 1961, the gallery was open to the public for the first time in thirty-eight years.

The Attorney General has stated publicly that the campaign to open the doors of the Barnes Foundation gallery to the public would never have started were it not for The Philadelphia Inquirer; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That The Philadelphia Inquirer and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be given the highest commendation in bringing to a successful conclusion their untiring and public-spirited campaign for the good of the public in causing the gallery of the Barnes Foundation to be open to the public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to The Philadelphia Inquirer and to the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. SCHAAF, VERONA, BRETH and McCANN. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1961.

On Tuesday, March 14, 1961, the National Broadcasting Company presented on television its fourth program in an educatoinal series entitled "N.B.C. White Paper," intended to bring certain vital issues to the attention of the general public. N.B.C. White Paper No. 4 was entitled "Man in the Middle, The State Legislator."

Expertly narrated by Chet Huntley, this program delved into the numerous problems and varied conflicting pressures wth which State Legislators are faced. Personal interviews with Legislators from several states explained the terrific pressures brought to bear upon them by their constituents, by lobbyists and by fellow members for or against legislation of varying degrees of importance and merit. Legislators interviewed also gave examples of the numerous requests and demands made upon them by their constituents, many of which are personal in nature and have no relation whatever to the legislative process.

Interviews with people on the street picked at random revealed the apathy of a large segment of the population as to legislative problems, and their lack of knowledge or even interest in what is occurring in the State Legislature.

Interviews with people on the street picked at random revealed the apathy of a large segment of the population as to legislative problems, and their lack of knowledge or even interest in what is occurring in the State Legislature.

This excellent program also disclosed that many legislative bodies are grossly underpaid; severely limited in their working time, understaffed and lack adequate facilities for the proper study and consideration of legislation.

The National Broadcasting Company, by televising the "White Paper" series, is performing a service of immeasurable value. Its most recent program has undoubtedly kindled a spark of interest in numerous persons who heretofore had little or no conception of the life and work of a State Legislator.

We all are well aware that education and understanding are of the utmost importance in preserving and improving the legislative process, and any effort toward that goal is indeed worthy of our praise; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby compliments Chet Huntley and the National Broadcasting Company upon its excellent presentation of "N.B.C. White Paper No. 4" entitled, "Man in the Middle, The State Legislator," and commends the National Broadcasting Company for its outstanding public service in preesnting to the viewing public material of such vital importance; and be it further Resolved That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the National Broadcasting Company.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. IRVIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we are this year, 1961, celebrating the Centennial of the American War Between the States. The guns have long since grown silent, and the long lines of boys in blue and in Confederate gray have descended into history; but, unfortunately for the welfare of this Country and for the safety of democracy all over the world, the combat stemming from this collision of two great historical forces still exists in the minds of men.

A National Civil War Centennial Commission, to which Pennsylvania belongs, has been appointed to supervise the celebration of the 100th anniversary of that War. It had been planned that this Commission meet in session at Charleston, South Carolina. This meeting originated at the invitation of the South Carolina branch of the Commission. A member of the National Commission, Mrs. Madeline A. Williams, also a member of the Commission's New Jersey unit, is a Negro. She was informed by a hotel in Charleston, South Carolina, that if she showed up with the other members of the Commission for the Charleston meeting on April 11 and 12, she could not stay at that hotel, which is to be headquarters for the National Commission, nor could she eat at the hotel dining room with the other commissioners.

So it appears, Mr. Speaker, that 100 years after the onset of the Civil War some of the conditions which led to that historic struggle which cost the lives of thousands of white and Negro soldiers still obtain.

I wish here, Mr. Speaker, to go on public record condemning the action of the Charleston, South Carolina, hotel and requesting that the members of the Pennsylvania unit of the National Commission refuse to participate in any activity of the Commission which involves discrimination against any one of its members. Pennsylvanians gave their lives in the struggle to unify this Country. Pennsylvania was the battleground for part of this great war, and Pennsylvanians must not now participate in any activity which negates the very purposes for which men died from 1861 to 1865.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. HOCKER, J. A. SULLIVAN, TAYLOR, WELSH and PARLANTE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 42.

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1961.

There are millions of persons in Pennsylvania whose livelihood depends upon the operation of a motor vehicle. These people find it necessary to drive to and from work in order to earn a living, yet many of them are being denied this opportunity because of capricious decisions of the Bureau of Highway Safety.

The executive order of the Governor which gave the bureau the right to suspend operators' privileges was based upon the need for greater safety on our highways. We are all in accord with this need, but there are instances where the bureau has abused their discretion and have not followed the intent of the order. Certainly the Governor did not intend to have drivers lose their licenses upon the whim of any one man yet this is what is happening in many cases. Possibly the whole program and the administration thereof is getting out of hand, therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, who together shall constitute a committe to inquire into the administration of the Bureau of Highway Safety to determine if their policies are being carried out in the proper manner, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall elect a chairman and such additional officers as it may deem necessary, that the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such case. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall report its findings together with a recommendation for appropriate legislation as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATION

Messrs. SCARCELLI, MULLIN, RUBIN, BRANCA, J. P. O'DONNELL and HEAVEY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1961.

March 28, 1961 is the one hundred fiftieth birthday of the venerable John N. Neumann, C.SS.R., Bishop of the Catholic diocese of Philadelphia from 1852 to 1860. Bishop Neumann was born in Bohemia and in his youth and young manhood he dedicated himself to the life of a foreign missionary in far-away America. He studied to be a priest and before his ordination, he crossed the ocean to the land of his destiny. He was ordained a priest here in 1836 and was assigned to the district centering around Niagara Falls.

Much of the territory to which Father Neumann was assigned was a wild and untamed area. He traveled in this region, which included part of New York and most of Pennsylvania. He built churches, attended the people, took care of their wants and needs, celebrated the mass and administered the sacraments of the church. He loved small children and always carried with him a supply of candy for them.

In the year 1840 he became a Redemptorist and later became the head of the order in America. His labor in this order covered the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. In 1852, by order of Pope Pius IX, he was named Bishop of Philadelphia. At this time he was forty-one years of age.

The balance of his life was devoted to his diocese. He traveled afoot, on horseback, canal boat, railroad, stagecoach and any other means available. He built seventy churches. He was the founder of the Catholic school system in America. He also founded the first church in America for Italian-speaking people.

It is the sense of the House of Representatives that the State of Pennsylvania owes much to Bishop Neumann for his dedicated labors, his friendship for all mankind, and for the heritage that he has left us because of the work which he did; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives pause for a moment in respect and gratitude on this the one hundred fiftieth birthday of Bishop John N. Neumann, for the many things which we enjoy today as a result of the dedicated labors of this great man; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Reverend Francis J. Litz, C.SS.R., St. Peters Church, Fifth and Girard Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. SHERMAN, GELFAND, PERRY and EILBERG offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immeidate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1961.

Whereas, Olney High School, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is now celebrating its thirtieth year of community service, and

Whereas, Olney High School has made for itself a unique place in Philadelphia by graduating over 25,000 young men and women who have taken their places in the arts, professions, sciences and trades as worthy citizens of their community, state and nation, and

Whereas, These graduates have further brought distinction to their school by loyal, patriotic service in the uniforms of their country and have established homes devoted to the sanctity of a wholesome family life, and

Whereas, The faculty and administrative staff of Olney High School have maintained the highest professional standards and shown their personal devotion in helping these young people to take their productive places in society; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its recognition and congratulations to the Olney High School and the city it serves so well in preserving its distinguished position as a community school and fulfilling the highest goals of public education that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has always sought to encourage in its long and honorable history; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Olney High School, Front Street and Duncannon Ave., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION

Mrs. MARKLEY and Mr. J. A. O'DONNELL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1961.

It is with pride that we take this opportunity to congradulate the Hurricanes of Bethlehem for winning the District 11 crown. This is an outstanding job that has been done by coach John Howard and the boys who make up this remarkable basketball team. Playing an extremely difficult schedule, the boys showed the qualities that have made them champions.

The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania takes this method to congratulate and commend the Hurricanes of Bethlehem and their coach John Howard for a job well done and for the honor which it gives not only to the City of Bethlehem but to the Lehigh Valley and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby commend the Hurricanes of Bethlehem High School for winning the District 11 crown; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Principal of Bethlehem High School, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, and to John Howard, coach of the basketball team.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. McINROY and K. B. LEE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

Its basketball team has brought honor and distinction to Mansfield State College. Under the superb direction and guidance of the head basketball coach, W. J. "Bill" Gibson, of Donora, Pennsylvania and the superb leadership and drive of its illustrious captain, "Dave" Russell, the team completed the 1960-61 season a true champion, having defeated all its league opponents and decisively beating Indiana State College for the Pennsylvania State College Conference title.

The success of the team was due in large measure to the unselfishness, fine sportsmanship and teamwork of its members. Theirs is a well deserved and hard worked for honor; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate the Mansfield State College Basketball Team on its wonderful achievement in winning the Pennsylvania State College Conference Championship and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to W. J. Gibson and to Lewis W. Rathgeber, President of Mansfield State College.

An Act amending "The Borough Code," approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), authorizing the establishment and maintenance of places used and maintained for the collection, storage and disposal of certain goods and materials to be licensed.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House bill No. 747, entitled:

An Act amending "The Borough Code," approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), authorizing the establishment and maintenance of places used and maintained for the collection, storage and disposal of certain goods and materials to be licensed.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. WYND for today.
Mr. Tompkins for Mr. WILLAREDT for today.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 53, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania changing residence requirements.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. OGILVIE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. MARKLEY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 10, by striking out "the" and inserting "an."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 10, by inserting after "election" "for presidential and vice-presidential electors and six (6) months immediately preceding all other elections."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of these amendments is not to disenfranchise anyone from voting for a president, but, rather, as the bill reads now, it is a matter of 90 days that people would be permitted to vote for president or vice president.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the amendments offered for the reason that, while we may be in sympathy with what the member wishes to do, I feel she has not adequately looked into the mechanics that would be involved if this amendment were to become part of the Constitution and become part of the law of this Commonwealth.

If we were to look in that direction, we would find that the records of the registration commission, for example, in the city of Philadelphia would absolutely become cumbersome. Some cards would be marked that the electors would be permitted to vote in one election, other cards would be marked that the electors would be permitted to vote in another election. These records would be in the hands of a great many people in the registration commission; the election boards would have to be notified throughout the city of Philadelphia. The lady is asking us in our community to do something which, as a practical matter, would cause enormous expense and would be extremely difficult to enforce.

We therefore ask that everyone vote against the amendmnts because it would be impossible to carry out the intention of the lady.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mrs. MARKLEY and Mr. OGILVIE and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mrs. MARKLEY filed the following reasons for voting on House bill No. 53.

I would like to file my reasons for voting against House bill No. 53, printer's No. 1017, March 21, 1961:

Every citizen should have the right to vote and certainly a change of residence should not affect the vote of electors for President and Vice President.

However, the bill in its present form violates the principal of Home Rule. In areas where there is an influx of population due to industrial expansion, a 90-day residence is not a sufficient period for individuals to become aware of the needs of a community. An example would be bond issues on schools, roads or similar improvements which would necessitate increased taxation.

I feel strongly that a very worthy project which would be advantageous to the welfare of the citizens of a community might be defeated because of a lack of understanding and appreciation of new citizens in our State.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 343, entitled:

An Act establishing and regulating the fees to be received and charged by the prothonotary of the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth in counties of the second class.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, under the law, article 14, section 5, the Pennsylvania Constitution contemplates that the prothonotary's office, like other fee offices, shall be operated without cost to the county's general tax revenue fund. This underlying principle we can all readily subscribe to. It is that those who use the services provided by the prothonotary's office should pay the costs thereof. This principle is accepted at least to the extent that the salaries of the prothonotary's office personnel should be met by revenue derived from the services provided. The county, in practice, has continued to bear the burden of the overhead expenses other than the personnel salaries.

The prothonotary's office of Allegheny County, under David B. Roberts, has been proclaimed as a model of efficiency and has been the object of scrutiny by court officials from various parts of the country interested in copying its various techniques of operation. The prothonotary of Philadelphia spent a week in Pittsburgh and had very high praise for this office, also, the prothonotary from Louisville, Kentucky. Every year the seniors from Pitt are brought down and taught the workings of this office, that is, the Pitt Law School seniors.

Until recently the fees obtained from services rendered enabled the Allegheny County prothonotary to meet the salary appropriations of the office, and, in some instances, to return an excess sum to the county treasurer to cover, at least in part, the other attendant expenses, such as, light, heat, janitor service, and so forth.

Just recently there was installed in the prothonotary's office in Allegheny County, together with that of the office of the registrar of wills, which is on the same floor, a new lighting system. It cost $62,500. The tab for this was picked up by the general taxpayers of Allegheny County.

However, in recent years the experience has been that the growing volume of business in the second busiest office of its kind in the State, conducted at low service fees, some of which have not been changed for decades, has forced the use of general county tax funds to meet the payroll costs. In 1959, the latest available figure that we have published by the controller's office of Allegheny County, the controller's report showed that the prothonotary's office had revenues of $629,596.07 and expenditures for salaries of $718,821.88, or a loss to the county from the operation of this office of $89,225.81. This is just for the salaries, nothing else. Along this line, the other fee offices in Allegheny County showed a gain. The sheriff's office showed a gain of $62,385.03; recorder of deeds, $147,183.74; register of wills, $77,448.27; clerk of courts, $86,718.30; district attorney's office, $49,998.71; and the coroner, $35,905.85. The deficiency in the prothonotary's office was kept at this low level by reductions in the work force and the strictest economy. At the present time the prothonotary's office is understaffed by 13 men. The results of 1960 are falling in line with the results of 1959 as to revenues. Last month the office lost approximately $7,100. As I said before, if you try to keep the cost down so there will not be a big deficit, there are still 13 positions unfilled.

The essential work of this office must be performed irrespective of the necessary charges to general tax funds, and the only fair solution in keeping with the philosophy that those who patronize the office should shoulder the expense of operation is to increase the charges for the services rendered.

We have attempted to do so in this bill. The bill represents an even-handed attempt to reflect in the charges the costs of rendering the services. Several items have been reduced to conform to the established fees for similar services. The big revenue items volumewise are the entry of tax liens, suggestions and averments of unpaid taxes. This work is very time-consuming and occupies a substantial segment of the prothonotary's work force. The $1 fee for these items, which has been in effect for many, many years, has been patently insufficient to cover the costs of these services. It is therefore proposed in the bill that the costs be raised to a $2 level, which will bring it in line with the fees charged for these same services in counties of the fourth to eighth class.

The bill, likewise, provides for an increase in the fee for the entry of judgments from $2.75 to $5. It was felt that the existing fee was disproportionate to the costs incurred in rendering the service.

We hope this bill will produce enough revenue so the prothonotary's office will be self-sustaining and enable it to continue to perform its assigned duties in an efficient and economical manner. Remember, any money taken in over and above the salaries and expenses goes into the treasury of Allegheny County, thereby cutting down the cost to the taxpayers. I humbly ask that every person on both sides of this aisle sees fit to vote for this bill. Thank you.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire, particularly, that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, listen to my remarks very carefully and, if in any respect my figures or observations are unsound, let him correct me. If I am not unsound or wrong, then every member on both sides of the House must vote in the negative.

What kind of a bill do we have here today? We have a bill which does not amend the present existing law; we have a bill which is entirely new. It is impossible to read it. It is impossible to make an accurate determination of how much revenue will come in under this bill. The manner in which this bill was drafted was either planned confusion or unconscious confusion.

I say, if the prothonotary of Allegheny County has a sound argument in favor of the passage of the bill, he should present the facts to us and say why the prothonotary said he needs more money. Under his own signature, by a letter dated February 19, 1961, addressed to Lee A. Donaldson, a member of the House, here is what the prothonotary says he needs. I read the letter over his own signature. Listen to me carefully.

> The paramount question, however, regarding the above bill is pointed out in the fact that during the last six months of 1960 the fees taken in by the prothonotary's office did not equal the outgo to cover the expenses of the salaries of the employes. It can easily be seen, therefore, that unless there is an increase in the revenue, and because of the constitutional limitations, there will be an impairment in the operation of the office. This would have a direct and immediate effect, not only upon the office, but upon the court. It is estimated that if the General Assembly were to enact House bill 343 as it presently is, there would be an increase in the overall revenue of the office of approximately $40,000 to $50,000 per year.

If that were the fact, I would join with Mr. Walsh in supporting the bill.

Insofar as I can determine, the minimum revenue to be obtained from this bill is not less than $200,000 a year and possibly $500,000 a year.

Now, do you want to vote for the bill with your eyes closed? If so, do it. Let me tell you what this bill contains.

Number one, it contains an increase in suggestions and averments of $1 a piece. How many were filed in 1960? Over 100,000; 103,000, and that is $103,000. It contains tax lien increases of $1 at 34,000; that is $34,000. Correct me if I am wrong. And, DTD's—16,000 of them; that is $16,000. Reports to county commissioners, an increase of $8,000 for costs of filing confessed judgments. Who has to pay the cost on confessed judgments? The poor. What does that amount to? That amounts to almost $43,000. Now, add those items up and you obtain $200,000. I can go through them item after item here; increased cost of transcript, an increase of from 25 to 50 cents.

These may sound insignificant by themselves, but taken as a whole they multiply.

I want to call your serious attention to the historical background on some of these matters. Back in 1956 the prothonotary was engaged in litigation with the attorney general of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because he demanded a $3 docket fee. So in the case of the Commonwealth ex rel Herbert Cohen, then attorney general, versus Roberts, Judge Soffel handed down a decision stating that the prothonotary was not entitled to a $3 docket fee.

I would like to have the gentleman from Allengheny, Mr. Walsh, explain if he can—or Mr. Kamyk, who was a cosponsor of the bill—whether I am wrong or right in my analysis.

On page 8 of this bill it states under "Equity Docket Fees":

> "All other docket entries before filing of pleas or entering of judgment of each docket page or fraction thereof used . . . $3.00."

And then there is a catch-all clause to which the gentleman referred, that wherever similar services are rendered the prothonotary is entitled to another $3. I say, when you examine this bill you see tens of thousands of incidents annually where the prothonotary will be able to demand what he was refused in the case of the Commonwealth ex rel Herbert Cohen. This will be another $100,000, if he follows the principles he desires to in that particular case.

So, I say to you, if you will examine the bill, the prothonotary himself said he needed $50,000. Let us give him $50,000. Why all of this sudden desire for extra money? Year after year the prothonotary of Allegheny County says, I am returning money to the citizens of Allegheny County. He boasted that he returned $1 million. Why the sudden need for this money? For ten long years or more he has bragged about the fact that he returned money.

Since the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, has stated that the office is undermanned, I wish you would examine this particular sad situation. According to the annual report of the prothonotary for the year 1960, approximately 1,000 fictitious names were registered in Allegheny County at a cost of $5.25. The prothonotary obtains $5,250 from that source, of which 90 percent came in off the street voluntarily. I challenge the gentleman from Allegheny to deny this statement, that there are at least five or six men drawing an average salary of $5.00 a piece, or $25,000, to bring in approximately $1,000. Am I right or wrong?

Now, are we going to vote for legislation which, in my opinion, as it now stands, is not to help the taxpayers of Allegheny County but to increase a payroll? We cannot afford to do this. I want to point out to you that if this bill only contemplated the enactment of legislation to balance the budget to give the working men in this particular office what they are entitled to increase, I would cosponsor the bill. I suggest the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, should ask that the bill be recommitted. They should have a bill whereby everything is bracketed, an honest bill, an intelligent bill, a bill whereby you know what you are doing. You are buying a pig-in-a-poke here. You are just doing something because you have been asked to do so. If you intend to vote for legislation of that character, let your conscience be your guide.

I have spoken at great length, although I did not particularly desire to be involved in a dispute of this character, because it is my unfortunate task from time to time to oppose bills involving some of the row offices of Allegheny County. I only desire to do so because I think it is my legislative obligation so to do.

Incidentally, of the moneys which are provided for suggestions and averments, for tax liens, these do not come from the average individual, these come from the taxpayers of Allegheny County. Of the money spent by the prothonotary in 1959, over $100,000 came from the county budget.

You have the facts here. If the prothonotary needs $50,000, let us give him $50,000. Let us not give him $200,000 of a certainty, and a possibility of twice as much as that.

I have addressed certain questions to the gentleman from Allegheny. If he says I am wrong in my particular statements and assertions, let him challenge them and point out where I am wrong.

In summary, I can say this: I am suggesting that the men on both sides of the aisle forget their political affiliations and vote for this measure as if they are making a decision as to whether or not they were going to mortgage their own house for $15,000 when he needs $10,000. He is going to throw $5,000 away that is not needed.

If you vote yes, you are voting to throw away money. If you vote no, you are voting for sound, safe government, and, above all, you are voting against inflation in government today.

Thank you very much.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, we will take first things first. In reference to the letter, Mr. Goldstein was entirely right about the letter, but there is a misunderstanding in the letter. The intent was that there would be $50,000 as apportioned over and above the cost of operating this office.

As I said, the prothonotary of Allegheny County in this letter is not very plain, and I will admit the intent was that over and above the cost of the fees in this office in reference to the revenue would leave a cushion of $50,000.

As to what the court says as to the item on page 8, I know nothing at all about that. The only thing is that we copied the language that was in the old bill on page 8.

I will admit that this bill will bring in the neighborhood of $50,000. I will admit, as has been suggested in the debate, that some of the peple do use this office, but there are quite a few other people in Allegheny County who do not use this office who are picking up the tab every year to the extent of close to $200,000 to maintain this office.

If Mr. Goldstein feels this bill is going to bring in $400,000 or $300,000, if after this year this bill becomes a reality—remember that all monies over and above the cost of operating this office goes back to all the taxpayers of Allegheny County—I will be only too willing to co-sponsor a bill with him to cut these fees that are taking in an exorbitant amount of money.

True as he says, Mr. Roberts has said he turned back a million dollars. Not only is this true of Mr. Roberts, but his predecessor, the present clerk of courts, the present coroner, the recorder of deeds and the register of wills.

It is only paper talk. Inasmuch as they never take into consideration, as I said before, the city—county building, there is space there that has got to be maintained; there is light and heat, janitor service, elevator service, as I point out. There is a license fee that has to be raised for turning over to the commissioners for the personal property. But that is only paper work. It makes no difference how much we charge the commissioners in Allegheny County because anything they do above the actual office costs goes back to them.

As I said, I trust that everybody will vote for this bill, and I will be the first one, if after this has been given a test of a year and it shows an exorbitant amount, Mr. Goldstein, I will be only too happy to co-sponsor a bill with you.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am a co-sponsor of this bill. It is most unfortunate that I am not an attorney and therefore the fees do not involve me too much, and for that reason I cannot be as technical as my colleague on the other side, Mr. Goldstein, who is an attorney. My co-sponsor also is not an attorney. I do not know why, maybe the members of the House sort of surmise why, but I do not know why the two sponsors on the bill are both laymen and neither of them is an attorney.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I did the best I could to study this particular measure and I know there were acts passed and amended; there were four of them from 1915 on. If I am correct, it was 1915, 1945, 1951; anyway, the last was in 1956.

Now, Mr. Goldstein brought up one point, that the bill is completely rewritten. The information I received that this was rewritten because it was sort of a fee code in the prothonotary's office. It will make it a whole lot easier for attorneys. We are going to have them all listed in one code instead of having to look up the different acts that were passed by the Legislature.

Now what the bill will bring in revenues depends on who you want to believe, whether you want to believe the people from the prothonotary's office or whether you want to believe Mr. Goldstein. However, I know from experience that in the past this House of Representatives received over-estimated and under-estimated figures. Now Mr. Walsh says the bill will possibly bring in about $150,000 and he got that information from the prothonotary's office, from the men who administrate that office.

So it all depends on whose word you want to take. Now I am a sponsor and I am taking the word of the prothonotary's office because he has proof that, there were additional amounts of money in the past years that were left over in that particular fee fund and this remainder was rightly turned over to the county. The prothonotary is running a good office, and all the attorneys I talked to said the service is good in the prothonotary's office.

Now maybe there are some to whom I did not talk, but there are those who agree that the fees are agreeable to most attorneys.

Ladies and gentlemen, I do not know if I am going to be interrogated, but if I am interrogated on these different fees, they may not get good answers from me because I am not an attorney and therefore not too familiar with these individual fees. But I do know that the prothonotary's office in recent years has been operating at a loss.

I am informed that in 1959 the prothonotary's office operated at a loss of about $80,000. This loss was supplemented by the general tax treasury from Allegheny County. It is my belief that fee offices should be self-supporting and, that is, by the fees from the people who get the service.

I do not know at what loss the prothonotary's office operated during 1960. It is most difficult to estimate what the loss may be in the future. Perhaps the business of the office will be good due to required services. If we find that the prothonotary's office operates greatly in the black, we can correct this situation in the next session.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cauley.

Mr. CAULEY. Mr. Speaker, the principle that is involved here is the right of the legislature under the Constitution to receive information. With a payroll of this extent we are entitled to a preview because it is the only way we can be pursuaded. These are all statements self-sufficient within themselves perhaps, but they do not fulfill my obligation to my people in my county and perhaps yours as well, when I have to evaluate a bill in this fashion. If we had a staff of investigators as legislators that could look at the bill, but that is not so. We must depend on the other departments of the government, the judicial and the executive. This is a bill under the judicial. We are entitled to information about it. We are entitled, with a payroll of this extent, to know exactly what is involved in that bill. I cannot tell what is in that bill. Thank you.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am deeply appreciative of the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cauley. It only illustrates, as it were, that what we need on legislation of this character is light. If the prothonotary or any other person is demanding an increase in fees, then a statement, made by a proper individual outlining the needs, demands, and setting forth in detail the payroll, should be given to us. Insofar as the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, is concerned and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, is concerned, I did not interrogate them because they are not lawyers. But I will say this, if I have erred in anything, there are lawyers on the other side of the aisle who can correct me.

I say sincerely the proper thing to do with this bill, and I suggest it to Mr. Walsh, is to recommit the bill, give us an outline of the facts as desired and suggested by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cauley, and then if the facts are on his side, I will change my mind. But on the facts as I have it here on this particular type of legislation which no one can solve, I am convinced that the prothonotary on this particular fee bill will cost the taxpayers more money, will cost litigants more money, and will make more money than is necessary to operate his office.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, perhaps there would have been an easier way to do this by bracketing out the certain items. I took it up with the solicitor, with the prothonotary. He told me he wanted a complete bill, he did not want one that was changed and amended over a period of years. The reason we did not have any attorneys on this bill is that we did not want to embarrass them. They work with other attorneys, and any attorney does not want to put extra costs or burdens on his colleagues. As far as costing the people of Allegheny County any money, the general taxpayer, it could not possibly cost them any money because anything over and above would go back to them. All attorneys use the prothonotary's office. I am accepting 100,000 suggestions from the people to their averment. I am accepting 18,500 DTD's; I am accepting 34,000 tax liens. I am not an attorney, but I did go to the different people in this office, the men who are working every day with this kind of work, and I got these figures from them. The closest I can get to what this bill will bring in is around $600,000. Now if it is going to cost the people of Allegheny County, and they are appropriating, $814,000 more for this year in the budget to run this office, it is going to be a tab of $150,000 or $160,000 to be picked up by the taxpayers of Allegheny County. I trust I have made my position clear. I want you to know I am entirely sincere in everything I say about this bill. I believe these figures are correct because the people who gave them to me had no reason to lie to me. I looked over the figures and I do not honestly believe this bill will bring any more than it is going to cost to run this office.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. CAULEY filed the following reasons for his vote on House bill No. 343.

My vote against House bill 343, session of 1961, printer's bill 1020, is predicated upon the refusal of the prothonotary of Allegheny County to furnish proper estimates of anticipated revenues on chargeable items for the year 1961, projected upon the prior experience of his office in connection with this proposed bill.

The statements of a projected balance by the co-sponsor after payment of anticipated deficits without fully supporting statistics together with the explanation that any excess over operating expenses will be turned over to Allegheny County, does not justify a refusal to furnish the information requested. No written statement has been presented for study or evaluation.

Such a request for information justifying the proposed bill in no way interferes with or seeks to advise how that office should be operated.

I think it can be accepted as a fact that we are now engaged in attempting to extricate ourselves from the depths of a widespread recession. The county commissioners of Allegheny County have acknowledged it and will hold fast to existing economics. The cosponsor of this bill, John Walsh, publicly acknowledged it a week past, in announcing his candidacy as the mayoralty candidate in the city of McKeesport.

Not one word has been spoken about economics either being practiced or in prospect. Yet more than 20 items are new, and the proposed raises in existing fees do not appear to be justified. It must be realized this is not a tax office but one that furthers the processes of justice.

If additional moneys be required, let those be shown, and I will accept responsibility for raising fees by my vote.

Yet, the committee of members from Allegheny County as formed and which did meet with the prothonotary's designated employee-representatives on February 22, 1961, has not received any statement.

Thus, in the absence of supporting statistics justifying increases of these proportions, and to fulfill my obligations to my constituents and citizens at large, my vote is to be noted, as against House bill 343, printer's bill 1020.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, come to the desk and preside?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 337, entitled:

An Act providing for the issuing administration enforcement and termination of marketing orders on agricultural commodities imposing powers and duties on the Secretary of Agriculture providing for the creation and operation of an advisory board prescribing the contents of orders and providing for the imposition and collection of fees.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, are there two sets of amendments being offered, or only one?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has informed the Chair that he is offering two sets of amendments, the first set which is not controversial.

Mr. McCANN. The first set of amendments, dealing with the word "apples" are noncontroversial, so there will be no question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman if he has submitted the right set of amendments?

Mr. ASHTON. Mr. Speaker, I have not.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair is informed that we now have the proper set of amendments before the House and they are noncontroversial amendments dealing with only the word "apples."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ASHTON asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 9, page 12, line 11 by striking out "agricultural commodities" and inserting: "apples."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. ASHTON asked unanimous consent to offer additional amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 6, page 9, line 18; page 10, line 1 by striking out "of those replying not less than" and inserting: "more than fifty per centum by number reply to the referendum and if of those replying."
Amend Sec. 6, page 10, line 1 by inserting after "per centum": "or more."
Amend Sec. 6, page 10, line 1 by striking out "not less" and inserting: "more."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ASHTON. Mr. Speaker, these amendments, in my mind, improve this bill in that they provide for a fair vote on the referendum. As the bill is written now it says that two-thirds of those voting can make the marketing agreement effective. This, I believe, is not fair, because a cohesive minority could bring about a marketing order situation.

My amendments provide that 50 percent of the producers have to vote, and then two-thirds of those voting have to vote in favor before the marketing order will become effective. That, in effect, means that one-third of the producers will be able to force a marketing order on the remaining two-thirds. That, I believe, is as low a percentage as this House should contemplate. It would, to my mind, be very disastrous if, say, maybe 5 percent or 3 percent could force a marketing order on the remaining 95 percent of the producers or 97 percent of the producers.

In the 1959 session House bill 1336 was introduced, which was a very similar bill, and it passed the House. The provisions in that marketing order bill reads that more than 50 percent by number reply to the referendum and, if of those replying 66-2/3 percent or more by number assent, the proposed order should become effective.

These amendments that I am offering now provide for the very same thing that was provided for in the bill of the 1959 session and I believe they are just and reasonable. If anyone thinks that a marketing order should become effective and be adopted with less than one-third of the producers voting in favor of it, I wish they would get up and say so. Personally, I do not think that a figure of one-third is too high to be required to adopt a marketing order.

I ask that both sides of the House vote in favor of these amendments and I request a roll call.

Mr. SELTZER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak on the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. SELTZER. Mr. Speaker, in today's Evening News there is a very pertinent article that pertains to this very bill and to the amendments under discussion. If I may, I would like to quote it. It says, and I quote:

The legislation provides that two-thirds of the producers, representing more than 50 percent of the total volume of apples grown, would have to approve before any organization could be set up to do the promotion work.

Mr. Speaker, this is not a true statement of fact. It is not my intention to stand here and deride the public press for printing this information, because they got it directly from the secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Again, I would like to quote from their publication dated March 16 of this year, just last week, where they say:

A marketing order would not be permitted until two-thirds of the affected growers voted favorably in a referendum.

Mr. Speaker, these statements are deceiving to the farmers, the people, and the public in Pennsylvania. This is not what the bill says. It is not what the amendments are intended to do because the bill says an order may be permitted if of those replying not less than two-thirds by number and not less than 50 percent by volume assent to the proposed order. There is a big difference between two-thirds of the growers and two-thirds of those voting. In the first case, 800 apple growers would determine whether or not there should be an order. In the second case, if only 10 apple growers voted, seven of them could put the order into effect and this would apply to all growers. Mr. Speaker, this is a first-degree deception given to the farmers and the people of Pennsylvania.

If I have learned anything since I have been a member of this House of Representatives, it has been that when a department hides the whole truth from the people, the members of the General Assembly, and the public press, there is usually something rotten in Denmark.

For this reason, Mr. Speaker, I ask the members on both sides to support the amendments that are offered by my colleague from Chester, Mr. Ashton.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, for my own edification I would like to raise a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Where we have adopted amendments to a bill on third reading and then there is another amendment offered, is it in order to consider this second amendment when the amended bill is not in print?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is the opinion of the Chair that as many sets of amendments as are desired by the members can be offered to a bill on third reading and the bill will be prepared for final passage with those amendments that are adopted.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I can appreciate the thought that my friend, Mr. Ashton, has brought up here, of the possibility of a few deciding what the many shall do. However, if you look on page 11, line 2, it says that if 10 percentum of the producers who participate in the referendum effecting a marketing order request in writing that a referendum be held on the question of terminating the order, the secretary must announce and conduct such a referendum. I think that is a safeguard to take out the danger that was demonstrated here as a possibility.

Therefore, I think we should not add these amendments and I would ask you to vote against the amendments.

Mr. ASHTON. Mr. Speaker, that 10 percentum clause is in there. However, I do not think that is very effective because it says, "If 10 percentum of the producers who participated in the referendum. If there are only 10 people who participated in the referendum, only one would have to petition to have the marketing order terminated and that, again, is unfair on the other side of the fence. I think there are not enough people required to vote either for the marketing order or to initiate the request to have the marketing order repealed.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Anderson.

Mr. ANDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I had requested a leave of absence for today and I was able to return. I would like to be recorded as being present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The gentleman can be recorded on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, during all of the roll calls this afternoon I was here, present, and voting in the House. On one roll call, House bill 423, printer's No. 1133, the voting machine did not record my vote. Therefore, I move that the vote on this bill be recalled, be declared a mistake and an error, and that a new vote be taken on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion is not in order. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, the Constitution requires me to be in my seat and vote. According to the Constitution, myself and other members have been deprived of our votes by the machine.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If the gentleman desires to present a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed finally, he may do so in writing. But it must be in writing.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is it not necessary under the rules that in order to file a motion to reconsider the vote you have to vote with the prevailing side, or is that no longer the rule?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. McCORMACK. How can the gentleman file a motion if he is not recorded?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not qualified to make the motion. A motion to reconsider must be in writing, and that motion will be examined before it will be accepted.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would request that the bill be held here until I have time to make a written motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill will be in the possession of the House. The gentleman will have plenty of time to make his motion in writing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. BRETH. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I believe we have this House on record that after a vote was taken by the machine, it was declared in error, it was rescinded, and a new vote taken. Therefore, I believe the gentleman is entirely within his prerogative.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair believes the gentleman is in error. There has never been a procedure such as that.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. BRETH. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, if we do find that such a procedure as suggested by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, can be followed, can that bill be brought back without a reconsideration motion and be voted upon as a mistaken ballot?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The only way that could be done, of course, would be by unanimous consent of this House.

Mr. BRETH. That is all I wanted to know, Mr. Speaker.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, ask that the vote be reconsidered, and did the Chair overrule him?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair stated that the gentleman could not make a verbal motion for reconsideration. Under our rules it is necessary that that motion be made in writing.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Did I not understand the Chair to state that he overruled him? Has he made a definite decision as yet? Because if he has, then I appeal from the ruling of the Chair and ask for a roll call vote.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so that there will be no misunderstanding, the House rules clearly say, and I have a copy before me, and I should have known better, that any motion for reconsideration must be presented in writing. You will find it in your House rules. You have a copy at your desks.

That can be done without any difficulty. But there is a question when you make a motion for reconsideration in writing wherein the question arises if you voted with the prevailing side. The gentleman from Westmoreland is not recorded as voting on this roll call and, therefore, would not be with the prevailing side, but someone else could make the motion without any difficulty, as long as he or she had voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the majority leader has stated something that relates to the rules of this House. There is a principle in law that the law is superior to a rule of court, and I say that the Constitution of Pennsylvania is superior to the rules of this House. If the fact situation indicates that any member was disenfranchised in voting, he has a right to vote, and I appeal and ask for a ruling by the parliamentarian.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inform the gentleman that it is not the intention of this House to deprive any member of the privilege of voting. However, under the rules of the House, and I will read from Rule 69.1, paragraph (e):

> After the voting machine is locked, no member may change his vote, and the votes of tardy members will not be recorded.

Under the Constitution, this House has the right to make its rules. It has made those rules and the Chair is ruling under those rules.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that covers the fact situation. I understood Mr. Sakulsky to state that he was ready, able and willing to vote. He was not given that opportunity. That is the question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I do not believe that is the complaint of the gentleman. The gentleman did not reach his desk in time before the roll was locked.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULES

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman yield for the purpose of making a specific suggestion that would cover this quite clearly?

Under rule 85 of the House I understand that we have a right at any time, so long as it is not in violation of the Constitution, to move to suspend the rules of the House for a specific purpose. That being so, I would like to make a motion, which must be adopted by a majority of the House, that we suspend the rules of the House for the specific purpose of allowing the gentleman from Westmoreland to be recorded on that vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, if the House decides to suspend the rules to permit the gentleman to vote, of course, that can be done. That takes 106 votes.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. FINEMAN. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, what procedure shall this House adopt if, after a vote has been recorded and the machine is locked, it is obvious that the machine has made an error in that it has not recorded, let us say, the votes of a half dozen members who were in their seats and voted?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is raising a question, of course, which is not the case in this particular instance.

Mr. FINEMAN. I understand Mr. Sakulsky was in his seat and endeavored to vote and could not before the machine was locked.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed that the gentleman was in the hall of the House but had not reached his seat before the roll call was locked.

Mr. FINEMAN. That is a different factual situation, but Mr. Sakulsky—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Would the gentleman like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky?

Mr. FINEMAN. With the permission of the Chair, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SAKULSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, was the factual situation that I just described in my parliamentary inquiry applicable to the gentleman's situation?

Mr. SAKULSKY. No, it was not. I was in the hall of the House but at the other end of the hall when the vote was to be recorded. However, the time allocated for the vote was so short that by the time I reached my seat the key was locked.

It was my understanding that we were to be given sufficient time to vote.

Mr. FINEMAN. I withdraw my parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has had a motion presented to suspend the rules of the House for the specific purpose of permitting the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, to vote.

The Chair recognizes the majority leader, the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want to bring to the attention of the House that, perhaps, it may have been a little sooner than other votes, but there was no debate and there was time. Should we adopt this precedent of once the key has been locked properly and a member has not voted, and then each time we suspend the rules so he can vote, I say to you, and I say this sincerely, that I hope we do not make the mistake too often, if we have made it now, of locking the key. We have a tremendous amount of work and I must be guided by the people who advise me that we are ready to vote, as far as the majority party is concerned. They tell me that our people are here and I try to see them, and I do not attempt to lock anyone out, whether they be Republican or Democrat members. But in a case where they have been locked out by virtue of it being agreed that we are ready, then I say we should not suspend the rules for the purpose of letting either you or me get on the roll call after that point.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to say that he feels it is a very bad precedent to establish, to suspend the rule in every case where a member might be tardy in making his vote, and feels that the proper procedure, if it is that important, would be that a motion to reconsider should be presented.

The Chair always asks the question, "Have all the members voted?" And I feel that we have given sufficient time before the roll is locked for the members to reach their desks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to say that this is a similar instance to the one I suffered yesterday, although I was in my seat reading a bill and forgot to push my button until it was locked. I made an impassioned plea to keep my record at home safe and was denied that privilege. I was not sleeping, but I just neglected to push it. If we are going to do this every time—we all miss sometimes—we will get tied up here by taking votes over and over again.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, it was my understanding that when the automatic roll call was put in that we would be given sufficient time to vote. And in this case I think that there was not sufficient time given because it was just a matter of 60 feet for me to get to my seat, but I was locked out.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will read to the gentleman from Westmoreland rule 69.1:

> "When, in the judgment of the Speaker, reasonable time has been allowed all members present in the House to vote, he shall ask the question: 'Have all members present voted?' After a pause, the Speaker shall lock the machine and instruct the Clerk to record the vote, and the Speaker shall announce the result of the vote."

The Chair feels that rule has been compiled with and apologizes to the gentleman that he did not get on the record. The Chair asked the question of the respective floor leaders if they were ready, and they so informed the Chair that they were.

Does the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, still desire to be recognized?

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, what do you consider a reasonable time?

The reason I asked that question is because some roll calls take a minute; other roll calls, two or three minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair feels that he did give a reasonable time on this particular roll call. A reasonable time would be sufficient time for any member who might be in the hall of the House to reach his desk.

INTERROGATION

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SAKULSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman say that he was in the hall of the House when the vote was called on this particular bill?

Mr. SAKULSKY. Yes, I was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Did the gentleman hear the Speaker ask the majority leader if he was ready?

Mr. SAKULSKY. No, sir, I did not or I would have been in my seat voting.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins. The Chair would remind the gentleman that we have a motion on the floor.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that I agree with the observation of the majority leader on this question, that we have to preserve the integrity of this House. Now if we start a practice here of revoting every time a member does not reach his button in time to push it, we are going to revert to what the Speaker called a primitive method of voting. We will have to repeat and repeat and repeat and every man will be running all over the House, and you will never have them in their seats to vote on legislation ready to be voted upon.

Now, Mr. Speaker, heretofore when we had the long roll calls, they voted from all corners of this House, front, back, rear, or otherwise. Now a member today, certainly, if he paid any attention to the order of business, can hear the Speaker ask the majority leader whether or not he is ready. There is a time element between that and the minority leader's question, and he could holler from the rear of the House and be heard the same as he was on the long roll calls, to hold the roll open until he had a chance to vote.

We, therefore, oppose this motion.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE WITHDRAWN

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I believe that I should withdraw the motion after the debate here. I would like to move its withdrawal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Does the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor, desire to be recognized?

Mr. FOOR. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

I might shed some light on this roll call. I was concerned enough about my missing a roll call that I called Mr. Dennison last night and explained to him; I believe he is the man who puts out this roll call vote. I told him what had happened to me and that I stood up immediately and asked for my vote to be recorded and he told me then that they use the roll call sheets for a quick check, but they do check the Journal to see if anyone has come in, and he assured me that my record would stay clear.

So I suggest that anyone who does miss the roll call vote would immediately stand up and record his vote and thereby assure himself of keeping his roll call vote 100 per cent.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ISAACS. Several weeks ago in this House my colleague from Delaware, Mrs. Kernaghan, voted on a bill. She was in her seat, pushed her switch down, and it stayed down. On this side the light recorded. I happened to notice, just before the vote was locked, that on this side the light was out. Mrs. Kernaghan tried to get the Speaker's attention at the last minute, but it was too late, and I suggested to her that she go down and check the rolls.

She was not recorded on the roll although she had voted, her switch was down, the light recorded on the board to my right and not on the one to my left. The lady, up to that time, had a perfect voting record. Aside from that incident, she still has a perfect voting record. I certainly do not think a member's record should be impaired, however, by an electric roll call system which is not functioning properly, or, for that matter, by radar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair was informed the gentleman was going to ask a question.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to return to page 15 and call up House bill 67, bills on third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 67, entitled:

An Act to protect the public safety by regulating the mining of anthracite coal, prescribing duties for certain municipal officers and imposing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill covers a very important problem in Pennsylvania and before I make any remarks on the bill I want it definitely understood that as far as I am concerned I know many, most all, the members on this side of the House, and I am sure on the other side, agree with the principle of preventing subsidence because it is a terrifying thing that is occurring in Pennsylvania. Many times it suddenly occurs 80 years after the mining has taken place.

So the object of this bill is good. But I believe this bill goes too far and you are again inviting the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to strike it down, as I understand it did a similar bill on the same subject and practically the same type of bill.

This bill, as you know, says it is unlawful in Pennsylvania to cause cave-ins, collapse or subsidence of any public buildings, and so forth, by anthracite mining.

Then the bill goes on to say that every operator shall file plans with the department and also in a municipality so the mayors can see what is going on, and the mayors can then object to the plans. Then the bill goes on to say that if you cause subsidence you are guilty of a misdemeanor and you are subject to damages. Now, that is the gist of the bill.

In other words, if a mine operator uses the very, very, very best mechanical devices and gets the very, very best engineering advice and does a good job, an excellent job, in his opinion and the opinion of mining experts, and then a subsidence occurs, he is guilty under this bill.

Fifteen years later the subsidence could occur and if the corporation is around, you can sue them or you can have the officers arrested. Now, in other words, if the object of this bill is subsidence, the bill should prevent it in its inception. Here is what I personally feel this bill should do, and I am not in the anthracite mining, but I am interested in the problem because up there is where the unemployment is and we do not want to put a bill around the neck of the operator that is going to cause more unemployment up there and destroy the business of anthracite mining.

I think this bill should define that you should not cause cave-ins through subsidence. It should say that the operator shall file plans and maps, and so forth. Then it should provide for the department of mines to go over the plans and, if the plans are sound, if they create a situation where, in the opinion of the department of mines, no subsidence will occur, if they follow the plans meticulously, then the plans should be approved. And if after that, the mine operator lives up to those plans and does not deviate from them and follows the schedule that he has agreed to, then if subsidence occurs, he should not be held liable either criminally or in damages. In other words, there should not be liability without fault, which this bill places upon the mine operator. Therefore, I think this bill should be passed over. You should amend the bill providing for the filing of these plans, providing for prior approval of the plans by the department of mines. Then if the operator violates the plans, it is all right for the teeth in this bill to ensue, but for you to say you must file plans, then go ahead and mine, but you do it at your peril of becoming an insurer of the safety of the surface home owners, who legally might not have the right to surface support because they have given it away when they sold their coal lands back at the turn of the previous century.

You are presenting a bill here that will be stricken down and you will not be accomplishing the purpose that you want to and you will be inviting an unconstitutionality ruling by the court. I believe that you will increase unemployment in your anthracite area. I say the principle of the bill is good, but it goes too far and puts an unconscionable burden on the mine operator, as I see it. Perhaps you will say as an argument for it that a bill as drastic as this should be put around the necks of the mine operators. I do not know. I intend to vote against it unless you make the bill a fair and reasonable one. I repeat, we are not against the principle of doing away with subsidence, it is a good idea, but I think you want to give the operator a break as well as the surface owner.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the minority leader's remarks, I might say on behalf of the sponsor of the bill that the gentleman was correct when he stated it would make it illegal for an owner, an operator, and so forth, to operate a mine in such a manner as to cause subsidence. That is to say that subsidence in itself would be a violation of this act.

As the gentleman very well knows, he being a very astute lawyer, that if subsidence occurs under the present law, our Supreme Court many, many years ago decided that a person owning the surface, even if he owned the surface support, was barred from suing the owner within six years following the date of mining. Naturally, it is very, very difficult for subsidence to occur within six years from the day the coal is taken. This is the reason for making subsidence in itself a violation or a misdemeanor under this act.

The act that we are now voting on lays down very, very few mandated requirements, regulations, or restrictions upon the mining of coal by anyone. They must file a plot or plan showing the workings and showing the pillars, if any, that they have left. They can hold the surface support in any manner they choose, so long as it does not subside.

I am sure the gentleman realizes that in our hard and soft coal areas we have been plagued by this terrible subsidence program, a problem which arose 50 or 60 years ago, and which we are going to try to prevent by legislation of this type from happening 50 or 60 years from now on current workings.

If we are to strike out the sections that the gentleman from McKean would have us strike, then we actually, in this act, mandate nothing. All we mandate is that they shall file a plot showing the workings and showing the pillars, if any, they leave. There is no requirement in this act that they shall leave so many pillars per square foot of mined area. There are no requirements that they must use roof bolts or timbers or concrete shorings or any other type of pillar. They may use whatever method they so choose. Then they must rely on their method. They are the removers of the coal, and they then become responsible to the owners of the surface, that the surface must remain in the condition it is in before the coal is removed. We feel that in order to deter the type of mining that has been conducted in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a hundred years, we will put the burden on the mine operator. After all, it is he who is under the surface of the owner's property. We put the burden upon him by this bill. He will, therefore, exercise every caution that he can to preserve the surface. We do not think it is an undue burden. After all, they have been going in and taking everything and leaving nothing, leaving no pillars, leaving nothing. Consequently, the surface subsides.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, briefly in reply, if under this bill, the mine operator carefully, meticulously and with the most modern mining methods and using the best engineering and with the advice of experts leaves the pillars and does everything that it is humanly possible to do and then subsidence occurs, he is still guilty.

In other words, the innuendo of this bill is that you are guilty and you must prove yourself innocent, which is contrary to our standards of jurisprudence in this Nation of ours. I say it is all right to file plans and provide for these pillars and these safeguards and have the approval of them by the department of mines. Here is a set of plans that is just. Leave it up to those plans and you will likely be guilty of a misdemeanor. I do not object to holding them guilty of a misdemeanor if there is a standard set that they must live up to. If they violate that standard, they can be found guilty of this misdemeanor and held for damages. But this bill puts the fault on them, and I think it is terrible and I think we are going to destroy the anthracite industry. We are going to bring the wrath of the mine operators down on us, and you are going to have more people sitting in those public squares, not mining coal, if you pass this bill.

Mr. MURPHY. Very briefly, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say this, the mine operator does everything he can to prevent it; he does all of the mining. The property owner, the home owner, does nothing. He knows nothing of the workings underneath except what might be on the record in the county court house. He does nothing, his home falls as a result of subsidence, and who should suffer? The home owner? This bill says, no. The man who actually takes the coal is responsible for the entire operation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Today is the birthday of the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Polaski, and a couple days ago was the birthday of the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Stank.

So where are you, Dr. Dengler?

nizance of the fact that we are now celebrating three birthdays instead of two. I do not know in what position this puts Dr. Dengler, but we will say, "Dear fellows," I assume, Doctor. The Doctor will assume his responsibilities.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WALSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in this morning's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette on the front page there is an article under the by-line of Edward Jensen in reference to the secession movement in that area because of increased taxes, in which I am quoted as saying:

"At least one State legislator, Assemblyman John T. Walsh, of McKeesport, has indicated a willingness to introduce the enabling bill, if Westmoreland agrees to cooperate."

This is an untruth. I have never indicated a willingness to consider such a move at any time. I have never discussed this issue with anyone, for the simple reason I have never been invited to any of these meetings. No one has the right to speak for me. Seceding from Allegheny County is a very, very important decision for the people of these areas to decide. I would want to know, first, what, if any, better treatment we could expect from Westmoreland or any of the adjoining counties.

I would surely want the people of McKeesport, who send me down here, to indicate their desire one way or the other, as to whether they want to make this important move. I would do what I did in the case of the classified income tax, I would conduct a postal card poll to see what my constituents would want and I would be guided by their decision.

I want it distinctly understood that this irresponsible quoting in newspapers by these writers is very unfair to the legislators. They are always willing to rap us at every opportunity and I think it is a disservice to any member of this House to be quoted in a newspaper before he is consulted as to his views.

I thank you.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. McCann for Mr. PRENDERGAST because of illness.

Mr. McCann for Mr. MUSTO because of illness.

Mr. McCann for Mr. McNALLY because of illness.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE WITHDRAWN

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, on Monday I asked for leave for the week for the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Simmons. He is now back in attendance today, so he will respond to roll calls and further leave is cancelled for the week for him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman. Absence heretofore requested will be corrected.

REQUEST TO CALL BILLS OUT OF ORDER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we will now ask permission to vote on bills, probably 20 bills, at this point before caucus. I request permission to turn to page 13.

INTERROGATION

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I object to the bills being taken out of order unless I have an assurance that House bill 573 will be called up today. If not, I want to have the opportunity to interrogate as to why it will not be called up. It is on page 19.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the majority leader?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I do.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, House bill No. 573 has been on the House calendar for almost two or three weeks. Can I be advised as to why it is not being called up?

Mr. McCANN. House bill 573 is scheduled to go over in order all week because, in this particular bill dealing with the Selective Sales and Use Tax, there is a possibility of working out amendments that might be attached to this bill dealing with various subjects under the Selective Sales and Use Tax Act.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Is it not a fact that the bill has been passed over because of the fear of an amendment being proposed to benefit manufacturers due to the ancient interpretation of manufacturing?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, I am not a bit worried about such amendment, because we have had a series of conferences last week, the previous week, dealing with food processors, food freezers, cold-roll, hot-roll steel mills, all these items, and may I assure you it takes a considerable amount of legal interpretation to work out all these subjects and not just accept an amendment drawn by some member.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have your assurance that the bill will be called up on Tuesday, April 4; is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. You do not have my assurance that the bill will be called up Tuesday, April 4. It might be the following day during that week. I cannot say because we have a conference scheduled during Holy Week with two groups—I believe they are the people who package meat, frozen meats, and food processors—and I hope that after that conference we might be in position, but to say that the bill will be moved on either Tuesday or Wednesday following Easter would not be correct. I may not have it done until the week after that.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am intrigued as to why this bill has been passed over. I have listened to the remarks of the majority leader and I am still not convinced. I have had amendments ready and I have turned them over to the gentleman on the other side, which would modernize the definition of manufacturing. These are a re-statement of bills proposed by Senator Kessler in the Senate. They are a re-statement of bills proposed by three Democrats from Beaver County who are concerned about manufacturing, and I am doubtful as to whether or not the administration wants to modernize the definition of manufacturing.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I should have informed the gentleman that also the gentleman, Senator Kessler, was a part of the meeting. I believe he introduced a bill, he and Senator McMenamin—I am not sure—Senate bill 340, I believe, dealing with this subject, and certainly at this point it is not stated that the bill as it is written is acceptable, but it deals with the same subject, but there is little more to that subject than is just covered in that bill. Therefore, I say to you honestly that there has been a considerable amount of meetings on this subject and more to come this coming week.

Mr. Speaker, I now ask that we go to House bill No. 452 on page 13, bills on third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 453, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), authorizing the Department of Forests and Waters to enter into contracts or leases for mining or removal of valuable minerals in State parks.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote against these two bills; possibly I may be the only one. These bills affect our public parks, our public lands, and so forth. We are here, for the first time, giving one man full authority to go ahead and lease these for mining and mineral purposes, and so forth, without any check on what may or may not be done.

So far as the present secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters is concerned, I stated before on the floor of this House and I will state it again, I think we have one of the best in the country, a man in whom I have implicit confidence. I cannot say that about all secretaries of the Department of Forests and Waters in the past. What I am concerned about is this, not the present man or not the present tenure in office, but, since the secretaries change from administration to administration, I am concerned about what might be done with such power as this if a man gets in as head of that department who could misuse it and possibly might misuse it. I believe I would not be too far wrong in saying that possibly in the past we have had secretaries of this very vital department possibly who have misused it. That is why I am concerned about a bill of this kind, giving unlimited powers to a secretary of a department on a vital subject such as our public lands and public parks, and so forth.

I could vote for the bill if there were some kind of limitation on it in some way, but I do not like the way the bill is written because of the implied misuse of it that might be made, not under this present secretary, but in the future years to come. After all, we are not just dealing with the present years, we are dealing with many, many years ahead of us in the development of these lands. That is why I am going to vote against this type of legislation. I do not think it sound to give this kind of full authority to a secretary that can go on in the years ahead, not knowing the type of secretary or just how careful the secretaries in the future might be of this great grant of power that we are giving under this bill. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate somebody on this bill—Mr. Fineman or anyone who is familiar with it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader or one of the sponsors of the bill permit himself to be interrogated?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman. Will the gentleman consent to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill refers to valuable minerals. I am asking for an interpretation of "valuable minerals" as referred to in this bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would imagine that "valuable minerals" would include coal, gas, oil, possibly precious gems, and matters of like material.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would the gentleman interpret sand, gravel, and flagstone as being valuable minerals?

Mr. FINEMAN. I would assume that if they have such significance as would constrain a prospective lessee to pay a consideration to the Commonwealth for the purpose of mining such items, they would be considered of value.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know definitely how they interpret "valuable minerals." Assuming or considering, so far as I am concerned, is not an answer to satisfy me regarding "valuable minerals."

Mr. FINEMAN. I am informed, at the side-bar conference here, that the department takes the viewpoint that even sand and gravel are included among the category of valuable minerals.

I would bring to the gentleman's attention, and by way of doing so I would like to make further reply to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, that the power that is sought in this bill is a power that is already vested in the Department of Forests and Waters in connection with State forests. This bill seeks to add State parks. So we already have precedent for what this bill seeks to accomplish, that is, in State forest lands the secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters can enter into competitive leasing for valuable minerals, and if there has been no evidence of abuse of that right in the many years that right has existed, I feel confident we can rest on the assumption there will be no abuse of this power insofar as State parks are concerned.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I am fully aware of the power of the Department of Forests and Waters on State-owned lands with reference to valuable minerals. However, valuable minerals heretofore have been used only in the legal definition and interpretation of them. That legal definition merely takes in gas, oil, and coal. It does not take in sand, gravel, peat moss, and a number of other items which, I understand, the department has interpreted as constituting valuable minerals. If they want to remove those items other than what the legal interpretation defines a valuable mineral to be, then this bill should spell that out. Unless it does spell it out, I am going to be constrained to vote against this bill.

Mr. ASHTON. Mr. Speaker, as far as valuable minerals in State parks are concerned, the Valley Forge State Park, which is a very great historical shrine, is underlaid with very valuable limestone deposits. I am just wondering whether that might not be, at some time, dug up and turned into a limestone quarry if this bill should pass. I think it would be a very disastrous thing to have that happen. Therefore, I am going to oppose this bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, just one brief observation that I want to make about this bill. I have before me a memorandum from Dr. Goddard, the secretary of the department in question. In this memorandum he states as follows: "The purpose of this amendment is to allow the leasing for minerals beneath State parks. It will be done under the standard competitive bidding procedures. . . . The primary purpose of the amendment is to provide a measure of protection to prevent the drainage of natural gas or crude oil from beneath park lands through wells drilled near park land boundaries because of the characteristic mobility of oil and gas and its quick response to conditions encouraging its migration, hence, loss. The leasing as provided in this amendment will aid the Commonwealth in realizing further maximum income."

I think this is a factor that should be considered by the members of this House, and one that certainly should constrain them to vote affirmatively for this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, when we gave the Department of Forests and Waters, originally gave them, the power to lease State-owned lands for the removal of valuable minerals, it was confined in its interpretation to oil and gas. The court has interpreted valuable minerals to be those two items plus coal. However, I am informed that they have recently interpreted valuable minerals as also constituting sand and gravel. That is the thing that I am concerned about. If they are going to enlarge their interpretation as to what constitutes valuable minerals, they might take the sand and gravel in as well as the limestone that the gentleman from Chester speaks about, and I think right here is the time to call a halt and have this thing spelled out so we will be sure what we are voting on. I am not going to give them the right to remove valuable minerals and have them interpret it as any old thing that might be below the surface of the ground.

Mr. AUKER. I am still reiterating, Mr. Speaker, my objections to the bill and I want to point out that in gummed-up legislation such as this on behalf of the Federal Government, there has been one scandal after another throughout the history of our country just through this type of legislation giving such unlimited power to one man as a head of a department to do as he sees fit. Now as I said before, I am not discussing the present secretary. I have every confiidence in him. But I am scared about the future. I am concerned about the people of the Commonwealth, the people to whom this land belongs, and I am concerned about it for the future years to come. I think this bill ought to be held up until we can put in limitations and we should get the thing spelled out before we pass this type of legislation for the benefit of the people in the future, not now.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I am no authority on this subject but just reading this caption here authorizing the Department of Forests and Waters to enter into contracts or leases for mining or removal of valuable minerals in State parks, I ask, now, what do we do, buy State parks so we can turn them into mines? Yesterday we had quite a quarrel here about the way these mine companies left their mines and about settlement and so forth. Now, what are we going to do about a situation like that with State parks? State parks were never meant for anything like that when they were bought.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot let these last remarks go unanswered. When the Department of Forests and Waters was originally given the right to develop the minerals under park land, this same sort of fear was brought out to the public, but what happened? The State has realized more benefits and more money for MCF on gas drilling than any other land owner in this Commonwealth and the Department has realized millions of dollars, all of which has been turned back into beautiful State parks for the development of lakes which make our State parks some of the most beautiful in this country. I say this is a good bill and we should vote for it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not deny what the gentleman from Allegheny just stated because of the fact that it was up in Clinton County and the lower end of my county that first started to produce the gas that led to granting the department the right to issue leases on oil and gas. I was all for that because I realized the tremendous revenue to the Commonwealth from that program. Also, in the authorization that we gave at that time it had to be on public bidding. It was not something that was lodged exclusively in the hands of the Secretary of Forests and Waters. But that is not my argument. My argument is that in their interpretation of what constitutes valuable minerals, they have gone beyond that point and taken in items that are not valuable minerals. Now if they are going to go beyond the point of what they have heretofore interpreted as being valuable minerals and take anything below the subsurface of the ground, then I say to you that we are entitled to know that, and this bill should spell out exactly what they are after and what they want to do and what they want to take out. I will not vote for any bill on a valuable mineral basis and have them take out something that is not a valuable mineral.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, maybe the majority leader can correct me, at the present time, Secretary Goddard and his department have the right to drill for gas and oil on State forest lands. Is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Are you interrogating or requesting an interrogation of the majority leader?

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Yes, if you please.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the majority leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman is correct as he stated.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Now they do not have it at the present time on State park lands; is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir; they do not.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. I would go along with granting them permission to drill for gas and oil on State park lands because when that is completed you generally have to put a pipe in the ground. You have no real destruction of the ground like you would have in mining what may be called valuable minerals. Now, I know there have been several cases where we have State parks with coal underlying the ground and the State has been offered good royalties for the privilege of mining them. Now in a State park any kind of mining of any minerals, I will say, with the exception of gas and oil, would tend to destroy the value of that as a State park. You cannot take sand, gravel, coal, or anything else unless you erect other structures. If you take coal out you have to establish tipples, roads, railroads, and so forth, and the same thing happens with any other type of mineral with the exception of gas and oil. I think if this bill were amended to simply include State parks and give the right to drill for gas and oil by the State, that it could pass, but I think as it is written now, opening it up to all minerals, it is a mistake to do that in State parks.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, evidently the main arguments center around the words "valuable minerals" and not defining specifically those minerals. But, yet, basically, I do not mind saying that I favor the secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters having this right, and this bill No. 453 deals with State parks. I bring to your attention that such a law exists, as Mr. Holliday stated, in the ownership of other Commonwealth lands, and I say to you that if the Secretary of Forest and Waters in any way attempts to take out any of these items, about which you are worried, gravel, sand, slate, coal, or some other things that would be called valuable minerals, I would be in complete agreement that such items could not be removed from State parks without in some way destroying or doing something to a State park as it exists there now. In Pennsylvania I believe we have State parks from the largest to the smallest, either being built or that have been purchased and built, and I am sure there are many located in Pennsylvania where underlying that land would be some of these important minerals. Perhaps in some areas coal, in some, sand, in some, gravel, and in some, other items, but evidently there seems to be a complete disagreement or, rather, shall I say, fear to give to the Secretary that right, under the words "valuable minerals." When you take that position I also assume you are careful in your deliberations to state that for some reason you want to define each item, you want to spell out each item by word, stating sand, gravel, limestone, and the various other valuable minerals, because I believe the Secretary of Forest and Waters is the one who is responsible that those State parks are handled properly. It is his responsibility and the department has been doing a good job under legislation dealing with royalties from gas and oil that Mr. Tompkins, I guess, was one of the early sponsors in producing income for this Commonwealth and under which this program has been moving along. I favor this bill, but, if we are in a position where we cannot enact this legislation, then certainly we will have to go to an amendment which will clearly define on an agreed basis "valuable minerals." I cannot say nor do I know what a proper definition is in defining what each one would be. I am sure the department or others will know. I would like to ask your support for the legislation, but if you feel that you cannot vote for it because you are giving provocative powers too great to the secretary of Forests and Waters, then of course that is your decision. I have faith that whoever may be secretary, even if Dr. Goddard were to leave and someone else were to replace him, I am confident that whoever shall hold that position will have a tremendous obligation to all the people of Pennsylvania, and I think we should, in every instance, strengthen his hand for the program which, in our opinion, will benefit the greater portion of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will amend this bill to confine it to coal and gas, I will support the bill; otherwise I will be against it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot at this point amend it to that. I will ask that you vote on the bill today, and I do ask that the Members consider it carefully and vote as they believe in this situation. If you cannot support the bill today, and I believe most of you have a good opinion of what valuable minerals may be, then I assume we will have to cover all the items that have been mentioned here and perhaps some others, but I would appreciate it if you felt the same as many of us do, that the secretary's hand should be strengthened in this field. I ask you to support this legislation.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, I am vitally interested in this bill because I love our State parks. I do a lot of travelling in them and I would like to see this bill passed because I think it is to the great benefit of our parks. I would like to answer the gentlemen from the other side of the aisle who are worried about mines under some of these State parks and try to prove to him that his fears are unfounded and ask him to go to the new Prince Gallitzen State park in Cambria County which is almost completely undermined with coal mines, yet the department has taken that area, putting in a lake, putting in roads and camp sites. I must say it is one of the most beautiful places that I have ever seen and I think that your fears about undermining and that sort of thing are unfounded. They have taken this very area and have built the parks, not destroyed them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was not going to say anything about this bill, but as the debate progressed it ran in my mind that, as I recall the case law in Pennsylvania, natural gas is not a mineral. Natural gas is a volatile substance and all the litigation in the last ten years has been around the question, when you accept and reserve the minerals in a lease, whether you accept and reserve natural gas.

As I recall it, although I am a little hazy on recent cases, I believe that natural gas is not a mineral. Therefore, if you pass this bill and say you want to develop valuable minerals and it is natural gas that you are after, it is very questionable in my mind, without having rechecked the cases, whether you would be accomplishing the purpose. Our State parks are being made larger all the time—10, 100, and 1,200 acres. Natural gas being, again, a very transitory and volatile commodity, when somebody strikes a gas well next to a State park, it is imperative that the State is allowed to develop that gas. Otherwise, our next-door neighbor will drain that gas out from our State parks and we will lose millions of dollars. We should have a bill, and it should be defined; it should say natural gas. I believe, to repeat, that natural gas is not a mineral under the case law of Pennsylvania.

Likewise, the next bill says that if the Commonwealth owns a special interest in minerals they should be allowed to negotiate a lease. We are not on that bill, but there you are using the word "mineral" again, and why does it include natural gas? I do not believe it does, without my rechecking the latest cases on it. I think you are in a terrific dilemma here as to a proper interpretation of that word.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have running around in the back of my mind some recollection of the case that the gentleman makes reference to, and I am somewhat inclined to agree with what he recalls the law to be. I think possibly oil and gas, under our court interpretations of valuable minerals, are not items that are included.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will ask that House bill No. 454 go over in order because it is on a similar subject. During the recess period we can straighten out the oil and gas and valuable minerals question.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection, House bill No. 454, printer's No. 493, was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 460, entitled:

An Act repealing section 5.1 of the "Local Health Administration Law" approved August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304), relating to the dissolution of and withdrawal from certain departments of health.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill. I would like one of the sponsors to give us a brief resume of this bill and what it does.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes that gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that has been very much misunderstood and misinterpreted. There has been a lot of misinformation disseminated throughout the membership of this House concerning this bill. I am ready and willing to answer any questions that anyone may have. However, if you will bear with me I may clear up some of those questions that are in the membership's mind, by reading a letter written to the Butler Eagle by the secretary of health:

"Dear Mr. Wise:

Due to the dissolution of the Butler County Health Department by referendum on November 8, 1960, certain reductions in the Butler County Health program have been necessary. The transition period was extended to December 31, 1960, so that county employes could complete some activities that were under way. This also permitted time for the State Department of Health to arrange to absorb a limited number of public health workers, some of whom will remain in Butler County. For example, four of the nine public health nurses will continue to work there as the staff for the entire county.

"I should like to clarify some of the legal questions that have arisen with respect to the responsibility of the governmental jurisdiction in the county. Before the county department was established in 1954, most of the county, exclusive of Butler and Butler Township, was given public health coverage by the State. After the county department came into being, the jurisdictions not previously under the State gradually became a part of the county department.

"Since its dissolution the city of Butler has decided not to re-establish a health department of its own, but to look to the State for public health services. Butler Township is the only municipality that has indicated its intent to establish its own health department. Public health functions of all boroughs and second class townships automatically became the responsibility of the State. Therefore, at this date, the entire county of Butler is under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Health for the conduct of public health services. Obviously, we are not, and will not be, in a position to provide certain services previously available from the county unit. These services are being provided by less than half as many health workers as were employed during the operation of the county department of health.

"Butler County will, of necessity, be without the services of a county medical director and will have to rely on the services of our regional medical director from Meadville, who must serve eleven other counties as well. For example, this one medical director, covering twelve counties, cannot adequately coordinate State immunizations and clinics as well as good public health practice dictates. Butler County will be dependent on his availability for disease outbreaks such as hepatitis, poliomyelitis or food poisoning.

"Perhaps the biggest loss of service to Butler citizens will be in the field of nursing. The nursing problems inherent in the increasing prevalence of chronic disease in our population and associated with the high cost of hospitalization and nursing care can be alleviated by the use of public health home nursing care. Butler County was doing this. This service was increasing to such a degree that by 1959, 50 percent of the total of 5,923 nursing visits were for home nursing care, and most of these were for patients with chronic diseases. This is a service the State cannot provide and, accordingly, it is now completely lost to the county."

The State cannot now provide this.

"Likewise, the several hundred yearly nursing visits assisting private physicians with their maternal and child health cases is a service the State cannot continue. State public health nursing services will be essentially limited to communicable disease control and to certain clinic activities such as tuberculosis and child health conferences. Direction for nursing services will be from the Meadville regional office.

"Insofar as sanitation activities are concerned, the State assumes responsibility for inspection of public water supplies. It cannot provide more than limited consultation on individual water suplies, over 50 percent of which were found to be contaminated when checked by the county unit. The State has full responsibility for inspection of public sewage disposal systems and must be called in to inspect and give State approval for private construction of septic tanks when FHA or VA financing is involved. We do not have the staff, however, to inspect such facilities at conventionally financed homes.

"Nuisance complaints will be handled as expeditiously as availability of personnel permits.

"A major loss to Butler County will be the reduction in the coordination and integration of programs of the official and voluntary health agencies so essential to make the most of available resources and to make optimum utilization of the available health dollar. And speaking of the health dollar, the county unit . . . ."

And this is very important, gentlemen.

". . . the county unit was costing Butler citizens out of county taxes about one and one-fourth cents per person per week." That is a bargain if only the home nursing care were considered and no other health services were involved.

"We are fully cognizant of many services formerly available to Butler citizens that the State cannot provide. However, financial and personnel limitations have eliminated such excellent programs as the home nursing service. In addition, administrative control, which by necessity must be maintained at either the Harrisburg or Meadville level, cannot be as sensitive to local demands or needs as can the local unit.

"The location of the headquarters for the State's activities has not definitely been decided. However, we are negotiating with the Veterans Administration Hospital for space.

"We strongly feel that, by all standards nationally available, Butler County has suffered a great loss by eliminating its county health department. The citizens experssed their will by voting it out and the State Department of Health will perform the same limited services it supplies elsewhere in the State, even though it cannot provide Butler County with the services previously available.

"Very truly yours,
C. L. Wilbar, Jr., M.D.
Secretary of Health"

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman. I am glad I asked the gentleman for a resume and not a detailed statement.

Mr. Speaker, I want the members to know that I am not against the county health plan. If this bill should pass, we will still have a county health plan. I am for a county health plan. This will not jeopardize the county health plan we have presently. The only thing I ask is that this bill remains as is.

Many of the communities in my area have complained of the lack of service they are getting from the county health plan. When they had their own systems, they could do things within a day or two, or maybe three days. Presently they have to wait for weeks to get satisfaction from the county health department. I say I am for the county health plan. They should do something to do a better job and I think that by elimination of this bill it would help them do things better. I agree with this legislation. The one percent is not the figure that should be in there. It could be a greater percentage of people voting to eliminate the county health plan. But, by the same token, we feel that we are not getting the best possible service and I think this bill should remain as is.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to any county health department continuing to function and enforce regulations that they think necessary, possibly in excess of what the State department issues. I can only get one thing out of the letter which has been written here and which has been read into the record, and that is that one county is in bad shape as a result of the present law. It must be too bad for all the rest of the State who do not have county health departments, if our State department failed as badly as that would indicate. This bill that we are acting on here today, in my opinion, is one of the sneakiest ones I have seen in the years I have been around here. We passed in 1959 a bill that became law that gave the people within any community where they have a county health department the opportunity to say whether or not they want that continued. In my opinion, that is a just method of operating. This bill simply would repeal that law. Therefore, the people within the community would have no jurisdiction, no authority, to say whether or not they want to continue that health department, whether it be good or bad.

All of us here in the House have supported certain legislation that was not too palatable because of the fact that it allowed a referendum and permitted the people in a community to decide whether or not they wanted certain things. That is what we did in 1959. We made a law that allows a referendum, and this bill would simply repeal that referendum.

I say to you, members of the House, this is unjust and I hope you will all oppose this bill in its present form.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Cambria County, Mr. Farabaugh, who calls this a sneaky bill, I think the gentleman is a mite confused. The sneaky bill was the amendment in 1959 that created this when it was tacked onto an appropriation for a Philadelphia hospital which was badly in need of an appropriation. The Senate tacked this sneaky 1959 amendment on here, and, in order for this House to get the necessary hospital care for those people in Philadelphia, we had to go along with this 1959 amendment. So if there is anything sneaky, the sneaky part was when they sneaked it in on the end of a good bill.

As I said before, there has been a lot of misinformation on this bill. When they tell you that once the county health unit is established you cannot take it out, that is absolute misinformation. The county commissioners can dissolve a county health unit at any time they want to dissolve it, practically. All the commissioners have to do is to let it die on the vine. No county health unit can survive without money. The county commissioners and the county salary board control the purse strings that create the county health unit. The county commissioners must put up 50 percent of the money and the State puts up the other 50 percent, up to 75 cents.

Now, nowhere where they have established a county health unit has the millage been raised. Nowhere in the State has the millage been raised on account of the establishment of a county health unit. A board is set up by the county commissioners, appointed by them and they are actually the ones who control it. When you are told that you cannot eliminate a county health unit without a referendum, that is pure misinformation because no organization can exist without money, and the county commissioners and the county salary board control the purse strings. Thank you.

Are there any other questions on this bill? I would like to answer them.

Mr. FARABAUGH, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland just one question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman consent to be interrogated?

Mr. MAXWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman just what is his objection to the people in the community deciding for themselves whether or not they want a health department?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, that is a very good question and I have been expecting it for a long time.

I think in my last statement I already explained that a referendum is absolutely unnecessary. It is unnecessary. You do not need a referendum. You do not have referendums to rip out fire departments, do you? You do not have referendums to rip out police departments, do you? Why would you have a referendum to rip out anything as important as protection of the public health?

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I think that the metropolitan areas of this Commonwealth now recognize the invaluable aid and assistance guaranteed and granted to them by the existence of the county health departments, in those areas where a health department has been established and has properly functioned. For example, I refer to the Allegheny Health Department. This department has been a boon, it has been, in my opinion, a lifesaver to the metropolitan area. I can understand that in some rural sections of this Commonwealth the county health department may not meet with favor and as a result county health departments are not established universally throughout the Commonwealth. However, I feel that in time to come the value of the health department will be universally recognized throughout the State.

I just wish to point out, however, the problem that does exist if we do not revoke and repeal the present status of the law, which we are trying to do by this amendment. The county health departments now in existence are unable to plan programs that would extend over a period of a number of years. I have in my own district a very serious health problem. To combat it is going to take a large amount of money. It is going to take a number of years of planning, of sewer construction. If the health department has hanging over its head this sword, not knowing from one year to another as to whether or not their actual existence is going to be terminated, they cannot enter into the problems such as the one we face in my own district. It is for this reason, I think, that this amendment has to pass.

I am glad that Dr. Maxwell saw fit to bring to the attention of this House the reason that it was put in in the first place, and I feel that for the benefit of the metropolitan areas that have health departments already in existence, this amendment not only is a thorn in their side but is actually threatening their very existence. For that reason I would ask the members of this House to vote in favor of this bill.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to speak upon this bill, but I think I would be rather remiss if I did not, inasmuch as Bucks County has a fine, functioning health department. We are very proud of our health department and, as you know, we are one of the fastest growing counties in the Commonwealth. We have many problems because we have many developments. I feel that this county health department has added greatly to the development in Bucks County. We have a department that through the establishment of our county health department adds to the local autonomy in Pennsylvania.

In the absence of a county health department, public health functions are administered by boards of health established by cities first class, townships and boroughs. These boards of health employ a variable number of part-time personnel who are unskilled in public health. This board gives us people who are skilled in public health; they give us professional people who know what they are doing. The cost of this health department to Bucks County is one of the cheapest and one of the greatest bargains we have ever had. It costs each man and woman in Bucks County approximately $1.45 per year, which is only the cost of a few packs of cigarettes, to protect the health of every man, woman, and child in Bucks County and to protect it with the very best ability of professional skill.

I feel we should have an "aye" vote on this bill, not only to protect ourselves, but to protect everyone who has one of these health departments, and for those whom I hope in time to come will be lucky enough to have one of these departments in their county.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask either one of the last two speakers a couple of questions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will either of the last two speakers permit themselves to be interrogated?

Mr. Lamb, of Allegheny County, will you permit yourself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAMB. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in what way is the present law interfering with your health department?

Mr. LAMB. May I cite what I consider to be a very good example, Mr. Speaker?

There exists in the city of Pittsburgh and some of the surrounding boroughs and townships a watercourse which is generally known as Sawmill Run. Sawmill Run is recognized as an open sewer. It is also recognized as a very serious flooding problem. Yesterday, for example, I was together with Dr. Goddard from the Department of Forests and Waters and his staff, Dr. Domkie from the Allegheny County Health Department and city and county officials, planning what we could do to improve the health situation and to remove the present health menace that exists. The county health department is willing to undertake the chairmanship of a coordinating committee to plan adequate sewage for this creek. This is going to cost millions of dollars. The Federal Government, through its corps of engineers, is going to design a practical waterway. The county health department is going to design and take part in the sewer construction, but this is going to take several years. Now, if the Health Department is going to get involved in this today and finds out next year or the year after that they are no longer going to be in existence—or I should put it this way, how could the county health department plan for a program such as this, realizing the possibility that they may not be in existence next year? I think that is an example, Mr. Speaker, of what I am talking about.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman from Allegheny has proved two points in his answer to that question. First, he has proven that the health department is not being interfered with; secondly, he has proven that the State department is working with the county health department. Therefore he has defeated his own arguments.

Another question I would like to ask is, since you have a condition where the people within the area are affected by the sewer condition you speak of, naturally they are interested in the same thing you are, so why do you object to their having a voice in it?

Mr. LAMB. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I do not quite understand the question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman repeat his question?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Since you have told us of your sewer condition that affects the people within that area, they naturally are interested in it and in favor of your improving it, so why are you so much afraid of them wanting to have a voice in determining whether you should continue or not?

Mr. LAMB. As I thought I brought out, inasmuch as the project is going to take several years to solve and inasmuch as so much money is going to be spent in solving it, it will practically be impossible for the health department to get in and coordinate the activities and to take a major responsibility in it if they feel, or are under the threat, that possibly next year they will not even be in existence.

Mr. FARABAUGH. I thank the gentleman. It appears to me they are afraid of something here that is very unlikely to happen if they are doing a proper job; and if they are not doing a proper job, according to the present law as I understand it, the State health department will step in and do the job, so what is there to worry about?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker . . . .

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, may I interrupt for just a minute?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman does not have the floor. The floor is now held by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. MAXWELL. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. ADAMS. No.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, the more this debate goes on the more confusing it gets and my interpretation and understanding of this is, and if it is wrong, I would like to be corrected: Under existing law the electorate of a county have a right to set up a county health unit. Under existing law, if they find it undesirable and inefficient, they have the right by referendum to vote it out. I understand this bill as proposed, No. 460, would take away that right from the electorate, and by implication would say that while the people are certainly qualified to determine what they shall set up, how their money shall be spent, and so forth, once it has been instituted they no longer have the right, the ability or the intelligence to determine that they can terminate a unit under this legislation. I think to take a stand like that is replacing rule of the majority by the minority and saying they are not fit or qualified to decide when they want to terminate a program which they themselves instituted by their own free will. It is wrong and so I think we should get on with it and vote on it and all decide that the people have the right to say. Let us vote the bill down and let us quit the horsing around.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, when I asked the gentleman to yield and he so discourteously refused, I only was doing it for one of his own members. Mr. Goldstein wanted a ruling from the Chair and he asked me to ask if he could be recorded as voting "aye" because he had to go over to the Governor's office to roll, I guess, for a selection of judge. That was the only reason I wanted the gentleman to yield.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair regrets that he could not require the gentleman from Berks to yield.

Mr. MAXWELL. Would the Chair, if we go to a vote before Mr. Goldstein returns, record him as voting "aye"? That was his request.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The rules of the House would not permit Mr. Goldstein to be recorded as voting "aye" under these circumstances.

Mr. MAXWELL. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In closing, in answer to the gentleman, I still do not agree with him on why the electorate should rip out a county health unit. As I said before, if he is going to give this right, why not give the right to rip out police departments and fire departments. I think that is all right. I would go along with that. That is all, thank you.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I did not know that the request was made to me to yield in order to permit a colleague to vote. Had I known it was for such a short purpose, I would have gladly yielded, but I thought it was for further discourse on this subject by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, and while I have heard him speak on the subject about half a dozen times, I thought inasmuch as I had not spoken on it before I was entitled to at least one time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair fortunately recognizes the presence of Mr. Goldstein in the hall of the House.

The Chair temporarily recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I was so confused with the wonderful cooperation and results that I got from my address yesterday that I forgot the roll was tomorrow. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to comment briefly on two things the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, mentioned.

First of all, he likened this referendum on county health units to a referendum on fire and police departments. That is not a parallel situation. In the case of the county health departments, there are alternative methods of providing local health supervision. Historically, we have had the State and the local municipalities provide health supervision. The county unit is an alternative plan that the people may or may not vote to go into. That is not the case with fire and police departments. Furthermore, once they are in it is a more or less autonomous operation, whereas the police and fire departments are directly controlled by the city or borough council. The other thing that I wanted to mention was the fact that he said a referendum is unnecessary to do away with one of these health departments, that the commissioners can do this by cutting off the funds. In that case they would not be dissolving the department, they would be merely killing it by strangulation. There would be a period of time during which the thing was being killed that there would be no adequate health services provided either by the State or the county. That is not an alternative method of disbanding a county health unit. That is merely strangulating it so you have nothing in that period of transition.

I would like to further state that if those counties which have health units like them, such as Bucks and Allegheny, certainly they should be permitted to keep them. We are not discussing in this bill the merits of the health departments that are in existence. We are discussing the right of the people to choose, to vote on, whether they shall keep their health departments or dissolve them. I think it is the very essence of our method of self-government, that people have the right preserved to have a referendum on a matter of such great importance.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS filed the following reasons for his vote on House bill No. 460, printer's number 499.

I favor the county health plan. I believe the vast majority of the citizens of Bucks County favor the county health plan.

This bill is not really concerned with county health plan. It is a question of non-rule. The people today have the right to establish a county health plan and also the right to end a county health plan. This is absolute Home Rule and I favor it.

No one in Bucks County seriously believes that the voters will abolish our health plan.

None of the personnel of our county health plan have resigned because they know our county health plan might be abolished.

If one percent of the electorate are permitted to place the question of establishing a county health department on the ballot, it follows that the same number should be able to place the question of disestablishment on the ballot.

I believe the fear of such action is false but the right should exist.

It still requires a majority of the voters to either establish or disestablish a county health department. I have faith in the people on this question.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, while they are getting the totals ready on the vote, I would like to take this opportunity to tell the membership that we will move steadily until about a quarter to one at which time we will break for lunch, so please do not go down now to eat. It will give us a better opportunity to get in the cafeteria for a short lunch period.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, rise?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, after the Chair announces that the clerk will record the vote, how long can that machine stay open? Should not the vote be closed at the time the Speaker announces that the clerk will record the vote and nobody be allowed to vote after that?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The vote will stay open until the majority leader and the minority leader indicate their desire to have it closed. That is the practice that has prevailed.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with that. Then the Speaker announces that the clerk will record the vote and the machine still stays open for as high as a minute or a minute and a half.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In reply to the gentleman, I am advised that it takes anywhere from 15 to 30 seconds for the machine's automatic system to close itself out after the Speaker has announced that the clerk will take the vote.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 419, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code" approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), providing that supervisors assessors auditors and tax collectors must be electors of the township in order to be eligible.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What township officers are there presently in existence?

Mr. FLYNN. Is the gentleman speaking of elected township officers?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I am talking on this bill. This bill says no person shall be eligible to any township office unless he is a registered elector. Now that office is amended out and certain specific offices are spelled out. What specific offices are being eliminated here that are not included in the ones that are spelled out?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, my interpretation of it is, it is a clarifying amendment. It spells out who shall hold elective office, and it spells out the township supervisor—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. May I ask the gentleman to yield for the purpose of asking the Chair what bill we are considering and why it is not lit up?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has announced and will announce again that we are now considering on page 12 of the third-reading calendar, House bill 419, printer's No. 456.

Mr. McCORMACK. Should that not be signified on the board?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has requested that it be put on the board and it is now on the board.

The Chair thanks the gentleman very much.

The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn, will proceed.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, this is a clarifying amendment to article 4, section 401, of the Township Code. What it does in detail is to spell out the elected officers, and it spells out the supervisor, the assessor, the tax collector, and the auditors for the township. The way the code reads now in section 401, if my memory serves me correctly, it specifies that no person shall hold any office in any township unless he is an electorate resident thereof. My interpretation of the present code, Mr. Speaker, would be that nobody could hold any office whether it be elective or appointive unless he was a resident thereof, and there are conditions in the different townships today whereby the township supervisors appoint solicitors, or a secretary, roadmaster, engineer, and what have you, from other than residents of the township. This amendment, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion, clarifies who shall be a resident of the township to hold elective office.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I do not see school directors in here. Are they not elected?

Mr. FLYNN. They do not come under the code, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Excuse me, Mr. Speaker. Under this bill could the township hire a CPA to do their auditing?

Mr. FLYNN. Yes. Since he is not an elective official, the township supervisor would have the right to employ a CPA if he so desired.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would he not be doing the work of the auditor?

Mr. FLYNN. Not necessarily.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, the assumption—

Mr. FLYNN. Perhaps they would call him in to check on the auditors. Perhaps they may feel a distrust of the auditors and request a CPA to check the auditors.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Suppose they wanted to get a CPA instead of an auditor to do their work?

Mr. FLYNN. The auditors are elected and the code spells out that they must be elected, so they would have no choice in that matter.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would further like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Would the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. FLYNN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I do not have a Township Code before me, but would a constable be able to be elected who is not a resident of the township?

Mr. FLYNN. No, I would say not, Mr. Speaker. I think there are other provisions in the code which take care of constables.

Mr. ISAACS. How about a justice of the peace?

Mr. FLYNN. The same, I believe, Mr. Speaker, applies to a justice of the peace.

Mr. ISAACS. I thank the gentleman.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 428, printer's No. 1023

was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 422, entitled:

An Act amending the "Child Labor Law" approved May 13, 1915 (P. L. 286), permitting certain minors to be employed as caddies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to very briefly explain this bill, without delaying the House.

This is an amendment to the Child Labor Law, which would permit minors between the ages of 12 and 15 to caddy at a country club, and they are limited to carrying one bag and to the further restriction that they be allowed to carry for no more than 18 holes in one day.

There have been some misgivings about this bill, that this is a raid on the child labor laws and that there is an attempt being made to create all kinds of loopholes and to open the door on the child labor laws that we now have.

I would like to assure the membership that this is not going to hurt the child labor laws in any respect. It is a bill that many members on both sides of the House have expressed interest in—they are in favor of it. I note on the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO house calendar that they do not have it checked off as a bill to which they are opposed. There is a considerable segment of labor that is not opposed to this bill. I have heard nothing, except from one labor union in Philadelphia.

This is a good bill and it gives the children a chance to earn enough money to buy shoes and other things that they would ordinarily be deprived of. Older boys would not be willing to caddy for the money that is involved—it is only a few dollars—and there is a scarcity of caddies. With this amendment to the Child Labor Law it would be a good thing for young children. I have caddied in that age category myself and it never hurt me, except that I have become a politician since.

There is also considerable interest in this bill by the Professional Golfers' Association that endorsed it.

There have been some misgivings that the children, if they were in the country club environment, would not be in the best company in these caddy houses, but I would like to point out that the caddy masters at the present time supervise the activities and watch over the young caddies there, they train them properly, and most of the caddies that I am acquainted with in this young age category are decent, respectable, law-abiding boys. This is a step in the right direction to do away with some of the problems of juvenile delinquency today. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have spent some years in the Department of Labor and Industry in this State enforcing the Child Labor Law. This is the very type of argument that I have listened to time and time again with respect to liberalizing the Child Labor Law, the kind that are just trying to defend violations of it.

There are only two categories of jobs in which youngsters are permitted to engage, in which special permission is given, under the law. One is shoeshine boys and the other is newsboys.

For any member of this House to stand up and say in the year 1961 that we, the members of the Pennsylvania Legislature, should start to relax the Child Labor Laws in this State is nonsense. Personally, I feel that the club house of the golf course is no place for a 12-year-old youngster. I know of a hundred different occupations that would be much more desirable for 12-year-olds.

The child Labor law in this State was passed many years ago. It took the energy and the efforts and the dedication of thousands of men and women in this State to take the youngsters out of coal breakers, to take them out of employment that was wrecking their health.

I do not think that we as members of this House in the year 1961 should take the road backwards. I think it is a bad bill and we should vote against it.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a few remarks on this bill.

In the first place, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Morley, who brings out the point that the so-called shacks or caddy houses are not places for younger boys to gather, I wish to say this as president of the golf association of Philadelphia, encompassing some 75 country clubs in that district—the Philadelphia area generally—I have found in recent years a great improvement in the caddy facilities. I know on occasions there are club houses which are antiquated, but basically the caddies' facilities today have improved tremendously.

I want to quote here a small piece from the USGA Journal, that is, the United States Golf Association Journal, pointing out real improvements for caddies at the Congressional Country Club in Washington. I quote from that:

"Last year the club built a $15,000 caddy house which includes shower and toilet facilities, a television set, card table, and a kitchen where hot food and soft drinks are served. Also, discarded clothes and shoes from Congressional members are distributed to caddies and, also, caddies are given ponchos for their use."

Actually, I think it is a great thing for a young fellow to get out and have the opportunity to earn a few dollars on the weekend, also to get out in the fresh air and in the open and off the streets. Basically, I feel, although I am interested in the game of golf, that this bill is a good measure to prevent the beginning of juvenile delinquency among many children at that early age.

I ask the members of this House to support the legislation.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, what is the weight of the golf bag that the gentleman carries?

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, the weight of golf bags vary substantially. Golf bags can weigh as much as 50 pounds or they can weigh as little as perhaps five or six. In further answer to the gentleman's question, I would say that I have found it the practice of caddy masters to be very careful in dealing out golf bags to younger boys. Never do they give them the heavy bags. It is the older men who carry those bags, the younger fellows get the light canvas bags for several reasons: number one, they feel it is a strain on the boy; number two, the boys cannot get around 18 holes with a heavy load like that.

Mr. SAKULSKY. What is the average weight of a 12-year-old boy?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I could not tell you, sir.

Mr. SAKULSKY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the average weight of a golf bag with the clubs, as the gentleman said, is about 50 pounds. Most of the 12-year-old boys weigh no more than 65 pounds. I do not know about the courses at Philadelphia, but the courses in Westmoreland County and in the Pittsburgh area are pretty hilly. For a boy 12 years of age to carry a bag that weighs 50 pounds is an imposition and it could impair his health. For that reason I would ask the members to vote against it.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, with all due respect to the sponsors, I feel that this bill is a bill for child labor instead of against child labor, I have always been of the opinion, especially on bills dealing with juvenile delinquency, that the correct age to start, in the main, is the age of 12. We have control of our children at that age. This bill in no way provides where a child would be between the hour that he starts out to caddy, or the place where he says he is designated for, and the time when he returns home. Where he is in the evening, whether he reaches home and says he has been caddying and travels for 10 or 15 miles and returns home late at night, no one knows. I feel parental supervision should be had over a child of 12 years of age, more so than over any child, because if you control the children between the ages of 12 and 14 you will have less juvenile delinquency at the age of 16 and over. I say a child should be controlled, should be greatly controlled. At 14 or 16 those people may be in need of jobs to meet their college expenses, and these children are taking jobs away from the older ones. Therefore, I feel that we should be against this bill.

Mr. McKEEVER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McKEEVER. Mr. Speaker, I heard the gentleman say that these clubs are very luxurious and a very good place for a young man to hang around. About how much do they get per hour? Has the gentleman any idea?

Mr. FETTEROLF. They are paid on a round basis.

Mr. McKEEVER. Will the gentleman tell me how long it takes for 18 holes?

Mr. FETTEROLF. That depends upon the golfer.

Mr. McKEEVER. Let us be specific. Do not evade the question. Would it take, say, five hours?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I would say that the average length of time for an 18-hole round of golf is about 3½ to 4 hours.

Mr. McKEEVER. What do they receive for that?

Mr. FETTEROLF. They receive $3.50, generally, plus tips, although it varies in clubs. The total fee, generally, amounts to about $4 today.

Mr. McKEEVER. I could send the gentleman 80 or 85 boys 16 to 18 years old from my own union who are ready for work. They receive $2 an hour at the present in my own union.

Tell me, who is responsible in the event that a child is hurt? What compensation do they have, that is, workmen's compensation?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I would like to yield to my cosponsor, Mr. McCormack, of Philadelphia, to answer that.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated on this point?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. I can be quite specific on this, because through the Philadelphia Bar Association, the Lawyers' Reference Service, I was referred a case two years ago—I am glad they brought up this question—wherein a caddy, while leaving the parking lot of a club of which Mr. Fetterolf is a member, was hit on the head with a golf ball. I filed an application for benefits under workmen's compensation and he received compensation. Caddies, I would like to point out, although they are part-time employees, are covered by the workmen's compensation law of Pennsylvania.

Mr. McKEEVER. I thank both gentlemen.

I feel I certainly could not stoop so low as to vote for a bill that involves engaging children who should be home studying and under parental care. If it were for ages 16 to 18, I would vote for it, but not children.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, not to prolong this, but this bill does not have too much significance. It does not really make any difference to me whether it passes or fails, and I am sure Mr. Fetterolf feels the same way personally.

Here is an opportunity to permit these young children to make money. We do not need caddies down there. It is true that we have electric carts at most of the golf courses. We could use them and do away with caddies altogether. This is an opportunity that would not otherwise be provided for young children in that age category to make a dollar, a few dollars, three dollars an hour. That is good money for these young children. The average round of golf, I understand, takes three hours. They are getting more money than they pay to adults under the minimum wage laws of Pennsylvania. Is there anything wrong with that? They are getting good compensation; they are glad to get it. I do not care if they come up to the club, or not, so far as I as a golfer am concerned, but these children want the opportunity to do it. This is no servitude; this does not have any political overtones. As I pointed out before, the AFL-CIO, who are vigorous defenders of the child labor law and any other law pertaining to the rights and privileges of labor, are not against this. That, I think, is rather significant.

Further, I would ask you to avoid any emotional arguments and vote on the bill. Vote as you see fit, but do not be swayed by emotion. I am a laboring man myself. I drove a truck before I went to law school. I was a member of the union. I am not going to come up here and introduce an anti-child labor bill or a bill that the unions are seriously opposed to. This is a bill that will help the children in that age category. It is as simple as that. We in the golf association provide scholarships for children and we give them a lot of benefits that they would not otherwise have.

Mr. MORLEY. Mr. Speaker, in the report that every member of this House received from the Governor's office within the last few weeks it was stated that there were 500,000 people, one-half million people, unemployed in the State of Pennsylvania. These are not 12-year-old children. They are men and women looking for jobs, a good many of them with families. I say to the gentlemen supporting this bill, that with these jobs paying two and three dollars an hour, certainly out of that half-million we can find thousands of people who will take them willingly. There is no necessity for permitting 12-year-old children to do it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS, GOODRICH, RENWICK and GRAMLICH. RESOLUTION No. 43.

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1961.

Throughout this great State, the value of land is progressively rising with the increasing population. Many political subdivisions are faced with an insurmountable problem of providing necessary services to its residents because the tax rate on taxable property has reached the saturation point.

Much of the nontaxable land in this State consists of public lands on which the State pays ten cents an acre in lieu of taxes. At the time the rate was set, the sum of ten cents per acre was reasonable and satisfactory. Unfortunately, the rate of payment has not increased with the value of the land which could be of great tax value to the counties in which it is located; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to investigate and study the system of payments in lieu of taxes on public lands to counties by the State and recommend to the next regular session of the General Assembly a method of increasing the payments in lieu of taxes on public lands to the counties, together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. KOOKER, Messrs. BUSH, ZEMBER, KING, A. D. WILLIAMS and A. M. LEE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 44.

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1961.

Whereas, The August 1960 Session of Congress passed the Kerr-Mills amendments to the Social Security Law providing a system of Federal aid in the field of the medically needy senior citizens of the United States. The proposals of the current National administration in this field would take effect in October, 1962, if enacted by Congress by such date; and

Whereas, Immediate action by the General Assembly to implement the provisions of current Federal law would bring prompt relief to our older citizens who are unable to afford medical care, our hospitals and Blue Cross programs. The State administration to date has failed to act to this end to the detriment of our citizens; and

Whereas, The full cooperation of the State Department of Public Welfare, the Governor and other administration officials is required in the promotion of the necessary legislation; therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the administration urgently is requested to immediately implement the Kerr-Mills Act, and submit legislation as soon as possible to this session of the General Assembly to accomplish such implementation; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Honorable Ruth Grigg Horting, Secretary of Public Welfare.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to turn to page 14, bills on third reading. I would like to call up House bill 489, printer's No. 532, and in this case after the roll is completed I will ask for a fast roll call for 14 bills.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand these bills are to be amended?

Mr. McCANN. No, sir. I came back over and told you I withdrew the amendments.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Your proposal is that we take a roll call for a record vote and use that same record vote on all these bills?

Mr. McCANN. Beginning, Mr. Speaker, with 489—

Mr. TOMPKINS. These veterans' bills I am talking about.

Mr. McCANN. You have the numbers?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes.

Mr. McCANN. To the end. They concern the Italian-American World War Veterans of the United States.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in the interest of the time it will save, we will go along with that.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Hearing no objections, we will proceed to House bill 489, printer's No. 532, page 14 of today's calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 489, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 3, 1923 (P. L. 134) entitled "An act making the proceedings of the conventions of the Departments of Pennsylvania of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Spanish War Veterans a part of the public records of the State * * *" correcting the name of the Italian American World War Veterans of the United States Incorporated to conform with its charter.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

It is a question about the bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have not checked this, but I understand that a similar, identical set of bills passed the other chamber yesterday. Is that true?

Mr. McCANN. With one word different.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What is the plan to be? What set of bills are you going to pass? Are you going to spend double money and pass two sets of bills, or what are your plans?

Mr. McCANN. We are going to pass this set of bills. They have passed the other ones and the courts or whatever the organization is will determine the correction and they will be in position for whichever one it takes. It does not cost anything. It does not cost any more than it costs at this point.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. You mean the Senate bills may pass here, or the House bills may pass the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. That is right, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. It looks like a lot of extra time and expense to me.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the minority whip which one of bills 580, 584 or 585 are debatable bills?

Mr. TOMPKINS. All of them.

Mr. McCANN. All three will be debatable or just questioned?

Mr. TOMPKINS. 587 is debatable.

Mr. McCANN. Well, 580, 584, 585 and 587?

Mr. TOMPKINS. 580 is the only one I know that might not be debatable.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House bill 580.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 580, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1125) further regulating the use of automatic and magazine shotguns and providing a penalty.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 585, entitled:

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House to the fact that some of us do not have copies of this bill under printer's No. 630. Three of us in my immediate area do not have copies of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman made the point that he did not have the 630 printer's number of this bill. The Chair is advised that the bill was printed and should be on the members' desks.

Mr. FETTEROLF. There are three of us in this immediate area who do not have a copy of that printer's number.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the chief clerk see that the members who do not have copies of that bill get copies?

I am advised that the bill is in the file of the majority, if not all, of the members.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I should like to interrogate on this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair withdraws its decision. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to ask one of the sponsors of this bill, or somebody, what the purpose of this bill is and what they are trying to accomplish by it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURWOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask what the purpose of this bill is and what they are trying to accomplish by it.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, it is a very simple bill. Under the present status today the game commission only takes in $300, $400 to $500 a year from these particular individuals. All they are trying to do is to get enough to pay the bill and thereby save the game commission money.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The gentleman is speaking of fur dealers, now.

Mr. CURWOOD. Yes, fur dealers, taxidermists, and so forth.

Mr. TOMPKINS. In other words, the gentleman claims they are not carrying their own load?

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, they do not have enough of them in the State to carry their own load. That is right, sir.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 587, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225), permitting a nonresident who is not a resident of the United States to purchase a three-day license for hunting on regulated shooting grounds.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURWOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill, as I understand it, provides for the issuance of certain limited hunting licenses to nonresidents of the United States, is that right?

Mr. CURWOOD. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. A nonresident of the United States would be classified as an alien, would he not?

Mr. CURWOOD. Yes, I would say so.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is there not legislation on our Federal statute books to the effect that an alien cannot possess or use a firearm?

Mr. CURWOOD. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. How, then can we grant that right in Pennsylvania if there is Federal legislation against it?

Mr. CURWOOD. I will tell you all about that, Mr. Speaker. I go to Canada once in a while, you know. I take a little gun with me, and I go up there and I get a little permit from the Canadian authorities with which they let me go out hunting for three or four days. I want to do the same thing for these Canadians when they come down to visit me.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, is that the gentleman's full answer to that question?

Mr. CURWOOD: I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I did not get that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is that the gentleman's full answer to that question?

Mr. CURWOOD. No. How much longer do you want me to go? What else do you want me to talk about?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman. I think I understand what he is trying to get at.

Mr. CURWOOD. Oh, you are going to figure it out yourself. Well, let me tell you.

Mr. Speaker, since Mr. Tompkins wants a little more discussion on it, I would like to bring something else up on a little different angle. You know, I had a very close friend of mine back home and the only way I could get her a fishing license was—I was chairman of Fisheries at that time—by saying that she was a relation of Queen Elizabeth and she was visiting over here. So I got her a fishing license, which I thought was pretty nice. It is a little bit off the subject, but I believe in this.

The bill was introduced for a good reason, a very good reason, to let an alien who happened to be a friend, say, of Mr. Tompkins, my colleague, when visiting him at his home and wanting very badly to go out hunting that day to be able to do so. In the past he probably made the very good excuse, I cannot go out with you, with his cousin or aunt or uncle because he could not go hunting with him. Now I am making it possible for Mr. Tompkins to take that friend of his from Italy, Germany, England or any place else, hunting with him for three days on a minimum license fee. It that enough, Mr. Tompkins?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I am very sympathetic to the cause of the gentleman. I have nothing against Canadians. I have friends who are Canadians. As a matter of fact, my father was a Canadian, a naturalized Canadian, in this country. I have a great deal of sympathy for them. I have a great deal of sympathy for all other nationalities, but I am wondering if we here are creating an instrument in the hands of the Pennsylvania people that might be a violation of the Federal law and get our friends in trouble. That is the only thing I am trying to avoid.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed, and I ask you to verify this, that other States have passed similar legislation and it does not supersede the Federal Alien Firearms Act. I am not an authority and know nothing about this, but they tell me that in other States they have done the same thing, so that when these people visit you from either Canada or Mexico you can get a permit so they can hunt with you and it is not a violation of the act that you speak of.

I do not know, but, if we can do this, it might help Pennsylvanians somewhere who have people coming from another country who want to spend their money while they are hunting here.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate all that. What I am trying to do is raise the issue as to whether or not we are going to pass legislation that might trap some of our good friends under a Federal violation. That is all.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, presently in Pennsylvania a nonresident can get a nonresident license. I applied once for one last year. Certainly when that legislation was passed here, this question must have been considered. I do not know about the Federal firearms act. I wonder if Mr. Tompkins absolutely knows that they are prohibited from carrying firearms. We already allow for a season license and this is only a three-day license.

Yes, they are aliens. Yes, aliens.

I acquired one for an alien myself last year and you had to get a special license from a special licensing bureau, a three-day license. They are allowed to have a three-day license.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If the gentleman who is interrogating the gentleman who has the floor will ask for recognition, I will appreciate it.

Mr. AUKER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am going to make a suggestion here that I think may work this thing out. Have this bill go over and possibly go back to committee later on and have this bill effective only if he is accompanied by a licensed hunter of Pennsylvania. Then I think that is going to resolve any questions that might arise.

I think for the protection of everybody concerned it would be a good idea to do that, unless you could put in a further limitation, also, for those immediately adjoining the territory of the United States on the north.

I am making that as a suggestion so we might possibly make a good bill out of this.

Mr. WILLARD. Mr. Speaker, it is my interpretation of this bill that this special license only applies to regulated shooting areas. I cannot possibly conceive of aliens coming in from Canada, or from any other parts, nonresident aliens, and hunting without being accompanied by some of his friends on these regulated shooting areas.

It is usually the practice to get a party to go to these places and you hunt in a group. I thought that might clarify Mr. Auker's thoughts on some of his points.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I see nothing wrong with this bill whatsoever and I think we should run the bill. I am talking about my committee. When they come out 100 percent for it, I am standing by any committee and I know they will stand behind me. Let us run the bill and give them a chance to hunt with it.

Mr. TOMPKINS, Mr. Speaker, I merely want to call your attention to the fact that I am not against our Canadian friends. I am not against any of our alien friends; I am for them all. But I do not want to get them trapped in a Federal violation because they think under Pennsylvania law they have the right to do these things. Under the Federal law they will collect from you for a stamp for slot machines, but they will arrest you for it under Pennsylvania law. All I am trying to do is to get this clarified so we will not trap our friends.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 206, entitled:

An Act amending the act of October 14, 1959 (P. L. 1314) entitled "An act to regulate and establish the fees to be received by the clerk of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace and the municipal court of Philadelphia in counties of the first class" further regulating the fees to be received by the clerk of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace and the municipal court of Philadelphia in counties of the first class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the members on this side of the House, a request was made of me that we vote on this bill today. I have cleared it with Mr. Tompkins and Mr. Johnson, and, for the information of the members of the Republican caucus, I would say that this is merely a correctional amendment to the act of 1959 establishing a fee bill in the court of quarter sessions in the city of Philadelphia. The only change is that on the money handled by the clerk of quarter sessions there was a mistake made. We put in the bill originally five cents on every dollar and it should be five mills on the dollar, and this bill is an amendment to change that from five cents to five mills.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, when we adjourn today, we will be returning on Tuesday, April 4, 1961. Each of the members has received an invitation to the Governor's legislative reception for Monday, April 3rd. The Democratic membership will receive a notice that we will caucus at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, April 4, and the session will begin at 4 o'clock, as was agreed. Then we will be in session two days, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Wednesday the scheduled time will be 11 a.m., for the purpose of committee meetings on Wednesday morning. We are going to reschedule the photograph of the House for 11 a.m., Wednesday morning, April 5, which was cancelled Tuesday, the morning that Mr. Agnew died.

Other than that, may I say to the Speaker who was in the Chair today that he presided as if he were before the Commonwealth court. He did not act as an attorney; he acted as though he were the judge sitting on the bench, because time and time again he said, "The court," "The court," "The court."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the majority leader for his kind words.

The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the Republicans will caucus also on Tuesday, April 4, at 3 o'clock, the regular hour before the session.

May I compliment the Speaker for the day and suggest that I have never seen any of the Dauphin County court appear without their robes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 4, 1961, at 4 p.m., e.s.t.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to introduce is an appropriation for the General Hospitals throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. All of these General Hospitals are badly pinched by the formula which is now existing within this Commonwealth; the present formula being ten dollars per free patient-day care.

I am sure that each Member of the Senate has received many, many letters and communications from individuals who are interested in these various hospitals throughout Pennsylvania. The thirteen-month fiscal period, which they are about to undertake, will find them more than strapped. It will find them in bad shape unless something is done for them by this Commonwealth; namely, giving to them an increased appropriation so that it becomes more in line with the actual cost to these hospitals. This bill, which my colleagues and I are introducing, will raise this formula to fifteen dollars per free patient-day care.

The following are a few examples showing what this will mean to some of these hospitals:

Jefferson Medical College Hospital, in Philadelphia, with an estimated 48,170 hospitals days, will receive $722,550 under this bill for the thirteen-month fiscal period as opposed to $858,000 for the two-year period previous. There are many others. For example, in Pittsburgh, we have the South Side Hospital, which has 15,899 hospital days, and it would receive $238,485 under this bill as opposed to $247,500 in the past biennium. This follows all down the line for the hospitals and it is based on a formula to which no one can object.

For example, in York, certainly their hospital is in bad shape and under this bill, it would receive $376,620, which I am sure will get them out of a deep hole.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of myself, Senator Van Sant, Senator Wade, Senator Scott, Senator Stroup and Senator Keller, I am offering this bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I realize that we are under the order of business of Bills Introduced and Referred, but I would just like to point out to the gentleman who last spoke and make an observation to him that the statement he made was not absolutely correct. I know that in the interest of clarity and of having the correct information, he will give me a few moments under Petitions and Remonstrances to straighten out some misimpressions which he is laboring under in this regard.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. EHRGOOD, SCOTT, KELLER, VAN SANT, WADE and STROUP presented to the Chair SB 445, entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, two weeks ago, I interrogated the Majority Leader as to what plans the Administration had for implementing the Kerr-Mills Act. Unfortunately, the interrogation and subsequent informal debate strayed into the realm of politics.

At this time, together with my colleague, Senator Ware, I am going to introduce a bill which would implement the Kerr-Mills Act in Pennsylvania on a limited scale; namely, it would seek medical care for the indigent-aged.

After listening to the remarks of my colleague, Senator Ehrgood, from Lebanon County, I want to second his remarks that our general hospitals in Pennsylvania are in bad shape. They need money. Fifteen dollars a day when medical care costs twenty-two dollars a day, is a pretty big gap. Something must be done either along Senator Ehrgood's line or the Kerr-Mills implementation line, because we a cannot wait until October 1962.

I hope the Appropriations Committee, or whatever committee receives this bill, will hold public hearings on it so that some legislation can be enacted on this subject.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have pointed out on various occasions that several years ago a department was created on Capitol Hill simply to suit the stature of a very capable administrator, Senator Harry Shapiro.

While Harry Shapiro was the Secretary of Public Welfare, he could cope with this giant. I should say a giant of a department. I would not call it a Frankenstein but I would say an official giant, which was composed of various parts taken from this department and another department. They created a sprawling empire.

Voltaire said once that he would rather have Mephisto legislate and Gabriel execute than Gabriel legislate and Mephisto execute. I am just afraid of Mephisto.

They took the ten General Hospitals which belonged to the Department of Health and put them, for some reasons best known to them, in the Department of Public Welfare. What hospitals have to do with public welfare, I do not know. However, one thing is clear. When we have such a capable and gifted man as Doctor Wilbar, he would be the proper person—and this department would be the proper department—to manage the General Hospitals of Philadelphia. For this reason, this is a corrective measure.

Therefore, on behalf of Senator Pechan and myself, I am about to present a bill, removing the ten General Hospitals from the Department of Public Welfare and placing them where they belong, in the Department of Health.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STIEFEL and PECHAN presented to the Chair SB 457, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," transferring ten general hospitals from the Department of Public Welfare to the Department of Health; making an appropriation and imposing duties on the Department of Health.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there have been many occasions when people of this Commonwealth, who have become unemployed, have been unable to meet their mortgage payments and have faced foreclosures.

This bill, Mr. President, would set up, in the Department of Commerce, an agency—if an appropriation is provided—whereby such persons may obtain a stay of execution on the mortgage foreclosure proceedings, apply for relief, and obtain a loan which would tide them over during the period of unemployment; such loan to be repaid following the time when they are able to resume work and make the payments on their regular mortgages.

I am, accordingly, presenting this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BERGER and LANE presented to the Chair SB 468, entitled:

An Act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth by providing assistance to unemployed home owners who cannot meet mortgage payments by reason of their unemployment; establishing the Home Mortgage Assistance Fund; imposing duties upon the Secretary of Commerce and certain courts; providing penalties, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DEVLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, this resolution I am about to offer is to commend the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Mr. President, tomorrow is the Seventy-fifth Annual Stockholder's Meeting of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. This corporation was founded on the principle of research and for the purpose of doing research. It has gone so far as to provide thousands of jobs and thousands of business opportunities for the citizens of this Commonwealth.

For example, in 1948 two scientists, working at the Bettis Airport Research Field, developed the atomic energy program, as a result of which there are now between five and six thousand employees. There are eleven different installations and many smaller companies serving as suppliers.

I think it fitting that we, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, take recognition of their contribution to our economy.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDING THE WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION

Mr. DEVLIN offered he following resolution (Serial No. 28), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 4, 1961.

Seventy-five years ago the Westinghouse Electric Corporation launched scientific research and engineering development in the field of electric power, and has since maintained one of the world's leading research organizations which has hepled make the Greater Pittsburgh area a world center for new products and industrial progress.

This research has led Westinghouse to world leadership in the field of atomic power and has made Western Pennsylvania the heart of this vital new industry, creating thousands of new jobs and adding to the economic strength of the Commonwealth.

The pioneering of George Westinghouse and his successors on turbines for electric power generation and naval propulsion resulted in the establishment of numerous plants in various parts of Pennsylvania which are now major producers of equipment for electric power generation and distribution, and for naval propulsion; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby gratefully recognizes these achievements by Westinghouse Electric Corporation, its employees and stockholders on occasion of the 75th meeting of stockholders; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Commonwealth continue to encourage and stimulate such industrial research and development which contributes so heavily to the progress and prosperity of all its citizens; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 99—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. MULLIN.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 105—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 105 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate any one of the sponsors of this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You may have your choice.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Murray.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MURRAY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the only inquiry I wish to make in connection with this bill is to ask whether or not this entire bill, which is Senate Bill No. 105, does not contain exactly the same provisions as the bill we find on our Calendar, Senate Bill No. 294, on pages 2 and 3 of that bill? I inquire what the reason is for Senate Bill No. 105.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Did the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Murray, understand the question?

Mr. MURRAY. I did, Mr. President.

It is quite a lengthy bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Would the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Murray, yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner?

Mr. MURRAY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in that case, I will accept Senator Weiner as the interrogatee.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that I can give the gentleman a satisfactory explanation.

Senate Bill No. 105 is making this part of this Act. Senate Bill No. 294 is the codification of the entire process or procedures of lighting, flags and other such equipment which appears on trailers, cars and things of that nature. If we do not pass Senate Bill No. 105, obviosuly Senate Bill No. 294 will have to have that matter deleted from it. Possibly the better procedure would have been to pass Senate Bill No. 105 first, and then follow along with Senate Bill No. 294. However, I think, as between the two bills, Senate Bill No. 105 has been on the Calendar for a little while and, possibly, that has been my neglect in not seeing that it got through because we were holding it up each week. Senate Bill No. 294, which is the codification, should have possibly waited until Senate Bill No. 105 had passed.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, that explanation may be crystal clear, but both bills, apparently, amend Section 1 of Subsection (d) of Section 801 of the Act of 1959, to read as follows:

"Section 801 Required Lighting Equipment"

In Senate Bill No. 294, under Section 1, Subsection (d), Section 801 of the Act of 1959, it also reads as follows:

"Section 801 Required Lighting Equipment"

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe I also can explain that.

On the face of the bill, it says: "Amending the act of . . ." It then gives you the date, which is April 29, 1959. The bill further reads as follows:

"An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code . . ." and so on and so forth.

As you read along, you will note in each section it brings the Act which it is amending into play and then it goes on to revise that Act itself, all of the way through. Sometimes, it merely takes, for example, Section 3, Subsection (g), on page 5. It goes on and reads in the new language which is consolidating for the Acts which have already passed.

Possibly, Mr. President, this confusion would have been avoided if we would have passed this other bill first. In that case, we would actually be reading the new revised bill all in one place.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this question should receive a very short answer.

Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the Majority Leader whether it is necessary to pass Senate Bill No. 105.

Mr. WEINER. I would say so, Mr. President.

You are specifically taking care of the provision which deals with this particular problem. It all comes under the Act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58) and other Acts. As a matter of good housekeeping, when you are consolidating them into one unit, then that should be included. As you well realize, when this Act is signed by the Governor, it will read, "Act so-and-so." It will include Senate Bill No. 105, which will become whatever the number of the Act might be. In that way, you can refer back to when that was done. If you do not do that, you will find that you will have this consolidated Act, but no particular Act which refers to this specific section.

That may sound like a Philadelphia lawyer answering, but—

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, that is exactly what it sounds like to me.

The provisions of Senate Bill No. 105 are identical with pages 2 and 3, down to line 8, of Senate Bill No. 294.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman is absolutely correct. However, this is a part of the consolidation or codification of any Act which is referred back to.

If it will help the gentleman, I will allow Senate Bill No. 105 to go over in its order and Senate Bill No. 294 to go over in its order. By doing that, we can dispel any doubts which the gentleman might have. It may be that he is pointing out something that I am not aware of. We can check that with the department.

Mr. BERGER. I think, Mr. President, possibly the gentleman is right. However, I have no objection to the bills if they are all right. I would, however, like Senate Bill No. 105 and Senate Bill No. 294 to go over in order, not only for the reasons I have stated during the interrogation, but also I would like to know why they do not apply to certain vehicles and apply to other vehicles.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

HB 132—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 132 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am going to have to object to this for a very specific reason. Prior to our taking a recess, I stated at that time—and I think the record will bear me out—that this was a bill which I felt was a very important piece of legislation, probably the most important piece of legislation that we will have before us at this Session. I asked the gentlemen of the Senate to take time during their holiday vacation and read this bill. It is forty-five pages long and it has a number of complexities in it. I feel that we must get to this matter sooner or later.

This bill has passed the House. It was introduced on January 16, 1961. It had bipartisan support in the House when it passed, or else it would not be here. The bill was in committee in the Senate for about two weeks because we wanted to make sure that everybody had an opportunity to deal with it. The bill then was reported out, and it has been on the Calendar now for two weeks. I believe that we should act on this matter and dispose of it. If the bill does not have the votes and it fails, that is one aspect of it. If it does have the votes, I think that we ought to pass it so we can dispose of it.

As I have stated many times, when we have discussed controversial matters or matters that were allegedly controversial, leaving a bill lay when it is an important measure does not gain any votes and it does not lose any votes. The people who were in favor of it originally will remain so, and time will not heal the breach of those who were against it. If I thought it would, I would be very happy to do the missionary work in the interim. However, I am afraid there are some people who have certain preconceived notions about this measure. I am not saying they are incorrect, but they just do not happen to coincide with my views on this bill. I believe the sooner we get this up to third reading and get it passed, all of us will feel better about it.

The mail on this measure has been very heavy. The telephone calls, the meetings and so on and so forth have been very heavy. To place ourselves under this heavy pressure, when all we have to do is deal with this measure, I think is not good legislative procedure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I recognize the fact that there was some bipartisan support on this bill, and I have no doubt there will be some when it comes to a vote in the Senate. It might even increase the support of this bill if I were to prepare and offer some amendments, which occurred to me within the last few days, and they might prove eminently acceptable to those who favor the bill.

In so far as the bill having been on the Calendar for a long time and whether or not it will be voted on,—those who are for it and those who are against it can vote for or against it—I can say the same thing about one or two bills on the front part of the Third Reading Calendar, too, on which I did not hear that same argument advanced.

However, Mr. President, I renew my request that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would request that House Bill No. 132 now go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order temporarily.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

SB 173—The first section was read.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?

Amend Sec 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 17, by inserting after "acquire:" land for land fill purposes.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 18, by inserting after "maintain:" such.

BILL POSTPONED

SB 181—Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 181 be placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the reason I made this motion is because in the event that we consolidate the General Fund and Institution District Fund into one operation, there will not be any necessity for Senate Bill No. 181 because the per capita tax then will be levied by the General Fund in all of the counties. Therefore, let us place it on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 232—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I would respectfully suggest to the Majority Leader, and the friends of this legislation, that in the interest of understanding and in the interest of proper acceptance of the measure, it seems to me that the previous request that this bill go over in its order for further deliberation might well be carefully considered.

When the bill was in the Committee on Education, I suggested to the committee that perhaps it might be well to go a little easy with this bill because it is somewhat revolutionary and new, and it would have better acceptance if it were better understood. The statement was made by the chairman at that time that there was no intent to rush it through; that, on the contrary, he desire was to get it on the Calendar so it might get more attention and more scrutiny.

Now actually, Mr. President, this is the first day since that meeting that we have had a chance to look at the bill on the Calendar.

While Senator Weiner says that we are getting a lot of mail on this and a lot of telephone calls and they would be ended if we took action on it. I do not relish a whole carload of mail every day, but if that is the way we proceed, we could save a lot of mail and a lot of telephone calls if we passed all of the bills as soon as they appear on the Calendar.

There is a bill on page 6 of today's Calendar, Senate Bill No. 88, dealing with the institution districts and their management. If we had passed that bill, Senator, when it first appeared, I would have been saved a great deal of correspondence, a great number of telephone calls and a number of meetings, Senator Lane, with our County Commissioners. I think the sponsors of this bill will agree with me that it is a fortunate thing that we did not rush it through immediately.

I would suggest this to the Majority Leader. There are some very fine people in this State who are very much interested in House Bill No. 132. There are some equally fine people who have some objections to it. I have talked with some of them and I have satisfied some of them as to certain things that worried them. There are others who have made observations that have not yet been satisfied. I have suggested to the library people, and I am suggesting to the Senators here, that we allow enough time. Suppose there is an amendment in the offing that might make this more acceptable to the kind of people whom we need to support libraries and to support this program when it is established in Pennsylvania. Then I think it would be time pretty well spent.

This is not a partisan measure. There is some support and perhaps some opposition on both sides, but to get it through in the interest of expediency by one vote, I think would be very unfortunate.

We have school bills of importance at every Session on which we spend weeks. Even though everybody is tremendously interested in schools, they want to wait until they are certain that they are doing what is proposed in the best possible way.

As one who is kindly disposed to this legislation and who also would like to satisfy some people who have given a lifetime to library work, I would like to repeat the request that was made by the Minority Leader; that the bill go over long enough to have a meeting of minds that are good, but not in harmony at this particular moment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman who just spoke that I am not trying to be arbitrary about this measure or be obstinate in trying to move it. However, as I stated when the measure came over here, I had no objection to the bill remaining in committee or being worked on, and the Committee Chairman was not pressured or bothered by anyone to report this measure out.

I think you will agree with me that it is an important measure and probably one of the most important measures we will pass in this Session. That is why I took the time of this Body, when we were about to adjourn, to point out to the membership that they should look over this bill and read it. I would be very happy to hear from anyone who has anything to say about it. If we were incorrect in any position that we were taking, or the bill was going too far or was being acted upon in a harsh manner, I would be the first to concede that we ought to do nothing about it or amend out those portions of this legislation.

I think the history here has also been that I have never prevented—and I do not think any Members on this side have ever prevented—anybody from introducing amendments even when a bill is on third reading.

I admit to you that if I used the pressure of the mail as a reason for moving this bill, that is certainly not a good reason. If I stated that, I was incorrect. I did not mean that as the sole reason. It just shows that people are greatly interested in this measure and are taking the trouble to sit down and write a letter about it, or taking the trouble to call their representative. It takes a great deal of effort for people, busily engaged in everyday affairs, to do this.

I certainly think it behooves us, and is incumbent upon us, that we move in the direction of trying to take some action on this measure.

I will agree with you and I am hopeful that the Members on your side will cast more than just one vote for this bill. I think this is good legislation. I think it moves in the right direction. I think we need it. I have a great many statistics on this matter, if you would like to hear them. I will not bore you with them today, however.

Many, many articles have appeared on this subject. One of the best magazines I think in this Country,—it only comes out every other month—Horizon Magazine, went into great detail about this. It stated how poor our library setup is, how badly it is used, and how badly handled are our library matters. There are some libraries right here in our State which do not even have an encyclopedia. I think this bill will help remedy this condition. It might be that this is not the panacea to cure the ill, or it might not cover the entire program. However we will be back here to take care of that problem once we get into it.

If there are specific amendments being prepared, I would like to see them. I would be very happy to look at them. I would be happy to ask the Committee Chairman, Senator Hays, to go over the amendments with us. If you have specific amendments, I am sure no one will turn them down or look askance at them.

I think we should not continue to hold this bill on second reading. Tomorrow, there will be Members absent who will not be able to act on this measure, and the following week and the next week. These things drag on and drag on. One of the things we have to do is get about our business and try to clean it up as quickly as we can.

I am not saying this in the sense that we ride roughshod over anybody or hurt anyone. By the same token, this measure has been with us about a month and I think now the time to act is today in order to move this bill up to third reading so that we can at least look at it and be in a position to move it finally.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to correct what the Majority Leader just said regarding the fact that this bill has been with us for about a month. I would also like to reiterate what Senator Wagner said in connection with it.

This is the first time this bill has been before us on the Calendar. It was brought out of committee and the Majority Leader did state that he hoped everyone would have a chance to look it over because it was the well-known Library Bill. What I said about there being votes both for and against the bill, on this side, I believe is correct. In fact, I am sure there are several votes in favor of it. However, I am sure there are others who may vote for the bill and—presently, I am not quite convinced—who would like to look it over a little bit more. They may wish to correspond with people who have corresponded with the Members and talk with people who have called them and discussed it with them.

This bill is surely not a bill which should be rushed through in a cavalier manner. It is one which should be very carefully considered and deliberated.

That, Mr. President, is the only reason for my asking for the bill to go over in order. I cannot concede that this bill has been on the Calendar for a month, nor that it has been before us for a month. It certainly has been under discussion and appeared in the newspapers when it was in the House. However, this is the first opportunity the Members of the Senate have had to find this bill upon their Calendar and to know that they are going to be considering it.

Consequently, Mr. President, although I understand objections have been made, I reiterate my request for the bill to go over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to point out that I believe the Histories are usually correct. This measure, according to the History, was referred to the Committee on Education on March 7. Today, I believe, is April 4. Therefore, we are three days shy of having a full month that this legislation has been with us.

During the two weeks when it was in committee, the members on that committee certainly had an opportunity to be apprised of it. During the recent recess, I think was a good time to look over this measure and discuss it with your constituents.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Would you please advise me when we will be ready to vote on this measure?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I can advise the Majority Leader only that at the present time, I do not know when I will be able to vote on it. I hope it will be within the next week. I see no reason, whatsoever, to rush it through this week.

Mr. WEINER. Could the gentleman advise me whether there are any specific amendments being prepared to this bill at the moment?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as to the amendments being prepared, I cannot truthfully say that I have requested them. However, I am formulating the amendments which I think might be helpful to the bill, in so far as some of the apprehensions which people have concerning it. I can say now that one of them is where the word "recommend" is used in it; that it shall not be construed to be a "must" bill. It must continue to be a "may" bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman does not have to answer this question. I will just throw it as a general question.

Can the gentleman advise me whether there is any objection to having this bill go to third reading and then he can offer his amendments at that time? Would he please inform me whether there is any objection to having amendments inserted on third reading rather than second reading? In that way, we will be in a position to move this bill when we get to that point, whether it be this week or early next week.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, at this time, I would prefer that the bill remain upon the Second Reading Calendar. I would prefer this not only for the amendments which I have in mind, but for any amendments which any Member of our Caucus may also have in mind.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the history here has always shown that we have never objected to anybody putting amendments in on third reading. I can assure the gentleman, on behalf of the Members of the Democratic Caucus, that there will be no objection to any amendment going in on third reading, whether that be tomorrow, next week or whenever the bill is being moved.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I would like to join with my colleagues, Senator Berger and Senator Wagner, in requesting the Majority Leader to put this bill over in order.

I think there is some error in our understanding as to the amount of time which has been devoted by the Members of the Senate to a study of this very important legislation. In the first place, when it came before the Committee on Education, we had it for a very brief period of time before it was reported out of committee. Certainly, Mr. President, there was no opportunity in that committee to make a very detailed study of the bill before it was reported out. I would have preferred to have had it held for awhile, in order for it to be studied very carefully.

I think we must realize that we have been on vacation. I was one of those Senators who took very close to heart the admonition which was delivered by the Majority Leader to study the bill carefully during the Easter vacation. I assure you, gentlemen of the Senate, that I have done so. Not only have I studied it carefully in detail, and tried to analyze its effect upon libraries, upon our counties and the people throughout the Commonwealth, but I held a series of meetings in all of my three counties. As a consequence of those meetings and as a consequence of the study which I made, I still approach this bill with an open mind. I would like further opportunity to make a more careful analysis and to study it thoroughly.

Mr. President, I believe this bill is perhaps one of the most important, far-reaching pieces of legislation that has been called to the attention of the gentlemen of this Senate. I can see no reason whatsoever, after being back in Session but one day, that we should vociferously and so hurriedly rush through this type of legislation.

I, therefore, add my voice to the others of my colleagues, requesting that the bill go over in order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does Senator Weiner persist in his desire that the bill be read for the second time?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will yield to Senator Ware.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I should like to add my voice to those of my colleagues. I, too, have taken Senator Weiner's—I will call it—admonition of the previous Session to study this bill. In addition to doing some of the things just related by Senator Stroup, I studied Governor Leader's Committee Report, consisting of two rather extensive volumes.

I am not satisfied with the bill in what it prescribes. I am, however, in sympathy with what its apparent intentions are. I think it is perfectly in order to ask for sufficient time to study the effects of such a bill. I must object to the thought that we have had some months to study it. Undoubtedly, all of us could have studied it during the past month if we would have had no other legislation to consider.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to appear as pinning anyone down or asking for any specific promises. However, if these gentlemen will do their studying this evening and carfefully go through this measure, I believe we will be able to move it tomorrow.

Therefore, Mr. President, with the hope that these gentlemen will do some homework this evening, in regard to this bill, I will remove my objection to the bill going over in order.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I can state right now that I cannot do all the required homework which I think is necessary tonight or tomorrow night. Indeed, I am waiting for information from the library of the Longwood Foundation and from several of the nearby universities. If we want to do our job properly here, I ask that we have enough time in which to do it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Chester, Senator Ware.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Ware, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WARE. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise me when he will be in a position to vote on this bill?

Mr. WARE. I shall make every effort next week.

Mr. WEINER. Will the gentleman be able to vote on this bill next Monday?

Mr. WARE. I shall make evey effort. I made every effort to be ready today, Mr. President, but some of these things take time.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you very much.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I can see no reason why the request for this bill to go over in order would not be adhered to the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Do you understand, sir, that the objection has been withdrawn and we are now ready to have the bill go over in order. Am I correct, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. The Chair is absolutely correct.

Mr. FLEMING. I am sorry if I am out of order.

Has Senator Weiner agreed to have this bill go over in order?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, I have.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, has ruled himself out of order. Therefore, the Chair states, for the record, that House Bill No. 132, Printer's No. 686, will go over in its order.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 16 CALLED UP

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The next order of business is consideration of House Concurrent Resolution No. 16, entitled "Legislative Commission on Space Allocation," which appears on page 14 of today's Calendar.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there has been a survey made by the State, on which a great deal of money has been spent. I am for holding this resolution on the Calendar until this survey is placed in the hands of every Member here, at which time I believe we will be able to act on this measure.

If we were to pass this measure, I do not believe the group would be able to work or operate until such time as they have had a look at the survey that has been made. I believe all of us agree that to spend money on another survey, after one has been completed, would be a little farfetched.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would not agree with the Majority Leader at all that this Commission, which would be created by House Concurrent Resolution No. 16, would make another survey. However, it would give a degree of standing, respectability and authority to this Legislative Commission which could deal with the study that has been made, and deal with the Executive in an attempt to get much needed space for the Legislative Branch.

I would suggest to the Majority Leader that he permit this resolution to be adopted. Then the Presiding Officers of the Senate and of the House could appoint the Commission and they, in turn, could work with the Administration in an attempt to iron out an almost intolerable situation with respect to the Legislative Branch.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman about the intolerable situation. It is just a matter of approach. His view may be just as valid as mine. However, I believe, Senator, if we wait for the report and have it in our hands, and then appoint our committee to work as a liaison with them, possibly we can accomplish a little bit more, and we will have some material with which to go to them and discuss this matter.

There is really no other reason for holding this up. It is not that crucial whether these people are appointed today, next week or tomorrow. If you feel this resolution is that essential, and all of the people on your side feel that way, I have no objection to it passing except that the Commission will have nothing to do until the report comes out.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I thank the Majority Leader. I agree with him that the Commission should have nothing to do until the report is available. However, I still think, from the standpoint of expediency, it should be passed today.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to this measure going through as long as we are not going to act on it. It just seems to me that we are doing a needless act at the moment. I am not moved in any direction nor do I feel strongly either way about this.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. In order to keep the record straight, the Chair is given to understand that a resolution is not acted upon unless it is called up. Do you now call up House Concurrent Resolution No. 16?

Mr. WEINER. I believe the Chair called it up. I did not call it up.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair did call it up. The Chair is asking the Majority Leader now if he desires to have it called up.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not have any desire to call it up. If any other Member wants to call it up, it is perfectly all right with me.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to now call up House Concurrent Resolution No. 16.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I want to know if it is in order for me to request, despite the fact that the resolution has now been called up, that it go over in its order. I do this because I am in much the same position as Senator Wagner, Senator Fleming, Senator Ware and numerous others with regard to the recent bill that we put over in order; namely, that I have not been able to come to a conclusion as to this resolution.

I would point out to the gentleman who said—I think it was Senator Fleming—this is not another study, that if he reads the resolution, the only purpose of the Commission is to:

> ". . . it shall be its duty to study the use of office and work space in the capitol buildings, to make recommendations for the efficient use and equitable allocation of such space, and to make regular reports of its findings and recommendations to the Governor, the General Assembly and the Secretary of Property and Supplies . . . ."

I have a feeling, Mr. President, that in view of that fact, it is quite proper to call this an additional study, and until action is taken by that committee,—the committee presently studying it, which is the committee on the part of the Executive Department of our government —my own feeling at the moment is that to set forth another study on the same grounds is a duplication and waste for which I cannot see the necessity.

Therefore, for the same reasons given by speakers in regard to House Bill No. 132, I would earnestly request the gentleman not to press the matter at this time. If I am in order, I would ask that it go over in its order. If that is not in order, I would request the gentleman to withdraw his request to have the resolution called up.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, so there is no misunderstanding, I am going to comply with Senator Seyler's request. However, before I do that, I would like to draw to the attention of the entire Senate that this is the type of a commission that we certainly should have. I would like the Senate to know that the Presiding Officer of the House of Representatives had asked me if I would not see if I could move this measure.

For the past two years, we have been attempting to get space and have been more or less just shoved aside by the Executive or the Administrative Branch. Certainly the Legislative Branch of Government has a right to have such a commission; a right to fight, if you please, for the necessary space to properly conduct its functions of government. On that, I would vote and support this measure to the utmost of my ability.

Certainly, Mr. President, when Senator Seyler has requested time,—and I am sorry to see that in this Sesssion we have not given time on requested measures, such as has been done in the twenty years that I have been in Harrisburg—I certainly withdraw my request to call up the resolution and would accede to his request to have it go over in its order.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman for his very generous action in withdrawing his request to have this resolution considered. The gentleman spoke with some vehemence on the subject. I do not agree with all he said. However, I do not think this is the proper time nor is it in order to debate the measure. Therefore, I will reserve the differences I would have with the gentleman until the proper time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am very happy to know to whom the Speaker of the House of Representatives goes when he wants to have a measure moved in the Senate. Perhaps I will speak to him myself and then we can get some cooperation along those lines on some other measures.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All objections having been withdrawn, the resolution will go over in its order.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, will state it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, as I understand it, since the request to have the resolution called up has been withdrawn, it is not necessary for it to go over in order. Is that not correct?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Inasmuch as it was called up perhaps by the Chair, we had to go through certain parliamentary procedure to get the record straight. The record is now straight.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we appeared to have a love feast here and everyone agreed that it should not be called up. Therefore, I think it maintains its status quo. That is my opinion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Your opinion is well taken, sir.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL NO. 22, CALLED UP

Mr. WEINER, without objection, called up from page 14 of the calendar, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 22, entitled:

Offering Various Services to Aid in the Orderly Transfer of Powers of the Auditor General and State Treasurer

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 22, ADOPTED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution, Serial No. 22.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I find myself in the same position as Senator Seyler, Senator Ware, Senator Fleming and Senator Stroup in connection with this resolution as they were with some previous legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request time to give this further consideration and study, rather than act upon it hastily at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will ask the Majority Leader if this atmosphere still prevails.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am sorry that I cannot be as generous as Senator Berger, and the Senator from Allegheny County when he talks to the Speaker of the House, and ask that this measure go over. Time is running out on this measure. I believe if you will read the resolution, you will see that it does not hurt anybody or that it does not do anything except set the record straight. I am sure no Member here, regardless of his political affiliation, wants to see a payless pay day in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think, for the purpose of keeping the record straight, we ought to pass this. All it does is ask the gentlemen in the State Treasurer's office and the Auditor General's office if we can do anything to lend our good offices in helping to continue the flow of government with the transition of these offices, and we are most anxious to do so.

I believe the Auditor General in this resolution is completely out of place because I think he has taken steps to do that. I have been advised by the Treasurer-elect that this has not happened as far as she is concerned.

Therefore, I think we should go on record here to see that all of the employees of the State of Pennsylvania do not experience a payless pay day due to some transition in government or some political feelings that people might have in either direction.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Will the gentleman please advise us as to what extent the Democratic State Committee will facilitate the orderly transition in these fiscal offices?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Democratic State Committee will not in any way take any part in this. They have merely been anxious to have an independent body, either from Pennsylvania State University or the University of Pennsylvania, go in and make a survey of these offices in order to determine what is needed.

It might be that my information is absolutely incorrect and based on rumor, but I have heard that a number of persons who have worked in these offices have left to take other jobs or to participate in some other activities. The result of this may be that there may not be enough personnel to really handle this problem when the new Treasurer and the new Auditor General take office. I believe the present Auditor General has taken steps and has invited in the Auditor General-elect, in order for him to familiarize himself with the job. I have been advised by the State Treasure-elect that this has not happened with her. Time is growing short. It is only a matter of two or three weeks until they will assume office under the constitutional provision.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, now that the gentleman has chased that one all around left field, would he care to answer the interrogation as to what extent the Democratic State Committee will participate in the orderly transition between the present fiscal officers and those elected?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, under this resolution, they are merely offering their offices or services to help this situation. We are seeking to have an independent agency come in and do the survey, much the same as they did when Governor Leader became the Governor. They then had independent agencies come in here and make surveys of certain departments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, without questioning the accuracy of the gentleman's statement, I do question whether or not the Democratic State Committee participated in the surveys made by Governor Leader. I think some State officials might do it and, possibly, some Members of the Senate, as suggested in the resolution. However, I do not believe that this is quite the place where the Democratic State Committee would participate with any great assistance to the incoming officers or the outgoing officers.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to assure the gentleman and the other Members of the Senate that the Democratic State Committee will take no part in this whatsoever. We are merely asking, pure and simple, that there be an orderly transition of government. I believe if the Treasurer-elect were invited over to at least survey the office and has people acquaint her with some of the problems which exist in any office when anybody takes over a job, I think is all that is being requested.

Mr. BERGER, Mr. President, I so understand that the elected officers, who I believe will take office in May, have been invited and even have been offered office space in order to acquaint themselves with the duties of their coming administrations. I am sure that that offer is still open, although I do not pretend to speak for either of the people in question.

However, Mr. President, reverting to the matter under discussion, I might have an amendment whereby we could delete the Democratic State Committee from the resolution and then maybe the transition would be orderly.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in order for the record to be correct, the invitation has only been extended in the area about which I spoke; namely, in the office of the Auditor General. I believe I am now stating this fact the third time. The State Treasurer has not been invited and has not been advised that there is any space. There was a news release on this matter and it stated this in effect. I then went on to question the people involved and I have been advised that this is actually not so, in so far as the State Treasurer is concerned.

I have no objection to deleting the Democratic State Committee, if that is the problem. The Democratic State Committee also helps to set the policy, as I have been advised that the Republican State Committee occasionally helps set some of the policy here for the gentleman on the other side of the aisle. That may be a rumor that I hear from time to time and it might have no bearing on the case. However, I think it plays some part here. If that is what the stumbling block is, I would not hesitate to ask that it be removed from the resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I suggest that the resolution be passed over in order at the present time for the preparation of the necessary amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the resolution is here, I will take a pencil and strike out the words "Democratic State Committee." I think that should make the gentleman happy. However, I think we should pass this measure. I believe this is beyond the realm of politics.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise us whether if I delete the words "Democratic State Committee," he would vote for this resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am afraid that the gentleman is trying to anticipate a decision that I will have to make when my name is called.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Let us wait until the names are called.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would you call the gentleman's name?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, perhaps the Majority Leader has been doing that for awhile.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Let us proceed orderly.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, not hearing my name called, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Staisey,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Murray,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Weiner,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Yatron,

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the resolution was adopted.

HB 95 CALLED UP

HB 95—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order, was called up, from page 2 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 95—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 3, by striking out "April 1 1961" and inserting: immediately.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is merely to change the April 1 effective date to immediately so that when the measure is enacted, it will become effective immediately.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the hour is late and I will not take too much time. However, I think one of the things which should be set straight here is the issue concerning the Kerr-Mills Act. It is unforunate that hospital aid has become a political issue.

For some reason or other, the Republicans throughout the Commonwealth, and the gentlemen on the other side, have been pounding that this Administration is not doing the job, is not on its toes, and it is not following through as far as getting this extra money is concerned.

Let me, if I may, set the record straight. The Kerr-Mills Bill is a fifty-fifty operation. For every dollar the Commonwealth spends, the Federal Government will return one dollar. Under our present setup here, our State cost would soar to about $15,187,000, from the present $5,000,000 which it is now spending. This is an increase of more than $10,000,000. The Federal-aid would be limited to fifty per cent and not eighty per cent, as indicated by some spokesmen who have been going about saying that. I have heard it at public meetings myself. This setup only applies to the lower per capita income States, of which Pennsylvania is not considered one of them.

We have to completely revamp our State-aid to the hospital program. Also, we cannot overlook the fact that there are bills which are presently at work in the present Congress.

We do not have to make any decision until June of this year. I do not know why we continue to hammer away at this. If Congress takes the action, as indicated during the campaign and which has been stated by some of the Congressmen on national networks during various discussions, we will receive much more, and I think under a better program.

Four things would have to be done in order for us to meet the Kerr-Mills Act. This is the thing which has been the stumbling block right here in our own State. We must go into a purchase of care system, rather than the present system under which we now operate. This has caused some difficulty because many of the Members of the House and Senate, privately and some of them publicly, have stated that they are not in favor of the State or the Federal Government telling them how to operate their institutions and they want them to keep their hands off. Under the Kerr-Mills Act, this would disappear. They would have to meet certain basic requirements and there is no question in my mind that there would be some auditing done by the Federal Government, as well as the State Government.

There can be no residence requirement, as we now have, for people to receive this aid. Under this setup, this would have to come under—under the Kerr-Mills Act—the Public Assistance Program. There are certain standards which will have to be set up to meet this. The Department of Public Welfare would have to administer the program as a part of public assistance. Under that, we have certain setups which must be met. I am sure one of the big problems we have had here with many of our compacts is that some of the other States are much more lenient than we are in some of the requirements that we have for persons to meet the general requirements.

Eligibility would have to meet State-wide standards. It could not be left up to local areas. What some hospitals call indigent care might not meet the standard or the eligibility as set up here. The State Board of Public Welfare has set up a program under the Kerr-Mills Act, if and when we have to go into that and if there is no alternative program passed, which would include individuals over sixty-five whose annual income is less than $1,500, or $2,400 for a married couple, and who have liquid assets of less than these same amounts who would be considered as unable to pay their hospital bills.

As you also understand, gentlemen, this would also mean that they would have a lien possibly placed against their home, because this is one of our requirements today if they accept public assistance.

This study that has been made of persons receiving "free care"—and I use that in quotes—under our present hospital system, and all of the available data that has come to us, estimates that about 62,000 persons would be under this program. This would cost the State annually $30,375,000, of which $15,187,000 would have to be paid out of State funds. If we did not put up that money or we put up any less, we would get that much less. However, once we are committed to this program, I do not see how you can turn it off and say we are only going to take X number of people or Y number of people and no more.

Because of the late hour, I do not want to prolong this. However, I think these are some of the statistics that are available, not only to me but to you as well. You can get them from the Department of Welfare, I am sure, by a simple phone call or even by a letter. If you compare this to the carrying-on of some of these people in the hospital administration—and I do not blame them because they are trying to get more money—I think you will find that the figures do not come out.

Also I think we ought not to be misled. This money that we are talking about is for the hospitals themselves and not for the people. It is simply for the hospital problem and not for the people themselves.

The other program—with which I happen to agree and which I may never see because it may never pass the Congress and come into being—if it does go through, would place the money in the hands of the people, which I think is a much more desirable effect to be had because it would allow them to go where they want to go and do what they want to do. This, in turn, would help the hospitals.

The other program would be giving the money to the hospitals and hoping that they meet the standards in doing the job for other people.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, on March 20, Senator Van Sant and I introduced a Concurrent Resolution to inquire into the operation and procedures of the Bureau of Highway Safety.

You can imagine my surprise when the Lancaster New Era, on March 22, had a headline stating: "Squabble Halts State Action on 1,800 Auto Violations in the City of Lancaster."

Evidently, the aldermen in the city of Lancaster have not been sending in Form OR330 to the Bureau of Highway Safety. This is the form, incidentally, which decides on the type of penalty for the violating driver and, of course, is the key factor in the Governor's touted Highway Safety Program.

There have been a great many editorials. We found out, for example, that this is not only taking place in the city of Lancaster, but in Dauphin County as well, and undoubtedly in many other sections of this Commonwealth. The consequences of this action—or failure to act—by the aldermen are great. However, it also points out something else. It seems to me that there has been great laxity in the Bureau of Highway Safety. For instance, as one of the editorials in the New Era points out:

"2 Kinds of Justice for State Motorists"

There is another one in the Intelligencer Journal. Interestingly enough, one is a Democratic paper and the other is a Republican paper, so that there is no evidence of any partisanship in this matter. It is a matter of great concern to the driving public in Pennsylvania, because I am sure that we will all agree that equal justice is the criteria of highway safety.

What does it mean if these forms are not sent in? It means that people in that section are not piling up their points, are not getting warning letters, and so forth.

I would like to read a short paragraph from the New Era editorial:

> "An interesting facet to this story is what does it do to Governor Lawrence's highway safety program? As far as we can see, it places a great big question mark on the program which has been conducted a great deal of fanfare.
> "The State knew that 1,800 cases from Lancaster were unreported, but did nothing about it . . .":

Let me interpolate here. Certainly if they did not know, they should have known, because the Bureau of Highway Safety should know whether violations are being reported from a particular district or not. This gets down to the gist of the inquiry which Senator Van Sant and I were requesting.

Let me go on to read:

> "All of this adds up to the fact that the State Bureau of Traffic Safety doesn't know or doesn't really care about what is going on around the State. Governor Lawrence, or the Legislature, or both should start an investigation to clear up the mess."

Again, interpolating, it is too bad that the paper did not know about this inquiry that we were requesting.

> "No matter how you look at it, drivers in Pennsylvania are getting two kinds of justice. And the kind you get apparently is determined by where the violation takes place."

Gentlemen of the Senate, I appreciate the fact that the Chairman of the Highways Committee, to which this Concurrent Resolution was sent, is not here. However, the Majority Leader is here, and I am sure that he is interested in highway safety. He is interested in justice for all and equal justice for all.

If we are going to have situations—flagrant situations—existing, such as occurred in the city of Lancaster and such as are reported as occurring in Dauphin County, where the head of the aldermen stated they do not send in this form either, then we are in a bad situation. I think probably there are many more places in the State where this is occurring. If it occurs with forms such as this, it is occurring in other ways.

In the interest of the traveling public, in view of the fact that we will have radar I am sure, I think that certainly we should be treated fairly, certainly there should be an inquiry into these procedures, and certainly all this mess should be cleared up. The one way to do it is by passing this resolution. I am hopeful that this will be done immediately because we cannot wait until June for that I am sure, as the Majority Leader would like us to wait until June or July to see what the Federal Government does.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am certainly sorry to hear that in the area of Lebanon and Lancaster, the justices of the peace are not law-abiding. I was under the impression that these good people, the magistrates, were anxious to do the job and that justices of the peace duly carried out their duties.

I would like to point out to the Senator that in the city of Philadelphia very recently, they streamlined the procedures in the traffic court whereby they can get these reports and forms out much more speedily and get them into Harrisburg, so that there is a constant record and it is being kept up-to-date.

It seems to me that pointing out they are not doing it in Lebanon and Lancaster, and they are not doing it in Harrisburg in Dauphin County, certainly does not argue very well for these areas nor does it speak well for their public officials.

The State has taken action; it has written to these people and has been after them. I think it is incumbent upon these people, since they are elected to office, that they will uphold the laws and carry out their duties. If they are not doing so, Senator, I think somebody ought to report them for either nonfeasance or malfeasance in office.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this time, the Chair turns the gavel over to the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Harry E. Seyler) in the Chair.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I agree wholeheartedly with the Majority Leader. Of course, I did not want to point out that after all, he is missing the point. The Bureau of Highway Safety should know what is going on or what is not being done. That is what I think should be cleared up. I do not want to point out that the city of Lancaster has a Democratic Mayor or a Democratic Administration, because I think that has nothing to do with the issue at all. I did not point out that the Bureau of Highway Safety is under Democratic control either.

I do hope, however, that this matter will be cleared up. In the interest of seeing that people are protected and that there is a fair administration of justice, I believe that we should look into this matter. It is too important to just merely speak of it in this room without something further being done about it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hardly think it is the duty of a mayor to send in these forms. I think if the gentleman will go into it,— and I do not want to get into a political discussion here— he will find that many of the J.P.'s and magistrates in those areas certainly are not Democrats. I think it ought to be brought to the attention of the people as soon as possible—sometime around election time—that they do not carry out their duties or do their job well. I am glad that the Senator is alert to this and is anxious to point this out.

I also think that it is pretty impossible for any department—with eleven and one-half million people in this State, a great majority of whom have automobiles—to go around and check up on each one of these people to see that they obey the laws and that the people who enforce the laws carry out their duties.

I think the Senator is intelligent and he is also a man who has dealt with the problems of the law. He is well aware of the impossibility of that situation. We can only hope that everybody does his job and does his duty. If they fail in this, there are certain actions that people can take to correct their nonfeasance or misfeasance in office.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion, but the only thing that I can say to the Majority Leader is that we have had a great many statistics. I know the Bureau of Highway Safety has a great many statistics and it knows when reports are not being filed. That is the time when they should have done something about it. I hope there is something being done about it now. However, to be sure that there is, I think we should pass this resolution.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, several chapters back, the Majority Leader made reference to the discussion on the Kerr-Mills legislation as being a political conspiracy, or words to that effect. You must pardon my memory, as the remarks were made a little while back.

Mr. President, I want to put the record straight because I think all of the discussion on the Kerr-Mills Act, on this side of the aisle, has come from the Senator from Delaware; namely, myself.

Back about February 27 or 28, I spoke to the Majority Leader. I showed him a newspaper publication and I arranged with him, at that time, to interrogate him on the floor as to what progress was being made with respect to the Kerr-Mills augmentation. The following week, we had an arrangement where I was to interrogate the gentleman. I believe it was on March 7, the day of the radar battle. I then made arrangements to interrogate him on March 14. On that day, we had the tragic event which occurred in this Legislature, the death of Representative Agnew.

I can assure the Majority Leader, and I can assure the people of Pennsylvania, that the reason I brought this matter to the floor of this Chamber was because I had seen, in my own county, Chester Hospital close its doors to the indigent during the period between March 1 and March 15. They warned that they were going to do it for a month in advance.

I had previously gone over to the Department of Public Welfare. Incidentally, I was treated very nicely and very politely, and I received every kind of cooperation from the Secretary, Mrs. Horting. However, I have been the only person who brought that onto the floor of this Senate. I can assure this Chamber that I have no desire for politics to come into this measure. I merely want for my hospitals, and for your hospitals, as much help as we can get. As I said a week or two ago, during a little bit of debate on the floor of the Senate, politics have no part in this. Let us not get politics into it. I would suggest to the Majority Party that the best way to keep politics out of it is to have some public hearings, by a proper committee, where not only the leaders of the Democratic side and, perhaps, the Republican side talk to these people, but where the rest of us can go in and listen, the same way as when Park Martin came up and proposed the highway program. I think we should have public hearings and have the hospital people and Mrs. Horting come in. Then, we can at least get to the crux of it and understand what it is all about. Frankly, unless we do something for our hospitals in Pennsylvania, we are going to be in bad shape.

I hope nobody in this room takes this as a political address.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that I am happy he is taking the view that this is not a political measure. I certainly hope that he persists in his view.

I would also like to point out that there are hearings being held. As a matter of fact, there were some hearings held today before the Appropriations Committee, with the Hospital Association. They appeared before the Joint Appropriations Committee and some of these problems were gone into. They were not dealt with in detail, but they touched on them. There have been other people around the Capitol who have been discussing this measure. I think, after hearing all these people, all of us will agree with one thing; namely, that we are all trying to get as much as we can for the hospitals. However, we should do it in a proper manner and do it in a way whereby all of the hospitals will derive a benefit and the people of the Commonwealth will derive the greatest benefit. The only way this can be done is by proceeding in a manner which will provide the most for all of us.

I hope this matter stays out of politics. It does not belong there and I think we should continue in that vein and we will have no further difficulty with it.

I hope the gentleman from Delaware will be equally sympathetic in his attitude when we talk about the Philadelphia hospitals, as well. We happen to have one or two of them down there which are not in this program or any other program. They should be, however. I certainly hope that I can call upon the gentleman not to be political at that time and also to give us some help in getting the measure passed.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, this morning, at the hearing held before the Joint Appropriations Committee, all of the hospital representatives were there and they presented a plan. During the hearing, it developed that there was some money appropriated, or an opportunity for the Commonwealth to receive some matching funds from the Federal Government. However, it developed that the plan of the hospitals was taking all the money and the people, provided by the bill to receive the benefits, are not getting anything from it; that is, the people who are on pensions and who are just about getting enough to live on. They were the ones who initiated the move to give hospital aid for the aged. The plan of the hospitals was to take practically every penny which was to be given to the aged. This does not pertain to the people on relief. They can get good hospitalization, free of charge now. However, the people who are on pension and who use up all of their funds to live on and do not have one penny's worth of hospitalization when they do get sick, they have no means of paying for it. They cannot get public assistance and they are the people for whom this legislation was intended. The only way in which they could possibly receive any money would be through the Social Security system. That is the only way in which they could possibly receive any aid, under our present rules. That was brought out very clearly at the hearing. The hospital representatives listened and recognized that fact.

There will have to be some other way to solve this problem of aid to the aged, meaning the aged who are receiving pensions and who cannot afford any hospital treatment. They will use up all their pension money by giving it to the hospitals and the medical profession. They are the people whom we want to help. Under this present arrangement, they are not getting any help at all.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, perhaps, as a Member of this Senate, I am asking too much. Perhaps, I, as a Senator, do not have any right to be invited to such a public hearing.

I have always thought that one of our failures in the legislative setup is the fact that enough of us do not know what is going on. I, frankly, would have loved to have been at that public hearing this morning, not to talk but to listen. I think, in the future, when we have great items like this, of great interest to all of our constituents, there should be courtesy extended to the nonmembers of the committee, telling them that there are going to be hearings of this nature, and inviting them to come as listeners.

Perhaps, I should have read the newspapers, but I did not see anything about the hearings in the newspapers.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. AUKER, KNECHT, NEEDHAM, CROSSIN, Mrs. MUNLEY, Messrs. MAGEE and McCANDLESS. RESOLUTION No. 45.

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1961.

Chronic unemployment exists in various parts of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Signs and evidence point to the fact that unemployment is on the increase in such chronic unemployment areas and throughout the Commonwealth in general.

Through such conditions the unemployment rolls are increasing and the number of persons on public assistance is increasing by the addition thereto of many of our citizens and especially the graduates of our high schools each year.

The increase in unemployment and public assistance rolls and those leaving our State to gain permanent employment in other states materially decrease the number of substantial taxpayers in our State, thus reflecting a substantial decrease in revenue taxes, especially the broad base taxes.

Such conditions make it necessary to keep increasing taxes on those gainfully employed and on businesses which furnish employment, which results in an unfavorable business and economic climate which in turn makes it more difficult to induce or persuade existing Pennsylvania industry to expand in the State or to attract new industry to come into our State and establish herein.

The primary and most critical problem facing Pennsylvania and our State Government is the solution of the unemployment problem and the need to create greatly expanded job opportunities and to greatly increase employment for Pennsylvania' slabor force as it now exists and as it increases each year through the graduation of students from high schools.

The persons most intimately acquainted with and most vitally concerned with these problems are executive directors of industrial development organizations, the officers thereof and the Chambers of Commerce and other similar organizations in such unemployment centers; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Governor appoint a commission consisting of such persons as hereinbefore set forth for the purpose of determining the methods and means necessary to induce the expansion of Pennsylvania industry and the attraction of new industry into Pennsylvania and to determine what should be done by the General Assembly and the administrative branch of our State to implement, aid and assist in establishing favorable business, economic tax, social, cultural and recreation climate in order to relieve the unemployment problem and increase State revenue; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission report its finding and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect to the General Assembly and the Governor in ninety days; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor put into effect all recommendations made by the commission which can be accomplished by administrative directive; and be it further

Resolved, That if legislation is necessary in accordance with the findings and recommendations of the commission and the General Assembly has adjourned sine die, the Governor be requested to convene the General Assembly in special session for the purpose of enacting such laws, time being of the essence in solving the important problems relating to unemployment and decreasing State revenues.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. ROVANSEK, CIOFFI, FILO, LAMB, DENGLER, WEIDNER, GRAMLICH and KESSLER.

RESOLUTION No. 46.

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1961.

In as much as the Speaker and the members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have manifested a sincere desire and interest for good music; and in as much as musical groups perform for the members from time to time either "acapello" or with piano accompaniment; and in as much as the Legislative Chorus has upon many occasions entertained members, therefore be it

Resolved, That we respectfully petition the Speaker and the members of the House of Representatives to purchase a piano to be used from time to time in the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. ADAMS, WEIDNER and ZEMBER.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 47.

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1961.

The Executive Board, consisting of the Governor and six heads of administrative departments designated by the Governor, is authorized by The Administrative Code of 1929, to standardize salaries and wages of persons employed by the administrative departments, boards and commissions, except the Department of the Auditor General, the Department of Internal Affairs, and the Treasury Department.

Under this authority, the Board has established a system of classification, subject to revision from time to time.

The salaries prescribed by statute for the members of State boards and commissions, however, vary considerably, with no apparent relation to the amount of time required to fulfill the duties involved.

For example, members of the State Harness Racing Commission receive no salary, but are reimbursed for expenses, while members of the Board of Arbitration of Claims receive $65 per diem in the performance of official duties.

Some members of the boards are paid on a per diem basis, of varying amounts, while others receive annual salaries, also of varying amounts.

Members of the Civil Service Commission receive $25 per diem, not to exceed $3,000 per year, while members of the Sanitary Water Board receive $15 per diem when actually engaged in the work of the board.

The nine members of the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Commission receive per diem compensation of $15 per day, while members of the Advisory Board on Problems of Older Workers receive $35 per day.

Additional examples of the wide variance in the compensation of members of various boards and commissions are as follows:

On the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, the chairman receives $11,500 annually, and the two members, $11,000 each.

On the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board, the chairman receives $9,000 annually, and the two members, $8,500 each.

These boards meet only several days monthly, about the same frequency as commissions, the members of which are paid on a per diem basis.

On the Pennsylvania Securities Commissions, the chairman and two members all receive $10,000 annually, although the chairman on other boards receive $500 more than other members.

The State Armory Board, consisting of seven members, offers salaries of $1,200 each annually.

The Anthracite Mine Drainage Commission and the Bituminous Mine Law Study Commission serve without compensation or expense allotments.

Certainly the cost of living is the same for all board members, regardless of field, and there should be a standard per diem rate for all boards and commissions. There appears to be no uniformity in setting the compensation rates of the members of the sixty State boards and commissions listed in the 1959-60 Pennsylvania Manual; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study, investigate and examine the compensation of members of State boards and commissions, and the average amount of meetings per month, time, effort and value required for the transaction of their duties; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the General Assembly its findings and recommend a uniform payment plan for such boards and commissions, with the aim of putting the higher paid salaried members on a per diem basis as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House bill No. 468 on page 9 of the calendar.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 468, entitled:

An Act repealing section 8 act of July 5, 1957 (P. L.

479) entitled "An act providing for the construction, erection and maintenance of roadside rests adjacent to State highway routes * * * and making an appropriation" abolishing certain requirements.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 484, entitled:

An Act amending the "Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) authorizing the transfer of jurisdiction and control of land and improvements thereon declared surplus by an administrative department, independent administrative board or independent commission.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, it was my understanding that some members of the minority wish to interrogate me about this bill. I would be glad to be so interrogated.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate on this bill if the gentleman will permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GAILEY. I have already volunteered.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the broad sweep of this bill takes in all boards, bureaus, and commissions in the State government?

Mr. GAILEY. To use the gentleman's own phraseology, the broad sweep of this bill does in fact take into account boards and commissions, as well as that land which may presently be vested in a department of our State government such as the Highway Department.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It does include the Highway Department?

Mr. GAILEY. It would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does it include the Game Commission?

Mr. GAILEY. It would include the Game Commission.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Forestry department?

Mr. GAILEY. I am sorry, I did not hear the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The Forestry department?

Mr. GAILEY. The Department of Forests and Waters? Yes, it would.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The Fish Commission?

Mr. GAILEY. It would include the Fish Commission.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What would be surplus land?

Mr. GAILEY. Well, as the bill states, Mr. Speaker, this is to be determined by the department or the commission or the board, as the case may be, which owns the land itself.

In the language of the bill it allows the transfer of jurisdiction and control of land and the improvements thereon, declared as surplus by its present owner, be it the Fish Commission, the Game Commission, the Department of Forests and Waters, or what have you. Once the department itself declares it as surplus, then it may be transferred to any other board, commission, or department that may have a use for this land.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, suppose the other departments have no use for it, then what do you do with it?

Mr. GAILEY. This is only in the event that there is a specific piece of land which another department or board may have or may indicate a desire to own or to use. It does not provide for a blanket declaration of surplusage, but, under our present law as I understand it, there is no way for one department or an independent board or commission to transfer title and jurisdiction for a piece of land to another independent board, commission, or department without an act of this body. This, in many cases, is an extremely cumbersome method. An example that occurs to me at the present time, and, as a matter of fact, it is one of the reasons that has brought about this bill, is that the Department of Highways presently owns some land which is being used as part of a right-of-way acquired for highway purposes, but which crosses over a stream. This will allow the Department of Highways, for instance, to transfer title to this piece of land to the Fish Commission for public fishing access areas.

I am sure the gentleman has read the bill and I know he knows that the bill has full provisons for recording these transfers so that such transfers are made a matter of public record. The additional safeguard which is within the bill is that of course the consent of the executive board is necessary before any such transfer would be allowed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, it is true that perhaps you can get the department that has the ownership of the land to consent to a transfer, but what are you going to do with game lands that might be transferred to some other jurisdiction? Do you think that the Game Commission should be allowed to transfer lands to some other department if they declare them surplus without approval of the General Assembly, particularly when these lands are owned not by the Commonwealth general fund, but by a sportsmen's fund. It is a special commission under this bill. Why should we allow them to trade freely with items of that kind which, in my opinion, they have no right to do?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, in this particular area regarding the lands of the Game Commission, it is something with which I am not familiar. I know however that the gentleman from Clearfield is, and for the purpose of answering this question I would like to yield to the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am sorry, I did not hear the gentleman's answer.

Mr. GAILEY. I am yielding to the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, for the purpose of answering this particular question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I believe the answer to that question is very simple. A few years ago there was a very excellent site for a dam that was supposed to be built by Pittman-Robertson from game funds for water fowl. However, in looking over a location for the dam, which was mostly on game land, the Pittman-Robertson people referred the Game Commission to the fact that it was not suitable for waterfowl, but would make an excellent fishing dam, and they recommended that the Game Commission turn it over to Dingle-Johnson's program under the Fish Commission.

Now, under this bill it would have been very simple for the Game Commission to transfer the land involved to the Fish Commission for management and for a great advantage in recreation and fishing to the people of Pennsylvania. That in itself shows the advantage of having this particular bill. You do not have to go through a long rigamarole to get an indicated advantage to the people. There would have been no objection at all from either the hunters or the fishermen as to a transfer of that nature.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, of course, that I do not know. I am merely raising the issues here. There is another issue that I would like to raise in connection with this. As I understand it, the proposed legislation at least will authorize the Highway Department particularly to acquire rights-of-way for future use and that means that they will hold them on a standby basis for future highway construction or use. Suppose they pick up some land of that kind and they have it for three or five years and they find out that they do not intend to run the road through that section, would that then be surplus land to the Highway Department?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I understand that if in the future the Highway Department should acquire land—now you are not talking of an easement, you are speaking of an actual title to the real estate itself; is that correct? Do I understand the gentleman correctly? You are not speaking of the Highway Department acquiring easements over a piece of land; you are speaking of their obtaining a fee simple title to a tract of land; is that correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am talking about acquiring land for purchase for future rights-of-way use, using it as a sort of reservoir to protect themselves against high prices when they want to run the road through there. Now, suppose they buy up the whole string of acreage for right-of-way use, or condemn some of it, as a matter of fact, and they do not run the highway through there, does that then become surplus land for the Highway Department?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, the determination of whether or not the land is surplus or not lies entirely within the province of the department, board, or commission in which title for the land is presently vested. Now, there is a safeguard, of course. In addition to the particular arm of government that chose the land determining it to be surplus, the executive board must also approve it. I suggest to the gentleman that it is entirely possible that if the Highway Department should acquire land to protect itself against a raise in prices and then subsequently determine that this land should not be used for the highway purposes, that if they did so, they very well may determine that this land may be surplus, and they could, if they wanted and if there were another department or agency to whom this would be suitable and it would be desirable for the people of this Commonwealth to own and to utilize for another purpose, it would be possible for them, with the approval of the executive board, to transfer title. On the other hand, there is no compulsion on the department to go through this procedure. If the Highway Department decided that this land was of no use to them, and no other agency of government could put it to suitable use, or an economical use, the department could, of course, sell the land at public sale, as is presently provided.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, the provisions of this bill are so broad that you are giving to the boards and bureaus the absolute control of the land ownership in the State of Pennsylvania on lands which had once been acquired by a bureau, board, or commission. I do not think that is right; I do not think it is proper. I do not think we should give such centralized and concentrated control to any board, including the executive board, regarding the disposition of Commonwealth land.

Mr. Speaker, I can visualize, perhaps, an occasion where it might for speedy action be of some advantage, but to generally have this General Assembly surrender all semblance of power and control over the lands which are owned by this Commonwealth I do not believe is right. I, for one, will not surrender that absolute control. I am against this bill.

MR. HELM IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GAILEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is there not a constitutional provision to the effect that highway funds must be used exclusively for highway purposes?

Mr. GAILEY. I believe that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, if land is purchased with highway funds and the executive board is permitted to transfer, is this not in contravention of the constitutional prohibition?

Mr. GAILEY. The gentleman is quite correct. My prior statement to the hypothetical question put to me by Mr. Tompkins was in error. The gentleman has perceived this correctly. He is quite correct, and my answer to the gentleman from Cameron was not proper. When land is acquired by funds out of the motor license fund, it is my understanding that they may be used only for this purpose.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman.

In view of the frank answer by the gentleman from York, the bill as it now appears is unconstitutional. We, therefore, should vote against it.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, the mere fact that in one instance the transfer of land of this nature may be unconstitutional does not render this bill itself unconstitutional. It merely says that the departments, or the various boards, or commissions, have the power to do this.

Obviously, where the Constitution would prohibit this, such as in the case of the Highway Department, then this bill would have no force and effect. It can only have effect in those areas where our Constitution would allow the various boards or commissions to take this course of action.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this House will convene tomorrow at 11 o'clock and the official photograph will be taken here promptly at this time.

We will ask for a caucus from the floor of the House tomorrow after we have acted on the first- and second-reading calendar.

The following week's schedule will definitely be three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Tuesday of next week this House will convene at approximately 2:30 in the afternoon, having agreed to the luncheon of the Lord's Day Alliance at the Mosque, which will be at 12 o'clock noon.

The session will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and very likely the week after that, depending upon the number of bills and what will be acted upon, the House will be in position for a four-day session, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. That is the week after next.

I would like to state to the membership of this House concerning bills on which you have amendments, when you have amendments to a bill, or you believe you are going to have amendments to a bill, there is nothing wrong with getting the amendments prepared during the night. The Legislative Reference Bureau will prepare same then or during the day. We would like to move steadily during the next three weeks, and, if necessary, four weeks in April, to finish up a great portion of this legislative session's work.

I ask your cooperation in that request, and, of course, every time you have a set of amendments, I hope that you will give one copy to each of the floor leaders as soon as they are prepared.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair would like to request that all the members remain in their seats during the reading of the announcements, because we are going to adjourn this House out of respect for our deceased member.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM CUTAIAR, III ON THE BIRTH OF QUADRUPLETS

Messrs. WARE and BELL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 30), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 5, 1961.

On March 15, 1961, there was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Cutaiar, III, of Malvern, Chester County, Pennsylvania, quadruplet girls. The parents are to be congratulated upon this happy event. The birth took place in Delaware County Memorial Hospital, Upper Darby. It is, indeed, a happy event that both mother and daughters are doing fine, and it is our sincerest wish that the girls grow up to be as beautiful as their mother, who won beauty contests.

Both Delaware and Chester Counties, as well as the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, are extremely proud of this happy event; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate Mr. and Mrs. William Cutaiar, III, of Malvern, Chester County, Pennsylvania, on this very happy occurrence in their lives; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. and Mrs. William Cutaiar, III, of Malvern, Chester County, Pennsylvania.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO ALBRIGHT COLLEGE UPON RECENT VICTORIES IN BASKETBALL

Mr. YATRON offered the following resolution (Serial No. 31), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 5, 1961.

The Middle Atlantic Conference College Division Championship in basketball was won this year by Albright College of Reading. They achieved this honor by defeating a strong Hofstra team by a score of 45 to 44. This honor has brought glory to the city of Reading as well as the whole Commonwealth. Albright's Coach Will Renken certainly deserves much of this honor and glory for it has been under his guiding hand that Albright has risen to new heights as a basketball power in the east; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate Coach Will Renken and Albright's great basketball team for the fine display of talent they have shown in achieving the honor bestowed upon them; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Coach Will Renken at Albright College, Reading, Pennsylvania.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO WEST READING HIGH SCHOOL UPON RECENT VICTORIES IN BASKETBALL

Mr. YATRON offered the following resolution (Serial No. 32), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 5, 1961.

West Reading High School is the Class C PIAA State champion for an unprecedented third consecutive time. They achieved this honor by defeating Williamsburg in the State finals before more than 3,000 fans at the Albright Field House in Reading. Dick Sherry, the Cowboys' able coach deserves much of the credit for the victory but with material like Ron Krick, the highest scorer in the State's schoolboy history, his task was made a little easier.

Congratulations are in order; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania take this opportunity to congratulate West Reading High School on their victory in the Class C finals of the PIAA; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Coach Dick Sherry at West Reading High School, West Reading, Pennsylvania.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO READING HIGH SCHOOL UPON RECENT VICTORIES IN BASKETBALL

Mr. YATRON offered the following resolution (Serial No. 33), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 5, 1961.

Reading High School should be proud of their basketball team. The underdog team of Coach Peter Carril defeated Bethlehem High 49 to 48 to go to the Eastern finals only to be defeated by a powerful Nanticoke High School, who went on to win the class A State Championship. For Coach Carril, his victory over Bethlehem must have brought him great joy since it is his alma mater.

To go through a long season, and still participate in the playoffs, is an honor which only a small percentage of the high schools in the State can boast of; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate Reading High School upon their recent victories in basketball; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Peter Carril at Reading High School, Reading, Pennsylvania.

URGING THE GOVERNOR AND GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY TO RECONSIDER THE REMOVAL OF THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION FROM THE CITY OF HARRISBURG

Mr. TAYLOR offered the following resolution (Serial No. 34), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 5, 1961.

One hundred and fifty years ago Harrisburg was designated by our General Assembly as the Capital City of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Since this time Harrisburg has always been by rule, tradition and assumption the official seat and the home of the Governor.

Recently, considerable controversy seems to have arisen as to whether or not the home of the Governor, commonly called the "Governor's Mansion," should be removed from the City of Harrisburg. Some opinions favor enlarging and refurbishing the so-called "Governor's Summer Home" now located at least twenty miles distant from the Capital city at a place called Indiantown Gap on land that closely adjoins State owned land now under lease to the Federal Government for military reservation and training ground purposes, and which could conceivably, be militarized in event of great national emergency or war, and

All those who have been associated with the military in time of war, at home and abroad, believe that the Governor of our Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should retain a first responsibility to civil life, and should retain his official residence within the City of Harrisburg and among the civilian populace with, possibly, sojourns to his second residence, if he so desires, at the Indiantown Gap summer mansion; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate urge the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the General State Authority to revise this thinking about removal of the official home from the City of Harrisburg, to a point of conformation with the planning and directive of the Members of the General Assembly of 1810 when they designated this Capital City as the seat of Pennsylvania's government, which includes the home of the government's Chief Executives for the period of time that includes his term of office to which he was elected by all the people of this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the Governor and to the General State Authority.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask that this resolution be laid on the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the request of the Majority Leader, the resolution will be laid on the table.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SHAFER, KROMER, HAYS and BERGER, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 490, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," exempting Youth for Christ Organizations from the payment of registration and title fees.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSTPONEMENT OF TAKING OF SENATE PHOTOGRAPH

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Majority Floor Leader has asked the Chair to make the following announcement:

Due to the fact that enough Members of the Senate are not present today to have the official picture of the Senate taken,—naturally, each Member desires to be present for this event—it has been postponed until next Tuesday, April 11, at 2:00 p.m. The Chair urges every Member to try to be present for the taking of the official picture of the Senate.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a twenty minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting, to be held in the Governor's Office, with the leadership on both sides.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objections, and declares a twenty minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, STEVENSON, MALLERY and HAYS, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 491, entitled:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 30—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 73—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL POSTPONED

SB 88—The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, regarding the motion I am about to make with reference to this bill, I would like to explain to the Members of the Senate that Senate Bill No. 88, Printer's No. 485, would consolidate the institutional districts of the various counties with the General Fund.

Yesterday, I offered some corrective amendments which are now inserted in the bill. I hope that the Membership of the Senate will review this legislation in detail and discuss the legislation with their county solicitors.

We feel that the legislation is in good order. However, there is one question involved, Mr. President, which must be determined. As you probably know, there is a borrowing capacity of two per cent on your assessed valuation for the General Fund in the counties. There is also a borrowing capacity of two per cent of the assessed valuation of your institution district

These are constitutional provisions. This borrowing can be made without a referendum. Should there be a referendum, of course, you can then go up to as far as seven per cent.

We had the good fortune to have Mr. Bullis, who represents the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, attend our Local Government Commission Meeting, which was presided over by the Honorable George B. Stevenson. Mr. Bullis informed us that he had secured an opinion from Mrs. Alpern, the Attorney General, with reference to this two per cent borrowing capacity. What is needed—and the ligislation was introduced today—is that we must amend the Municipal Borrowing Act of 1941, changing the language to show that the two per cent shall be applicable to market value and not to the assessed value.

Therefore, until such time as this legislation is passed, —I am speaking primarily of the amendment to the Municipal Borrowing Act of 1941—we feel it is wise to place Senate Bill No. 88, Printer's No. 485, on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. President, in order to make the record clear, I have a copy of the Attorney General's Opinion, which I would like to have inserted in the record for the perusal of all the Members of the Senate. Of course, this will also help the House, should this legislation get to the House of Representatives.

Therefore, Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 88, Printer's No. 485, be placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar and that a copy of the Attorney General's Opinion be spread upon the record.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, at the request of the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, the Opinion of the Attorney General will be spread upon the record.

March 1, 1961.

Interpretation of "Assessed Valuation" in Article I, Section 102 of the Municipal Borrowing Law of 1941

Genevieve Blatt
Secretary, Department of Internal Affairs

Anne X. Alpern
Attorney General
Department of Justice

You have requested my opinion as to the interpretation of the phrase "assessed valuation" as used in Article I, Section 102 of the Municipal Borrowing Law, the Act of June 25, 1941, P. L. 159, as amended, 53 P.S. Section 6102. Municipal borrowing, under this Act, is limited to a certain percentage of "assessed valuation," Article II, Section 201, 53 P.S. Section 6201.

Section 102, the definition section of the Act, reads as follows:

"'Assessed Valuation,' the assessed valuation of all property taxable in the municipality for the purposes of the municipality, as last determined by the board, bureau or persons charged by law with the duty of determining the valuation of such property for tax purposes."

This language is clear and unambiguous, and means just what it says. "Assessed valuation" is assessed valuation of taxable property as determined by the appropriate board, etc., of the municipality for tax purposes. This phrase cannot be interpreted to mean "market value" in the context of this act.

I add this thought. If it is desired to increase municipal borrowing capacity, there are only two ways in which this can be done legally. One is for the municipality to increase assessments (it is well known that assessments now average less than 50% of market value), and reduce the tax rate proportionately, if present tax return is to be maintained). The other method is to amend Section 102—using "market value" or some percentage thereof as the base for municipal borrowing.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MULLIN and McCREESH, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 492, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," providing for the payment of a sum of money in lieu of suspensions.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, about two weeks ago, on Monday, March 20, I sponsored a bill with Senator Ehrgood as cosponsor. The purpose of this bill was to establish a Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority. I made a few remarks in connection with the introduction of this bill, and I stated that this would establish an Authority and meet a great need in the State of Pennsylvania.

This authority would lend money to students attending college. We all know that tuition has been going up and it becomes almost an impossibility for the average family today to send a boy through college and pay those high tuitions. This would be one of the ways of helping students in college.

I also stated that the funds for this Authority would come primarily from corporations and wealthy individuals who would like to help higher education. I did mention that the only expense to the State of Pennsylvania would be the sum of $250,000 to get this Authority started, and from there on not another single contribution would have to be made by the State.

Two days later, one of our well-known columnists in the city of Philadelphia, who writes for The Philadelphia Inquirer, made this comment:

> "Senator Silvert, in a sort of off-hand way, carried the implication a quarter of a million bucks was no more than a citizen would use up in the course of a night on the town.
> ". . . treated $250,000 as if it were scratch feed for the birds."

Mr. President, I certainly subscribe to the theory that a man, even though he is a columnist, is entitled to his opinion. However, when he fails to make a single comment in this article as to the bill or the purpose for which this $250,000 was suggested, then I say that the public is led to believe that here is a Senator offering $250,000, not knowing what it is going to be used for. I think that is not quite fair.

My feelings have been somewhat assuaged because I received a copy of a letter written to this columnist by Mr. Alan G. Kirk, II, Assistant Dean of the Pennsylvania Law School. Mr. President, I want to read this letter into the record, and I am glad you are listening, Senator Wagner:

"Mr. John M. Cummings
"Philadelphia Inquirer
"400 North Broad Street
"Philadelphia 1, Pennsylvania

"Dear Mr. Cummings:

"On March 22, you state in your column that Senator Silvert has treated $250,000 'as if it were scratch feed for the birds.' While you do not state what it is that the Senator is recommending the money for, I suspect that you are referring to his proposal to establish a revolving loan plan for college students along the lines of the plans now in force in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

"These plans are of tremendous aid to students who face increasingly higher tuitions. In New York, for example, the State Authority simply insures private loans made by the banks of that State to residents of the State, no matter where they attend college. In Connecticut, I believe, the State merely has established an Authority to insure and expedite the loaning of money by corporations, foundations and individuals to college students. I believe that Senator Silvert is thinking more along the lines of the Connecticut plan, although I would personally favor the New York idea.

"In any event, it is hard for me to see how anybody could raise any objections to an investment of this sort. I would be happy to forward to you literature on the plans of some of our sister States.

"Very truly yours,
"Alan G. Kirk, II
"Assistant Dean
"Pennsylvania Law School

Mr. President, with this offered into the record, my talk is finished. Thank you very much.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to make just a brief statement.

Mr. President, there has been a great deal of talk about the Governor's Education Committee and many of us have been asked to give our reaction. I was asked early on Monday my reaction to it, and it appeared in a paper from the Philadelphia area. It stated that my position was that the Members here on this side of the aisle were in favor of the general proposition that we had heard about in the newspapers because we did not have the report at that time, and apparently the newspapers had very accurate stories on what it contained.

My position was—and I had not talked to all of the Members on this side, but I had the general sense of their thinking—that they would vote for any measures that would provide additional taxes. However, they would not do so unless there were a substantial number of votes—and by substantial, we meant more than one or two—on the other side of the aisle. This has to be strictly or truly a bipartisan approach to the problem, not only to the tax measures but also to the general housekeeping measures that are being asked for.

In one of the newspapers in the other end of the State, I was quoted as saying there would be no new taxes at this Session for the schools. That, in part, is true, but I do not think the statement goes far enough. It may be that the man who reported this might have been having difficulty with me in the sense that I had not perhaps truly expressed myself.

Therefore, I would like to do so now in order to set the record straight. There will be no new taxes in this Session for school purposes unless they are truly bipartisan. By that I mean, there has to be at least ten or more votes on the other side of the aisle to produce this measure. There also has to be that amount of votes to produce any of the other measures, because I do not think in the area of schools they are either Republican or Democratic. I think that the school problem in this State truly is a problem that affects every person who lives in this State; those who are presently here and those who are unborn. It will affect hundreds of thousands of youngsters who may never have an opportunity to go to school or who are not even desiring an opportunity. It will also affect those who are gifted and who do not have the opportunity due to the lack of finances. It may also affect those who have the ability to handle the problem but come from such a cultural background that they are being denied this opportunity.

I do not think that that is a Democratic or Republican problem. I think it is a problem for all of us to pitch in and do something about. In order to do so, according to the report, it will require additional revenue and additional money to be advanced in these different causes.

I think that the people on this side of the aisle feel they would like to help in this measure and are interested in it. However, they will not do it alone because, as you well realize, Mr. President, we cannot pass any program here without some help from the other side. This is one of the areas which I think is our responsibility. I do not think that the total burden should be upon us because I think one of the basic problems that everyone has is that when you carry a burden, you also should benefit from it. If we are going to provide a benefit, I think this burden should be shared by one and all.

The reason for my taking the time of the Senate to do this is to set the record absolutely clear on what our position is here on this side of the aisle.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I listened with interest to the statement just made by the Majority Leader and it reminded me of an old childhood saying, when we were out playing, that we should not cry before we are hurt. The gentleman seems to have anticipated certain things which are by no means on the horizon.

Mr. President, I do not believe that anybody has, as yet, had the opportunity to read the full text of the report of the Governor's Committee on Education. It was just presented here this morning. However, I realize there were a few serious leaks on that which got into the newspapers before the report was released.

Mr. President, we are ready to recognize any responsibility, whatsoever, relating to the support of education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and always have been. I can well recall, Mr. President, many, many times in this Senate—I am quite certain, as a matter of fact, that the Presiding Officer was a Member of the Senate at that time—when we, on this side, advanced certain tax measures and found that there were very few and, frequently, no votes whatever over there in support of them. However, when we were given the appropriation bills, my, my, my, how the votes would pour in.

Mr. President, I would suggest that until after the Governor addresses the Joint Session, on Monday, this discussion is premature. I am sure that the Majority Leader realizes it is premature before he suggests, let us say, that there be at least ten votes on this side to any tax programs which they may propose on that side. We are not prepared to say anything. I certainly would not presume to say, on behalf of my colleagues, just how many votes for any tax program would be forthcoming. I certainly would want to watch and see just what the proposal might be before we made any commitments. I am sure the Majority Leader would not want us to.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to say, in closing, that the proposals,—I have not had an opportunity to read the Report—which appeared in the newspapers and which appear to be accurate, are so sweeping and so far-reaching. Many of them even go far beyond measures which have been put in by many of the far-looking or liberal Members of this Body. I think it would require the sentiment of all the Members of the Legislature, as well as the sentiment of a large majority of the people of this Commonwealth, before we can get into this sweeping reform-type of program about which they are speaking.

There is nothing magic about ten votes. We will take twelve, if that will be helpful, or even more. I think we should almost be unanimous in our approach to this problem, before any of us can do anything about it. There is not an area in the Commonwealth which is not affected or which will not feel the impact of this recommendation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have not read the report of the Governor's Committee on Education, which was just released today. However, I did review in detail some of the writings by the various newspapermen. The thought has come to my mind that probably we here in Harrisburg, both in the House and the Senate, have more or less brushed under the rug this problem of education and higher education. As a matter of fact, I am very strongly in favor of Senator Silvert's proposal and I hope something comes from it. Of course, it is going to take money.

I believe that those of us who have been here for quite some time recall, years ago, when we planned at one time to have a constitutional amendment set up, whereby we would have the funds to take care of education in Pennsylvania. We are now confronted with what I think is a major problem in the field of education. The Governor's Committee, I assume, has done a fairly decent job, although I understand there are some dissenting reports with reference to this Committee. However, Mr. President, I do not believe that here in Harrisburg we are ever going to lick the problem of education, and the financing of education, until we write into the Constitution an amendment, allocating certain funds of the Federal Government for education. I recall, the first time we passed the sales tax bill, that the moneys were supposed to be earmarked for education. However, they landed in the General Fund. Unless we do those things and take a forthright position, we are always going to have this major problem.

I have heard some talk about adjourning sine die some time in June. I do not think that is going to be possible. Once we receive these bills, it is going to entail a considerable amount of debate. When we get into a tax program, you know what that means, Mr. President. That also will take some time.

I feel that we should clean up the job at this Session. Let us try to clean it up once and for all. Let us try to pass a constitutional amendment, earmarking certain funds for education in Pennsylvania.

In closing, Mr. President, I might also add, in speaking of southwestern Pennsylvania, that I do not believe the home owners in western Pennsylvania can stand much more in taxes, especially the levies on real estate. They have almost arrived at the saturation point. The time will come when it will be impossible to live in your own home, if these taxes increase. Therefor, we are going to have to do something. If we can secure Federal aid, let us accept it. However, once and for all, I think we should clean up and not sweep the dust under the rug again.

I have been here since 1942, and ever since I have been a Member of the Legislature, we have had the problem on education. I feel it is just about time that we resolve it once and for all time.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Before we go to the next order of business, the Chair wishes to take this opportunity to thank the Majority Floor Leader and all the Members, on both sides, for the courtesy extended to me. This is my first experience in the Chair, after twenty-three years of service. Believe me, I cherish the thought. It will be a memory for me, and you have been very kind and cooperative. I want to thank the leaders and all you gentlemen for your fine cooperation.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House, which was read as follows:

EXTENDING SINCERE WISHES TO THE CITIZENS OF CHAMBERSBURG AND FRANKLIN COUNTY FOR A SUCCESSFUL AND MEMORABLE CELEBRATION ON APRIL 12, 1961

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

April 12, 1961 marks the one hundredth anniversary of the attack by the Rebels on Fort Sumpter, the beginning of the American Civil War. On that day in 1861, a meeting was held in Chambersburg, the county seat of Franklin County, at which several hundred citizens discussed what could be done to aid the Union cause. Six days later, on April 19, 1861, Chambers Artillery, led by Captain P. L. Housem, First Litutenant John Doebler, Second Lieutenant Matthew Gillan and Third Lieutenant George Miles, left for Harrisburg, and this unit was among the first to arrive as volunteers for the defense of the Union.

Chambersburg and Franklin County played a significant role in the Civil War. It was in the square at Chambersburg that General Robert E. Lee, astride his white horse, made the fateful decision to go East instead of North into Harrisburg, which decision directed his forces headlong into the Union Forces and led to his defeat in the Battle of Gettysburg. Chambersburg was invaded by the Southern Forces on three separate occasions, and in July 1864, a year after the Battle of Gettysburg, had its courthouse put to the torch, thus gaining the ironic distinction of being the only town North of the Mason-Dixon Line to be burned by the Confederate Army.

An April 12, 1961, a town meeting is to be held in the courthouse in Chambersburg, Franklin County, to commemorate and simulate the happenings on that day one hundred years ago. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes the deep significance of this meeting and of its place in the history of our Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby commends the citizens of Chambersburg and Franklin County upon holding a meeting similar to that held on April 12, 1861, and extends to them its most sincere wishes for a successful and memorable celebration; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be personally delivered to said meeting on April 12, 1961, by the Honorable Enos H. Horst and the Honorable Elmer B. Hawbaker of the County of Franklin.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. MARSH. RESOLUTION No. 49.

In the House of Representatives, April 4th 1961.

The use of radar equipment in the apprehension of persons who violate the speed laws, relating to motor vehicles of this State, has caused considerable concern throughout the Commonwealth. This concern stems from the fact that there is considerable doubt about radar as an evidencing device as to rate of speed under certain conditions. It is likewise felt by a very large number of people that a speed of fifty miles per hour on open and good highways is not high enough.

It is felt by the House of Representatives that the rate of speed on highways, where radar equipment is being used in the determination of the rate of speed of motor vehicles, should be increased to fifty-five miles per hour. This would eliminate most of the objections and criticism to the use of radar equipment in the detection of persons charged with violating the motor vehicle speed laws of this State, therefor be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives respectfully request the Governor and the Traffic Safety Commissioner of the Bureau of Traffic Safety to reconsider the speed limit of fifty miles per hour on highways where radar equipment is being used in the apprehension of persons violating the motor vehicle speed laws of this State and make the speed limit on such highways fifty-five miles per hour; and be it further

Resolved, That the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Mr. O. D. Shipley, Traffic Safety Commissioner of the Bureau of Traffic Safety be sent copies of this resolution.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. CIANFRANI and Mrs. JONES.
RESOLUTION No. 50.

In the House of Representatives, April 4, 1961.

Whereas, the Independence Hall Mall is now nearly a completed project of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, the Federal Mall East of Independence Hall is also nearing completion; and

Whereas, the Redevelopment Authority Law, which has helped give new life to so many important sections of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a direct outgrowth of the Independence Hall Mall idea; and

Whereas, historic Society Hill and the Independence Neighborhood of old Philadelphia are being rebuilt, modernized and redeveloped, but will maintain a substantial portion of buildings of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, so that such area will have the largest concentration of continuously occupied structures of early American architecture in the United States of America; and

Whereas, the millions of dollars expended in the Redevelopment program in and around old Philadelphia, are bringing into being many, many more millions of dollars of new structures and millions of dollars in revenue to the governments involved; and

Whereas, all of this activity was stimulated and started by petitions of the residents of Philadelphia's Fifth Ward, prepared by a former member of the House of Representatives, the Honorable Isidor Ostroff, and circulated by his committee made up of Harry Faden, Jacob Tracer, Eugene Kane, Louis Ordile, Lena Singer, Harry Cralnick, Barney Brooke, Harry Katz, Sabina Singer, Harry Schmuckler, Dorothy Schaeffer, I. L. Stern, Albert Gerofsky, Henry LeBlond and many others; and

Whereas, such petitions were forwarded to Congressman Leon Sacks, who first introduced in the Congress of the United States a bill prepared by the Honorable Isidor Ostroff for the creation of the Independence Hall Mall, which bill was introduced in subsequent Congresses by the successors of Congressmen Sack, Gallagher, Bradley, Cardie Scott and Byrne; and

Whereas, the said Isidor Ostroff cooperated with Honorable Edwin O. Lewis and the Independence Hall Association in many appearances before this and the National Legislature, and worked anonymously with Judge Lewis to bring about the realization of this patriotic transformation of Old Philadelphia during which he had the "soubriquet" of "chief errand boy" and liaison; and

Whereas, it is fitting and proper that the Legislature of Pennsylvania should record for posterity the unsung selfless devotion with which our former colleague worked with any and all who would make possible the proper enshrinement of our nation's most cherished historical structures, and the best setting for America's most historic mile square; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Legislature of Pennsylvania extends its congratulations and felicitations to the Honorable Isidor Ostroff on the transformation of the area in the vicinity of Independence Hall into a site of beauty and a fitting setting for the enshrinement of our nation's most hallowed historic structures, and the preservation of so many authentic early American structures, and our gratification that his dedicated persistency in the face of ridicule and skepticism made possible the realization of his "dream" for a better Philadelphia; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Isidor Ostroff.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. This is the morning appointed for taking of the picture of this magnificent Assembly.

The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. I am going to request the chief clerk to have the bell rung as though it were a roll call and ask all the members to come in, as the photographer is ready. Then we can get this over with, because we have a lot of other work to do.

The SPEAKER. The bell has been rung. It might be well to ring it again.

Mr. McCANN. Will the chief clerk ring the bell again, so all the members will come in and take their seats and we can take the picture.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it has been requested by quite a few members that we ask the membership to please remove the high stacks of books and items that they may have on their desks which will hide the members from being in the photograph.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, on March 20 three of us who are freshman legislators were discussing the problems which confront us in trying to read and understand all the bills that are presented in the House. We were much surprised the next morning, upon getting our mail, to read your "Dispelling the Fog," wherein you somewhat had the same idea we had, that an explanation of each of the bills be attached to the bill when it is printed so each of us can have an understandable explanation of the bill.

I would like to ask now, in your respected opinion, what can be done so this legislative body can make this a reality?

The SPEAKER. This legislative body can create such committees as it desires and can make such appropriations as it desires. Consultation with the respective floor leaders as to action which will be acceptable to the respective caucuses is a matter for the leadership of the House to decide, whether they want to do something along that line. I think a conference initially with the floor leaders, and then perhaps the floor leaders will want to talk to their caucuses and, if they decide to do it, then you can create a committee to do it and give them the money with which to do it.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I feel certain that would be helpful not only to the freshmen members of the legislature, but to all members of the legislature. I suspect that sometimes there is a difference in the understanding of a bill between the minority side of the House and the majority side of the House. Certainly, the person, or persons, who put a bill in the hopper ought to know what they want to accomplish with the bill and could give us that message with it.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

The photographer requests no smoking because it creates a haze that obscures the beauty of the landscape.

The Chair now turns command of the floor temporarily over to the photographer.

(Photographs were taken by the photographer.)

SPONSORSHIP OF BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to have my name removed from a bill that was introduced yesterday.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Monroe desires his name removed as a sponsor from House bill 1145. The bill has not been printed and the name will be removed.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state to the respective sergeants at arms that the Chair has no desire to, nor will he, police this House. If the sergeants at arms are unacquainted with the proper procedure, we suggest they consult the chief clerk. It is very simple. Members of the House back of the rail talking to each other are privileged people on privileged territory. If a member of the House wants to consult with his constituents he should go to the conference room and the sergeant at arms should so request that he go to the conference room at the request of the Speaker, not at the request of the sergeant at arms. We will have this thing policed. I am getting tired of policing it myself.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Chair to consider some privileged resolutions which I believe have been cleared and could be adopted before caucus.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

COMMENDATION

Mr. HORST offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

April 12, 1961, marks the one hundredth anniversary of the attack by the Rebels on Fort Sumpter, the beginning of the American Civil War. On that day in 1861 a meeting was held in Chambersburg, the county seat of Franklin County, at which several hundred citizens discussed what could be done to aid the Union cause. Six days later, on April 19, 1861, Chambers Artillery, led by Captain P. L. Housem, First Lieutenant John Doebler, Second Lieutenant Matthew Gillan and Third Lieutenant George Miles, left for Harrisburg, and this unit was among the first to arrive as volunteers for the defense of the Union.

Chambersburg and Franklin County played a significant role in the Civil War. It was in the square at Chambersburg that General Robert E. Lee, astride his white horse, made the fateful decision to go East instead of North into Harrisburg, which decision directed his forces headlong into the Union Forces and led to his defeat in the Battle of Gettysburg. Chambersburg was invaded by the Southern Forces on three separate occasions, and in July, 1864, a year after the Battle of Gettysburg, had its court house put to the torch thus gaining the ironic distinction of being the only town North of the Mason-Dixon Line to be burned by the Confederate Army.

On April 12, 1961, a town meeting is to be held in the court house in Chambersburg, Franklin County, to commemorate and simulate the happenings on that day one hundred years ago. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes the deep significance of this meeting and of its place in the history of our Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby commends the citizens of Chambersburg and Franklin County upon holding a meeting similar to that held on April 12, 1861, and extends to them its most sincere wishes for a successful and memorable celebration; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be personally delivered to said meeting on April 12, 1961, by the Honorable Enos H. Horst and the Honorable Elmer D. Hawbaker of County of Franklin.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. J. P. O'DONNELL and MULLEN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO THADDEUS STEVENS

Mr. WORLEY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

April 4, 1961, marked the anniversary of the birth of Thaddeus Stevens, one of the most outstanding former citizens of our Commonwealth. Thaddeus Stevens, a former member of this House of Representatives from Adams County, and whose picture now appears in the Hall of the House, was the founder of our Public School System; therefore be it

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. WESCOTT, K. B. LEE, REIDENBACH, ESHBACK, E. S. WILLIAMS, GEORGE, SELTZER, HELM, HOCKER and GOODRICH offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

It is with considerable regret that we are so soon again called upon to express our condolences at the passing away of one of our members. Representative James Wynd, Jr., from Tunkhannock, Wyoming County, died Tuesday, March 28, 1961, in Harrisburg. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Steele Wynd, and a daughter Judith.

The passing of James Wynd, Jr., removes from our midst a conscientious public servant and a very good friend of many of his colleagues here in the House of Representatives; Jim was well known throughout the State. From 1944 to 1952 he was the Sheriff of Wyoming

County. He also served as the President of the Sheriff's Association and at the time of his death he was the Secretary-Treasurer of the association. There is no question that the 67 Sheriffs of Pennsylvania as well as all those who knew him will miss Jim. The man who replaces Jim will have to strive hard to achieve the stature of his predecessor; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby express its sadness at the passing away of James Wynd, Jr., and commends him as a conscientious public servant. Further, that we here extend condolences to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Steele Wynd, Jr., and his daughter Judith; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the widow and daughter, whose address is Tunkhannock, R. D. 3, Wyoming County.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

COMMUNICATION

REQUEST FOR WRIT OF SPECIAL ELECTION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication requesting a writ of Special Election, which was read as follows:

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE OF PENNSYLVANIA
112 State Street
Harrisburg

April 5, 1961

Honorable Hiram G. Andrews
Speaker of the House
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Speaker:

This letter is in reference to the Assembly vacancy created by the untimely death of the Honorable James Wynd, Jr., who represented Wyoming County.

It is my feeling as well as those of Republican leaders concerned, that the date of May 16, 1961 would be appropriate for holding this Special Election. We hope that this date meets with your approval.

With appreciation for the past considerations you have extended us, I am

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE I. BLOOM.

The SPEAKER. The Speaker's writ will be issued forthwith in compliance with the request of the Republican State Chairman.

DEMOCRAT AND REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this point there is going to be a request for the Appropriations Committee to hold a meeting. We are going to ask for respective caucuses of one hour, and we are going to ask for thirty minutes for lunch. At that time I am going to ask that all the House members bring with them their calendars to the caucus. The caucus will start immediately on final-passage and third-reading-calendar bills today.

Mr. Speaker, to many who have asked, it would seem from our timing here today that very likely, if we reconvene at 1:30, or no later than 1:45, that we will be finished somewhere between 3:30 and 4 o'clock.

So, Mr. Speaker, the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations desires to hold an Appropriations Committee hearing in room 245-246 immediately when I make the motion to recess. I will ask the Republican floor leader, Mr. Johnson, if the time is agreeable to him and his caucus, to take one hour for caucus, thirty minutes for lunch, reconvening at a quarter of two.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we concur in that. We would like to caucus now for one hour and then go to lunch for one-half hour, and I would ask the members to bring their calendars and bring the explanation of bills which was handed to them yesterday.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that this House do now recess for a period of one and one-half hours for the purpose of respective caucuses and lunch. I ask that the members come to the caucus room first and lunch at the end of caucus. Appropriations Committee meeting immediately in room 245-246.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess for one and one-half hours.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, what has been predicted in connection with the operation of harness racing in Pennsylvania today became reality. Politics control harness racing in Pennsylvania.

Those of us who were opposed to this bill in principle had the belief and hope that with the designation of L. B. Sheppard as chairman of the Harness Racing Commission we would have a sound, strong commission desirous of giving us the best type of harness racing. Our hopes today were disillusioned. As authority I give you the statement of the chairman of the Harness Racing Commission, who is disheartened over what has occurred today, when the franchises in this State were handed out to political powers on a political basis.

Let me read to you, in part, from his statement released today:

> "To me it is unthinkable, because it is not in the best interests of this State, the people of the State, the patrons of racing and the sport itself where two political groups are awarded all the worthwhile racing in Pennsylvania and virtually controlled by one man. I am quite sure that Pennsylvania can look forward to nothing but second-rate racing in which I am not at all interested."

Then Mr. Sheppard continues:

> "I do not like the precedent set here today. Time may well prove that the favored individuals themselves, as well as the general public, have been sold down the river in the interests of short-sighted, practical politics."

I invite every member of the House, and particularly I would like to have the majority leader, listen to me read the statement by Mr. Sheppard as released today and also to read the editorial in the Harrisburg Patriot covering this subject matter.

When this bill was discussed and debated throughout the State, I found many people in western Pennsylvania who were in favor of harness racing, but they said they were going to vote against it, and they did so, because of one vital reason, the fear of politicians gaining control of the tracks, and this fear, I say again, has been realized.

We took care of the big politicians today. Are we going to take care of the smaller politicians by awarding them the booze concessions, the catering concessions, and the parking concessions?

If the majority leader believes in good government, in sound government, I ask him to look up House bill No. 905, cosponsored by myself and three other Republicans on this side, Representatives Willard from Mercer, Gramlich from Venango, and Keiser from Dauphin, which takes care of the problem which was created today. It provides that no politician, no party official, no public official, directly or indirectly, shall have the right to have any personal interest in a race track or concession.

I predict, as I predicted a year ago, that you will have scandals in the State of Pennsylvania like you have had in the State of New York and, apparently, they are going to have them in the State of Maryland, if this House bill 905 is not released to the floor and passed.

Do you think it is sound government that two or three years from now we will discover that some public official, perhaps a legislator, perhaps a Republican legislator, will be discovered to have held stock—not me, of course, I hope—or owned stock in a race track. That is what happened in New York; that is what happened in every other State.

I call to your attention that this particular provision for franchise is a licensing provision which must be renewed every year. Therefore, you are going to have bipartisan action. You are going to try to protect Republicans and Democrats because you never know when, perhaps, the Republicans will come back. I want to protect our Repubicans in the future from being caught in the ownership of stock.

It is absolutely unsound, it is against the public interest, for a monopoly to be created in the State and for the people who control the State to grant monopolistic favors to their political friends.

This particular bill is in the Rules Committee, controlled by the majority leader—not controlled, but I would say they listen to his advice from time to time. Therefore, I request him to have a meeting of the Rules Committee next week to release House bill 905 upon the floor of the House and let Democrats and Republicans debate this bill and do the same thing as they did in New York, after the politicians got control of the tracks, they ripped them out. That is the kind of legislation we need. Let us rip them all out.

Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, do not have the statement the gentleman is speaking about, but I am sure he has it there and I am sure that it is, without a doubt, very accurate. But I would like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny County, it depends on who calls who what, for some people use the word "politician" and some say "public servant," but both serve in the same capacity. I assume that the gentleman is an advocate of good government, which I believe all of us are. Yet I could say that he is a politician, or I could say that he is a public servant. I believe we are both, and I am absolutely sure he is both a very shrewed politician and probably an excellent public servant. I do not believe, nor will I ever believe, that either he or I, as a politician or a public servant, is ever a second-rate citizen, for we have, and I hope we shall always have, the rights that each has that we are not denied anything because we are public servants or politicians, nor do we get anything because we are either. Therefore, the terms "politician" and "public servant" are only the descriptions by which you define it yourself. I believe both represent good government. I am confident we do here in the House, and I have always, advocated good government.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. The comments I made and the observations I spread upon the Journal are those of an outstanding newspaper of this Commonwealth and the observations of the chairman of the Harness Racing Commission. There is nothing wrong about being a politician, and there is something wrong sometimes about being a statesman, because a statesman has been defined as a dead politician. Therefore, I want to be a politician.

I would call to Mr. McCann's particular attention again that I am following in the footsteps of the distinguished President of the United States, J. F. Kennedy, who is trying in Washington to prevent conflict of interest.

When we are given the right to create something, do we also have the right to own it? I think if you will examine the public utilities law you will find a provision that State officials have no right to own any controlling interest in utilities, particularly the members of the Public Utility Commission. So, if what Mr. McCann says is true, if you have a distinguished transportation expert become a member of the PUC and a very good franchise comes up, then he says that the member of the PUC shall have the right to give the franchise to himself or to his wife?

I am quite certain that the distinguished majority leader does not believe in what he has stated. We are not trying to down-grade politicians. We are trying to upgrade them, and I am waiting for the bill that comes to this House that will state that a member of the Legislature, be he a lawyer or otherwise, shall not have the right to do business with the State of Pennsylvania. It is not proper for lawyers to do so, and I intend to vote for such a bill, and I am not making myself a second-rate citizen.

What I am pleading with Mr. McCann to do is this: Release House bill 905 and make every politician in Pennsylvania a first-rate citizen.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly make a few remarks in reference to what the gentleman from Allegheny has said.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I, too, as the majority leader did, resent the implications contained in the remarks of the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny County. There seems to be an inference created that a politician is some sinister individual whose primary and sole purpose is to deceive and defraud the public.

With respect to this Harness Racing Commission and the reported franchises that were allotted, about which I did not as yet read in the newspapers, I would like to take issue with him and say that probably the gentleman to whom he is particularly referring is Jim Clarke, the finance chairman of the Democratic city committee. I know Jim Clarke personally, and I am sure that most other members of the legislature know him, and I, for one, want to say I think that if the corporation he has an interest in is awarded the franchise in Philadelphia or Bucks County that track will be maintained at a very high level of operation.

I think you will recall that a few short years ago when the Philadelphia Eagles were not supported by the fans in Philadelphia, it was Jim Clarke, who is a politician, and Frank McNamee, fire commissioner of Philadelphia, who is also a politician, who instilled enough interest in a group of wealthy individuals to finance and control the Philadelphia Eagles. As a result of their endeavors we now have an outstanding professional football team in the city of Philadelphia, which is supported by the fans wholeheartedly and which has just won the national championship. There is no question at all but that the corporation maintains them at the highest level of integrity.

I want, too, to cite the record of the late beloved John B. Kelly, who, to my mind, was one of the greatest politicians we ever had in the city of Philadelphia. You are, I am sure, familiar with the fact that it was John B. Kelly who pioneered the race tracks in the State of New Jersey. He had a very big interest in the race tracks there and I do not think there was ever any suggestion that they conducted the tracks in a manner which would indicate that the people were defrauded.

It seems to me that you cannot equate harness racing with public utilities because the sole reason for the existence of the Public Utility Commission is because these are the necessary things that the people need. The people are going to pay money because they need them. But when you come to a harness track, you are not going to get the support of the people and it requires outstanding individuals who are able to raise millions of dollars to get this thing on the road, to get it started, and it is the type of men like Jim Clarke and Art Rooney, to name just a few, who have the wherewithal, who have the connections, to raise that kind of money.

I think it is unfair for anyone at this stage of the game to get on the floor or in any manner criticize these gentlemen for their interest in promoting harness racing. I think they have a right to do that. There is nothing in the law against it, and until it can be demonstrated to he contrary that these men are not acting in the best interests of all of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we should go along with them.

I think Mr. Sheppard has a lot to learn about politicians. I think what he said today in his statement might not necessarily be the ultimate or be beyond dispute as to the facts. I think we ought to give these men a chance, and I, for one, would be very happy to purchase stock in a race track—I think there is nothing wrong with it—and I am sure a lot of the other members of the legislature would.

So I think the criticism by the gentleman from Allegheny is unjustified in this particular instance and I think that, unless we hear some facts to the contrary, we have a right to support these outstanding politicians.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, desire to be recognized?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, if I could have the unanimous consent and the attention of the House, I would like to make a few remarks on this same subject.

The SPEAKER. The other gentlemen have been accorded unanimous consent and I am sure that the House could not refuse the gentleman from Erie permission to speak.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I have the recollection of voting in favor of this legislation in 1959. The county which I represent voted in a referendum against the creation of a track. I have great respect for the wisdom of our colleague from Allegheny County, Mr. Goldstein. He is an excellent legislator, in my opinion, and an excellent pinochle player, I might say. But he is, at one and the same time, an extremely astute politician. While I may be sympathetic to the views which he expressed here this afternoon, while I may be sympathic to the position of Mr. Sheppard, I sincerely resent the fact that he speaks on a piece of legislation which bears only Republican sponsorship, the inference being that we on this side of the aisle do not coincide in our thinking with Mr. Goldstein. To that, Mr. Speaker, I take very vigorous exception.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, would it be proper to proceed with the business of the House instead of losing all this time playing politics?

The SPEAKER. It would be entirely proper.

The Chair desires to call the attention, once again, of the House to the fact that the Chair has urged that there be a time appointed each week at some session at which members would be privileged to say what is on their minds concerning matters not then pending before the House. The leaders have never deemed it wise to make that sort of an arrangement. The Chair still believes that we would save time and operate to better purpose if each week would have a period set aside at which members were privileged to speak concerning matters not then pending before the House.

RESOLUTION

REQUESTING INVESTIGATION OF WATER SUPPLY

Messrs. HOLLIDAY, AUKER and MILLER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

Complaint has been made that the domestic water supply of Bellwood Borough in Blair County has been polluted and rendered inimical and injurious to the public health and objectionable for public water supply purposes through the discharge of acid mine drainage into streams feeding the water supply; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives call upon the Sanitary Water Board of the Department of Health to investigate these charges and to enforce the laws of the Commonwealth in reference thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Health as Chairman of the Sanitary Water Board.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, on Friday, March 24, 1961, I received a call asking me to meet with a group of citizens and members of the Bellwood Sportsmen's Association to look into the alleged contamination of Bell's Run which has its head waters at the top of the Allegheny Mountains in the vicinity of Lloydsville. The flow from this watershed which lies in Cambria and Blair Counties comes from numerous springs and small streams that feed into the main stream which supplies the water for two large reserviors, one suplying the Altoona Shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is now owned by the General Water Authority, which purchased it from the Blair Gap Water Supply Company, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The second reservoir is owned by the borough of Bellwood and supplies the water for the inhabitants of that borough.

Mr. Speaker, for several years there has been a running debate or argument carried on by the citizens of Bellwood, the members of the Bellwood Sportmens' Association and the State Sanitary Water Board. The Sportsmens' Association and various citizens of the borough have contended that the stream was contaminated by seepage from a stripping operation located at the head waters of Shaw Run, a stream feeding into Bell's Run and thence into the reserviors. Various tests over the years have been made by independent chemical companies employed by the Sportsmen's Association. Also, tests have been made by members of the Bellwood Borough Council and by the State Sanitary Water Board Inspector, but to date nothing conclusive has been established from any of these tests which seems to meet with the approval or satisfy all of the interested parties.

As requested, I arranged to meet with members of the Bellwood Sportsmen's Association and some citizens from the borough on Monday afternoon, March 27. At this meeting was Mr. Claude Baughman, the county fish warden, Mr. Claude Richards of the Conservation Committee of the Department of Forests and Waters and representatives of the "Altoona Mirror" and the "Hollidaysburg Register." Mr. Baughman, the county fish warden, advised those present that on Thursday, March 23, he had received a shipment of over 1,200 trout fish with instructions to place them in Bell's Run, which he did. I believe all were trout of legal size. The next morning, Friday, March 24, Mr. Baughman again visited the area where he had planted these fish and found that practically everyone of them had died within the twenty-four-hour period. He personally stated that they had counted over 800 dead fish and had taken some from the water and kept them to show us. Pictures were taken of these dead fish by the newspaper representatives.

While the exact cause of death of the fish was not immediately established, it was, however, the considered opinion of most of the investigating group that as a result of tests of the water made by Fish Warden Baughman, the high rate of acidity in the stream, particularly in Shaw Run and Bell's Run, was the chief factor in the high rate of mortality of the fish.

The PH or acidity tests were made by Warden Baughman with the Taylor testing equipment, which I believe is furnished by the State for fish wardens to test the various streams. These tests showed a PH reading of 4.8 in Bell's Run at a point a few hundred feet below the spillway of the two reservoirs at the place in the stream where the fish were planted last week.

State standards consider that a PH normal level should be between 6.7 and 6.8 percent. Further on-the-spot tests were made Monday afternoon by Wardens Baughman and Richards at various points above the reservoir.

A test was made a short distance from the site of the old Rhododendron Park at Lloydsville which is located about a quarter of a mile from the Blandburg Highway, along the old railroad right-of-way. Here the water was running from the operation where coal and clay had been strip mined. The test here showed 3.6 PH and it was pointed out that some time in the past someone had dumped a load of lime which had been placed in a position where it could be shovelled into the tributary stream to assist in lowering acidity in the main Bell Run stream.

Another test was made Monday afternoon at the base of a large stripping operation where the PH reading was 3.2. Back of where this test was made was the strip mine operation extending for approximately a mile from which coal and clay had been removed. This operation was partially filled with water. Below where the test was made it was evident that the stripping operator had constructed a small catch basin to hold the seepage from the stripping operation, hoping it might possibly help settle and filter the water before going into the main stream tributary.

At another place where a test was made it was pointed out to those present that the bed of the stream seemed to be covered with a red or rust coating and that much of the vegetation, both in he stream and along its edges, was either dead or dying. Warden Baughman said that readings taken earlier in the week at the junction of this stream before flowing into the reservoirs showed a PH reading of 4.6. The final reading taken Monday afternoon was at the Bellwood Sportsmen's Dam which lies below both reservoirs. This test showed a PH reading of 4.6.

It was at this dam that many of the dead fish were found and the members of the investigating committee could still see dead ones lying on the bottom of this dam.

The situation pertaining to the Bellwood water supply and Bell's Run stream goes back several years when stripping operations were first begun at the top of the mountain.

Only last fall a delegation of housewives and other residents of the borough of Bellwood appeared before borough council, protesting the red sediment in the borough lines which damaged clothing and plumbing fixtures.

At that time letters were dispatched by council to the Department of Forests and Waters and to the General Water Authority owners of the two reservoirs, seeking assistance in clearing up the streams.

The results of tests made at that time were reported to have substantiated the above complaints. Bellwood Council, following the complaints of the residents, had a complete test made by the Hall Laboratories of water samples taken of two locations in the borough and one at the Bellwood reservoir. The readings taken last August show a PH reading of 5.9 at the reservoir.

At no time, either at the present or any other time did exhaustive tests show anything in the water that would be injurious to human health. It did show traces of iron and calcium.

I do not claim that the water in this stream or the reservoir is at this time injurious or harmful for human consumption. However, I do claim, Mr. Speaker, that the fact that 1,200 fish were placed in this stream Thursday, March 23, and that they were all dead within 24 hours is proof conclusive that fish can no longer live in this stream. The fact remains that it was simply a waste of a couple thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money to put fish in this stream under the present water condition. We have been advised that it cost the State approximately $1.25 to $1.50 each to raise these fish.

During our investigation on Monday, March 27, several pictures were taken of the dead fish, the portion of the stripping operation and the taking of the water tests which I have in my possession and which are available to anyone desiring to see them.

I have lived around this area for a long time and during all those years Bell's Run was considered one of the finest trout streams in that part of the State. However, the day of fishing in Bell's Run is a thing of the past and those who enjoy this sport will have to look elsewhere for their fishing enjoyment as, to date, the problem of clearing up this stream is nowhere in sight.

I strongly urge that immediate steps should be taken to find out the source of the trouble and to eliminate the contamination as quickly as possible so that this stream can again regain its fame as a beautiful trout stream.

In January 1957, my predecessor, the Honorable Daniel Erb, introduced in this House a resolution calling for an investigation to be made by the legislature into the pollution of Bell's Run. From what I can find out this resolution never got out of committee.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like to introduce a resolution identical with that which Mr. Erb offered in 1957, and I would like very much to have it given serious consideration by the members of the House.

On the question, recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. POLASKI, O'DELL, BLAIR and SCHAAF offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

On March 30, 1961, Dr. Elmer Hess, a past president of the American Medical Association and a world famed physician and surgeon died at the age of 71. Dr. Hess, was famous as aurologist and as the founder of the Hess Urology Clinic at St. Vincent Hospital, Erie, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Hess not only distinguished himself in the field of surgery but he was also active in military affairs, politics, health and social welfare and last but not least, athletics.

His vision was as broad as the universe and whatever he undertook to do he did to perfection with honesty, sincerity and deep rooted conviction. Because of his outspokenness a national magazine once referred to him as "the doctor who sticks his neck out."

Dr. Hess was a former president of the Pennsylvania State Medical Society and the American Urological Association. He has been a member of the governing committee of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, a trustee of the Pan-American Medical Association and president of its urological section and a member of the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Education and Licensure.

Dr. Elmer Hess has received the highest honors from various nationally and internationally recognized organizations and he numbered among his closeset friends former president Eisenhower and "Mamie" Eisenhower.

The people of Erie and the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are justifiable proud to have had the good fortune to have Dr. Hess as a citizen and we know that his passing will leave a vacuum in the community which can never be filled with the degree of perfection that everyone who knew Dr. Hess attributed to him; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Reprensentatives extend its deepest sympathy to Dr. Elmer Hess's wife Edna and to his two daughters who survive him upon the passing of her beloved husband and their devoted father; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Edna Africa Hess at 4819 Highview Boulevard, Erie, Pennsylvania.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize that these are bills that have previously been defeated and that you are bringing them back to life. Do you have any specific plans with respect to these bills, or do you plan to try to pass them without amending them or giving them some special treatment other than in their original form?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that. It is my understanding that amendments are going to be offered to both these bills by various groups. This was discussed in Rules Committee before and after the bill had fallen.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you. I just wanted the members to know, if the bills are going to be brought back, that an attempt will be made to amend them to make them satisfactory to the membership. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, they are to be placed on the final passage postponed calendar, not to be voted on unless they are brought back on the calendar and then amendments offered, although I am not sure that all the amendments will be accepted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have not had an opportunity to check that roll call, but I assume, and I am most pleased to note, that the Republican Party does not expect to win the next governorship and does not in any way intend to support the incoming governor. Therefore, we are pleased to note their position.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, you pulled this bill a little fast for me. I wanted to make a brief reply to what the majority leader had to say about the defeat of that last bill.

First, I notice that the majority leader has a tendency whenever he gets licked on a bill to make what he thinks is a subtle remark about it, and in a way I do not think he should do it. I think the time to do it is when we debate the bill. But, be that as it may, as to whether we will win the governorship or not, let me say this: I believe when the record of this session is written, when what we are doing this session hits the people of this State tax-wise, when motorists are losing their licenses, some of them at the rate of 1,100 or 1,000 a week, a two-cent gas tax, and when all these things hit the people of this State I believe we will walk right into the gubernatorial election next year and win hands down.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 678, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 7, 1955 (P. L. 258) entitled "An act providing for anthracite mine drainage contingent on Federal aid and making an appropriation" extending the provisions of the act to authorize the sealing of abandoned coal mines and filling voids in abandoned coal mines and making money heretofore appropriated available for those purposes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 694, printer's No. 759, and

House bill No. 695, printer's No. 760

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 6 of the calendar, House bill No. 430, which was passed over temporarily.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 430, entitled:

An Act declaring the policy of the Commonwealth with regard to discriminatory practices in educational institutions based upon race religion color ancestry or national origin prohibiting such discriminatory practices providing for procedure and enforcement providing for judicial review providing for administration by the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission in the Department of Labor and Industry and defining its functions powers and duties hereunder.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third-reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion. The amendments for the bill are here. I held the bill over until it could be prepared. I speak only on the motion, opposing the motion, and I ask that the membership vote against the motion to place House bill No. 430 on the third-reading postponed calendar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, rise?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want to debate the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair withdraws its decision as to the calling of the roll, to give the gentleman the opportunity to debate the motion.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill, yesterday, was amended. At the time it was amended I served notice on the opposite side that we were going to further amend this bill. I requested the amendments last night, and they told me that they could not do anything until they got the new printer's number today to be able to write the amendments into the new printer's number.

I just got these amendments ten or fifteen minutes ago, and there are two pages of them. I have not had an opportunity to look at them. I do not know whether they accomplish what we are trying to accomplish by way of these amendments. This bill has been on the previous sessions. I cannot appreciate the haste of wanting to rush this thing without giving some opportunity to properly study it. A lot of other bills have been passed over for the purpose of allowing additional amendments to the bills. Why it is necessary to shove this bill and to make haste, a steamroller, out of this bill, I cannot understand.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the only question before the House is the motion that was made. If we want to start debating about the amendments, the gentleman is correct. He told me about the amendments he was going to prepare. I am sure they are prepared to do exactly what he asked the Legislative Reference Bureau to do.

There is no question that he would have an opportunity to check the amendments. Bills are passed over when the amendments are not received. We are not debating that. We are going to debate the amendments today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, with two pages of amendments I think it is a matter of courtesy, when we are at this stage in today's session, that we be granted the privilege of being able to study these amendments and compare them with the bill. For that reason I ask that they vote to put this bill on the postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. TOMPKINS and LIPPINCOTT and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not greed to.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, if a member is in his seat, is he not required to vote on the bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman votes under the rules.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, there is a member sitting in his seat and he did not vote on this legislation. I believe according to the rules he must vote one way or the other.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the objection comes too late. The Chair had already ordered the roll to be taken.

Members are required to vote.

PARALIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, rise?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, do the rules provide that a member has to vote on a motion concerning a bill, or do the rules just provide that a member be required to vote on the bill itself?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

The Chair will read the rule:

> "House Rule 66: Every member shall be present within the hall of the House during its sittings, unless excused by the House, or unavoidably prevented, and shall vote for or against each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the determination of the question, or unless he is excused by the House."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO LAY BILL ON TABLE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I have been taken unfair advantage of. I do not feel that I have been extended the legislative courtesy due a member in a situation of this kind. For that reason, I move that this bill be laid upon the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion is proper and the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, moves that this bill be laid upon the table. The motion is not debatable.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request the membership of this House to oppose the motion to lay the bill upon the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins. Those voting "aye" vote to lay the bill upon the table; those voting "no" vote against laying the bill on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, rise?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I understand you ruled that in order to raise the question as to whether a person is required to vote or not it must be raised prior to the closing of a roll call. How can a person tell whether a person intends to vote or not until after it is closed? Not everyone votes at the same time. You have no way of knowing, as I see it, until after you order that it is closed to determine whether the person is not voting.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, under the electric roll call system each person's name appears on both sides of this House. It is possible for the bulbs to be burned out on both panel boards at one time. As a general rule, they are not.

Therefore, I assume no one would check as closely as that individual member after he has voted. I would say to you that the only person who would know definitely how you voted and whether it was recorded would be you, yourself, when you check the board.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I think it is not a question of whether a person knew whether or not he voted. I assume that someone did not wish to vote on the bill or the motion and did not push the switch. I noticed that at least one person did not vote on the bill, and I assumed that the gentleman did not wish to vote on it. How do you determine whether a person is going to vote or not until after you close it, that he did not want to vote, or did not vote? If you cannot raise the question after it is closed, how can you tell before?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, the time to raise the question as to whether or not a member has voted is before the Chair has ordered that the vote be recorded, and there is certainly time given for that purpose.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, is it true according to the rules that when there is a roll call there is nothing in order but the roll call?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is true. The point of order has been raised, however, and that takes precedence over the roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. TOMPKINS and LIPPINCOTT and were as follows:

May,

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the only thing I have is this: I would like to make a sincere request that this matter goes over until Monday. I am not trying to obstruct this bill. I am not trying to promote a defeatist position on this bill. I think there are quite a few on this side who intend to vote for this bill, but still at the same time we ought to be granted the opportunity to go over these things and study them so we know exactly what all these things are going to eventually provide for.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, second line of Title, by inserting after "in" "state-aided."

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 5, by inserting after "education" "in state-aided educational institutions."

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 8, by inserting after "to" "state-aided."

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, lines 10 to 15, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 16, by striking out "(d)" and inserting "(c)."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 2, by inserting after "any" "state-aided."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 4, by inserting after "grade" "receiving state-aid."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 7, by inserting after "versity" "receiving state-aid."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, lines 8 to 10, by striking out "except any religious or demoni-" in line 8 and all of lines 9 and 10.

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, lines 11 to 15, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 16, by striking out "(3)" and inserting "(2)."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 17, by striking out "(4)" and inserting "(3)."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 19, by striking out "(5)" and inserting "(4)."

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 20, by inserting after "a" "state-aided."

Amend Sec. 3, page 4, line 1, by striking out "(6)" and inserting "(5)."

Amend Sec. 6, page 6, line 7, by striking out "except religious or denominational institutions."

Amend Sec. 6, page 6, lines 11 and 12, by striking out "except religious or denominational institutions."

Amend Sec. 6, page 6, lines 17 and 18, by striking out "except religious or denominational institutions."

Amend Sec. 6, page 7, lines 4 and 5, by striking out "except religious or denominational institutions."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, speaking on the amendments, I ordered a set of amendments to provide that this bill apply only to institutions and colleges and universities receiving State aid. Now whether these amendments provide for that or not, I do not know. I have not had an opportunity to study the amendments, to go over the bill with the amendments and see whether or not it provides what we intended by the amendments, to see where they fit in.

The only thing I can say to you is that the intention of the amendments is to make the bill apply only to those institutions. Whether these amendments accomplish that or not I do not know because I have not had an opportunity to study them.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think I would be the last person in this House to refuse to extend a common courtesy to any other member of this House, a courtesy such as was requested today.

I was told yesterday that the intent and purpose of these amendments was to limit this bill in its application only to State-aided schools. It is a simple amendment; one that is not complex in nature. The only reason there are two pages of amendments is because wherever the appropriate word appears throughout the several pages of the bill, it, of course, had to be amended to say only "State-aided schools." So that when Mr. Tompkins refers to two pages of amendments, he does not refer to two pages of new material.

Now I would agree with the gentleman that if these amendments were to pass, that we could work something out to make sure that the amendments convey that impression and nothing more, State-aided. But in the interest of expediting debate on this thing and getting this bill off the calendar, and with the proviso that I will work out the technical language of the amendments to conform to the intention of the sponsors of those amendments, I think, in good conscience, in view of the simplicity of these amendments and in view of the importance of this bill, that we ought to go ahead and dispose of it at this time.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to state this: I know what I ordered up for the amendments. I frankly think it is very poor legislative process to say, let us take a look at it and if it is not right then we will work it out later. We now have an opportunity to work this out and to work it out from its chronological course as it should be, as a matter of legislative practice. And I cannot see why you take such a position as that and why they want to call out that steamroller again to run rough shod over these things without giving us an opportunity to study them the way we should have an opportunity to study them.

My intention is to provide for State-aided institutions. Whether or not that is what it does throughout the bill, I do not know and I could not tell you at this minute, and I do not think anybody else in this House could.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to debate the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of this House, as Mr. Tompkins has said, the intent and the purpose of the amendments that he has offered is to limit this bill in its application to only State-aided institutions.

I rise to oppose these amendments because, in my opinion, they cut the very heart out of this bill. These amendments run contrary to the full intent and purpose of this bill, and then, in effect, it makes this bill meaningless and of no value whatsoever.

Now before I get into the question of why these amendments have no merit, I would like to point out to the members of this House certain facts. I ask you to indulge me in an attentive listening to these facts, because these may very well be factors which influence your thinking, not only on the amendments, but on the bill itself.

Fact No. 1: In every other State that has a fair educational opportunity bill the language in those bills is substantially identical to the language in the bill that you have before you now. These States do not restrict the wiping out of discrimination to only State-aided institutions; these States say, that discrimination has no place in our society in all educational institutions, and not just State-aided institutions.

Point No. 2: This bill is no stranger in this House. This same bill passed this House last year by a vote of 157 to 32, only 32 negative votes, on a bill that contains identical language to the bill that you have before you at this time. There was no amendment offered at that time to restrict this bill in its application to only State-aided institutions. This bill cleared with easy sailing in this House in the exact language that you find in it at the present time.

Point No. 3: And this is an important point—both the Democratic and the Republican State Platform have said that it is the policy of our respective parties to eliminate discrimination against all students in all classes of education, secondary and otherwise. As a matter of fact, on page 76 of the Journal of January 19, 1949, in the Republican Platform these brief words appear:

> "We believe that all"—and I lay particular emphasis on the word "all"—"We believe that all students should have an equal opportunity for secondary as well as higher education without discrimination or segregation."

Now there is nothing in your platform that says that we mean only students that go to State-aided institutions. The language of the thing is unequivocal; it is clear. It is a mandate to your party to vote for legislation that wipes out discrimination wherever it can be found in any educational institution.

Now I would like to say to you that this same platform appears in the Democratic Party platform and I mean to inform the members of this House that the Democratic members of this House today are going to redeem that pledge because they are going to vote to strike down these amendments and they are going to vote in favor of this bill. And I ask you people on the other side of the aisle, I ask you to open up your hearts and your minds, to take off the shackles that close your hearts and your minds, and comply with your own program.

If we are to be respected by the people of our respective communities, as politicians, as enlightened members and leaders of our communities, if our platforms are to mean anything to these people, then we have to do what we say we are going to do. We have to mean what we say we are going to do and we have to vote our platform.

This is an obligation that you people on the other side have and, if you vote for the amendments, you are not discharging that obligation.

Now, Point No. 4 that I want to bring to your attention: The Governor's Committee on Education, as you well know, has recently submitted its final report. I bring to your attention that that report contains the very recommendation that is embodied in the bill before you. The report said it should be the basic policy of this Commonwealth that no pupil will be deprived of a school and proper education because of race, religion or national origin. Legislation should be enacted forbidding discrimination against any student or any educational institution of any kind at any level. This should include public and private schools and institutions of higher education.

So you have sufficient mandate from many sources that tells you what you are doing today is wrong. Now, ladies and gentlemen, let us put aside all this. Let us say that you have no mandate. Let us say that you do not have this obligation because it is in your platform or because it is the recommendation of the Governor's Committee or because you voted for it in a previous year. Let us put this aside and look at what these amendments will do.

These amendments say that this bill is going to be limited to State-aided schools. Do you people know how many State-aided schools there are in this Commonwealth? There are less than twenty-five State-aided schools in this Commonwealth; and yet there are 375 educational institutions, 375 educational institutions through which students are matriculating every day in the week in this Commonwealth. This means that what you are saying is it is perfectly all right in 6 percent of our schools not to discriminate, but in 94 percent of our shcools it is okay to allow the possibility of discrimination.

You can thoroughly understand now what I meant when I said that if you vote for these amendments you are voting for amendments to make this bill meaningless. You cannot vote against discrimination, or discriminatory practices, on a piecemeal level. Discrimination in all shades, in all degrees, must be stricken out, must be attacked at every level. You cannot attack it on a piecemeal basis and that is what you are doing if you vote for these amendments that say they are applicable only to State-aided schools. Are the students at State-aided schools any different than the students who go to non-State-aided schools? Do the latter students not have the same right to an aducation, for an equal opportunity to pursue an education and to advance themselves in society? What is the difference between these students? If you search your heart you know that there is no difference. Discrimination, wherever it may be, has to be attacked.

I have heard it said, and this is why these amendments are being offered, this bill is an encroachment, an encroachment, mind you, on privately owned institutions. Now, ladies and gentlemen, this is a fallacious argument. If this were a valid argument by what right could we pass any legislation in this House that seeks to investigate, that seeks to establish rules and regulations for any trade, for any business, for any institution. If this is a valid argument, by what right do we tell the beauty parlors or the barber shops or the dentists what kind of premises they can have, how clean the premises must be, what standards they must have. You can see that this argument is threadbare of logic and validity and it has none whatsoever.

Do these schools not have an obligation, be they private and non-State-aided, to society? Are they not accredited? What does it mean to be accredited? It means that they can give degrees, they can process students through their schools who can qualify for teaching positions in this Commonwealth. They get tax benefits. They have the availability of the staff of the Department of Public Instructions for help and assistance. In exchange for these benefits they owe an obligation and a debt to society not to engage in discriminatory practices. I cannot conceive of any school being willing to engage in a discriminatory practice and I dare say there is not a soul in this House who believes this is a practice we should sustain. As a matter of fact, this bill is so innocuous, so less than harmful to these schools, that they should rally to its banner, they should rally behind it. What the bill does in an educational nature is not merely to the filing of complaints. What the bill does is merely to establish an educational program which sets up certain practices which are discriminatory, and it says you cannot engage in this but if you do engage in it we will come down and we will talk to you, and, by conciliation and by counsel and by informal meetings, we will try to work it out. That is all this bill does.

I am asking the members of this House to let their consciences, their respective consciences, be their guide. And if you let your conscience be your guide, you will not vote for these amendments.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to some of the statements which have been made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I merely wish to state this: We had proposed to offer a couple sets of amendments to accomplish practically what these amendments accomplish. One was to take the application of the bill out of institutions which are operating under testamentary trust or private endowment. They constitute private property, private investments, and the right to the privacy of a man to do with his property as he sees fit.

We have at least one such institution in the State that has existed in this State since 1832. Every effort has been made over the years to strike that down, but they have preserved the right of private property and the right of a man to dispose of his property as he sees fit even though it might dovetail into some of the things that we are trying to strike down in this legislation. I am thinking particularly of Girard College.

There was another amendment which we had proposed to offer which would strike out the use of the word "primarily" as it refers to institutions that are primarily supported by religious institutions. Because we have a great number of institutions in this State that were founded by religious institutions and although maybe today they are not primarily supported by the church, yet they still are regulated by those particular churches. We felt that this broad amendment of State-aided schools alone would accomplish both of those purposes and would still preserve the right of the private institutions to operate as they saw fit. I do not believe that the long arm of the State has a right to interfere or intervene into the rights of those private institutions which have existed and persisted over the years and have succeeded over the years without the aid of tax money. Now where tax money is involved, that is public money, and I agree with you that there should be no discrimination and that is what these amendments provide.

When you talk of six percent of the colleges in the State being affected by this, you are not talking about six percent of the student enrollment. There is a tremendous difference between the percentages of the colleges that might be affected by this and the percentage of the enrollment in our institutions that would be affected by it. I should think of the State-aided institutions, our eight State colleges, I can think of Penn State, Pitt, Temple, Penn, Jefferson, Hahnemann, Drexel, and a whole host of others that are State-aided. This bill would apply to them, but an institution like Girard College and an institution like Dickinson College founded by the Methodists, or Lebanon Valley founded by the Brethren churches, I believe it is, and other institutions in this State that have been founded by your various religious institutions and have operated over the years as such, I do not believe that the State has a right to interject itself into that so long as they are not receiving tax money. They have the right to operate them the same as you have a right to determine who visits your home. That is why these amendments are offered, to cover not only those two situations that I spoke of, but also to cover this broader field in which I think we still have in this country some guarantee of the right of private ownership of property and the right to dispose of it as we see fit.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to the members of the House, first of all, that under the provisions of this bill religious and denominational schools are excluded from its provisions. This bill does not cover religious and denominational schools, and Lebanon Valley is listed as a denominational school with our Department of Public Institution and would not be affected by the provisions of this bill. That is point number one.

The second point I want to make is this: Whether the members of this Assembly know it or not, several weeks ago they voted for a bill that in effect said, among other things, it is illegal to discriminate against any student in any school be it private or otherwise. I would say that Senate bill 53, which is essentially the Fair Housing Bill, incorporated in its terms the Public Accommodations Law of 1939. And, the Public Accommodations Law of 1939 said that a public accommodation is not limited to, but including, kindergartens, primary and secondary schools, academies, colleges, universities, and all educational institutions under the supervision of this Commonwealth. And every institution except religious or denominational are under the supervision of this Commonwealth. Now, if that raises the question in your mind, does this bill suffice, the answer is that it does not suffice because unfortunately Senate bill 53 does not spell out the various practices that constitute discriminatory practices. It does not spell out what procedures, what functions, what duties and what obligations the human relations commission has in connection with this investigation of discriminatory practices. All it does is merely include educational institutions among the term "public accommodations." House bill 430, which you have before you today, gives the answer, the implementation in effect of Senate bill 53. There is the reason why I can safely say that we have already voted for a policy that says we are against discrimination. Now, we are voting for a bill that implements the declaration of that policy.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to comment on these amendments, but I am afraid my remarks will go a little bit beyond the scope of these amendments. I would, therefore, like unanimous consent for those remarks if they are not exactly pertinent to the amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Dose the gentleman desire to talk on the amendments and then talk on the bill at a later time?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. I desire to do all my talking at this time, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed and the Chair will call him if he gets off base.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, being a little bit prejudiced is like being a little bit pregnant. My wife tells me that this is fatal.

Mr. Fineman, the gentleman from Philadelphia, and the majority leader, Mr. McCann, know as well as I do that I am a cosponsor and ardent supporter of this legislation that is now under consideration. I also, quite frankly, would have to vote against the amendments offered by Mr. Tompkins, the minority whip. However, I, for one, as a supporter of this type of legislation, which has fairness as its very basis, hate to see this bill pass today under what I consider a cloud of prejudice. The prejudice in my mind today is prejudice toward the minority whip as an individual, perhaps, but certainly toward a member of this House who has said, and I believe in good conscience and in good faith, that he wants this bill merely held over so he can have a decent chance to present his side of the case. I happen to disagree with his side of the case. However, I do agree that he should have that right.

We have the votes to pass this bill; we have them today, I think; and I know we will have them on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. Let us in good conscience—and I am now addressing myself to the majority leader and to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, let us in good conscience—pass over these amendments, pass over this bill, and wait until next week when no one, in all good conscience or in fairness, can say that they did not have a decent chance, a fair chance, to oppose this bill. They are entitled to oppose it if they do not agree with us that it is a good idea. Give them a chance to do that. Give them that chance next week with plenty of time, so that when this bill passes it will pass in an atmosphere of decency and fairness, because that is what the supporters of this bill say we believe in.

This bill needs bipartisan support. There are, I believe, only 101 or so members of the Democratic Party, the majority party, here today. I am sponsor of this bill and I am sworn to support this bill, but if you put me in the position where I must vote for this bill today when I think that the opposition, to my point of view, has not been given a fair chance, I will not in good conscience vote for this bill today. That does not mean that I am not for this bill—no one can ever say that I am not for it. I will vote for it on Monday, I will vote for it on Tuesday, and I will vote for it on Wednesday, and I will vote for it any day that it comes up, but I cannot and I will not vote for it today because I do not believe that those who disagree with me, and who have every right to disagree with me, have had a fair chance.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know of anyone who could say in this House, ever, that I do not always try to keep my word, because as someone once told me, and I will refer this to Mr. Goldstein, I think the only thing a politician ever has is his word.

The point is simply this, I was clearly informed of the preparation of the amendments by the sponsor of the amendments. I was clearly informed as to the contents and today, as they were passed up here, thty were exactly as we discussed them in our caucus—even though the amendments were not here. Now as they were read, it was evident that they did exactly what the gentleman wanted them to do, and we opposed those amendments. We did discuss these in our caucus very carefully, indicating that they would be offered by two people, perhaps, but I will say only the name of Mr. Tompkins, since he offered them today. That was clearly defined and our position was clearly defined and each member opposed the amendments and indicated that they would support the bill. I have not refused in any way—in fact, as you know quite well, the gentleman being honest as he is, had he said to me that the amendments never arrived, I would have automatically passed the bill over without a question, because they were in preparation and he told me so the day before, or really told me the day previous to that. But the amendments are here and the amendments can be debated, and I believe the amendments will fall and I believe we are in a position to vote on the bill. I am sorry that it has come to a position of party division, yet I respect each member for supporting Mr. Tompkins' position when making the parliamentary moves on the bill. This does not, in my opinion, indicate how you will vote on the bill, but when we bring the bill to a voting position you will clearly have to say whether you vote "yes" or "no."

Mr. Speaker, I ask that we do vote on the amendments that have been debated and then I will ask that the bill be called up to be voted on.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I might say this, had I had the amendments in my possession sufficiently long to be able to operate with them, there were several others who wanted to cosponsor these amendments with me. But I did not have the opportunity to pass them along for the purpose of having that accomplished.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, speaks about the Senate bill that was passed here and talks about the fair housing situation and the public accommodations, or what applies to public accommodations. He also said that those public accommodations were those that were under the supervision of the Commonwealth, and that is exactly what this bill is trying to do, to bring in line the very same thing, those institutions under the supervision of the Commonwealth. That is all we are asking to be done in this bill by these amendments.

And the word "primarily" as used in this bill referred to institutions that are primarily sustained by religious institutions There are a lot of institutions in this State that were at one time primarily supported, but, perhaps, that are not now primarily supported by institutions but still are under the jurisdiction and control of these religious institutions, although they operate privately and without the benefit of any tax money. Those are the institutions I am talking about. Those are the institutions that are not excluded by this bill, and that is what we are trying to accomplish. The word "primarily" is used in this bill on page 3 and would strike out a great number of these institutions.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to delay the members of this House. As a matter of fact, it is not very frequent and I have not made it a practice during the time I have been a member of this House to reduce to writing the remarks that I intend to make on the floor; it is a matter, usually, of speaking off-the-cuff for me. But this bill was of such significance in my mind, and I wanted to be so precise in what I had to say about it and so certain in the statements I was to make, that I have on this occasion reduced my thoughts to writing. We have debated this quite a bit, and I am merely going to submit my remarks for the record instead of reading them.

Before I do that there is just this one thing I want to say. I sincerely regret that the color of partisanship has found its way into this debate, because, Mr. Speaker, if ever there was a bill that was void of political considerations, if ever there was a bill that you could either vote for or against because you are what you are, not because you are a Democrat or a Republican, this is the bill. You are not against or for discrimination because you are either a Democrat or a Republican. Either you have a broad horizon, either you are liberal in your viewpoint, or you are not, and the unfortunate fact that there developed this little riffle between the minority leader and myself on our side over procedural tactics is most unfortunate.

I am asking each of you now, in conclusion, as respected members of your communities, as enlightened leaders of your communities, who are expected to rise above the prejudices that each of us might have—and I grant you that each of us has some prejudices—to vote for this bill. Even minority people have prejudices. We have an obligation as leaders of our communities to rise above prejudices, to point the thinking of the people in our communities, to show them the enlightened way. I ask you to respond to this call for enlightenment now by casting your vote for House bill 430.

Mr. FINEMAN submitted the following for the record:

Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on behalf of House bill 430 and to urge upon the membership of this House in connection therewith affirmative favorable action that will clearly and unmistakably point up that discrimination, and the denial of equal educational opportunities cannot find approval or endure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I bring to the attention of this House that this identical bill passed this House in 1959 by a vote of 157-32.

There are certain basic and fundamental prrinciples that give birth to this legislation, the preservation of which is essential to our collective well-being and which every fair-minded citizen knows to be beyond attack. Among these tenets is the proposition forming the very foundation of our democratic State and being the very bedrock of our Constitution, that all men are created equal, having been endowed with certain inalienable rights, and that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. There is implicit in this declaration the right to be able to secure and to pursue an advancement of one's position in society through education. We also adopt with complete accord and unity in our approbation the proposition that the progress of our community relies upon the development, the encouragement, the discovery and the fostering of talent without regard to race, religion, color, ancestry or national origin. We have been made painfully aware of this truism in the last decade since the advent of exploration into outer space which has resulted in a national call for developing on a crash program basis our full scientific and educational potential.

If then we are in agreement that the most precious asset of American life is the assurance of equal rights for all, the allowance of broader opportunities for all, the preservation of the dignity of the individual, then I say we have too long delayed in striking down those practices that run contrary to these beliefs—practices that we have naively tolerated as not being unduly oppressive or destructive of our desired way of life. This Commonwealth has traditionally been identified as the Keystone State in the struggle for human freedom. It is time, indeed, that this freedom should be extended into the domain of higher education so that educational opportunities should not be denied to anyone because of race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin.

House bill 430 is legislation that seeks to accomplish this equality of opportunity and in this purpose it in no way imposes any undue burden on the schools that are covered by the law. This bill is not an indictment, it is not an accusation—rather it is an expression of policy. It is not geared primarily to the processing of complaints but rather to a comprehensive education program under which the human relations commission will be empowered to deal with the subject so as to endure full and equal opportunity to every student on the basis of his individual merit and without regard to his race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin.

The human relations' commission is empowered by this bill to make visits to the schools, study their admission practice precedures, observe what factors determine whether a given applicant will be accepted or rejected and work out amicably whatever adjustments are needed in order to eliminate and prevent prejudice and discrimination in educational institutions.

In this day of exploding populations and resultant increases in student enrollments, the Commonwealth must publicly declare a policy on admission to institutions of higher learning. The facilities for educating our students have not kept pace with this population expansion and of necessity therefore it is to be anticipated that there will not be space for all. We must therefore insure that the opportunity to obtain an education will be determined solely by merit and ability and not by factors which run contrary to our Constitution and the welfare of this State. The need for this legislation exists and I ask the members of the House to respond to this need and to cast their votes for House bill 430.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, as the main sponsor of this bill, I do rise to support it for the simple reason that we all dislike such things as prejudices or any remarks made by any member of the House against another. I feel that no vote should be changed by any member, Republican or Democrat, and I say that with all sincerity, regardless of whether the bill is going to be voted on today or next week. It is a good bill dealing with discrimination. Now is the time to vote for it, if at all possible.

If you notice the nature of the bill, it is exactly the same bill, with the exception of liberalizing it to conform with wishes of certain gentlemen who desired certain amendments, as passed by this House a few years ago.

I speak on behalf of House bill No. 430. House bill No. 430 declares the policy of this Commonwealth with regard to discriminatory practices in educational institutions based on race, religion, color or national origin and prohibts such discriminatory practices.

The commission under which this bill functions, human relations commission in the Department of Labor and Industry, is geared to handle this kind of legislation dealing with racial and religious discrimination.

The bill emphasized education instead of filing complaints and omits any criminal penalties. It deals with fair educational practices. The commission makes annual visits only when deemed necessary to institutions of post secondary grades to examine the practices and procedures in the selection of students. It resorts to conciliation, holds hearings on issues, when necessary, cease and desist orders. Under the cease and desist order, the identity of the institution is not revealed. It does not apply to religious institutions.

The schools themselves should welcome this legislation in order to lay to rest unfounded rumors.

With the future influx of college students, equality of educational opportunities requires that all qualified students be admitted.

That overcrowdedness has occurred there is no doubt. The situation is urgent. In 10 years 50 percent of our students will be unable to attend college. Shall some of the best brains of our country be denied the use of our colleges and universities? Shall we go forward or decline to the failure desired by our Communistic foes? College enrollment in the State has increased by 100,000. The boys and girls of our war years have already been born. We do not have to estimate their number. Pennsylvania must do its share for the youth of our State.

It is dreadful that some of us are blindfolded and fail to look into the future. We hope that some day we can look back on our beliefs with horrified wonder in the same way as we look at the fair employment practice bill.

Living in our communities of brotherhood, we should respect and accept our responsibility, our decency and

God-granted privileges and give our children an equal opportunity to reduce chaos to order.

I ask that this fair educational opportunity bill permitting equal educational opportunities for all be passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia will recall that he and I, I believe, at the State Government Committee meeting, when we talked about this bill, discussed certain problems, and it is those questions I am going to address to him today.

I am referring to those institutions of higher learning in the Commonwealth which originally were chartered or founded by religious or denominational groups, but which today are not controlled or would not come into the exemption in the bill, but still retain the characteristics of Methodist, or Lutheran, or some other denomination. Does the gentleman know the institutions I am referring to?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, not by name, but by title.

Mr. DONALDSON. If one of those institutions—to get the publicity for a wonderful institution, I will mention Allegheny College. If Allegheny College had a policy of admitting each year 10 percent of its freshman class as Methodists, would that policy be in violation of this act?

Mr. FINEMAN. It would not.

Mr. DONALDSON. I am glad to hear the gentleman say that, but may I ask him why he said that?

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, I will be glad to explain. I know the problem that is in the gentleman's mind. It is an apprehension that is unfounded and should cause little loss of sleep at night. There is nothing in this bill that anywhere says a school cannot prefer, or give preference to, any particular type of student. The expression is in the negative. The prohibition is against exclusion of students of a certain type, students of a particular religion, race, color, national origin or ancestry.

The other point I want to make to you is that which concerns the intent and purpose of this bill, and this is a subject which I have discussed with the members of the human relations commission and other interested parties. It is the intention of this bill only to get at that institution, and I might say, fortunately, there are few, but there are some, which make it a practice, a principle, to exclude students because of their religious background, their national origin, because of their race, color or creed.

The members of the human relations commission, and I might say that those members are men who have character in keeping with the title of this body, are men of compassion, of understanding, and who have a full awareness of the need of all schools for funds. It is their intent and purpose not to deprive any school of funds they might get from some religious or denominational institution simply because they prefer some students. There is nothing in the bill that says they cannot prefer. The bill goes to the negative position, the exclusion of students.

Mr. DONALDSON. I might say to the gentleman that I thoroughly enjoy his speeches. He does a beautiful job. I am every bit in agreement with him, in complete sympathy with him, as far as the problem he raises. I am trying to clarify this bill and how it will affect certain institutions.

Now, to go on, I disagree with the gentleman's interpretation there. If Allegheny College decided as a matter of policy that 10 percent of its freshman class would be composed of children of alumni, would that be in violation of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. It would not. I know you are going to raise the point, does not the word "ancestry" mean the children of alumni?

Mr. DONALDSON. I certainly would raise that point. That is correct.

Mr. FINEMAN. I am happy to anticipate you correctly, Mr. Donaldson.

The people who drew this bill by the word "ancestry" do not refer to children of alumni, although, if you were to search Webster, you would find that the word "ancestor" means lineage and conceivably, or understandably, that means children of children of children, and so on, ad infinitum. That is lineage and that could be ancestry, but what they are concerned about when they distinguish national origin from ancestry is the parents and grandparents of students who might come, let us say, from countries in Europe where their acceptance in our institutions may not be as quick as natural-born citizens. National origin refers to the student himself, but ancestry refers to the parent or grandparent of that student.

Mr. DONALDSON. I assure the gentleman again, I enjoy his speeches.

Mr. FINEMAN. I am happy that I entertain the gentleman.

Mr. DONALDSON. No, I am not playing cat and mouse and I think the gentleman knows that.

The gentleman tells me what the intention of the bill is and I tell him I am in complete sympathy with the intention of the bill.

I thank the gentleman and that will end the interrogation.

I would like to speak on the bill briefly.

I am in complete agreement with the objections the gentleman has to certain practices in certain institutions and would like to see them eliminated, but, unfortunately, this bill will go far beyond that and whatever might have been the original intention of the gentlemen, or of the principle sponsor, or of the other people who participated. The fact of the matter is that the commission will be composed, whether it is a Democratic or Republican commission, of the usual bureaucrats who are always anxious to give themselves the broadest possible powers. I think the commission will interfere in the legitimate affairs of private institutions in this Commonwealth as the bill is now drafted. This bill could be amended, if we would take the time and effort to do it, to accomplish the exact purpose the gentleman wants to do and be a good bill and could pass this House overwhelmingly.

As the bill stands today, I will vote against it, although I have the greatest sympathy with the gentleman's objective. I thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, just one final observation. I think the gentleman has little to hang his hat on in voting against this bill. The objections are without validity in my opinion.

I would like to bring briefly to the attention of this House that bills such as this have been in existence in other States for over a decade. In those States they have lived happily with these bills, bills that have the identical language that you find in our bill. Their experience has been that there has been but, maybe, two or three complaints a year under those bills. That is all you will find will happen under this bill. The real meat of this bill is the power that it gives to the commission to accumulate and gather facts, to make it a legal fact-finding body so it can determine patterns of admission over a long period of time, to see, in fact, whether or not there is discrimination. These states, as I say, have lived happily with the very same language that we have here. We, too, can live happily with it, and we will take a step in the right direction, a step in the direction in which we all want to go if we vote for the passage of this legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, and ask him one brief question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, as I understand this bill, it excludes religious or denominational educational institutions. My question is this, Girard College is neither a religious nor a denominational institution. Is that school included within the scope of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. I do not think it is.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. On what basis is it excluded?

Mr. FINEMAN. Because this bill is only applicable to post secondary schools.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Let me ask one further question: Would a—

Mr. FINEMAN. Just remember, I send you my Delaware County business.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Would a school established under a testamentary trust, which may be part of the business, be excluded if it were a post-secondary school?

Mr. FINEMAN. Would a school established under a testamentary trust . . .?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. That is right. Let us say that a man left a large estate to found a school, let us say for white males to teach a certain subject, just as they did with Girard College, and it was a post-secondary school, would this bill, in effect, negative that intention?

Mr. FINEMAN. I do not know the answer to the hypothetical question. I would be happy to surmise an answer. I would be inclined to believe that the bill would be subject to the provisions of the act since it is a post-secondary school, since it is not a religious or denominational institution which would take it out of this provision, and since it does not otherwise fall into any of the exceptions, I would feel that such a school established by a trust would fall within the provisions of the act.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman for his honest answer.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am rising to support the position of Representative Alan Williams. I do not know when I have heard a more sincere statement made, particularly by a sponsor of a bill. It is a bill which establishes and calls for fairness and I join with Mr. Tompkins. I do not believe that Mr. Tompkins was treated fairly here today, and I believe I do ask the members on this side of the House to go along with Alan Williams, and he as one of the sponsors of the bill, in sincerity, said today in all fairness he will not vote for the bill but would next week. On this side of the House, for his courageous statement, I believe we should back him up and vote "no" on the bill today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I had the signals right as they were passed around, we are going to go down the party line to vote. We have 101 Democrats in their seats. There are 101 Democrats who indicated by caucus that they were in favor of the bill. When you defeat it today be prepared to reconsider it on your own motion.

(DURING ROLL CALL)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I realize that there is nothing in order now but the tabulation of the roll, but at the same time, appropo of what was brought up here previously today with respect to the constitutional obligation imposed on every member of this House who is to vote for or against a bill, I notice, and this is the only way you can ascertain now whether or not a person is voting, I notice there are some members, or member, who is in his seat at the present time who has not cast a vote. Now, I am merely saying at this time we should inform the gentlemen that they stand in possible contempt of the House. There is a duty imposed on them which is clearly set forth in the rules of the House under the Constitution and the Speaker ruled in 1955 that the members who do not vote stand in possible contempt. I think they should be given fair warning that they should cast their vote or leave the chamber.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to challenge any particular voter?

The members are required to vote.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HOLMAN filed the following reasons for his vote on House bill No. 430.

Mr. Speaker, I agree completely with the intent and purpose of House Bill 430 and with the comments of the gentlemen from Bucks, Mr. Williams. Because I feel that the minority whip and other members of the minority were taken advantage of today, I have voted "No." Like Mr. Williams, I would have voted for this bill on any other day but this one. Mr. Speaker, because I am in favor of this legislation, I will join in the motion to reconsider.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

BILLS PASSED OVER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that all other bills on today's calendar not acted upon be passed over.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The House has not adjourned. We have some important matters to go over the desk including the adjournment motion. The Chair requests that the members remain in their seats for a few minutes and it will only be a few minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was thinking that following the defeat of the fair education bill, we certainly will present a motion for reconsideration of that bill at the proper time on the minority side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

April 12, 1961, marks the one hundredth anniversary of the attack by the Rebels on Fort Sumpter, the beginning of the American Civil War. On that day in 1861 a meeting was held in Chambersburg, the county seat of Franklin County, at which several hundred citizens discussed what could be done to aid the Union cause. Six days later, on April 19, 1861, Chambers Artillery, led by Captain P. L. Housen, First Lieutenant John Doebler, Second Lieutenant Matthew Gillan and Third Lieutenant George Miles, left for Harrisburg, and this unit was among the first to arrive as volunteers for the defense of the Union.

Chambersburg and Franklin County played a significant role in the Civil War. It was in the square at Chambersburg that General Robert E. Lee, astride his white horse, made the fateful decision to go East instead of North into Harrisburg, which decision directed his forces headlong into the Union Forces and led to his defeat in the Battle of Gettysburg. Chambersburg was invaded by the Southern Forces on three separate occasions, and in July, 1864, a year after the Battle of Gettysburg, had its court house put to the torch thus gaining the ironic distinction of being the only town North of the Mason-Dixon Line to be burned by the Confederate Army.

On April 12, 1961, a town meeting is to be held in the court house in Chambersburg, Franklin County, to commemorate and simulate the happenings on that day one hundred years ago. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes the deep significance of this meeting and of its place in the history of our Commonwealth therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby commends the citizens of Chambersburg and Franklin County upon holding a meeting similar to that held on April 12, 1861, and extends to them its most sincere wishes for a successful and memorable celebration; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be personally delivered to said meeting on April 12, 1961, by the Honorable Enos H. Horst and the Honorable Elmer D. Hawbaker of County of Franklin.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Anthony C. MARRA, of Mother of Grace Church, Hazleton, offered the following prayer:

In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

O God, Creator and Lord of all things, Thou Who didst give order to the Universe and everything in it, graciously look down upon this selected group whose purpose is to formulate and enact laws for this great Commonwealth of ours.

Enlighten their minds so that they may clearly perceive the object of civil legislation; namely, the natural welfare of the State and of its individual members in order that they may live in peace and justice, with a sufficiency of those goods that are necessary for physical conservation and comfort, and with those moral conditions which are required for well-being and public prosperity.

With this responsibility before them, grant them, O Supreme Lawmaker, the wisdom to see that all earthly laws are good and proper only if they flow from Divine Order Grant them understanding so they may keenly become aware of the needs of the people whom they represent. Grant them fortitude so they may have the courage to do what is right; to speak and act against evil and insidious practices. Grant them piety so they may do Thy will in all things.

Finally, Dear God, grant them charity so they may be ever solicitous for the welfare of their fellow man, for Thy sake.

We ask these favors in the Name of Thy Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.

In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

In the Senate, April 10, 1961.

Mr. WARE offered the following resolution (Serial No. 37), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, April 10, 1961.

The State of Delaware levies an income tax on residents of Pennsylvania who work in Delaware, and most of the funds from this tax are used for educational and other services not available to residents of Pennsylvania.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its political subdivisions levy taxes upon these same Pennsylvania residents to provide schools and services in the communities of their residence. The additional Delaware income tax imposes an extremely high tax burden on such persons; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate who shall constitute a committee to negotiate with the Governor and representatives of the State of Delaware to bring about appropriate relief from the excessive tax burden imposed by Delaware upon residents of this Commonwealth who work in the State of Delaware.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, before reaching a vote upon these nominations, I would just like to make an observation.

I understand that the name of the gentleman for membership on the Public Utility Commission has been reported out of committee. There has been some suggestion made here and there that this nomination might have been used in order to correct a lapse of memory on the part of our Chief Executive. However, Mr. President, I assure you that we on this side are prepared to go along on these nominations, in order that the business of these various commissions and also the other business of the Commonwealth may be conducted by the Commission. At no time was there any suggestion made to me or, I am sure, to anyone else in the Caucus that the name of the nominee for the Public Utility Commission would be used as a trading point.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations, I want to express my gratitude to the gentleman on the other side for his continuing cooperation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 71, 73 and 74—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 78—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would merely like to take a moment to explain this bill.

This bill only applies to the city of Philadelphia. I happen to be in the peculiar position of having been on both sides of this Act, having seen it operate. I am sure that the Presiding Officer and some of the Members on the other side of the aisle have also found themselves in the same position.

This is an administrative measure. It is a matter upon which anybody can vote according to his own conscience. However, there are five or six crimes under which a magistrate cannot allow the use of bail; namely, as listed in the bill, arson, burglary, robbery, mayhem, buggery and so on and so forth.

In the days of old, a problem existed whereby a person who committed these types of crimes might have been a dangerous person to be allowed on the streets. Therefore, he would have to be held in jail until such time when he filed a petition before the court. A judge, sitting in a miscellaneous court, would then hear the matter and he would decide what the bail would be. He then would consult the district attorney before he permitted this bail. The bail which he would allow would certainly be no higher or no lower than the magistrate would allow. The purpose of bail is only to produce the person at the time of the trial. It is not a means of punishment. The person who takes the bail acts in the place of the jailer. He is then told to produce the person at the time of the trial.

In recent years,—you can see that this bill was passed in 1860—you have problems such as automobiles. It is possible for someone to come out some evening and perhaps make a mistake and get into a wrong automobile, maybe having been under the influence of too much of what used to be called Philadelphia water. However, there might be other factors which may enter into the problem. This person would then be held for burglary of an automobile and subjected to the entire procedure when the crime is a very simple one.

The magistrates' hearings in Philadelphia are attended by the district attorneys and the judges and, therefore, they do have the understanding that they will make a recommendation. Usually, that is abided by most of the magistrates.

This bill would merely save these people from spending a day or a week end in jail, thereby taking up the time of the court to file a petition. There might be some merit to the other side of this measure, about which I do not feel as strongly as I do on this side of the issue.

However, Mr. President, I just wanted to bring this information to the attention of the Members of this Senate who might not be too familiar with what the purpose of this bill is. This bill will merely permit the magistrate to set the bail. The district attorney would be present to help him do so.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have no intention, and I am sure very few of us have, to interfere in any manner with the administration of justice in the county of Philadelphia. However, these crimes, which they ask the magistrate to admit to bail, are so-called heinous crimes and, therefore, it seems to me that the seriousness of them does merit the attention of the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas in Philadelphia, as well as every other county in the Commonwealth.

Consequently, Mr. President, that is my reason for my intention to oppose this bill. I feel it does not serve any useful purpose, but that it does relax existing procedure.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate. As I stated before, everybody can vote as they please on this matter. However, I just want to point out that I think there is nothing particularly sacred about a judge setting bail, as compared to a magistrate. They are both guided by the wishes of the district attorney. They both have the man's previous criminal record and they both have all the information available to them.

The real purpose of this bill is to save a number of people from running around to get this matter before a judge. It also saves the cost of an extra bond or a bondsman receiving an extra amount of money. For someone in trouble, this can be an important item, especially if there has been a large amount set as bail.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, we, in Philadelphia, want this bill because it primarily helps persons accused of a crime where, in the end, it may not be proven. It is particularly for people who cannot afford the expense of immediately engaging a lawyer to run to a judge and prepare and ask for bail. It is to help the poorer type of defendant. Also, I would say that every responsible agency in Philadelphia is in favor of this bill, including the Civil Liberties Union.

As Senator Weiner has stated, the Commonwealth is represented at every hearing by a district attorney. We feel that this is a type of bill which the rest of the Commonwealth should not obstruct when the people of Philadelphia want it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, once again, my only position on this—and I am sure that I speak for many others in the Senate—is that while there may be some cases, possibly, where an unfortunate person might be accused of one of these cardinal felonies, nevertheless, I believe that if a person gets himself into that situation, it then merits the attention of the judge in the Court of Common Pleas in the case of fixing bail.

Therefore, while I do not want to go contrary to the wishes of my good friend, Senator Silvert, nevertheless, my feeling has not been changed in connection with the vote on this bill.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, did I understand the Senator to state in his remarks on this bill that either the court or a district attorney would have to approve?

Mr. WEINER. Senator, I can answer your question in this fashion. When a man is brought before a magistrate court in Philadelphia, there is a district attorney present who prosecutes the case and who presents the Commonwealth's position. The magistrate hears this and takes action on that basis.

If a man is held without bail,—in other words, after they hear it and a prima facie case is made out—what happens then is that the person picks up a copy of what is known as the charge, takes this down to the district attorney's office, and they make a suggestion of bail on the back of the copy of the charge. This is taken to the judge. He can either go along with this bail, increase it, decrease it or take whatever action he wants. The usual procedure is that they follow what the district attorney has suggested because over the period of years, they have developed amounts of bail. They have a sort of table of offenses and what they would require.

Mr. MALLERY. Therefore, I understand that the approval is first obtained of a district attorney, a deputy or the court.

Mr. WEINER. Of the district attorney and, finally, the court, because the court is the only one that can make the final decision.

This would prevent the procedure or allay the procedure of going down to the court. You could do it right then in the magistrate court, with the district attorney present, who already is aware of the schedule making this suggestion to the magistrate.

Mr. MALLERY. So the magistrate cannot do this on his own?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir, not on an unbailable offense; not the way the law is set up now.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21

Camiel,	Mallery,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Devlin,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Weiner,

Chapman,	Keller,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Kessler,	Shafer,	Wagner,
DiSilvestro,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stroup,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 93—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

HB 95—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, for the reason that I do not have the votes to pass this bill, I request that House Bill No. 95 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. I do not think that explanation was necessary.

There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

SB 190—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 190 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, by way of explanation, I want to say that I believe there are preparations being made for either some amendments to this bill or the preparation of another bill which would take care of the elimination of the offense of disorderly conduct, which now is in The Borough Code.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

SB 209—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 273—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 273, which we are now considering, carries considerable sponsorship. Senator Weiner has been a Member I think for some eleven year. Senator Lane and Senator McGinnis, together, point up some legislative service of thirty-three years.

I want to say, at the very outset, that I intend to vote for this bill if it comes to a vote for I would not retard, in any sense of the word, the faintest hope for any man or woman who is without employment in the Commonwealth. However, I must say that Senate Bill No. 273 adds up to nothing more than unnecessary subterfuge for lack of action.

The bill sets up three new government agencies or bureaus; one, the Governor's Council for Economic Development; two, the Interdepartmental Economic Advisory Committee; and three, a Citizen's Action Committee on Jobs and Business Climate.

The bill, as I understand it, would accomplish nothing that cannot be done at present, and under present law, with the cooperation of existing State agencies. I refer to the State Planning Board, the State Department of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Industrial Redevelopment Authority.

For more than a quarter of a century, the Commonwealth has been empowered and encouraged to act in this entire field by the State Planning Board. This agency, created by executive order way back in 1934, is still part of the administrative machinery of this government. It has been transferred twice. First it was set up under the Governor's Office, by executive decree. Next it was transferred to the Department of Commerce and then, under government reorganization in the 1955 Session, it was again transferred or returned to the Governor's Office.

Revised as it has been from time to time, the Planning Board provides adequate administration authority to enable the Commonwealth to implement this program.

Now, Mr. President, if I may, I would refer to Volume 94 of The Pennsylvania Manual—or the last Manual in print—on the State Planning Board:

For any Members who may wish to follow, I will read, from page 289, the duties of the State Planning Board:

> "The primary duties of the State Planning Board are unchanged by the reorganization . . . " of 1955. "They include the following:
> "To conduct and stimulate research and to collect, compile and analyze data bearing upon all industrial, commercial, social and physical factors which may influence the present and future welfare of the State, including industrial and agricultural productivity, resources of soil, minerals, water and forest products, population growth, employment, income, transportation. . . . ", et cetera.
> "To prepare plans or programs for the physical and economic development of the State . . . ."

Mr. President, I do not propose to impose on you in order to read the entire section under duties of the State Planning Board. However, they parallel very much the duties as outlined in this bill that we are now considering. So much for that.

Supplementary efforts for business improvement subsequently were made possible through the State Department of Commerce and the Industrial Redevelopment Authority.

Looking back, it is apparent that the Legislature has had the business welfare of Pennsylvania at heart. I repeat; the Department of Commerce was organized twenty-two years ago under Republican Governor James. This is evidenced by the fact that Republicans were responsible for establishing the Planning Commission in 1934 and the Commerce Department in 1939.

Within the Commerce Department, during its initial phase, experts on industrial representation were active to improve the business outlook for industries considering bids to locate in Pennsylvania. Later, this work was expanded into bureaus with well defined responsibilities. They were concerned with industrial promotion, research and planning, and housing and redevelopment. In 1956, the Legislature set up the Industrial Redevelopment Authority, which was little more than the transfer of administration responsibility to one agency.

The duties of these agencies are clearly outlined. The Planning Board, which will mark its twenty-seventh anniversary on July 23, is charged with conducting and stimulating research and to collect, combine and analyze data bearing on the industrial, commercial, social and physical factors which may influence the present and future welfare of the State, and including industrial and agricultural productivity, resources of soil, minerals, water and forest products, population growth, employment, income, transportation, housing, recreation facilities, protection from floods and other natural hazards, public construction, stream pollution, highway protection and other fields vital to all public welfare. In addition, the Planning Board's responsibility covers plans for the physical and economic development of the State, its agencies and political subdivisions.

The Commerce Department's service operations were pointed toward the economic redevelopment of chronic areas of unemployment throughout Pennsylvania and the creation of new business and employment opportunities. It was given the task of securing for Pennsylvania a full share of the Nation's growth and expansion of business.

I again read from The Pennsylvania Manual, the same issue, on the State Department of Commerce, found on page 327 of the current Manual:

> "The program of the Department of Commerce is primarily a program of economic development for the entire Commonwealth. Within the department are bureaus charged with Industrial Development, Community Development, Tourist and Travel Development and Business Services.
> "Two major factors are emphasized in the department's service operations: (a) the economic redevelopment of chronic areas of unemployment throughout Pennsylvania, and the creating of new employment and business opportunities; (b) the effort to secure for Pennsylvania her full share of the Nation's industrial growth and expansion of business.
> "The department, with its major bureaus, is staffed with trained technicians offering service to industry and to groups whose major interests center about Pennsylvania's economic betterment. . . ."

This outlines some twelve different duties along this general line, which are well covered in the present law.

The Industrial Redevelopment Authority, to round out this field of responsibility, works within the Department of Commerce as liaison between the Authority and industrial development agencies and related organizations, and between the Authority and other agencies of the Commonwealth whose facilities and services may be useful to the Authority. The approval of programs, grants-in-aid, and supervision of administration come within the duties of this Authority.

I think this demonstrates, beyond any reasonable doubt, that there is on the statute books of the Commonwealth today adequate and well defined legislation providing all the work force and administrative and fiscal responsibility necessary in this very important field of advancement.

It shows, beyond any reasonable doubt, that there is no need for us to clutter up this important field with unnecessary legislation, such as Senate Bill No. 273. This proposal would merely add other agencies on top of the existing agencies, and thus lengthen the chain of command and administrative authority to the point where bureaucracy would strangle any well intended efforts.

I feel quite safe in saying that the real purpose of this proposal is to cover up the deficiencies of the Leader and the Lawrence Administrations. I repeat, Mr. President, that I feel quite safe in saying that the real purpose of this proposal is to cover up the deficiencies of the Leader and Lawrence Administrations. No longer can they blame the Eisenhower Administration when they seek to cover up their shortcomings. This proposal is a step toward preparing the public in the 1962 election campaign for explanations, accusations and excuses for failure to make the fullest possible use of existing law to improve, expand and stabilize employment and business relations throughout the Commonwealth.

I think our statute books contain all of the legislative authority needed for improving the business climate in Pennsylvania. What we now need is well planned action by the experts we now have on our payrolls.

The proposal set forth in Senate Bill No. 273 can be carried out by using existing government agencies. In a day when taxpayers are becoming alarmed at the ever increasing number of public employees,—and I might say that a recent report showed that one out of every four citizens is now living on public funds—it might be well for us to make an effort in holding this trend by recommitting this bill.

Now before any gentleman on the other side of the aisle rises to protest, I am fully aware that the measure under discussion provides that the necessary staff for this program be provided by transfers from "such departments, agencies or commissions within the Commonwealth as the Governor shall designate."

In all seriousness, are we expected to believe that any vacancies created by such transfers would not be filled by other appointments, thereby swelling the State payroll?

Since 1955, all of us have heard repeated promises from State administrators as to what they proposed to do to improve jobless opportunities in Pennsylvania. These proposals were eye-catching and sometimes dramatic in their impact. They were calculated to create the impression of action at a time when pending elections have made it necessary to keep alive an impression of unceasing work in this area.

We can recall with little effort the promises of Governors Leader and Lawrence in connection with this problem. Both candidates held out high promises to the unfortunate in Pennsylvania who were unemployed. It was politically fashionable, because of a Republican Administration in Washington, to direct the blame for inactivity on the Federal Government. Thus, they shrugged aside their responsibility at the State level under existing legislation.

The problem of unemployment and the stated goals of improving the business climate in Pennsylvania cannot be accomplished by apointment of other administrative agencies. This bill, I repeat, appoints three committees,—or sets up the machinery for three—and provides a refuge for State employees transferred to make room for other job seekers.

The third proposal in Senate Bill No. 273 cannot be harmful. It proposes a committee of 100 citizens, to be known as the Citizen's Action Committee on Jobs and Business Climate. I have prepared a resolution to accomplish this without passing additional legislation. I shall be glad to have the sponsors of this bill join me in that resolution which would create this third committee, and do exactly as this proposes to do in the law.

This third committee, set up by the bill, of 100 citizens could well become the Administration's scapegoat eighteen months hence in the next gubernatorial campaign and when the shortcomings of the present Administration are pointed out.

We have all the necessary law, Mr. President and my colleagues, providing there is a sincere effort to achieve the ends stated in Senate Bill No. 273. This bill is clearly a duplicate of stated authority and window dressing for public consumption at a time when action is so sorely needed in Pennsylvania to create every possible job.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am not going to take a lot of the time of the Senate because the Senator has advised me he is going to vote for this bill, and I do not want to do anything that may change his mind. However, I would like to read from the Chamber of Commerce News of Greater Philadelphia, dated March 9, 1961. This is hardly a Democratic newspaper and I say this with a capital "D":

> "The need for organized study and expert advice on Pennsylvania's economic problems 'is now more urgent than in 1959,' a spokesman for the Chamber's Economics and Taxation Council declared on Monday in commending State Senate Majority Leader Charles R. Weiner for reintroducing a bill to create three advisory groups on the Commonwealth's economic development and business climate.
> "Robert Coltman, Chairman of the Economics Committee of the Economics and Taxation Council, informed Senator Wenier (D., Phila.) that this Chamber was 'most happy' that he and two cosponsors are backing a measure to set up a Governor's Council for Economic Development, an Interdepartmental Economic Advisory Committee, and a Citizen's Action Committee on Jobs and Business Climate.
> "Mr. Coltman, Vice President, Trust Division, Philadelphia National Bank, recalled that the new bill—S. 273—'duplicates House Bill 608 of the General Assembly's 1959 session.'
> "He pointed out that the 1959 bill, passed by the House and blocked by the Senate, 'grew out of the Conference on Jobs and Business Climate in Pennsylvania, held in Philadelphia on March 12, 1959,' and added:
> " 'We are delighted that this proposal of two years ago is now being reintroduced and has top-level sponsorship . . .," which will see that this bill is passed and becomes law.
> " 'The need for organized study and expert advice on Pennsylvania's economic problems is now more urgent than in 1959,' Mr. Coltman stressed.
> " 'Pennsylvania, once pre-eminent among the States in industrial wealth, is currently near the bottom of the 50 States in rate of industrial expansion. The Commonwealth also reports one of the highest rates of unemployment.'
> "Mr. Coltman emphasized that this State is 'competing with both the neighboring and distant industrial States for new job-creating industry,' and commented: 'The sad truth is that we are not getting our share.'
> " 'The Interdepartmental and Citizen's Committees contemplated in S. 273 should be put to work as quickly as possible to analyze our economic failings . . .'
> " 'Pennsylvania boasts impressive assets in raw materials and in people ready and willing to work. Out of expert analysis of the State's problems > should come recommendations for action necessary to start an inflow of new industry into Pennsylvania and a more rapid expansion of existing industry.'

> "Mr. Coltman concluded, 'There is a job to be done. It is urgent. We congratulate you on sponsoring S. 273 . . .' " and ask that it be passed as quickly as possible. " 'Please call on this Chamber if we can be of any help possible in pushing this legislation to quick adoption.' "

The article went on at some length to discuss what is being done.

I want to point out to the Senator that it might be true that the State Planning Board might cover some of the phases of this problem. It might also be true that some of the people you mentioned who are working on this problem might not have met with the success that we had anticipated. However, that is certainly no reason to destroy or to throw away the mechanism that might bring to us some economic advantage. If these people were costing us money, or asking for a costly department to be set up or we were in any way pleading to get more and more persons on the State payroll who are not there now, I would say that you are correct.

However, Senator, you know, from your own business experience, that the most difficult people to hire are typists and stenographers. They are just unobtainable. Most of them get good positions no matter where they go and whether or not it be for the State. As a matter of fact, most of them leave the State for private industry because they can always do better.

This bill is the exact act that was passed by the Federal Government in 1946 and which has assisted in advising President Truman and President Eisenhower, and which is now assisting in advising President Kennedy. I think if this type of legislation has been at all effective, we certainly have little to lose by enacting it here and trying to deal with it in this State.

I commend you, Senator, for taking the position that although you might have some qualms about this measure, you are still anxious to vote for it. I think that the button you are wearing on your lapel is certainly the kind of button that all of us hope we can be wearing within the next year or two after this commission has done its job.

This is the kind of a measure that is helpful to all of us here in Pennsylvania and one which we should all favor.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would certainly have no quarrel with the opinion of Mr. Coltman, who was just quoted by the Majority Leader. However, I still maintain that he sounds as though he may not be familiar with the laws of Pennsylvania. He may not be familiar also with the machinery that we have already set up and the machinery which has been available all through these years to do the job we are trying to do. I agree with him that we are all trying to assure every job in Pennsylvania that is possible.

I understood, at least from one Member who attended the committee meeting when this bill was brought to the floor, that this was an Administration bill. Therefore, if the previous Administration or the present Administration were unaware that the law was on our books, then that was their own fault. They certainly should be well advised that these laws exist on our books at the present time.

Of course, it is possible for the Governor to call in his Cabinet at any time, or to add to that Cabinet any one whom he wants to. That is on our law books, too. He has had that privilege ever since we have had a Cabinet in Pennsylvania.

Concerning the third phase of it, the Citizen's Committee, consisting of 100 persons, could easily be created by the resolution I have on my desk, which I will gladly turn over to the Majority Leader and let him look it over. It would create that committee just the same. However, I have some misgivings about that. I am afraid, as I said before, that when eighteen months have rolled around and they are engaged in a political fight, it may be that Senator Weiner and I will not be on the same side of that political fight. However, then these 100 independent citizens throughout the Commonwealth may be the scapegoat for the present Administration because the job was not done. Certainly, Governor Leader made great promises when he was the candidate for Governor. He made promises in this connection and in many others perhaps, too, but I will not mention them now. Surely, his promises in this connection, to furnish employment to the unfortunate unemployed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, were a feeble effort, to say the least.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that this bill is not a refuge for people who have taken certain positions and who are using this as a means of hiding. I would like to command to the Senator that on page 8 of this bill, it states as follows:

> "The action committee shall submit to the Governor no later than the fifteenth of December of each year a report on its activities and accomplishments including recommendations for administrative or legislative action in the field of economic development . . ."

If this committee is not going to act, we will certainly know it by the fifteenth of December. We will then be back here in Session next year, when we can get a look at this matter. If we cannot act on it next year, we certainly can act on it during the following Session of the Legislature.

This is not just a group of people who are going to merely meet and discuss things very generally. They are going to have to come up with a report and advise the Governor of what is happening. I think our complexion, and the complexity of the industrial society under which we live, is such that we can afford to have a committee which will concern itself with this problem and this problem alone. This is true, especially in view of the fact that you are not paying this committee to do anything. You are not paying any salaries; you are not paying any money to these people at all. You just have interested citizens who are willing to act in this area.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, using the words of the genius who discovered the expression: "There is much to be said on both sides of this bill." At the same time, there is one criticism which I do have on it. It does not have any terminal facilities.

I would suggest that in legislation of this character, which sets up commissions to do a certain thing, that the sponsors—and they may well be advised to add an amendment to this bill—provide that the Act shall terminate at a specified date so we will not have all these commissions and agencies, which we intend to create to deal with a certain purpose, dangling around to clutter up the statute books and also the administrative halls after their purpose has been served. I would suggest that some reasonable date of termination be inserted in this bill and in all other bills like it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to Senator Wade's debate over there today. It reminds me of the time when he and I used to go around Pennsylvania and debate the Constitution. Senator Wade always makes a good speech and it appears to me that the way he is talking, he must be planning to be a candidate for Governor on the Republican side.

I say also, Mr. President, that in my opinion, although I have read the duties and responsibilities of the State Planning Board, I feel this is good legislation because, number one, of the fifteen members who are going to be appointed, Senator Weiner and I took the trouble to make sure that they would be confirmed with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the Members of the Senate. Number two: I do not believe it is a political bill and I am not going to get into any political arguments on this legislation. I believe the time has come when we must take some forthright action.

Frankly, I say, Mr. President, that I do not believe it is the fault of any political party. Due to the fact that we are now in a depression and with the present times, I think this just came about. Probably everyone was lax, in so far as keeping our eye on the ball, when it comes to taking care of the unemployed in Pennsylvania. I think that we Members of the Senate realized the seriousness of those conditions when we wrote that huge deficiency appropriation to take care of public assistance.

Mr. President, I am very strong for this legislation because it has a reporting feature. In addition to that, we are going to try to cooperate with labor and with the Federal and local governments. It seems to me that this economic report, and the deadline on it, is a good thing. Although the State Planning Board does have some of those duties, I think they have so many problems and responsibilities that, naturally, they cannot be experts in every field. You will note that we require, in this legislation, that experts shall be appointed to certain phases of this operation. It seems to me that quite a number of the Chambers of Commerce in Pennsylvania appear to be in favor of this legislation. I surely thought that Senator Wade would be one of the strongest advocates for it. I am also happy today that he is going to vote for the bill because I know that Senator Wade's heart is always in the right place.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, as usual, Senator Wade is to be congratulated for the industrious way in which he has researched this problem. He has reported it accurately. However, I think it is peculiar that Senator Wade did not notice that his findings constitute, in effect, the strongest possible argument for this bill. What he found, as he reported it, was that in spite of the fact that we have all these agencies, none of them have as their main objective the job of studying and overcoming the problem of unemployment. They have it as a part of their objectives. They approach it in a peripheral way. However, we have no agency in this Commonwealth whose sole duty and obligation is to consider this problem.

Considering the bill which we have, we appoint one committee which has the sole job of working on this problem of unemployment. We have another committee which is to draw together the efforts of all of these agencies which Senator Wade enumerated. From their particular approach to this problem, they can bring together all this data. Finally, we have a committee, broadly representing the citizens of Pennsylvania and representing all the communities, which, on their own and using the initiative of home rule, have instituted agencies to approach this job and to focus and bring together their efforts.

Therefore, Mr. President, it seems to me that Senator Wade has, in effect, produced the strongest possible argument I could conceive of for the need of just such a bill as we have before us.

If, by these remarks, I have made a slight contribution to the struggle going on within Senator Wade to vote for this bill and still be of sound conscience, I shall feel my efforts are amply rewarded.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I briefly take the opportunity to thank Senator Lane and Senator Seyler for their comments?

I feel constrained to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, because if I would announce my candidacy, one of the first things I would like to ask him is whether or not he would be for me. However, I would not like to do that so publicly.

Prior to the amendments, offered by Senator Lane and placed by this Body in the bill, which require the Governor to submit the appointments of the Council for Economic Development to the Senate for confirmation, if I may say, facetiously, I would have offered an amendment which would have required the advice and consent of one Congressman Green of Philadelphia, without recourse to memory on these appointments, rather than have them confirmed by the Senate.

So far as Senator Seyler's comments are concerned, I should like to also say that we have all of these organizations at the present time which are intended to do exactly as this bill would do, if enacted. However, my position is this: I have said from the beginning that I intend to vote for this bill. I intend to do everything that I can in order to not have a single man remain unemployed in Pennsylvania where it is possible to put him to work.

Mr. President, I now send over to the Majority Leader the resolution that I mentioned awhile ago. I say that I will gladly cosponsor this resolution with him and with the other sponsors of the present bill, who have had a long legislative history, in the hope that this matter might be resolved and every good might come of it rather than put additional legislation and laws on our present books.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, the only comment that I would like to make on the previous speech is where the gentleman indicates that the Governor should have the advice and consent of Congressman Green.

Congressman Green is not a Member of this Body and I do not think his statement was appropriate. From my own information, I can say that Congressman Green has yet to advise and consent with me on anything that I ever did ever since I have been here, although he is from my District. I do think that bringing Congressman Green's name into everything is an attempt to smear a person. They have tried to do this unsuccessfully for a number of years. They brought a false case against him. The leaders of the opposition party brought a false case against him and used it in several elections. However, it only made him stronger in his district. I am quite sure that all these little accusations will only make his good qualities show all the better through the years.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, may I say what I said possibly two years ago? Never before have I heard so much debate on a bill to which there apparently is no objection.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 30—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILL ON SECOND READING

HB 63—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO REREFER BILL

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 63, the bill just read, be rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman why he would send a possible constitutional amendment to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it was decided in Caucus that we would send the bill there because it is a money bill, have the Appropriations Committee review it, and then, of course, we would take it from there.

The PRESIDENT. Does that answer your question, Senator Fleming?

Mr FLEMING. I thank the gentleman for his explanation, Mr. President. However, it certainly is not a money bill. This merely would present to the people of Pennsylvania, if the bill passed two Sessions of the General Assembly, the right to approve or reject an amendment to the Constitution which would permit a future Legislature to enact legislation that would exempt these various groups from real estate taxes.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think the gentleman is taking the view that when we rerefer this bill to the Appropriations Committee, that will be the end of the measure.

I would like to point out to him that I do not think it is unseemly that we find out what this will cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania before we act on it. This is certainly not the end of the measure. It has been read twice here and it has passed the House. Therefore, if the Appropriations Committee will tell us what this will cost us, we can then act in an intelligent manner and put it on the ballot. We will then know the answer in case anyone asks us what the situation is or how much it will cost. I do not think that is the end of the measure, Senator, and I do not think it is unseemly that we do this. We have done this with other measures that will cost the Commonwealth money.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly do not know whether I would be correct or not, but in all of my time in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania I have never known an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania to be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Again, may I repeat that if this measure passes this Session of the General Assembly and the next Session of the General Assembly, then it will go before the people of Pennsylvania to approve or to reject the right of the Legislature—some future Legislature—to enact legislation that would relieve these particular groups of people of the necessity of paying real estate taxes. That time, it would certainly seem to me, would be the proper moment for the Appropriations Committee to look at legislation which is going to cost tax money; certainly not now.

This bill only gives to the electorate of Pennsylvania the right to say whether or not they want this possibility given to the Legislature to relieve certain groups of unfortunate people of the problem of paying real estate taxes.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman will agree with me that if this passes, the revenue loss we will suffer—if there is a loss—will have to be made up in some fashion. I think, at least, we ought to be appprised of that and concern ourselves with the problem of regaining that amount of money which might or might not be lost. Having that before us, we can also start in motion other legislation or tax measures that can replace the money lost or take care of this problem.

How this measure will suffer by going to the Appropriations Committee, Senator, I fail to understand. I wish you would explain that to me.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I probably should not have risen in the first place.

Certainly, the real estate and personal property taxes will be levied on the local level, I would think. The relief would come largely from there. I would think, if this became an amendment to the Constitution, it might properly become a subject of study by the Local Government Commission or the Joint State Government Commission. I do not think the Appropriations Committee of either the House or the Senate has the proper facilities to make that type of a study.

As far is I am concerned, Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill being rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, just to make the record clear, I must say that this is very meritorious legislation, and under present conditions, and under conditions which will exist in the future, I think it is only fair and proper that the bill be submitted to the Committee on Appropriations because actually it is a money bill. There is no question about that.

Although the bill must pass two Sessions,—and I know that it will—at the same time, we should know what the costs are going to be. I do feel that the Appropriations Committee does have the facilities to check into this.

I can say to Senator Fleming that I guarantee him, as far as my vote is concerned in that committee, my vote will be to report this bill to the floor.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am glad the record is straight and that the reasons we are having this bill sent to the Committee on Appropriations are now clear to all of us.

However, let me reiterate that there is no reason in the world, either by precedent or by necessity or by advantage, why a bill amending the Constitution should go to the Committee on Appropriations—particularly this one—because, as Senator Fleming has so well said, the taxes from which the people will be exempt, are local taxes and not State taxes. This is not going to cost the State of Pennsylvania anything except to get it on the ballot.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, let me point out that there are a certain amount of real estate taxes in which the States does participate, especially transfers, from which these people would be exempt as well. Therefore, this is a problem that might involve the State.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was defeated.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 73—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

SB 94—The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. STEVENSON offered the following amendment:

> Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 2), page 4, lines 2 to 5, by striking out "The Gov-" in line 2, and all of lines 3 to 5.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. STEVENSON offered the following amendments:

> Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 3), page 5, line 16, by inserting after "CITY": or upon petition of the city council.
> Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 7), page 9, lines 1 to 6, by striking out all of lines 1 to 5, and "SHALL RETAIN ITS EXISTING CLASSIFICATION AND" in line 6.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth sections and title were read and agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 99—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 99 go over in its order as there are amendments to this bill which are not ready for presentation.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL RECOMMITTED

SB 105—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 105 be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as was pointed out by Senator Berger last week, what is encompassed in Senate Bill No. 105 is also encompassed in Senate Bill No. 294, but not in the exact verbiage. However, we feel that Senate Bill No. 294 will cover this matter.

We want to thank the Senator for bringing this to our attention.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

SB 114 and 125—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING
AMENDMENTS OFFERED

HB 132—Read at length the second time,
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?
Mr. HAWBAKER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 304, page 24, line 8, by striking out "approve" and inserting: Make Suggestions and Recommendations Relative to Amend Sec. 304, page 24, lines 10 to 13, by striking out "and no payments of state-aid shall be made" in line 10, all of lines 11 to 13, and inserting: It shall be the duty of the State Librarian to make suggestions and recommendations relative to said plans.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to oppose these amendments for the following reasons:

If you read this part of the section of the bill, you will note that the word "Approve" is taken out and inserted in its place are the words: "Make Suggestions and Recommendations Relative to." There is nothing wrong with that section of the bill. However, if you read that in concert with the rest of it, and then read the other amendment, which takes out the function of the librarian to approve or disapprove State-aid, based on the general plan they have, you can see that this tears out the very heart of the measure, because the only reason these librarians will go along is in order to obtain the State-aid. If you remove that feature of the bill, you leave it up to the wishy-washy point of whether she does or does not make suggestions and recommendations. Suppose she makes the suggestions and recommendations and they do not choose to follow them. What other means does she have of compelling them to do so? The only means she has of compelling them to do so is to deny them State-aid. Most of these people will get in line and conform if they receive the money. If they do not meet the standards, she will deny this to them or he will deny this to them, depending on who the State Librarian is.

From my point of view, this destroys a good bit of the means of getting the units to comply and giving us a decent library system in this State, which we have needed for a very long time.

I, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments .

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I am not at all surprised that the Majority Leader would oppose these amendments. However, I would remind him that the money in question is not the personal property of this Senate or the State Librarian. The money in question is the property of the very people to whom it is being offered.

It seems to me that there are still a few people in the State of Pennsylvania who have good judgment with regard to the establishment and the operation of libraries aside from one person in Harrisburg; namely, the State Librarian.

I can see no reason why the people in local areas still should not be afforded the privilege of deciding how their money shall be used in their own libraries to provide reading facilities for their own people. This certainly is a basic philosophy of our American system of democracy, and this is a philosophy that is supported by thousands and millions of people in the United States. I realize that this philosophy is not popular in some nations abroad. However, this certainly is a basic, fundamental philosophy of our American system of democracy.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Senator that they do not have to join in the system if they are disturbed by it and unless they want to meet certain standards, I do not think they have a right to qualify. This is true in every area; for instance, the Department of Agriculture in Washington and other areas. They do not give out money under any Administration or do anything for the farmer or anyone else unless he meets certain standards. These standards are set up or promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture under laws passed by the Congress.

We also have similar situations throughout the State. Public assistance is not given unless the people meet certain standards and certain requirements as set up by the Legislature.

Certainly no one in this room is going to continue to sit every single day and check on every single library system. If some of these library systems find that they have an adequate library and they think they can get along with it,—although the statistics and other materials that have been gathered indicate otherwise; that some of these libraries are in horrible shape and are providing little or no facilities to the people living in those local communities—they do not have to join and they do not have to be concerned about this.

However, you should not try to cripple this bill or try to kill this measure. I think many of these people, who are offering amendments to this measure, are not in favor of it anyway, and these things will tend to hurt the bill. If you take that attitude, no matter what anyone does, it is never going to be a palatable feature that anyone could go for.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I would like to assure the gentleman that if these amendments are approved, I have every intention of supporting the bill, as amended.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman that while local libraries are not forced to participate in the benefits of this bill, the local citizenry is forced to participate in the paying of taxes to the State of Pennsylvania, out of which these funds are made available.

I would also like to remind the gentleman that there are many, many agencies of our government that do operate on a voluntary basis. There are very many agencies that act purely as an advisory organization, and these agencies have been most successful in the past. I see no reason why this same philosophy cannot be used in the case of our libraries. It seems to me it is just sound, fundamental, democratic policy.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may I point out to the gentleman that the purpose of this bill is not one of a restrictive nature? However, the purpose of it is to widen and to produce more and more volumes for more and more of these areas.

What the gentleman said is absolutely true. The fact that they take money from me, in the city of Philadelphia, and use it for other purposes in Pennsylvania, which have no bearing on the city of Philadelphia or to me as a citizen of the city of Philadelphia, is certainly well taken. I could protest here about many things that go on, if that is the attitude. However, I think this is an over-all picture. You must look at it from a broad point of view. Does this help all the people of Pennsylvania? Does it help all the people in the government? If that is the situation, then that is the acid test. In a democracy, it is what the greatest number want for the greatest good. I think that fact is what must concern us.

This amendment certainly does not deal with that and does not take us into that area. It becomes more restrictive and lets everybody decide for themselves whether they want to go along with this plan or not. If they do not want to, they do not have to. However, I certainly think it is a mistake to try to cripple this measure or to tear out the very heart of it, which would give the Librarian an opportunity to deal with some of these areas which are recalcitrant and do not want to go along, but, yet, want to enjoy the benefits. To every benefit, there must be a burden. The burden must be that you must comply and offer a sound program in order to participate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it seems to me that the amendments, which have been offered, would make this a totally unworkable bill. The gentleman has not amended out of this bill the various standards which are set for librarians. Obviously if you are going to award moneys to help libraries which meet certain standards, then you must have someone to enforce this and see to it that the money goes to approved libraries. Whether it is the State Librarian or the Attorney General or whoever, somebody must make this decision. We might make it the Attorney General. We might even make it the gentleman who offered the amendments. However, I would submit that the person who would know more about this and who would be in a better position to judge as to whether the standards enumerated in this bill are being met is the State Librarian.

It seems to me that it is fantastic to say that this is an undemocratic or unAmerican process, only practiced in other countries. Pennsylvania distributes many types of reimbursements to aid worth-while projects in this Commonwealth. In all cases, somebody on the administrative side of our government has to be given the job of deciding which agencies are legitimate and should be given this money and which agencies should not. To leave all the standards contained in this bill and not amend them out, and then to say that nobody shall have the job of seeing that these standards are met, is to make this a totally unworkable bill which, if it passed, would be just impossible to enforce. I mean there would no longer be any way to distribute the money. If you have standards, some agency or person in government must be given the job of seeing whether these standards are met. If the gentleman had eliminated all of the standards and had merely said that the Commonwealth will collect the money and give it to anyone who comes in here and says that they have a library, then that, of course, would be different. I do not think the gentleman would suggest that, and I believe the Members of the Senate could hardly support such a position.

Therefore, Mr. President, it seems to me, accepting the gentleman's statement that he is not attempting to cripple the bill or make it unworkable, this should be thought through. I think the gentleman should reflect on what the effect of these amendments will be. If he is sincere about not intending to thereby make the bill impossible, then he should give some thought to the suggestions I have made.

I have the feeling that the State Librarian is the logical person to do this. If the gentleman's amendments had been, let us say, to perhaps add a Citizens' Committee to join with the Librarian in doing it or something of that nature, I may have disagreed, but I would have thought that he was suggesting something which, at least, was practical. The suggestion that we just have nobody to decide on whether to approve a library as meeting these standards, when he is leaving the standards in the bill, just creates an impossible situation. It is entirely unenforceable and, it seems to me, it makes the bill a dead letter if such amendments are adopted.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I would merely like to say that I am not interested in weakening this bill or making it ineffective. However, I am interested in making this bill applicable to small, rural libraries. We have had enough experience with State domination of rural institutions in the past to realize that small libraries will, in no possible way, be able to comply with regulations and requirements which we can anticipate coming from the State Librarian.

Therefore, Mr. President, the provisions of this bill will simply freeze out many, many local libraries in small communities. It is for this reason that I am interested in these amendments, so that the people throughout Pennsylvania can enjoy some of the benefits.

I would like to reiterate what I said a moment ago. I, like Thomas Jefferson, have a lot of respect for the judgment of people in local communities.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Hawbaker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Hawbaker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAWBAKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman, assuming his amendments are passed and assuming that people come to his county or mine and apply for this money, who would make the decisions as to whether there is a legitimate library representative here to receive the money?

Mr. HAWBAKER. I think that is provided for in the bill, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. I did not understand the gentleman's answer, Mr. President.

Mr. HAWBAKER. I think that is provided for in the bill. It is spelled out that libraries shall be entitled to State-aid.

Mr. SEYLER. That is true if they are libraries according to the definition in this bill. However, who would make the decision as to whether they are?

Mr. HAWBAKER. I think that also would be left to the discretion, to a certain extent, of the State officials. They could decide whether or not a library exists, but they certainly do not have to decide whether or not they meet certain standards as prescribed by this bill or set up, or which are not even mentioned in this bill, or something that the State Librarian might come forth with later on.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for his answer.

I would like to point out to him that the State Librarian has no power beyond the standards laid down in this bill to administer the money. However, I would like to return to the gentleman's earlier answer. He said that some State officials could decide this. Mr. President, this is precisely what I am trying to find out. Who is the State official? Is it to be the Governor? Is it to be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court? It is to be the Attorney General? We must designate somebody in this bill to be the person or agency who decides whether a library meets the requirements of being a library, under the terms of this bill.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that the Librarian is the one to do this. We cannot just say that some State official will do it. Unless we designate somebody, no one will have that right to do it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. McMENNAMIN. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no".

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BERGER. May I inquire of the Chair whether this might constitute an interruption of the roll call?

The PRESIDENT. The roll call has been completed. Therefore, I would not think this might be called an interruption.

Mr. BERGER. May we have the announcement of the roll call, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The vote has not been announced.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not interrupt the roll call. I merely asked that we be at ease for a moment. One of the Members did not have an opportunity to read these amendments and he is now doing so.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no".

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—23

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Stroup,

NAYS—23

Camiel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
Devlin,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Staisey,
DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Lane,	Mullin,	Seyler,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, May I at this time inquire of the Majority Leader whether it would be in order to submit additional amendments on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I stated last week, and I will state it again for the record, that it will be perfectly all right to offer amendments on third reading to this measure tomorrow.

Mr. BELL. Thank you very much.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. WARE offered the following amendment:

> Amend Section 302, page 14 line 1, by inserting after the word "endowments": volunteer work, contributions and labor, materials and perquisites.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Chester, Senator Ware.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Ware, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WARE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise us what this amendment will cover that is not covered in the bill which states, "and other local services"? Why is this amendment needed?

Mr. WARE. It is entirely possible that the drafters of the bill intended to cover those things named in the amendment. However, I think the amendment will be helpful in that it will remove any likelihood of any doubt as to whether the items named in the amendment are or are not included in the bill as it is now drafted.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us what this amendment will add to the bill or how it, in any way, will help clarify the bill?

Mr. WARE. We can take up each one of the phrases, if necessary. However, I will give you an example of one item with which I am quite familiar in my own local library. That relates to the matter of perquisites. The librarian, in the Oxford Public Library, receives the benefit of the use of an apartment, together with all the facilities, with no cost to the librarian. Her compensation is adjusted accordingly.

I think the bill, as it presently reads, might well be interpreted so that a fair allowance for those perquisites would not be included in the cost of the operation of the library, with the result that the library might well fail to qualify for maximum funds as provided in the bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us as to how we will evaluate "volunteer work, contributions and labor, materials and perquisites"? How will that be evaluated in terms of dollars and cents, either in adding onto the contribution to be made by the Commonwealth or the contribution to be taken from them because they do not fulfill this? How will we determine this?

Mr. WARE. I would think that the officials of the library involved would make an accounting to those responsible for the admistration and payment of State funds, in a similar fashion to that which is followed in making an accounting for dollars. In other words, you can account for materials and items the same as you account for dollars. Materials and items can have a dollar value ascribed to them.

If it will be helpful, I am sure that a further definition of the manner in which they shall be evaluated can be included in this amendment or in a further amendment. Indeed, if I would have had the opportunity—you may recall last week, you were urging me to act with deliberate haste—this amendment would have included some further definitions. However, this is the manner in which it was presented to me by the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this is the fifth week in which I have been asking for deliberate haste on this matter.

Would it help the gentleman if he were to withdraw this amendment and try to get it a little better clarified? It might be just peculiar to me, but I have difficulty myself, in interpreting it. Volunteer work is difficult to assess in terms of dollars and cents, as money or services received by a library. Unless there were some system set up to maintain this or keep books and records, somebody might find themselves in some difficulty by assessing this or saying what it is worth.

I would have no objection, Mr. President, if this amendment were introduced on Third Reading, as I have no objection today. However, I think the language in the amendment leaves a little bit to be desired. An editorial change might be the type of thing which would allow me, and perhaps some of my colleagues, to vote for this amendment. I think there is some merit to it. However, I would dislike writing this amendment into a bill of this size and then find difficulty in administering it or handling it. Therefore, if the gentleman feels that this could be straightened out by working out the verbiage in it, perhaps tomorrow we could get it in a better frame of language and I would be very happy to support this amendment with the gentleman. At the moment, I would have difficulty in doing so.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, let me assure the Majority Leader that I would never hold to the fact that any amendment or any bill could not be improved upon. Certainly this amendment could be improved. I would be glad to invite the gentleman to cosponsor another amendment with me in order for us to have the benefit of his judgment.

Likewise, I believe it would be in order to adpot this amendment and then amend the bill at a subsequent Session. However, I am perfectly agreeable to handling it in whatever fashion would prove most beneficial to the libraries which we are seeking to help.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, do I take it that the gentleman is asking that his amendment be withdrawn until such time as we have had an opportunity to confer on it?

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, would it be proper to have the bill go over for amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have stated in answer to Senator Bell's question—and it applies equally here—that I would be very happy to have this bill amended on Third Reading and I will not object to the offering of amendments at that time.

I think, Senator, as a matter of good form, we should sit down and work out the verbiage when we have an opportunity to do so rather than spend the money to have the amendment printed in the bill, take out the amendment, and then have the bill reprinted. It might be that this is only a petty sum, but I think this is an easier way of doing it. It is not that I have greater feeling for the suggestion I have made as opposed to your suggestion. I just think this would be an easier way to do it.

At the moment, my own feeling is that I would have to vote against this amendment.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, we certainly want—and I am sure all of us will agree on this—to do this in the easiest and simplest manner. It occurs to me at the moment that the best thing to do is have the bill go over in its order.

Mr. President, I would like to move that the bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. We presently have an amendment before us. Do you wish to withdraw your amendment?

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. The amendment is withdrawn.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I now move that House Bill No. 132 go over in its order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. president, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, have we disposed of this amendment?

The PRESIDENT. The amendment has been withdrawn.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by Senator Ware, and seconded by Senator Berger, that House Bill No. 132 go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to address myself just for a moment to this motion.

This is the same matter that we had before us last week, and I believe at that time—and the record will bear me out—that I stated the people who were against the bill last week, and the week before that and last year and the year before that, are still against it this week, will be against it the following week, and so on and so forth. Delaying this matter and dragging it along does not make it any more palatable to anyone, nor does it help the situation. He have to face this issue. We are going to have to do it sometime, whether it be this week, next week or two years from now.

Let us face up to it now. Let those of us who are against the bill vote against it. Let those of us who are for it vote for it. I think we have to bring this measure to a head.

I suggested to the gentleman when the bill first came over here—before it was even committed—that it might be helpful for us to have an opportunity to look at this bill. When we took the recess, I suggested that it is a long bill and we should look it over. Last week when there was a suggestion made that it go over in its order, I did not particularly press the issue, although I stated that this measure is going to be dragged along, dragged along and dragged along.

We now again have the measure before us this week. We ought to dispose of it. I even asked some of the gentlemen on the other side last week if they would dispose of this measure this week if we let it go over in order at that time. We did let it go over in order, and if we let it go over in order again, next week we will have the same problem and so on and so forth until we either arrive at a point where there are no more Members left or we have adjourned sine die without passing this bill.

That I cannot let happen. Therefore, I am asking that my colleagues vote "no" on the motion for this bill to go over in its order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think the Majority Leader is attempting to reach a conclusion which is not justified by the facts.

There is no question that this bill is going to come to a vote. It will probably come to a vote within a very reasonably short time. There is no merit to his statement that those who were for it a year ago, a year before that and two years ago, are still for it, and those who were against it then are still against it.

As a matter of fact, Mr. President, I am sure that there are a number of us in this Senate who were opposed to the bill in the form in which it was presented two years ago. I am sure that some of those people, under the form of the present bill, will not be opposed to it. Nevertheless, this is a matter for deliberation. We want to get it into the very best form that we can. The way we do that is by amendments.

There is no reason to stempede or rush this because many of us want to see the very best bill that can be produced on this subject for the benefit of the most libraries and the most people who use libraries throughout the State of Pennsylvania.

Certainly, there are some mental reservations on the part of many of us in regard to a number of provisions in the bill. Senator Hawbaker's amendments might have disposed of some of those doubts of a great many people. They, however, have not been adopted.

There are other amendments, seeking to clarify some of the provisions of the bill. The amendments, as the Majority Leader stated, do not appear to be at all bad. As a matter of fact, I think they are very good. If we want to elaborate and spell out better for the edification of the Members of this Senate what is intended by those amendments, we should be given every opportunity to do it, and not have this rushed through with the statement that if you were against it, you are against it now and if you were for it, you are for it now. That is not correct, Mr. President, and we are entitled, we believe, to the fullest deliberation and consideration of a measure that is going to cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ultimately about six and one-half millions of dollars.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I want the record to show very definitely that the Majority Leader was incorrect in his statement that those who would vote to keep this on the Second Reading Calendar would be against the Library Bill. His statement, as he made it, is incorrect.

I would like to see the bill remain on the Second Reading Calendar because only today, I found something in this bill, in talking with another Senator, that could be very, very offensive to the people of Pennsylvania. I studied this bill before, but I did not see this little clause.

I have amendments which I propose to introduce on Third Reading—if it goes to Third Reading—after I have had a little more time to study it and to get into the bill again.

I say we are not being fair to steamroller this bill through. You say it is not being steamrolled. Maybe that is the wrong word. However, there is no reason why this bill cannot wait a few more days while these questions in the minds of some of us who are not committed one way or another are resolved.

I urge that we all vote to keep this bill on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the last statement made by the gentleman was that this bill remain on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. BELL. That is incorrect. I was in error. I meant the Second Reading Calendar.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I stand corrected.

Will the gentleman please advise us at what point would be a good time to take up this measure—which week of this Session?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I think the answer to that is when those of us who are not sure about the bill are satisfied that we have had ample time to consider it.

May I suggest, Mr. President, that this Senate of Pennsylvania is a deliberate body? "Deliberate" means that we should have ample time to study the big questions that come before us. I do not think anybody can point to tomorrow, the next day or next Monday as the exact time. As far as I personally am concerned, if I find any more hidden things like this in the bill, it is going to be a long time before I am satisfied with the bill. However, I am going to seek an explanation of the items which I see in the bill. I will be very frank about what they are.

You are talking, in this bill, of putting a tax on the people in some of my districts, and you have—

The PRESIDENT. At this point, Senator Bell, the bill is not debatable. We have a motion before this Body, and only the motion is debatable.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am only answering the Majority Leader's question. He asked me how long I need to study the bill.

When you talk about putting a tax of one-quarter mill or one-half mill on the market value of properties in my District, I need a few days to think that one through.

The PRESIDENT. I am sure you do, sir.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. I also want to point out to him that this bill came to us on March 7. Today is April 10. Suppose the gentleman is never convinced that he should be in favor of this bill. Do we just continue to hold it on the Second Reading Calendar until such time as he is convinced? I certainly do not think, when we speak of this Body being a deliberate Body, we have that in mind, or that we just deliberately prevent this measure from coming to a vote. There must be some time set as a limit to decide whether we are in favor of a measure or against a measure, as the case might be or as your own conscience indicates.

However, I think if the gentleman who offered the last amendment is truly interested in that amendment and truly interested in our seeing it, I would be most happy to sit down with him, discuss it with him, and see if there is not some area of agreement between us so that perhaps we can support that amendment. To just try to push them across or try to get them into the bill, when we have little or no opportunity to read them except right here on he floor, is not helping the measure or helping the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's charge that I am guilty of some kind of skulduggery in delaying this bill, I am going to serve notice on him and other Members of the Democratic Party that when I am against something, they will know about it. I am not going to use any kind of subterfuge to postpone, and when I have made my mind up, I will vote.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill was agreed to on second reading.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL REREFERRED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 132 be rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of appropriate action.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I point out to the gentleman that in this Senate, we have never sent a bill to the Appropriations Committee until it has passed Second Reading. I think if the gentleman will be patient and let it pass Second Reading—

The PRESIDENT. The bill has passed Second Reading. It will be prepared for Third Reading, sir.

Mr. WEINER. I am sorry, Mr. President.

Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise the Senate why he asked that this bill be rereferred to the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, it was very forcefully brought to my attention today that the Appropriations Committee should study any bill that dealt with money and appropriations. Certainly, this one does and I feel that the Appropriations Committee, so capably presided over by Senator McGinnis, should have an ample opportunity to look it over and see whether or not the amounts that will be expended in it will meet with the revenues that are available and with the appropriation bill as it will come through.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman has misquoted what was said here, and I want to correct that. I stated that we send bills to the Appropriations Committee to find out what the cost to the Commonwealth will be to provide revenue if some revenue is being removed.

Here we are making a direct appropriation. If the gentleman needs any further indication of this, I can make all of that data available to him. I will be glad to take a recess and show it to him, thereby averting spending an extra day for this bill to go to committee. If he can show me that same amount of information in regard to the other bill, I will be very happy to ask that that bill not go to the Appropriations Committee and go on to the regular course of events here.

I do have this information. It is available. It was available in the House when the bill was there. It is now available to us here.

I would, therefore, object to the bill going to the Appropriations Committee and ask that it be prepared for Third Reading.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TAYLOR and Mr. PECHAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Mallery,	Stroup,
Berger,	Keller,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Confair,	Kromer,	Scott,	Wade,
Flack,	Madigan,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Fleming,	Mahady,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,

NAYS—22

Camiel,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silvert,
Devlin,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Staisey,
DiSilvestro,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Stiefel,
Halaska,	Miller,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Lane,	Murray,

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill was rereferred.

MOTION FOR RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate take a thirty minute recess for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would suggest that the procedure about to be attempted is rather out of order in the history of this Body. This bill is not yet in the hands of the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee. However, I can well understand that undoubtedly the action contemplated will be taken, but on the motion I would ask my colleagues to vote "no."

The PRESIDENT. Do you wish a roll call, Senator Berger?

Mr. BERGER. No, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I trust I am in order. I merely want to draw to the attention of the Majority Leader and to the Chair an unwritten rule which exists; namely, that we will adjourn the daily sessions at 6:00 p.m, or as close thereto as possible.

If we take a recess for one-half hour for the purpose of a committee meeting and that deliberation goes on, and then they come back and make committee reports, we are going to be well beyond the hour of 7:00 p.m. In the interest of the health of the Members, I would suggest to the Chair that the desk be cleared. I would suggest to the Majority Leader that he adhere to the unwritten rule that we do adjourn this Body as close to the hour of 6:00 p.m. as possible.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as long as we are clearing the record, I would like to state that it was not I who dragged this action or bill along. I am not the one who has been detaining us here. I tried, as expeditiously as possible, to move this measure along. I even stated that I would accept amendments tomorrow and that I would handle the entire matter tomorrow. However, they persisted in doing this. What other choice do I have in order to proceed on this matter as expeditiously as possible?

I do not think we should take six or seven weeks to act on a measure. This has been brought to the attention of all the Members of the Senate. It is not my concern that somebody decided to act in a recalcitrant manner. I think we should realize that this is a measure which is important to the people of Pennsylvania. We are here to do our work and I think that is what we are going to do here.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I again call to the attention of the Majority Leader that this bill will be before us for a vote. There is no reason in the world why it should be hurried through in the fashion which is being attempted here. The gentleman well knows that there are going to be votes for this bill from this side of the Senate, as well as from the other side. We do want to get the bill in the most acceptable form possible, as we have stated before.

Consequently, Mr. President, the haste with which the Majority Leader wishes this bill acted upon is, to say the least, somewhat unseemly. It does not require such action. It is not a bill that is going to fall simply because it goes over in order for a day, two days or three days. We know we are going to act on it and we hope it is going to be acted upon in the best possible form.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. POLASKI, O'DELL, BLAIR and SCHAAF. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 51.

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

Whereas, The United States has assumed an obligation with its good neighbor, the Government of Canada, to contribute its full share toward the successful operation of the St. Lawrence Seaway-Great Lakes Shipping Route; and

Whereas, The only existing navigable facility connecting lakes Erie and Ontario is the Welland Canal which has been sorely pressed to meet the increasing demands of shipping; and

Whereas, The construction of an alternate ship canal would make a major contribution to the security of the United States as well as Canada, because:

(1) In the event of breakdown or destruction of the existing Welland Canal, the commerce of the entire Great Lake's area of the United States and Canada west of Lake Ontario would be denied access by water transportation to the St. Lawrence Seaway and international shipping lanes;

(2) It would provide a more secure inland route for the movement of iron ore in the event of war;

(3) It would ease the strain on congested rail facilities and east coast ports in the time of emergency; and

(4) It would allow the construction and repair of ocean-going vessels in the more secure areas of the Great Lakes; and

Whereas, The construction of the canal would contribute greatly to the prosperity of commerce, industry and agriculture, not only in those states bordernig the Great Lakes, but throughout the entire nation; and

Whereas, The commerce of the lake port of Erie, Pennsylvania would be increased by the benefits accruing to the St. Lawrence Seaway-Great Lakes Shipping Route; and

Whereas, The construction of the canal would stabilize employment, provide job security and expand job opportunities; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby respectfully memorializes the President and Congress of the United States immediately to provide adequate funds to the United States Army Corps of Engineers for the necessary surveys and plans for, and to initiate the construction of, the canal, as aforesaid; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted as follows:

To the President of the United States;

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States Congress, and to each member thereof from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

To the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

To the Secretary of Commerce of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

To the Governors and State Legislative Leaders of the States of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WOOD, BOWER, MIHM and POLEN.

RESOLUTION No. 52.

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

Whereas, Under the provisions of the act of November 21, 1959 (P. L. 1573), the members of the General Assembly are to be paid mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile circular between their homes and the State Capitol; and

Whereas, There are varied opinions as to the computation of this mileage which result in confusion and misinterpretation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives submit a list of the names and addresses of the members of the House to the Department of Highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways on or before June 1, 1961 and on or before the first Monday of January of each odd numbered year thereafter, compute the circular mileage each member must travel over the usually travelled main highways to come from and return to his home; and be it further

Resolved, That each member of the House of Representatives shall notify the Chief Clerk of any change of address or in the case of a member elected for an interim term, he shall notify the Chief Clerk of his address and in both cases the Chief Clerk shall notify the Department of Highways who shall then compute the mileage as above; and be it further

Resolved, that the Chief Clerk use the computed mileage as prepared by the Department of Highways as a guide in making the mileage payments to each member and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Highways.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. HOLLIDAY and IRVIS.

RESOLUTION No. 53.

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

A National Civil War Centennial Commission to which Pennsylvania belongs has been appointed to supervise the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of that war.

The Commission has planned to meet in session at Charleston, South Carolina. This meeting originated at the invitation of the South Carolina unit of the Commission.

A member of the National Commission, Mrs. Madeline A. Williams, also a member of the Commission's New Jersey unit, is a negro. She was informed by a hotel in Charleston, South Carolina, that if she arrived with the other members of the Commission for the Charleston meet on April 11 and 12, she could not stay at that hotel, which is to be headquarters for the National Commission, nor could she eat at the hotel dining room with the other members.

One hundred years after the onset of the Civil War some of the conditions still exist which led to that historic struggle which cost the lives of thousands of white and negro soldiers.

Pennsylvanians gave their lives in the struggle to unify this country. Pennsylvania was the battleground for part of this great war and Pennsylvania must not now participate in any activity which negates the very purposes for which the men died from 1861 to 1865; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby conditions the action of the Charleston, South Carolina, hotel in refusing its accommodations to Mrs. Williams; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby requests the members of the Pennsylvania Unit of the National Civil War Centennial Commission to refuse to participate in any activities of the National Civil War Centennial Commission which involves discrimination against any one of its members; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of Pennsylvania, to the National Civil War Centennial Commission and to the Pennsylvania unit of that Commission.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. McCANN, EILBERG, DOUGHERTY, MUSTO, TOMPKINS, A. W. JOHNSON and HELM.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 54.

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1961.

Whereas, Arab nations, functioning as the Arab League, have been conducting a boycott of American citizens, business and Industry, and have blacklisted all American ships which have touched at Israeli ports of call, and

Whereas, American citizens of the Jewish faith are generally not permitted to disembark on Arab soil, by land, sea, or air, and are generally excluded from private employment in any capacity in any Arab owned or controlled, company, and

Whereas, Approximately 500 American business firms, a number of them in Pennsylvania, during 1960 received warnings through the United States mails from Arab boycott officers in Damascus and Kuwait that if Americans have commercial dealings with Israel, they must forego doing business with Arab countries, and

Whereas, The United States Navy reserves the option to cancel the charter of any vessel carrying Navy cargo, if any Arab country refuses to allow the vessel to load or unload cargo, because the ship's charterers or owners have previously done business with Israel, and

Whereas, With the approval of the Department of Agriculture, Commodity Credit Corporation and the United States Navy, contracts for the shipment of United States surplus wheat to the United Arab Republic provide that the vessel may not have traded at Israeli ports, and

Whereas, Both the Democratic Party platform and the Republican Party platform of 1960 pledged the protection of the rights of American citizens to travel, to pursue lawful trade, and to engage in other lawful activities abroad without distinction as to race or religion; and to seek an end to transit and trade restrictions, blockades and blacklists, and further pledged to secure freedom of navigation on international waterways; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the Department of State be hereby respectfully memorialized to take a firm position against Arab interference in the conduct of the affairs of American citizens and businessmen, and to abstain from any cooperation with Arab League boycott activities and policies, and to resist any efforts by Arab nations to maintain or widen its boycott activities in Pennsylvania and the United States and to exert all possible efforts and utilize its resources to the fulfillment of the spirit and purposes of this Resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the United States restate the position of the United States in opposiion to these acts of discrimination against Americans and that he instruct the United States delegation to the United Nations to make known the sentiments expressed in this resolution in every possible manner; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Senate of the Commonwealth to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to each member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to the legislatures of the states in the United States.

COMMITTEE ESCORTING THE GOVERNOR

The LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee to escort the Governor, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable David L. Lawrence.

The LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. At this time, ladies and gentlemen, it is my privilege to present to you the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE

Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker and Members of the General Assembly:

I am grateful for your courtesy in permitting me to come before you today, which I do in full confidence that we share a common purpose. We desire—all of us—to provide for this State the very best program in public education which we can possibly achieve.

We should agree to no lesser goal.

We should agree that nothing is more important to our future, and that no other public responsibility weighs more heavily upon us.

The Legislature itself took the initiative in this matter in a Resolution passed on September 14, 1959. In that Resolution, sponsored by both Democratic and Republican members of the House of Representatives, the Governor was requested to appoint a Committee to study and report educational problems, to review the whole scope of our State's massive effort and to report on our necessities for the years that lie ahead.

As you know, I welcomed your request and I followed your instructions. The Committee that has functioned, pursuant to your Resolution has been broadly constituted, and is thus representative of every facet of our State's life. It has been truly nonpartisan. It has included distinguished representation from the Legislature itself, evenly divided between the Parties. The Committee worked for exactly one year and a day from the time of its appointment to the time of its final Report, and it worked diligently and well.

The result of its work is now before us. More importantly, it is now before the people of this State who have elected us to act for them. We would be unfaithful trustees indeed, if we did not act now in anticipation of future problems; if we considered that our own limited terms of service absolved us of responsibility for adopting now—in this Session—the guide lines which will lead us to a consistent improvement in our educational program for the years to come.

It is not my purpose today to offer a digest of the Committee's Report, nor to comment upon its many recommendations. I have come before you to urge you to accept it as a call to action. We should welcome the Report as a frank analysis of our weaknesses—you will remember that the House Resolution called for "workable plans to avoid duplication of past mistakes"—and we should use the Report as a blueprint to effect "the far-reaching plans for public education" which were demanded in that same Resolution.

Many reports, many projections of future public responsibilities, have been received in the past, and promptly filed and forgotten by irresponsible officials who did not wish to meet the problems that were placed before them. There are always those who will say, like the profligate King of France who wasted his Country's substance, "After us, the deluge"—and continue to evade hard facts and harder choices. And I am sure that many people will say that we too will sweep this Report under the rug, that we will let the deluge of unmet needs in education fall on our successors to their distress and to this State's great and enduring harm.

But we would be forever shamed if we so jeopardized our children's future—if we allowed this Report and the grave problems it presents to become just another forgotten public document.

I am sure that none of us will necessarily agree with every word of the Report, as we examine it in detail, nor that we can expect it to be adopted without due consideration, debate, and consequent possible modification.

Equally, I am sure that there will be general agreement with the main theme of the Report—the recurrent demonstration that we must use State support of education in Pennsylvania to achieve excellence in education in our State; that State dollars, shared on a State-wide basis of one for one, should be the impetus to enrich the curriculum, improve the quality of teaching and the compensation for such quality, modernize our structure of school administration, and meet specialized needs for both the gifted and the handicapped.

There will be agreement, too, I am sure, with the goal in the report of 300,000 young Pennsylvanians in colleges and universities by 1970.

The demands—and they will increase over the years—for public investment of tax dollars in education will be great, but they are not beyond the capacity of a productive economy and a rational distribution of the tax burden between the Federal, the State, and the local governments.

But the flow of money from the State, or from Washington, for that matter, is no guarantee of value received, of performance which will produce excellence in education.

We must have a structure which will use money wisely; we must have local school districts with both the organization and the incentives to develop a maximum local effort not only in dollars but in efficiency and standards.

It is obvious that it will not be easy to finance the program we require—but that it can be done.

It is obvious also that it will be just as difficult to change old ways and old habits, to adopt patterns of school administration that fit today's consolidated high school instead of yesterday's one room schoolhouse. And this too can be done, if we have the determination—the lasting determination—to do it.

Finally, it is obvious that it is not a moment too soon to begin now the work that will shape the school curricula, the school administration, the community colleges, the scholarship aids, the school financing that we will need in these 1960's.

Accordingly, I have made the Report of the Committee my bedside book—marked for reading and re-reading. I commend it to each of you.

Within the Executive Branch of the government, I am directing the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Secretary of Administration, and the Executive Secretary to the Governor to complete an analysis of the Report which will list such recommendations as might be put into effect by executive order. I will then decide as to the scheduling of such orders.

I would suggest to the Legislature that each house create a select committee, equally divided between the parties, to consider legislation which might be appropriately introduced and acted upon at this Session.

The three officers of the Executive Branch will, of course, be available to the select committees and will be my liaison with their membership.

The Legislature, constitutionally and properly, will decide the course of its deliberations, in this and every other session. But if I might venture a suggestion, it would seem to me possible that we could—by working together—clear the decks of this Session of all major legislation pending before it in a measurable and foreseeable time.

The spirit of this Session has been commendable. With but one exception, the Revenue Program for the General Fund Budget has been enacted. You have financed the greatest highway program in the history of this State. Fair housing is now the law of the Commonwealth. The House has enacted excellent bills for tourist promotion, library assistance, and billboard control which, I am sure, can be promptly agreed to in the Senate. The Senate has passed the highway safety package, including radar, and I am quite sure that it will be speedily enacted in the House. The Senate has completed its hearings on the Delaware Basin Compact.

Of course, there is still much to do, but if we all work hard and in a spirit of accomodation, it would seem that it could be quickly accomplished.

I would hope that the House and Senate Leadership on both sides of the aisle would confer and agree upon a target date for a clearance of the Session's responsibilities in every area of government except education.

In this way, education and the program envisioned in the Committee's Report would become our only substantial business. We then might devote our full efforts to education until the tasks incumbent upon this Session are completed. I do not think this is an impractical goal. I hope it commends itself to you.

Finally, I am sure I speak for all of us when I express our sense of gratitude to the members of the Governor's Committee on Education; to its Chairman, the Lieutenant Governor; and to its able staff for the work they have done for our common benefit.

It is another instance of Pennsylvanians, with complete unselfishness, rendering a public service of exemplary worth.

I hope that those of us in office, the members of this House and Senate and the Governor, can do as selfless and as thorough a job. For after all, as I have said to you many times, what we do in these great affairs cannot be successful if it is regarded as a Governor's Program or the program of a political opposition, if it is marked as a Democratic Program or a Republican Program.

It must be a program for Pennsylvania.

To that good purpose, each of us must be prepared to give the best he has—in wisdom, in courage, in hard work, and in devotion to the people whom we serve.

I appeal to you to unite in a determined effort to build in this State an educational program which will not only meet our needs but which can stand proudly as a model for all the Nation.

Now it is up to us. It is in our hands to translate ideas into program, to convert recommendations into positive action. Have we the interest, the sense of duty, the courage to make the hard decisions now before us—that is the question.

Only we can provide the answer. I have no doubt what that answer must—and will—be.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Governor Lawrence, on behalf of the members of the General Assembly, I want to thank you for your message.

The committee on the part of the Senate and the House will now escort His Excellency, The Governor, to his chambers.

THE SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Joint Session of the Senate and House be printed in full in this day's Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MAXWELL asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to meet during the session of the House.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to call the attention of the House to a resolution on page 26 of today's calendar, House Resolution 48, printer's No. 1308. The purpose of this resolution is to shorten procedure on second-reading bills when there are no amendments to be made to the bills.

At the present time the rules provide that the bill be read by sections. As those bills are called up, the Chair says, "The clerk will read the bill." Then he says, "The clerk will read the first section." And he then says, "The title will be read." Then, "Will the House agree to the title?" "Will the House agree to the bill?" "Will the House agree to transcribe the bill for third reading?"

Under this rule we would proceed with second-reading bills that are not amended after this fashion:

"Bills on second reading. House bill 8, printer's No. 8. Is this bill called up? Called up by the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Rovansek. The clerk will read the bill."

"Will the House agree to the bill?" "Agreed to."

"Will the House agree to transcribe the bill for third reading?" "Agreed to."

That bill is just as legal as if it had gone through the whole rigamarole.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House bill No. 8, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58) providing for restrictions on speed of certain vehicles in certain cases and penalties for violation thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House bill No. 146, entitled:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Loyalty Act" approved December 22, 1951 (P. L. 1726) providing for the filing of loyalty oaths by persons nominated or elected as write-in candidates.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering if the Republican floor leader, Mr. Johnson, since you gave him a demonstration of the change in the rule, would desire to adopt the rule or discuss it in caucus first, since it was explained to every member now?

That is the rule on page 26, which the Speaker just now quoted.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, because of the firm rule we have on this side not to move anything without caucus action, we have discussed the rule in policy committee, but it must be submitted to our caucus. So just hold it and we will be on the floor again soon to give you our answer.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House bill No. 203, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) establishing the State Auctioneer's Commission as a departmental administrative commission in the Department of Public Instruction fixing the qualifications and compensation of members and imposing certain duties on the commission.

The SPEAKER. The first section will be read.

The CLERK. Section 1 . . .

The SPEAKER. Will the House agree to the section?

Agreed to.

If we abided by the rule, we would proceed to read the second section, and if there were 40 sections in the bill and we abided by the rule, we would read 40 sections.

The title will be read.

Will the House agree to the title?

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. DOUGHERTY asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Cities—Counties First Class to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER. House bill 216, printer's No. 1340. There are 33 sections in this bill. Does the majority leader desire that the clerk read each of the 33 sections?

The Chair desires the attention of the minority leader. House bill 216, printer's No. 1340, has 33 sections. The rule would require that we read each section. Does the minority leader want us to read each section?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We waive the requirement, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Do you waive the rule, or do you waive it for just this particular bill?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear your last remark. I am sorry.

The SPEAKER. Do you waive the rule in toto, or do you waive the rule simply in the case of this particular bill?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I personally would be willing that you waive the reading of the sections for the duration of the second-reading calendar.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am suggesting that we are not attacking this measure in a parliamentary fashion, nor are we abiding by the rules of the House.

It is not within the province of anybody to ask anybody . . .

The SPEAKER. By unanimous consent any rule of the House can be suspended temporarily.

Mr. McCORMACK. I agree with the Speaker heartily, but as . . .

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia object to the temporary suspension of the rule?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, sir, but I did not hear any motion made that we temporarily suspend . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair asked were there any objections and that is unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER. Are there any objections to that procedure?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, are these amendments controversial?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that when any amendment is questionable in any member's mind that he questions the sponsor of the amendment as to what the amendment does or is supposed to do. The Chair cannot, himself, decide whether an amendment is controversial or not, that is, for the members on the floor of the House.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, if I may answer, as a rule you ask whether the amendments are controversial, but in this case I will ask permission to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GAILEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Will the gentleman explain what these amendments do?

Mr. GAILEY. I would be happy to, Mr. Speaker.

These amendments are the result of questioning on the floor at the time this bill originally failed on final passage. It was pointed out by some of the members of the House that certain lands are, by virtue of constitutional provisions, limited to certain uses. These amendments are inserted to make it specifically clear in the bill that lands which the constitution restrict to a certain use may not, by this device, be in turn used for something else.

I may add that these amendments have been given to the respective floor leaders and, to my knowledge, they help to remedy the bill and are not controversial.

Mr. ISAACS. That is all I wanted to know, Mr. Speaker. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that the gentleman explains his amendments.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, at the present time we have in various sections of the assessment laws that the county commissioners shall submit to the municipal subdivision a tax duplicate.

The SPEAKER. These amendments are offered by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, who is now explaining them.

Mr. MURPHY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

At the present time the assessment law provides specifically that an assessment duplicate shall be given to first class townships and, in another section, to third class cities. There is no provision in the assessment code whereby the county may or should furnish other municipal subdivisions with a tax duplicate. Consequently, when they are so providing us with these duplicates they are perhaps doing something that is not strictly according to Hoyle. We know that they must provide us with a tax duplicate or we cannot levy taxes on a municipal level.

What we want to do by this act is bring second class townships and boroughs into the assessment law, making it mandatory that the county commissioners of the county shall provide all municipal subdivisions with a tax duplicate on or before April 1, because, as you know, we must submit our local municipal budget in the very early months of each fiscal year. We would like to have those duplicates delivered lawfully and mandatorily on or before April 1.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have found that on second reading on House bill 363, two of the amendments are here. On page 4, House bill 363, which has moved to third reading, I would request that the Speaker assist me in bringing the bill back to second reading so the amendments may be inserted for printed form.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, could I ask one question? I have a bill marked that was given to me by the minority leader for the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, on Senate bill 31, printer's No. 486, but I have no amendments.

Does the gentleman have the amendments?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I was talking to Mr. Fineman and, in answer to the gentleman's question, I understood he was handling this bill. The amendments are on my desk. However, there seems to be some question whether or not the amendments are needed. I talked to Mr. Fineman and said I would have the Justice Department give me an opinion on it tomorrow, and if they are needed, then apparently no one has any obections to the amendments. In fact, I talked to Mr. Turrell just this afternoon, the director of the particular bureau of Internal Affairs, and he told me he had no objections to the amendments and he feels they should be in there. So I will hold it over until tomorrow or Wednesday. Then we will be ready to roll it.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. AUKER. I will have it ready tomorrow if I can get clearance from the Justice Department.

CORRECTION

The SPEAKER. Are we now ready to ask for reports from committees, or are there committees out?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there is one committee out, but I would like to go to page 19 and note a correction.

The SPEAKER. A printing error on the calendar on House bill 690, printer's No. 775. The bill passed the House on April 5, so my notes say.

BIRTHDAYS

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, has a birthday today, and, as we all know, she grows more charming with the years and therefore should not be backward about birthdays. Each year endears her in the memory and regard of the House.

I presume that the good Doctor, if he is around, will go through the usual performance.

(Members joined in singing "Happy Birthday")

The SPEAKER. After the remarks the Chair made he believes he should have been permitted to participate in the ceremony at the microphone.

The Chair recognizes the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker.

Mrs. KOOKER. I will be very happy to include the Speaker, if he so desires.

Mr. Speaker, I just want to acknowledge your kind felicitations and to tell you I could not spend a birthday among any finer friends than I have here on both sides of the House, and if the Speaker wishes to participate in the same kind of felicitations my two colleagues participated in, I shall extend him that courtesy any time he so desires.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wants to say that if he accepted the lady's permission for the osculatory salute, I would have to have a photograph of it because nobody would believe it if I told them back home.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands there is another birthday, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McKeever. Is that right?

Shall we have another song?

(Members joined in singing "Happy Birthday")

Mr. McKEEVER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is one day earlier, but I enjoy two birthdays this year, today and tomorrow. I want to thank you very much, I spent seven years here, most pleasant, with friends on both sides of the House. Thank you very much.

By unanimous consent leaves of absence were granted as follows:

The amendments are agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 31, entitled:

An Act authorizing the licensing of public weighmasters defining their powers and duties providing for the collection and disposition of license fees and imposing penalties for violations.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. AUKER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 6, page 3, by inserting between lines 15 and 16:

"Any person whose application for a public weighmaster's license is refused by the director may within thirty days after notice thereof, file a petition in the court of common pleas wherein the applicant resides or wherein he intends to perform duties as a licensed public weighmaster for a hearing de novo to determine whether the action of the director is lawful and reasonable. The court shall hear the petition and may make any appropriate order or decree.

Amend Sec. 19, page 9, by inserting between lines 17 and 18:

"Any licensee whose license is suspended or revoked by the director may, within thirty days after notice thereof, file a petition in the court of common pleas of the county wherein the licensee resides or wherein the licensee performs his duties as a licensed public weighmaster, for a hearing de novo to determine whether the action of the director is lawful and reasonable. The court shall hear the petition and may make any appropriate order or decree."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bill for concurrence No. 273.

Amended House bill returned for concurrence No. 388.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is requesting the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton, to preside temporarily.

Mr. HAMILTON IN THE CHAIR

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mrs. KOOKER from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, reported as amended, House bill No. 735, entitled:

An Act regulating the manufacture of stuffed toys intended for sale, gift or use in Pennsylvania; providing for registration of such manufacturers, the paying of a fee for such registration, the issuance of a seal of approval to such manufacturers; * * * and providing penalties.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the plans for today were that we would caucus for 45 minutes. We quit promptly at the appointed time, and I think it is reprehensible to call a committee meeting for a highly controversial bill and tie us up here so that we are not going to get anything done today. It is almost quitting time. I do not know whether the committee is back or not, but I believe when we make a plan that we are going to proceed in an orderly manner, we should do so. This delay is unconscionable and I think we should register our disapproval of it.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. KING asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 727, printer's No. 800

was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on page 20 I call up the first bill of the day, House bill 730, printer's number 803.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 730, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code" approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103) increasing the amount which supervisors may expend on abandoned cemeteries.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman.

Mr. HOLMAN. Mr. Speaker, I understand this bill merely raises the sum township supervisors may spend for neglected cemeteries from $100 to $200.

The intent of this bill is very reasonable. I have no disagreement with caring for cemeteries. However I point out that $100 is not satisfactory; $200 will not be satisfactory. Whenever there is such a bill for a cemetery that is desired to be maintained, it usually comes into court on the petition of taxpayers. When it comes in, the township supervisors have to determine whether they are going to spend $100 on such a cemetery and, if they do it on one, they do it on all the cemeteries within their jurisdiction.

I feel that the veterans' groups, the DAR and organizations of this nature certainly could make a community project of maintaining such cemeteries and put the tax burden on the people. The second class townships need every cent they can get to maintain their roads, and it is my feeling that to raise this from $100 to $200 will just increase the number of petitions that will be presented to the court and cause an undue burden on the budget. This will reflect itself in lack of care of township roads.

I feel that the maintenance of cemeteries is a private matter, and public groups, if they desire to maintain them, should do so at their own expense and not at the expense of the taxpayers.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to vote "aye" on this House bill No. 730. My vote did not register.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the hour of 6 o'clock having arrived and the agreed order of the day being that of adjournment, I move this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 11, 1961, at 2:30 p.m., e.s.t. I ask for a roll call on the motion.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has every right to make the motion that he did that the House adjourn. The agreement was that we would vote on legislation until 6 o'clock. That bill was brought up before 6 o'clock. Following that the desk would be cleared. There was no intention of bringing up any other bills, even though the gentleman made the motion to adjourn. There are committee reports, but it is perfectly all right, they will be reported tomorrow in proper session, if this is the attitude the gentleman feels is proper. There was no breaking of any commitment that we would vote bills until 6 p.m. and none would be called after 6 p.m.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. This motion is not debatable except by the majority leader and the minority leader. The question is on the motion.

The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that it will take just a few minutes to clear the desk and to receive reports from committees, and then we will promptly adjourn?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that there are committee meeting announcements and there are committee reports to call from the floor. I do not know if the Speaker has any messages from the Senate. That is all that is before this House. There would be no bills voted after 6 p.m.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Do I understand then that the bill the gentleman ran was the only bill he intended to run today?

Mr. McCANN. If it had been 6 o'clock, even it would not have run. Six o'clock was the time.

MOTION TO ADJOURN WITHDRAWN

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will temporarily withdraw my motion to hear the reports from committees, providing it can be done expeditely and without undue delay.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from McKean withdraws his motion to adjourn.

SENATE

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 1961

The Senate met at 2:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Albert R. Pechan) in the Chair

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend ANTHONY C. MARRA, of Mother of Grace Church, Hazleton, offered the following prayer:

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

O God, Creator and Lord of all things, Thou Who didst give order to the Universe and everything in it, graciously look down upon this selected group whose purpose is to formulate and enact laws for this great Commonwealth of ours.

Enlighten their minds so that they may clearly perceive the object of civil legislation; namely, the natural welfare of the State and of its individual members in order that they may live in peace and justice, with a sufficiency of those goods that are necessary for physical conservation and comfort, and with those moral conditions which are required for well-being and public prosperity. With this responsibility before them, grant them, O Supreme Lawmaker, the wisdom to see that all earthly laws are good and proper only if they flow from Divine Order. Grant them understanding so they may keenly become aware of the needs of the people whom they represent. Grant them fortitude so they may have the courage to do what is right; to speak and act against evil and insidious practices. Grant them piety so they may do Thy will in all things.

Finally, Dear God, grant them charity so they may be ever solicitous for the welfare of their fellow man for Thy Sake.

We ask these favors in the name of Thy Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. SEYLER, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

STUDENTS WELCOMED TO THE SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, again, today, it is my pleasure to introduce an outstanding group of schoolchildren from Allentown. These children are excellent examples of the superb educational program that we have in the city of Allentown and here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This group consists of the Fifth Grade Opportunity Class from the Jefferson Elementary School, in Allentown. Their teacher is Mrs. Ellen Boyer.

You might be interested to know, Mr. President, that there are those in this class of fifth graders who can type fifty-five words a minute, without making a mistake. They have had three years of German. They write theme papers, comparable to what many of us did when we were in the eighth, ninth and tenth grades. They are outstanding Opportunity School Students and I would like to present them to you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Would the students please rise, in order for them to be greeted by the Senate?

We are very happy to have these flowers from Lehigh County with us, Senator Van Sant. My congratulations on the good work which they are doing.

I have just gleaned another bit of knowledge about this group of students. Among the group of students we just greeted is Miss Nancy Van Sant, who is the president of the group. Will she please rise?

That applause is all for you, Nancy. I just broke your Dad down to tell me about that. However, we are glad that you brought your group here today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, since the 1955 Session, I have introduced bills in the interest of controlled epileptics. Controlled epileptics, throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, are large in number. However, unlike many retarded, crippled children, they have no State organization to champion their cause. For this reason, they have been handicapped over a period of years in many of their pursuits in earning a living, in attending school and in driving automobiles.

It is interesting to note that in 1959, one of the series of bills which I introduced, on behalf of the controlled epileptics, was a bill which would permit them to drive automobiles if their epilepsy were controlled. Unfortunately, the Director of the Bureau of Highway Safety at that time, opposed the bill and it died in committee. It was interesting to note that last February, when the Governor's Highway Safety Program was introduced, by administrative order, controlled epileptics could drive automobiles.

Therefore, Mr. President, today, I would like, along with two other bills affecting controlled epileptics, to present these bills with the hope that they will go on the record and the great advancements of medicine in this Commonwealth and in this Country will be recognized by the Senate, the House and the Governor of Pennsylvania.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. VAN SANT presented to the Chair SB 512, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," providing in certain cases for the licensing of epileptics and persons suffering from other impairments.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also presented to the Chair SB 513, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for admission to colleges of certain persons.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also presented to the Chair SB 514, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 2, 1915 (P. L. 736), entitled, as amended, "The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act," providing for reimbursement by the Commonwealth to employers, the State Workmen's Insurance Fund and insurance carriers for awards of compensation and expenses paid in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO presented to the Chair SB 515, entitled:

An Act prescribing qualifications and the procedure for the admission of certain United States Senators, Congressmen and members of the General Assembly to practice as attorneys-at-law; creating a committee to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, the President pro tempore of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives to function in connection therewith and imposing duties on the prothonotary of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also presented to the Chair SB 516, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," removing nonresident provisions and providing for filing surety bonds after accidents.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. KROMER and SARRAF presented to the Chair SB 517, entitled:

An Act relating to the practice of massotherapy; providing for the examination, licensing, registration and regulation of practitioners of massotherapy; creating the State Board of Massotherapy Examiners; defining its powers and duties; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Public Instruction; and fixing penalties for violations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Messrs. YATRON, SEYLER and HAYS presented to the Chair SB 518, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 5, 1947 (P. L. 426), entitled "The Pennsylvania Seed Act of 1947," defining treated seeds and providing for the sale thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. YATRON presented to the Chair SB 519, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," permitting school bus signal lamps to be operated when the bus is not being used for transportation of school children to and from school.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen, the photographer is about ready to take the official photograph of the Senate. The Senate will be at ease until this has been completed.

(Official photograph was then taken.)

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, during the Session of 1957, I sponsored a bill which would construct a high level bridge over the Allegheny River at Freeport. The bridge has been designed and it is now in the process of being contracted for.

We would like to name this bridge in honor of a boy who gave his life for his Country during World War II and who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. This movement has been spearheaded by various civic groups, the American Legion and the Veterans' of Foreign Wars of Armstrong County.

For the record, I would like to give some explanation as to why this bridge should be named in honor of Donald R. Lobaugh. He was cited for conspicuous galantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty, near Afua, New Guinea, on July 22, 1944.

Private Lobaugh's Company was withdrawn from its position on July 21. The enemy attacked and cut off approximately one platoon of one troop. The platoon immediately occupied, organized and deferred a position which it held throughout the night.

Early on July 22, an attempt was made to effect its withdrawal but, during the preparation thereof, the enemy emplaced a machine gun, protected by the fire of rifles and automatic weapons, which blocked the only route over which the platoon could move. Knowing that it was the key to the enemy position, Private Lobaugh volunteered to attempt to destroy this weapon, even though, in order to reach it, he would be forced to work his way about thirty yards over ground devoid of cover. When part way across this open space, he threw a hand grenade, but exposed himself in the act and was wounded. Heedless of his wound, he boldly rushed the emplacement, firing as he advanced. The enemy concentrated their fire on him. He was struck repeatedly, but continued his attack and killed two more before he was himself slain.

Private Lobaugh's heroic actions inspired his comrades to press the attack and to drive the enemy from the position with heavy losses. His fighting determination and intrepidity in battle exemplified the highest traditions of the Armed Forces of the United States.

Private Lobaugh was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was a Private in the 127th Infantry of the 32nd Infantry Division. He was born in Freeport, Pennsylvania, and entered the Service from Freeport.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PECHAN presented to the Chair SB 520, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 27, 1957 (P. L. 203), entitled, as amended, "An act authorizing the Department of Highways, with the approval of the Governor, to erect and maintain a high level bridge over the Allegheny River, near Freeport, Armstrong County . . .," naming the bridge The Donald R. MISS DOROTHY LAMOUR PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen, I have a particular treat in mind for you today. We are honored by the presence of a lovely lady whom I am sure all of you have known, if not personally, by her appearances on the screens of our Country. My public relations aide, Mr. Peter Wambach, is bringing forward Miss Dorothy Lamour. I wonder whether she would come to the rostrum.

Miss Lamour, would you say something to our Senators?

REMARKS BY MISS DOROTHY LAMOUR

Miss LAMOUR. I would be delighted to but actually you know I am a woman, and for the first time I think in my life I am speechless. That is really saying something.

I have had the pleasure of meeting your very fine Governor before, and quite a few of the gentlemen here and I do not want to impose upon any more of your time.

My heart is pounding; I mean it. To say it is a great thrill and pleasure to be here is putting it very mildly. Thank you for inviting me.

The PRESIDENT. I am very happy that one of the "Roads" Miss Lamour has starred in has brought her here to our Senate.

I have the feeling that Miss Lamour's presence has rendered not only her lovely self speechless, but perhaps it is a good time to bring up the question of Original Resolutions in this Body. Perhaps she has rendered some of you gentlemen speechless.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Rooney.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, my heart is pounding.

The PRESIDENT. Time out will be taken while Senator Rooney meets our lovely visitor.

Thank you so, Miss Lamour, for being here.

Now, Senator Rooney, you may proceed.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I think this is the first time I have ever been speechless on this floor.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO BISHOP JOSEPH McSHEA, OF ALLENTOWN

Messrs. ROONEY, VAN SANT, WAGNER, YATRON and SCOTT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 38), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 11, 1961.

The five county area of Berks, Carbon, Lehigh, Northampton and Schuylkill in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was recently created the Diocese of Allentown and the Most Reverend Joseph McShea, D.D., was appointed as its first Ordinary.

A Pennsylvania native and born in Lattimer, he was ordained to the priesthood in Rome and taught at St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook. He served in the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Church in Rome and later served as Secretary to the Apostolic Delegate in Washington, D. C. He was named Titular Bishop of Mina and Auxiliary to Cardinal O'Hara in 1952.

He is known and respected for his administrative skill and learning, holding doctorates in both sacred theology and law.

The people of the Allentown Diocese can be justly proud to have as their spiritual leader such a distinguished prelate who has conducted himself in his work with distinction and honor; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends to the Most Reverend Joseph McShea, its deepest and fond wishes for continued success in his new undertaking as the first Bishop of the Diocese of Allentown; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Most Reverend Joseph McShea, Bishop of Allentown, Allentown, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to introduce at this time a more somber note inasmuch as tomorrow marks the anniversary of the death of one of the truly great Presidents of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who served an unprecedented four terms, the fourth term of which was cut short by his untimely death. I think truly—and history will bear this out—he was one of the greatest men this Country has produced; a man who lived through a greatly trying time in a period of economic stress and a period of time when the world was thrown into a great conflict, which put American boys and women throughout every land in the world and where many of them gave their lives. Through all of this, this man was the Commander-in-Chief of the greatest army the United States has ever put in the field. Truly, he died as a great soldier, as much so as the man who was killed on the battlefield.

On behalf of myself, and the entire Democratic Membership of the Senate, I am offering this resolution and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Mr. WEINER, on behalf of the Democratic Membership of the Senate, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 39), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 11, 1961.

On the 12th day of April, sixteen years ago, the entire free world mourned the loss of one of its best known and most dearly loved citizens, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

This outstanding American who, through his unselfish and seemingly tireless efforts, raised our Country from the depth of depression and led us to victory over our enemies, skillfully moulded our future for many years to come.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who gave his life for his country as surely as did any man killed on the battlefield, will rightfully be remembered as the greatest American of the century; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby pays tribute to Franklin D. Roosevelt upon the 16th anniversary of his untimely death, and recalls with admiration and respect his outstanding accomplishments and his contributions to our well-being, both individually and as a Nation; and, be it further

Resolved, That we look to the example set by Franklin D. Roosevelt as a man completely devoted to his fellow man, and that we reflect upon his leadership and strive toward the ideals which he has set for us; and, be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt at Hyde Park, New York.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in connection with this resolution, many of us and many other Americans were in rather violent disagreement with some of the domestic policies of this great man. However, it cannot be doubted that he was a great patriot and a great leader during the time of the most terrible conflict in which this Country was ever engaged, and his impact upon the history of this Nation will remain for many, many years hereafter.

We, on this side, respect his accomplishments and we desire to join in this resolution by seconding its adoption.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

STUDENTS WELCOMED TO THE SENATE

Mr. YATRON. Mr. President, I would like to request that the Chair acknowledge the presence of a group of students from Berks County, with their teachers. They are students from the Wilson Joint School System in Berks County, who are here visiting our State Capitol under the direction of Mr. Griesmer and other teachers.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Yatron, this is the group that I met this morning?

Mr. YATRON. Yes, Sir.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you.

Would the group of students from the Wilson Joint School, Berks County, please rise?

On behalf of the Senate, we are very happy to have you here today. As I told you earlier when you first came into this room, I do hope that you will find your day of great interest, and that you will find in this the possibility of you also, as you grow older, aspiring to public service.

We are always glad to have youngsters see the future of America in public service for their fellow citizens. Thank you for coming.

It is now the Chair's privilege to turn the Presiding Officer's position over to our brother, Senator, Senator Sesler of Erie County.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William G. Sesler) in the Chair.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

WEEKLY ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HALUSKA offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 11, 1961.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McCREESH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Stiefel, Senator Camiel and myself, all three great lovers of American history, I am offering this resolution and request its immediate adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

THANKS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE DESCENDANTS OF THOSE CITIZENS OF PENNSYLVANIA WHO FOUGHT IN THE CIVIL WAR

Messrs. McCREESH, STIEFEL and CAMIEL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 40), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, April 11, 1961.

April 12, 1961 marks the 100th anniversary of the attack by the forces of the South against Fort Sumpter, in Charlestown, South Carolina. This was the beginning of one of the bloodiest wars on record. It was a war that ended in victory for the North but only after thousands of people had lost their lives in defense of the Union. Without the brave efforts of the Union men, we might stand today as a divided Nation.

The people of Pennsylvania played a very important role in gaining the victory. As all the world knows, the last great battle of the Civil War was fought here in Pennsylvania at Gettysburg. The contributions made by Pennsylvanians to preserve the Union are so great that it is impossible to enumerate them here.

There are many members of the General Assembly who have descendants who fought in the Civil War. To these people and to all the others who helped in this battle for preservation of the Union of States, we here in the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania want to say thanks; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pause at this time to give our heartfelt note of thanks to the descendants of those citizens of our State who aided in keeping the United States an undivided Nation and a Nation that we can all be proud to live in; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Historical and Museum Commission for safekeeping on this, the 100th anniversary of the Civil War.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 30—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 73—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 94—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. BERGER.

SB 99—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 294—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 294 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have no particular antipathy to this bill, but I am still waiting for a good explanation as to what it is intended to accomplish. I understand that it is to bring the Pennsylvania law into line with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

However, Mr. President, I am wondering about the language on page 3. I believe we will be able to get an explanation on that next week. Therefore, I have requested that the bill go over in its order at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

HB 635 and 636—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that House Bills Nos. 635 and 636 go over in their order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like for someone to tell me why we are delaying these two measures. They have been passed during previous Sessions. I am glad to see that my close friend, associate and colleague, from Delaware County will benefit as well as we will. The airport lies right up against his county. As a matter of fact, it is not only contiguous to it, but somewhat in his county.

I do not think that this continuous delay will help these measures in any way. Everyone agreed in committee that they were in favor of these bills. There was no one who spoke against them and they were reported from committee. These bills have passed the House, with Members on both sides voting for them. If somebody will tell me the inherent error or problem these bills are creating, I will be very happy to address myself to that.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I should be very happy to answer the inquiry of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

These bills deal with funds which go to the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission for expenditure in and about the airports and air-navigation aids.

Yesterday, this Senate confirmed Malcolm Hay as the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. That action also confirmed him as the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission. I would, therefore, like thesse bills delayed until the new Adjutant General has had a chance to study them. This is not at his request. It is at my request.

I have served on that Aeronautics Commission and I believe there are very dangerous defects in this type of legislation. If these bills get to the Third Reading Calendar, I propose to debate them. However, I think, at this time, with due deference to the Governor's appointment of on Adjutant General, these bills should be held over until he has a chance to look at them and study them.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr President, would the gentleman please advise us whether he voted for these bills during the Session of two years ago?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I will be very happy to answer that question.

I not only voted against them, but I debated against them and called to the attention of the House of Representatives, at that time, the fact that these bills could result in a loss to the Commonwealth of revenues of $60,000 to $70,000 a year. As a member of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, I know this has resulted in a physical loss of at least $1,000 per month. If you take the amount of money which this could have meant, it represents a loss to the Commonwealth of some $60,000 a year. When you match that amount with matching funds, that means a quarter of a million dollars of airport construction which was lost.

In the present Session, the Aeronautics Commission is short of money. There is a bill in the House, appropriating $3,500,000 out of the General Fund to be used in airport construction, at the same time when we are raising taxes on the people to pay the cost of our schools.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state his point of order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I merely asked for an answer and not a speech.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe I am the one who has the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I believe the gentleman asked a question and requested an answer.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, the gentleman is getting an answer.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will be happy to debate these bills with the gentleman. That is not my point.

I would like the gentleman to please answer one more question, but no speeches, please; just an answer. Would the gentleman please advise us whether this has caused any harm to the airports in the Commonwealth?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I will answer that, but I will not give a "yes" or "no" answer. I will give a complete answer.

It has harmed the airports of Pennsylvania because the money from the tax on airplanes—on the gas and jet fuels—is being used to build all airports. These same jet liners, which are demanding so many millions of dollars for runway construction from this same Aeronautics Fund, want to have their fuels tax lowered.

In the city of Philadelphia, there is an airport and there is a runway which extends into my county. Shortly, additional moneys are to be sought to extend this jet aircraft runway. It is going to be paid for with a tax on all aircraft gasoline. That is why I say that this does hurt the airports in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman for his courtesy and for the answers he gave us.

I also would like to point out that the gentleman is in error. These two bills have been supported by the people who run the airports and everyone who is connected with flying. The reason for this is because these planes, before we enacted this legislation, used to arrive in Philadelphia and take on only the amount of jet fuel which they needed to get them out of there and into New York, Baltimore or wherever they were headed for. Since we enacted this legislation, it has resulted in a greater number of planes coming into the Philadelphia Airport and loading up. Therefore, we are now in this kind of a position: Suppose you do charge more money for your fuel, but no one buys it. What have you accomplished? On the other hand, if you reduce the price and a greater number of people take advantage of it, you will certainly make it up by the amount of volume which you pick up.

It has also helped the Philadelphia Airport to become a place where international flights will begin to take off and leave from there, rather than for our people going up to New York, Baltimore or Washington, D. C. I think that is more to be desired than the $60,000.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe that the gentleman objected awhile ago to debating the bills and the desirability of it. The question before the Senate is only a request that the bill go over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman's point is well taken and I will subside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bills will go over in their order.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Messrs. WEINER, SCOTT, SARRAF and DiSILVESTRO, by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 527, entitled:

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, since I have come to Harrisburg this week, I have had called to my attention a newspaper article which appeared in the Sunday edition of the Harrisburg Patriot-News. Then, again, I saw it in the Easton Express of Monday, April 10. Over a United Press International dateline, appears a story of a political meeting, in Chester, Pennsylvania, last Saturday, where the new Democratic State Chairman, Otis B. Morse, has charged the Delaware County Republican organization with responsibility for the recent closing of the Ford Motor Company plant there.

I charge this statement as not only being untrue, but extremely untimely. I condemn such political tactics as being irresponsible. I say this particularly because Mr. Morse should have known the facts, and these are the facts:

On February 14, there was a conference held in the office of His Honor, the Governor. Present at this conference were various representatives of the Department of Labor and Industry, the Governor's Administration, and also a Vice-President of the Ford Motor Company. The Vice-President of the Ford Motor Company stated that Ford was moving because of obsolescence of the plant and not for any other reason. Mr. Morse should have known that. I believe he was present at this conference. However, I will not say that as a fact.

This Ford Motor Plant was built in 1927. It was the oldest plant in the Ford Motor Company system. The cutback, as told to us, was in part due to the conversion from standard automobiles to compact cars. In talking to some of the United Auto Workers' representatives, I hear a rumor that it was because Ford was going to convert to unitized bodies. I do not even know what the word "unitized" means.

I have personal knowledge that Delaware County and Chester have a healthy labor and industrial climate. This is the reputation of both our county and the Chester city governments. Delaware County has had a constant gain in industries for the post-war years. We have hundreds of industries in Delaware County; to mention a few, Scott Paper Company, which has a wonderful new plant; Westinghouse Electric, Sun Oil and Sinclair. We have a healthy, local industrial and labor climate. Furthermore, there has been very close cooperation between our local officials and Governor Lawrence. I have complimented Governor Lawrence on this floor for this wonderful cooperation.

These are the facts, Mr. President, and they should have been known to Mr. Morse. Why do I condemn these remarks made by Mr. Morse? Gentlemen, when a large industry leaves a neighborhood, it is heartless to try to make political mileage on the personal tragedies of those who face the grim future of no weekly pay checks, especially by using untruths.

Gentlemen, even if it were true—and it is not true—what the Democratic State Chairman said, if he were interested in restoring employment and industry in Pennsylvania, he should know that press reports of this nature from seemingly responsible governmental leaders would stop new industry from coming in.

Let us look at the record. If there is an unhealthy political or governmental atmosphere in Pennsylvania, it lies on the State level. Despite the splendid efforts of Governor Lawrence, Secretary Davlin and Secretary Batt to attract new industry to Pennsylvania, we have the following on record:

In 1955, Governor Leader had a brain child. He was going to put an excise tax on manufacturers. It passed the House and was killed in the Senate.

In Pennsylvania, in this Session, we passed an eighty per cent acceleration of the Capital Stock and Income Tax. In other words, those of us who are trying to bring new industry into Pennsylvania have to tell them that they must pay an admission tax to bring industry into Pennsylvania; an admission tax of prepayment of eighty per cent of their taxes.

We also have a very poorly defined manufacturer's exemption in the sales tax. In different parts of Pennsylvania, the maufacturer's exemption is interpreted different ways. I know that legislation has been cosponsored in the Senate and in the House of Representatives to correct this.

May I remind you, gentlemen, that industry and business pay thirty to thirty-five per cent of the sales tax? Pennsylvania has the prospect facing new industry of a possible four per cent unemployment compensation tax on gross wages.

Finally, Delaware County is just across the river from New Jersey. New Jersey has no sales tax, no general tax and even a lower gas tax. I am not going to suggest that Pennsylvania has an unhealthy tax climate. Such would be irresponsibility.

I sincerely hope that Governor Lawrence's remarks that Pennsylvania now has a healthy business tax climate is true, because if it is not, we are in real trouble.

Gentlemen, may I suggest that the Democratic State Chairman follow Governor Lawrence's example of using factual presentations in seeking new industries? I only pray that his irresponsible remarks in Chester last Saturday have not driven away from Pennsylvania those two industries that were contemplating purchasing the Ford Motor Company plant. If he has done this, may he assume full responsibility for his remarks of last Saturday.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to get into a long wrangle about what somebody did or did not say, or what was quoted in the newspapers. I was not there and I did not hear it.

I do think it is interesting though that while the Senator is speaking about a good tax climate, he might think over his action on House Bill No. 635 and House Bill No. 636. This is part of an opportunity to bring industry to partake of the products that we have here in Pennsylvania without doing injury to anyone. This would be a very good time, Senator, to keep that climate a good one for this big industry, which is the airplane industry.

I think if you will vote for these bills, it will help all of the citizens and make our airport one of the foremost airports in the Country,—as we have done with our airport in Philadelphia—and you will be helping that business climate. You will be helping more people to get employment and also more of the products of Pennsylvania to pass through that area.

You, more than anyone else in this room, are familiar with the kind of work that goes on right in your own area. A tremendous amount of oil products and refined products go through Marcus Hook, and you are just giving incentive to an industry to partake of that product by making the price competitive and by keeping it in that area. It would also provide a jumping-off place for travel.

If this is what you want to do, I think, instead of words, deeds would certainly speak a lot louder. One of the deeds that you could do is to help us pass these bills by voting "aye" and stop impeding their progress. That will do more to wipe out what Otis Morse, you or I or anyone else has to say. I think this will speak louder than anything anyone can say, especially after the bills have passed the House and are now before us almost for Final Passage.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, in so far as the Majority Leader is talking to me as a Dutch Uncle, I will answer him as a Dutch Nephew.

That is no excuse for what Otis Morse did in Chester. That is no excuse for spreading through the newspapers of Pennsylvania, and elsewhere, a story that is untrue; to the effect that there is an unhealthy business climate in the city of Chester.

When those bills come up, if they hit the floor,—those two bills to reduce the jet fuels tax on these big airliners —let us debate those bills at that time.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL NO. 34, TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is not a petition nor is it a remonstrance. However, I would call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 34, and move its immediate adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objections, the Clerk will read the title of the resolution.

The title of the resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Urging the Governor and General State Authority to Reconsider Removal of Governor's Mansion from Harrisburg.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, for the reasons stated when this resolution was offered, to the effect that this matter was being studied by the General State Authority and others, and we ought to get the best place we possibly can for the Mansion, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate, entitled:

Weekly Adjournment.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAWBAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, under the order of business that just transpired, I was unable to get here in time to indicate that I would like to remonstrate for just a few minutes.

If I may have the indulgence of my colleagues for just a moment, I should like to discuss a matter which I think is of the utmost importance to the people of Pennsylvania. I will try to be as brief as possible.

As we are all well aware, the time is now fast approaching when we will be observing the Centennial Anniversary of two of the most outstanding events in the history of Pennsylvania and, indeed, perhaps the most outstanding events in the history of our entire Nation. I am referring, of course, to the great American Civil War.

Throughout the Nation today, elaborate plans are under way for this Centennial Commemoration and already various incidents of this great event of a century ago have been re-enacted.

Two of the most important single events in connection with this great conflict took place here in Pennsylvania, in Adams County. I am referring, of course, to the great battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's famous Gettysburg Address.

As most of you will recall, a few years ago the Legislature took action setting up a Commission, designed to make plans for this forthcoming commemoration. I am sorry to report that as of this moment, that Commission has not been very action. The Chairman of the Commission, General Biddle, is now in other pursuits outside the Country. The Vice-Chairman of that Commission, Mr. Rice, is also outside the Country, and the entire Commission seems to have somewhat bogged down.

I should like to remind the Administration that if this observance is to be effective, the responsibility must rest with the Governor's Office to initiate this program and see to it that it is carried through properly.

The people of Gettysburg are very anxious that this observance be effective and impressive. If this observance is to be effective and impressive, it is absolutely necessary that considerable advanced planning be engaged in. I would like to point out that this great American tragedy —is something that should be commemorated and not celebrated.

I was somewhat disturbed not long ago in reading, in one of our leading national weekly magazines, an article under the following heading: "Centennial of the Civil War; Business Booms Like the Cannons at Gettysburg."

One paragraph of this article I found especially disturbing and I would like to read that paragraph:

> "The Centennial will be a bonanza for such specialized industries as diorama-makers and civic celebration management firms. The fireworks industry looks for a one-third increase in annual sales. Publishers are already issuing Civil War books for the shelf. Advertisers will find Civil War tie-ins for everything from frozen foods to jet planes. Record firms will sell enough Civil War music to shatter the stillness at Appomattox. Americans will probably spend more money on or because of the Centennial than the nine billion dollars the North and South spent to fight the war. It will be a shot in the arm for the whole American economy."

It would appear, from the foregoing paragraph, that the theme for this commemoration has a tendency to be "a shot in the arm for the American economy." I would like to suggest, gentlemen, that the theme for this commemoration should be, in the words of the immortal Abraham Lincoln: "It is for us, the living, to be here dedicated to the great task that remains before us."

If this centennial is to serve any useful purpose, it should impress upon the minds of this generation the terrible price paid by our grandfathers in order that we might continue to enjoy the blessings of this great Nation. It seems to me that we, in this modern day and age, have a tendency to take these blessings for granted. It seems to me that we need to be reminded that freedom and liberty are not free, but they were bought for us by our ancestors with their blood. It seems to me that any commemoration of great events in American history should serve to remind us of the cost of our freedom. If we know the cost of our freedom, we may appreciate its value, and if we know the value of our freedom, we may be inclined to guard it more carefully.

I would like to insert at this point that if we know and appreciate the value and the cost of our freedom, we might be less likely to permit the government bureaucrats to buy it from us piece by piece with our own money.

Of course, there will be commercial aspects to this event. The people of Gettysburg have always provided for the comfort and convenience of the visitors to this great and historic shrine. However, I am proud to say, on behalf of the people of Gettysburg, that this top tourist attraction in our State has never been commercialized. The people in Gettysburg look out over the hills surrounding their town and see the grim reminders of those terrible days a century ago. The people of Gettysburg have had eyewitness accounts of those terrible days handed down from parents to children, and the people of Gettysburg find nothing in those stories to be either celebrated or commercialized.

Rather, the people of Gettysburg are most anxious that all America might be made to realize the sacrifice and suffering of those who fought and died in that historic struggle in order that this Nation might continue to be "one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I allay the gentleman's fears which he just expressed here by pointing out to him the fact that although General Biddle is leaving, he will be here until the end of this month, and although the new Ambassador to The Netherlands, Colonel Rice, is leaving the scene, it does not mean that we are leaving this area. Also involved in this is the President of Gettysburg College, who has been very active on this Civil War Centennial Commission for the celebration of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

I think the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acted wisely in using that as its general name and title for this organization as it set up the Commission. The reason I am convinced that the Commonwealth acted wisely is because, this afternoon, I had the pleasure of attending a luncheon given by the Federated Legislative Committee, here in Harrisburg, at which Bishop W. Vernon Middleton spoke. He is the Methodist Bishop of the Western Pennsylvania Area. One of the things he pointed out, and which I believe is very significant and is becoming more and more the thinking of some of the people in this Country, is that we are spending a great deal of time and money to arouse old fears, old hatreds and old customs that we have long since put aside. I think the Bishop put it very well when he was concerned about our spending this amount of money to celebrate this One Hundredth Anniversary and re-enacting these battles, which resulted in people not liking one another. I think we should, therefore, dwell, in the spending of that money, more on the brotherhood of man. I think the entire theme of the Gettysburg Address, which only took a few minutes for Lincoln to deliver, concerned brotherhood. It was for us who are the living to bind up the wounds, move on and get on with the business of living, and not worry about things which have taken place in the past.

I have served on this Commission and have attended a number of the meetings. We have contacted a number of people to partake in some sort of a panorama. All of this has been very expensive and costly and is the type of thing which you can only do once or twice. That is the end of it and you are left with a great deal of equipment that you can no longer use. However, we felt that by contacting the States which took part in this and having them put on a panorama on their own,—where it would cost the State no money—this would, perhaps, point out the futility of men fighting with each other. If they would get down to the business of living with each other, I think it would serve a greater purpose than putting on any kind of a display of that type.

I think that the area of Gettysburg, in this history of the United States and of the world, has a unique place as being the meeting place of these two great forces. This town will continue to thrive, whether we highlight it by this panorama or whether we just let it sit as it were. You cannot change history. You cannot change historic events nor the people's desire to go back to what is old and what has taken place in the past. It more or less acts as a shrine to the men who gave their lives for the Union to subsist and to continue on. I think we have to do little or nothing in this field. I believe the November 19th date, when Mr. Lincoln gave his historic address, will surely be pointed up as what the entire tenor of the centennial celebration is and should be; namely, the brotherhood of man and the ability of all of us to live together.

I am sure the people who live in that community are interested in the commercial aspect of it. I am certain their fears can be very easily allayed by the fact that there are a tremendous number of people who go there every single day. You only have to pass there to see the crowds that are constantly in Gettysburg, regardless of the time or season. I believe the electric map, which has become world-famous and which has appeared on television series a number of times in connection with the Civil War, is an attraction by itself. Therefore, without us doing anything, we still will have a great number of people who will go to this area.

I think the fact that these two men are leaving should not cause you any concern, because I believe the Commonwealth will continue on in handling this type of problem.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER, Mr. President, I certainly did not expect to engage in this discussion. I, too, was present at the Field Day which was held by the Federated Associations which joined together to make this a semi-annual event at the Mosque, in Harrisburg. I was tremendously impressed by the address given by Bishop Middleton. There was one thing in it, however, which I did disagree with and about which I felt a little bit shocked; namely, that the commemoration and the emphasis on the commemoration of the Civil War Centennial would give emphasis to old hatreds, old antagonisms and so forth. I cannot accept that as being the result of our attention to the great historic events which transpired not only here in Pennsylvania, but for four years over a great part of our southern and western States.

I believe, as Senator Hawbaker so well pointed out, that the commemoration of this great conflict will point up the value of the result which was accopmplished by the armies of the North and South and the people of the North and South in achieving a United Nation and point up the value of the liberties that we continue to enjoy.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the hall of the House of a distinguished former member who served with distinction in this House and is now a judge of the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County, the Honorable Homer S. Brown.

The Chair invites the judge to the rostrum to say a few words to the members.

JUDGE HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have with me today three of my colleagues from the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County. With the permission of the Speaker, I should like them to take a bow: The Honorable Henry X. O'Brien, the Honorable Loran L. Lewis, and the Honorable William F. Cercone.

We are not here to get any pay raise at this time, but I am so very, very happy to have a chance to stand on this rostrum again and look out into your faces. I think it was James Barrie, one of the great writers of Scotland, who said that man is the only living animal that has a memory so that he can have roses in December. Of course that was years ago. I have roses in December because I remember the House of Representatives, and I can see now the faces of the men and women with whom I served seated as you are seated now.

The times call now for men and women of great strength and of great potentiality, and I know of no place within the confines of constitutional government where you can give that service better than in the hall of the House of Representatives.

I know my friend, Hi Andrews, will remember this, but I want to give it to the new members, and this is off the record. Coming in this morning, I said to one of the members that I always resented the Senators coming down the aisles to seats in the joint session and the House members rising for them. I did not understand why that was; I do not understand it today. They ought to rise for you. When the Constitution was adopted, and prior to the Constitution, when the people decided where tax measures should arise, they said they shall arise in the House. That is no accident.

Another thing, do you know that they considered, and considered carefully, the question of impeachment, because in the question of impeachment no judicial forum can overrule the General Assembly. When the House brings in a bill of impeachment and the Senate votes upon it, that is final. There is no appeal, not even to the Supreme Court of the United States, that can review the procedure.

But they did not trust that matter of initiating impeachment to the Senate; they put it in the House. I could go on and on because I love the House, but I will not. You will have to rise when the other body comes in from now on, for I understand if you do not, this great Speaker, this tower of strength, might come down and attach you in some way. Be standing there physically, but in your mental capacities be operating so that they are rising for you.

Thanks so very much. It is so very nice to be here. Good bye and good luck to all of you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is sorry that we cannot enact the statements of the learned judge from Allegheny County into statutory law. If we could do that, we would have the Senate on the hip.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We have present in the hall of the House, Judge Joseph D. Burke of the Orphans Court of Philadelphia County, a former member of the House.

We also have present another judge, Judge Robert V. Bolger of the Orphans Court of Philadelphia County.

We are especially honored by the judiciary today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. MARKLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Approximately two weeks ago, I was one of the sponsors of a resolution introduced in this House asking that inquiry be made regarding the administration of the Bureau of Highway Safety.

My signature on this resolution was not an idle whim, nor was it politically motivated.

From 1950 when we issued over 3 million operators' licenses in this State, we have increased steadily so that by the end of 1960 there are now approximately over 5 million operators licensed in this State. And of course these citizens pay for this privilege. As a Representative in this House it has been very embarrassing to me to learn from time to time of the poor organization we have established which we call the Bureau of Highway Safety, under whose jurisdiction these operators fall.

We are all in accord with the need for greater safety on our highways. However, there is much disagreement in the manner in which we reach this accord.

Mr. Speaker, it is very distasteful to me to have to bring to the attention of the public the incompetency of this bureau, but I can no longer sit quietly by as we continue to persecute citizens of our State in the operation of this department.

Mr. Speaker, I want to know, why does an operator who has been suspended have to wait a week, two weeks or even longer to have his license reinstated after the suspension period has expired?

Why does an operator who is required to furnish proof of financial responsibility have to wait thirty days or more after the necessary proof is furnished to the department before he is reinstated? Why does an innocent citizen involved in an automobile accident lose both operator's license and license plates when the claim has been satisfied and the guilty party has assumed all responsibility?

Mr. Speaker, why does a member of the legislature or other official have to come to Harrisburg to intercede in behalf of these citizens?

A new development has come to my attention. It seems that in certain areas in this State reports of motor code violations have not been reported to the bureau. This is true in quite a few areas, and I mention only one, the city of Lancaster. What about the areas which did make such report? The individuals in these areas may have lost their operator's license and surrendered same to the bureau, while, in other areas, the operator went free. Such discrimination is without precedent. Why, when holders of an operator's privilege were required to take physical examinations, was the issuance of license withheld for several weeks?

Further, we are now considering enforcement by the use of radar. I voted for this measure on two occasions as a member of this House. Now I am wondering whether a vote for radar means there will be further persecutions to our holders of operators' licenses because of this disorganized Bureau of Highway Safety.

I ask you, ladies and gentlemen of the House, if they cannot cope with the case load which presently exists, how can they possibly assume any additional violations?

I plead with the Governor of this State, my colleagues in the General Assembly, that we assume the responsibility conferred upon us as elected officials, clear up this "mess" in the Bureau of Highway Safety and give the citizens who are operators of motor vehicles, an honest, fair administration of the motor vehicle code.

I would also plead with the press who editorialize the need for specific means of making our highways safer that they insist an investigation be made of this department to protect the public from further injustice.

I am not aiming criticism at any individual or employe. However, apparently sufficient study was not given to the far-reaching results when this octopus was created. Instead, we are continually becoming more and more involved and individuals who own an operator's privilege have become second-class citizens. I say to you that the operation of this department reeks of incompetence and the fault lies wholly in its administration.

I ask, Mr. Speaker, that this resolution be given immediate consideration.

I thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ESHLEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House

Mr. Speaker, I realize I am following the best in the House, but I would still like to be recognized.

I would like to read part of a news article that appeared in the Lancaster New Era last week and then also read an editorial in full in the same paper.

> "Drivers are escaping penalties in many parts of Pennsylvania.
> Lancaster is not the only place in which motorists are escaping penalties for moving traffic violations—it's happening in many parts of the State.
> "That became increasingly evident today with reports from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia on failure of magistrates to send in the controversial form OR 330, on which the Bureau of Traffic Safety bases suspensions of driving licenses.
> "The situation was brought to light in Lancaster a week and a half ago, when it was announced that 1,800 autoists arrested in the city were not being penalized. Investigation showed that many other aldermen—in the Harrisburg, Reading and Bethlehem areas—were not sending in the forms.
>
> "In Pittsburgh, an assistant district attorney said today that a few magistrates are sending in the forms—but many are not.
>
> "And in Philadelphia, no reports on stop sign violators have been sent in for the past year, even though this offense draws a penalty under the Governor's highway safety program."

The following editorial is entitled, "All Over the State."

> "It becomes more evident with every passing day that the failure of aldermen to report moving traffic convictions to the state bureau of traffic safety is not only a local problem.
>
> "Each time the New Era inquired in another part of the state, we found that the laxity exists there too.
>
> "In fact, it is a statewide problem that calls for a statewide investigation.
> "Pittsburgh and Philadelphia are the latest cities to be added to the growing list of those where many aldermen or justices of the peace are not sending in the violation report on which the state acts to suspend a driver's license.
>
> "An assistant district attorney in Pittsburgh reported that a few magistrates are sending in the forms, but many are not . . .
>
> "What this all adds up to is that thousands of drivers in every part of the state are driving free of suspensions they should have had.
> "If the Governor's traffic safety program is going to mean anything at all, something must be done to close the loopholes and end the slipshod manner of handling license suspensions for traffic violations."

I submit to the House that we are for highway safety on both sides of the aisle. I do not believe that we are for this kind of highway safety.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will take the opportunity to say that I know of no one who is more sympathetic to the situation as explained by the lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley, but I also want to bring to her attention and to the attention of the membership of this House that we are not debating the radar provisions, but radar is to be handled by the Pennsylvania State Police, period. Not by anyone else. I also would like to say that I believe I am aware of the situations that the lady has spoken about and, like you, I have heard of such complaints both personally and from other members. I am well aware that she has me at a great disadvantage today because my own Democratic membership is solidly behind her position, led by the Speaker, no less.

But I would honestly question her and all the other members as to whether they are not just as sincere in the highway safety program, and they will have their opportunity to vote. Some will be for it and some will be against it, and rightfully so.

As to these items that you speak of, I do not know if it is proper to say that there is, right now, a conference on the same things you state and in which your Senator is sitting with the Governor at this very minute. Senator Van Sant is in the conference that was arranged on this subject over a week ago.

I did not know that the lady intended to present this on the floor with the Senator presenting it to the Governor at this very minute, but the timing is excellent.

I will honestly say that her remarks will be carefully checked and I assure the lady and the membership of this House that we have no more right to tolerate those than we have to tolerate those who are not properly charged with the traffic violations that exist.

As to the gentleman from Lancaster who spoke, I will question very closely his statement dealing with magistrates' reports from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. I think you will find that the other way, that the city of Philadelphia has submitted more so-called moving violations, that is, the moving violation where you slow down for a stop sign and the officer says you did not stop and they charge you with a violation. Those reports are received each and every month and are a matter of record. Every magistrate is required to send the proper report dealing with the violation of the motor code enacted two years ago under the direction of Mr. Isaacs, I believe. The magistrates' reports are required to be submitted each and every month; I believe it is 10 days or 20 days after the month. If they do not submit the report or any other vehicle violation report, they are then processed through to the Attorney General for necessary prosecution, I believe.

So I say to you, it does not exactly fit one circle or another. But I honestly say to each member of this House, and I say to the lady from Lehigh County, that she will get the greatest attention on what she said here today that was ever heard of when I call the next Democratic caucus.

Mr. Speaker, it is 4 o'clock and I certainly would like to start. We have 32 bills that I would like to vote on here today.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the minority leader rise?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, while we are on this subject I have a few thoughts that I would like to express.

The SPEAKER. Everybody else has; go ahead.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is what I mean.

I do not know what the experience of the members of this House is, but I am only home a couple days a week and my time is almost taken up entirely by aggrieved motorists who are suffering under this schedule of penalties and are losing their licenses for 15, 30, 60, and 90 days.

I want to give you some of the things that I have picked up from motorists on how they feel about it statewide.

First of all, one fellow had clippings wherein the Governor announced in February of 1960 the 13 categories wherein if the motorist fell his license was suspended anywhere from 15 to 90 days. A motorist said to me, "I wish you would look in the statute books and see who has the power to issue that regulation or this schedule of penalties, days of violation." You look it up, and in the Motor Vehicle Code it is the Secretary of Revenue who has the power only to set up those schedules. But the Governor of Pennsylvania has seized that power and handed it to the Secretary of Revenue and said, "Here are the 13 categories. You can support them as Secretary of Revenue." A lot of motorists know that and they do not feel very good about it.

Secondly, I am hearing a lot about the out-of-State pinch. A driver who goes to Florida and is arrested in North Carolina, South Carolina, or Georgia, by local courts, by faulty radar, by other devices, and is fined $27.50 or $35, has his license suspended eventually in Georgia or North Carolina and then the first thing you know his license is suspended in Pennsylvania as well for 30 days or 60 days, depending upon the speed category he fits into in Pennsylvania. Many motorists feel that is double punishment and eminently unfair. I am just reporting to the House the things that are coming to my ears as we talk to the motorists back home.

Another thing they are talking about is the so-called hearings that they get. You get a message from the Secretary of Revenue that you are going to be suspended for 30 days, but you are entitled to a hearing. You look up the law and it says that the Secretary of Revenue cannot suspend you except after or on sufficient evidence he finds that you have violated a traffic law and therefore are subject to the penalty. Motorists say these hearings are a farce. The Commonwealth does not present any evidence at all. The examiners sit there; you are called in; you the motorist have to give evidence against yourselves. Later on, after this is typed up, the motorist gets a message from the Secretary of Revenue that, after this proper hearing and after finding on sufficient evidence, you are suspended for 30 days. That is going on and the motorists do not like it.

The next service that is being rendered: The motorist after he has paid his fine, after he has been subjected to the 30-day suspension in full force, the Secretary of Revenue sends out to all the newspapers the names of these people, and they are then presented in the newspapers saying that John Doe has been suspended for 30 days. People are getting pretty sore about that, particularly those who have filed an appeal to the Common Pleas Court and their appeal is pending. Even so, they get a notice in the paper that they have been suspended for 30 days.

Now, I am for highway safety and we of the legislature have set up all these procedures and I do not know whether there is anything we can do about it, but I am just telling you the way the people feel about it.

The barons of 1215 at Runnymeade got from King John the Magna Carta, and one of these days there is going to be a march on Harrisburg by the average motorist of Pennsylvania. This is a report from back home that I have found.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, rise?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have about two minutes inasmuch as my name was brought into the discussion, to straighten the matter out.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, the majority leader was right when he said we passed a bill requiring magistrates to make reports. Those reports were reports of the money collected by them. It had nothing to do with the report to the Bureau of Highway Safety. There was an attempt in 1955 to pass such a bill through this House. It failed to get through in the shape that it was entered and yet the Bureau of Highway Safety, after two or three words were changed in section 1206, at the time, insisted the magistrates had to make these reports. Two years later, in 1957, those words were deleted and that is the way the law stands today. Many of the justices of the peace and aldermen, and I think many of the Philadelphia, reports are not processed. As a matter-of-fact, I have never made one. I believe that if the Bureau of Highway Safety wants these reports, they should go after the House and the General Assembly and pay the magistrates for making them. They are a page long; we want them in two copies on an appeal to the court. I might further suggest that Revenue and Safety apparently do not talk to one another. We have met with Safety to work out a form for the report on which we could agree, but the form has never been submitted. However, if Revenue and Safety would agree, perhaps one report would do for both of them with sufficient copies, and a lot of trouble would be saved for everybody.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have 32 bills and two concurrences that are agreed to, and we will for two hours now vote and debate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this motion. Those of us who were sponsors of this bill realize that it contains an item that was unique to a problem that existed in third class counties. Now we are faced with a motion of recommittal. There are various ways of killing a bill. Sometimes they go back for further study. I say that in relation to this bill I feel no further study is necessary. The bill is quite simple. It states very clearly exactly what is wanted and no further study could take place at a better place than here on the floor of the House.

With this type of motion we have no opportunity to debate the fine points of the bill to show how it would facilitate the services and the organization of third class counties under this situation. We who are sponsors of the bill do not object to opposition, but we would like the opportunity to present our point of view.

Therefore, I would request that we be given this opportunity by the members of the House to vote down this motion. I request a roll call.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, being a member of the House from a third class county, I would request the membership of the House to support the motion for recommittal to the Committee on Rules.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mrs. HENZEL and Mr. TOMPKINS and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, before we get down to the next bill, I would like the privilege of addressing myself to the question about a member voting or not voting and I would like particularly to call to the attention of the members of the House and also the Speaker, the language of the Speaker in 1955, when the very question of a member being privileged to vote or not to vote present was before the House.

The Speaker at that time, in an opinion that is set forth under Points of Order in the House, No. 300, quotes:

"If a member is not prepared to vote, the correct parliamentary recourse to him, under the rule, is to request the House to excuse him. He should not willfully and deliberately violate the rule by keeping silent or to refuse to vote and subject himself to possible contempt."

Now I might be a voice crying in the wilderness, and this might be a facetious matter, but in 1955 when the question was before the House, the Parliamentarian and the present Speaker took a lot of trouble to brief the law and to set forth an opinion on this very question. I think it is in derogation of the spirit of the rules of the House to treat this matter lightly and I think from now that every member in his seat, including the Speaker, should vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will have nothing to say about that. That decision was made when there was a very serious issue pending and the House was divided. It was a session when the House declared its rights. That decision created a precedent. It stands, but if the gentleman wants to take the stand he does, and as I say, succeed Filo, Representative from Allegheny, as censor of the Chair, he is privileged to do so.

The Chair asks the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, to preside.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

SECRETARY OF COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENT WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is happy to have present with us today a very distinguished visitor whom I would like to take the opportunity to present to this House.

We have with us the secretary of the Council on State Government of the National Legislative Conference and the southern representative of the Council of State Government, Mr. Herbert Willsey. He is here for a meeting to help plan the National Legislative Conference to be held in Philadelphia in September, and I would like to take this opportunity to present him to the House and ask him to come up and say a few words to us.

Mr. WILLSEY. Mr. Speaker, distinguished members of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, this is unexpected but nonetheless very welcome.

I remind myself as I stand up here addressing the distinguished lawmakers of Pennsylvania of the mule that was once entered in the Kentucky Derby. He did not expect to distinguish himself, but he did hope to profit from the association. That is exactly my situation here. I am not here to distinguish myself but to profit from associating with you and the other distinguished legislators of Pennsylvania. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Thank you, Mr. Willsey, and we are very happy and privileged to have you with us, and hope that much good will come out of our meeting tonight.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 868, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" aproved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), authorizing the production and performance of ice shows and ice hockey between certain hours on Sunday in cities of the first and second class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make some remarks concerning this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, it has become a matter of great concern to me as a church member—and I believe every member of this body is a church member—with what seeming haste and carelessness this House has been considering and passing laws which make Sunday a day of economic gain and not one to be kept holy.

This is the third bill to come before this House for final vote in this session further liberalizing the laws pertaining to our Lord's Day. The first bill was Senate bill 28, which was to allow the sale of intoxicating beverages in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia on Sunday, and it was explained by the delegations from these two cities that this law was necessary in order to protect and strengthen the economy of these two great cities, as if the sale of intoxicating beverages would solve all their problems.

The second law was to enable the city of Pittsburgh to hold light opera on Sundays and this, too, it was explained, was needed in order to further the economy of the city of Pittsburgh. Do not misunderstand me, I am for music, but for the right reasons.

Now we are asked to pass a bill that would legalize the playing of hockey and holding ice shows in the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia on Sundays after the hour of 2 p.m., again in order to help the economy of these two cities.

It was explained in committee that this bill was necessary inasmuch as the city of Pittsburgh had just completed a new ice arena and in order to help defray the expenses and costs of this project.

Each time a bill is presented to use Sunday for reasons other than to worship and glorify God it seems to carry with it the excuse that this law is necessary in order to further the economy of our State. Are we as a legislative body to use a price tag of wordly gain as our reason for considering and voting laws to take away from our people what is left of the Lord's Day?

It is my understanding that two years ago a bill was passed to legalize bowling on Sunday, and the reason given was that we needed this law in order that the National Bowling Congress could be induced to come into our State. This law, even though it was passed, did not induce the National Bowling Congress to come to Pennsylvania. And when Senate bill 28 was being debated, it was stated again that it was necessary to sell intoxicating beverages in our two leading cities on Sundays in order that the National Bowling Congress might be induced to come to Pennsylvania.

How are we, as responsible legislators, going to stop this downhill drift toward entirely eliminating the Lord's Day as a sacred day of worship? This great Nation of ours was founded under God, and we use God's name in our Pledge of Allegiance to our flag, "One nation under God." We have stamped upon our coins, "In God we Trust." This Nation has become a great Nation because our forefathers had faith in God and worshiped Him. Are we now to gradually proceed, step by step, to take God out of our Nation?

Today the life of nations is breaking down. Riot and rebellion are in our midst. An ideology born in frustration and hatred challenges the world. The economic determinism of communism is pitted against free, God-fearing nations. A period of danger unparalleled in human history confronts us. Pennsylvania must stand and give the answer.

There is an answer. It lies in our citizens accepting the challenge to live by absolute moral standards and the guidance of God. William Penn put it straight when he said, "Men must choose to be governed by God, or they condemn themselves to be ruled by tyrants."

We cannot live crooked and think straight. We cannot put our worldliness first and still keep our liberty. Our immorality is communism's greatest asset. Chou En-lai of Red China says: "We can slip our Communist ideology in through the weak spots in men's characters." Trading the worship of God for a means to make money is one of these weak spots. Communism's greatest ambition is to break down our religious and moral standards.

Lip service to the faith of our fathers cannot counter an all-out devotion to an evil ideology. Human brilliance that does not obey the guidance of God cannot answer human brilliance dedicated to destroy God. A devotion to God and obedience to His will is our greatest source of strength to combat communism.

Abraham Lincoln knew the secret of God-control. He wrote: "If it were not for my firm belief in an over-ruling Providence, it would be difficult for me in the midst of such complications of affairs to keep my reason in its seat. I am satisfied that when the Almighty wants me to do or not to do any particular thing, He finds a way of letting me know it."

This is the missing factor in the planning and statesmanship of the world today—A God-created, a God-centered idealogy for democracy.

I feel that I would be remiss, since I have referred to myself as a church member, if I did not state that I believe the church is also to blame for this condition. It is my feeling that the church has become largely complacent and irrelevant to life's problems. Each year it allows itself to be squeezed into a smaller area of significance. The church, instead of being a goad, is, by and large, at peace with society. Throughout the world the church has tended to sanctify this regime. Jesus meant the church to be the yeast that leavened the whole loaf. The church is to stir, to dissatisfy, to perfect. This, I feel, we have not done. This is our challenge, that we meet the needs of society as they exist today.

It does not take much courage to drift with the tide. It does not take much courage to go along with the crowd, but it does take real courage to take a stand for our moral and religious convictions, for those things which are right and honorable. I should like to challenge this legislative body to think well before voting to further desecrate our Lord's Day.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, no one in this House respects the opinions of the distinguished gentleman from Bedford more than I. On the other hand, there are people whom I believe are equally versed in our religious traditions, including members of the clergy, who would argue from a theological standpoint that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath.

I do not feel it is incumbent upon me to debate that principle today. The gentleman from Bedford has his decided opinion. Fortunately or unfortunately, we have moved far away from those opinions in Pensylvania and in this Nation. I do not think that even the gentleman from Bedford would say there is any difference between playing hockey on Sunday and playing professional football or professional baseball.

All this bill does is add another wholesome spectator sport to the list of those activities which we now permit in Pennsylvania. As I said, I believe people who are learned in theology could take opposite sides in this matter.

But I submit as a matter of fairness to members of this House, there is simply no difference between hockey and the other spectator and participator sports which we allow in this State and in this Nation. I would ask the members to support this legislation. I thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly will only take a minute of time to say to you that we who do not come from the county of Allegheny or the county of Philadelphia, also law-abiding people, who believe in churches but who also believe that the great city of Pittsburgh, in erecting that auditorium and other facilities that they are erecting, should have, on Sunday, during the hours designated in this piece of legislation, the asset of the law permitting our church people, if you please, to be able to go to that sport, of which they have been followers for a great number of years. These people hope to have the opportunity again in the near future, in Pittsburgh, to see an ice hockey franchise there.

As far as the situation is concerned we strongly urge that we are not breaking down, but that we are helping to build, an opportunity for people to see a wholesome, bona fide sport, as the gentleman has indicated, and that they be given the opportunity to do this on Sunday afternoons.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership of this House to vote in the affirmative on House bill 868.

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 39, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article twelve of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania repealing section three thereof which disqualifies persons from public office for dueling.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we on the minority side have come to the conclusion that the only reason this joint resolution is on the calendar is to point up, perhaps statewide, the need that some people feel for a constitutional convention to re-write our State Constitution. There are many people, of course, who feel that our grand old Constitution is fine and should be amended in a piecemeal manner as has been done heretofore.

This particular resolution standing alone, without any rhyme or reason, is, in a way, a ridiculous matter on our calendar, and it seems that we should not lend to the cost of balloting statewide on a situation for doing away with the crime of dueling. I believe that is what it is about. I, therefore, ask our members to vote against this resolution for the reason stated.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the majority leader desire to be recognized?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, all I can say is that there is no question in the minds of many people that a constitutional convention is needed, but Senate bill 39 would be a constitutional provision in this Commonwealth which forbids anyone to hold public office, disqualifies persons from public office, for participating in a duel. I was wondering when the last duel may have taken place in this Commonwealth?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe there is a record of a duel in 1931 and it was fatal to both parties. A tremendous drive has been made down through the centuries to do away with dueling. They succeeded by putting it in the Constitution, and I see no reason for whipping out this amendment. I think that standing alone and expecting the people of Pennsylvania to vote on this is asking too much. I think we are just creating a ridiculous situation here.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to debate this resolution at length, but, inasmuch as the majority leader did ask that question, I might mention that there was a rather interesting story in the Sunday supplement of the Philadelphia paper a couple weeks ago. I brought it up here with me in case a question would come up.

I would like to inform the majority leader and the House that in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania there have only been two duels in the last 120 years. The minority leader was correct when he said that the last duel took place in March of 1931 in Schuylkill County. That involves a very interesting story which I will not go into at this time. but, if there is anyone particularly interested, I have this story here and they are free to peruse it at any opportunity they might find. It seems to me that it is certainly something we ought to vote for. It points up the ridiculous situation of constitutional provisions that are no longer necessary.

One more remark. I have the bill and a joint resolution in there for a constitutional convention. It seems to me, if we are really interested in amending or having a new Constitution, we ought to report that bill out. I would like the majority leader to give me some expression concerning that.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is not in order at this time. If anyone would like to read the article the gentleman from Philadelphia has, I am sure if they contact him he will be glad to let them do it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. SCHAAF filed the following reason for his vote on Senate bill No. 39.

Mr. Speaker, I voted against Senate bill No. 39, printer's number 6, because I believe it to be ridiculous to have this type of legislation before us.

BILLS ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House bill No. 417, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58) providing for certain traffic courts in cities of the third class.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the passage of House bill 417, printer's No. 782.

I think it might be well to retrace a little of the history of this bill. It was originally entered and came out of committee to provide for the rotation of aldermen in a traffic court in a third class city. The bill was amended, and the amendments were passed as non-controversial, although they were highly controversial amendments and the gentleman who offered them, the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, debated the same amendment in a similar bill in 1959 in this House.

On March 13, by amendment, I tried to put the bill back in its original form and failed.

This same bill in the 1959 session was Senate bill 112. It was amended in the House and I would like to read a part of the debate at that time. This bill was being debated by the majority leader, Mr. McCann, and by Mr. T. H. W. Jones. "Mr. McCann: Mr. Speaker, in the amendments offered by Mr. Jones to Senate bill 112, do I understand these amendments to say that in the boroughs and townships first class, the aldermen would be rotated from those areas into the third class?

"Mr. Jones: That is not correct, as I understand it, Mr. Speaker. The amendments did two things. There were two of us on this side of the House who wished to amend this bill. It was my original desire to amend it so that traffic courts could be set up, not only in third class cities, but also in boroughs and townships of the first class. The reasons for confining the traffic court to those political subdivisions was simply that I do not think the second class townships have any need for it.

"Mr. Isaacs from Delaware County wished to amend the bill to provide that the aldermen or justices of the peace, as the case may be, whether you had a city or a borough, would be rotated evenly, and I decided that it would be preferable to combine my amendments with his. It was not the intention that you could have aldermen serving in a township or anything of that nature.

"Mr. McCann. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

"Mr. Speaker, the amendments to Senate bill 112 which the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones, is offering, in which the traffic courts would be permitted to be established in boroughs and townships of the first class, we would like to favor these amendments and request that they be voted into this bill, Senate bill 112."

Mr. Jones, again: "Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the statement of the majority leader.

"I do not wish to prolong the debate, but it just so happens that in my borough we have 12 justices of the peace. This is a little unusual; most boroughs have only two, but we have 12. Three of them are Democratic, nine are Republican. It has been the practice for many years for the burgess of the community to designate only those justices of the peace to serve on a de facto traffic court which has no legal status, as suits his political fancy. I do not say this in derogation of the present burgess, but simply because that has been the rule.

"If the bill stays the way it is, which is what Mr. Bowman would like, it would mean that the three Democrat justices of the peace would never get to serve, nor would anybody else who was out of favor with the incumbent burgess. While this might be pleasing to some of us, I hardly think that is good public policy."

I will read Mr. McCann's answer and then I will quit quoting the Journal for 1959.

"Mr. McCann. Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to thank the gentleman. I did not want to bring that point out, but I appreciate very kindly the forthright statement and I think in this case we certainly should be fair, if the situation exists, as it would in many areas, I think it should be handled in just that situation rather than cutting out, whether it be Democrat or Republican, either one.

"Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask that on our side the amendments to Senate bill 112 be voted upon favorably."

I hope the majority leader takes the same position he did two years ago.

Mr. Speaker, under House bill 417 as it presently is constituted, presently reads, a mayor of a third class city could appoint an alderman for 30 days and keep reappointing him for 30 days for the entire time the mayor was in office.

In 1929 it was recognized, when the Vehicle Code was first written, the provision to take the defendant before the nearest available magistrate in the jurisdiction was put in there to abolish rackets, to cut our rackets. Under House bill 417 as it is presently constituted, while I can find nothing wrong with its title, with a renegade burgess and one bad alderman, you could really create a racket such as we have never seen in traffic in this Commonwealth. I think this bill should be titled, "Rackets, Incorporated."

I ask the members on both sides of the House to defeat this bill.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I am certainly not going to rehash the argument over the question of rotation of aldermen after all the answers and debates in this House. Some weeks ago this House refused to insert amendments providing for rotation of aldermen. I think the majority of us who live in third class cities think this bill will promote proper enforcement of our traffic laws, a more just result for the citizens who use the highways and streets in our cities. We feel it is a progressive step and those of us who live in third class cities would earnestly request the membership on both sides of the House to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 905

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON offered a resolution which was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 11, 1961.

Resolved, That House bill No. 905, printer's No. 994, entitled "An act amending the act of December 22, 1959 (P. L. 1978), entitled 'An act providing for and regulating harness racing with pari-mutuel wagering on the results thereof; creating the State Harness Racing Commission as a departmental administrative commission within the Department of Agriculture and defining its powers and duties; providing for the establishment and operation of harness racing plants subject to local option; imposing taxes on revenue of such plants; disposing of all moneys received by the commission and all moneys collected from the taxes; authorizing penalties; and making appropriations,' prohibiting public officers, public employes and party officers from having an interest in pari-mutuel racing activities," having been referred to the Committee on Rules on March 13, 1961, and the committee not having reported the same to the House for a period of over fifteen days, the committee be discharged from further consideration thereof.

GEORGE C. MAGEE
ALBERT E. STRAUSSER
JAMES E. WILLARD
RUSSEL C. KEISER

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I suppose many of the members both on this side and on the other side will say, well, that is one thing I thought I never would see Representative Johnson doing, presenting a discharge resolution, after all the years that we have fought them.

In 1959, however, our caucus decided that we would change our time-honored stand against discharge resolutions and, if you recall, we did put one in in 1959 on the cities-county consolidation bill.

Thursday, when I was here after everybody had gone home, the papers were replete with stories about the granting of a race track franchise in Philadelphia and the implications of those who hold stock in it being officials, and so forth.

The SPEAKER. The Chair reminds the minority leader that he is quite as conscious of the rules as the Chair, and that the merits or demerits of a motion are not debatable.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am aware of that. I have discussed it with the majority leader and I promised to be very circumspect and be very short in my remarks. I am just giving you the reason for the resolution.

The SPEAKER. As long as the majority leader does not object to your remarks, the Chair will entertain them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am nearly through, Mr. Speaker, but I thank you for your admonition. It is a point very well taken.

The bill 905 has been in committee, as the resolution states, since, I believe, March 13, 1961. It is a matter of tremendous public interest at the present time and this type of bill was born in the state of New York following the Moreland investigation back in 1954.

I am asking all of the members in this House to support this resolution. It is a very, very timely bill and is much needed in Pennsylvania.

I would like to have my remarks spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON submitted the following statement for the record:

> House bill 905, which bans political officers and employees and party officials from having financial interests in harness racing tracks is the same bill as one which was passed by the New York State Legislature in 1954.
>
> And why was that law passed? On August 28, 1953, Thomas F. Lewis, a union leader involved with the harness race track in Yonkers, New York, was murdered. Subsequent investigations by New York newspapers and later by a special commission appointed by Governor Dewey revealed an ugly pattern of corruption involving politicians of both parties, influence peddling, and secret tie-ins with the underworld.
> If you are interested in the details, go over to the State library and look at the files of the New York Times of February, March, and April of 1954, when disclosures at hearings of the Moreland Commission of scandal in high places were at their height.
>
> Look at page one of the New York Times of March 2, 1954. You will find, "politicians and persons with underworld backgrounds or friendships were found yesterday to have been the hidden owners of close to a million dollars worth of stock in several New York racing tracks.
>
> "Among those who were shown to have secretly struck it rich was former Assemblyman Elmer J. Kellam (a Republican); Irving Sherman, political intimate of former Mayor William O'Dwyer (a Democrat) and admitted friend of gangsters: Frank J. Erickson, son of the convicted gambler, and Samuel J. Stirratt, an ex-convict with a long police record.
>
> "Additional testimony was introduced indicating that loans from racketeers had helped the original incorporators of the Algam Corporation to purchase Yonkers Empire City Race Track."
> Still quoting the Times: "Alfred De Meo, former assistant district attorney of Nassau County, a former stockholder in Roosevelt Raceway was questioned concerning an arrangement whereby he received five percent of the profits from the food and liquor concession at the track because he had been instrumental in getting the concession for one Harry M. Stevens, the concessionaire . . .
> "De Meo testified he received $281,770 between 1951 and 1953 as a kickback from Stevens. He gave half of that sum to William De Koning, Sr., Nassau County labor boss. De Koning is now under indictment for extorting money from workers at Roosevelt Raceway."
>
> De Koning, by the way, pleaded guilty to charges of extortion and was sentenced to an eighteen-month jail term.
> But just get the picture about this one tie-up between a politician, a businessman, and a labor racketeer. The assistant district attorney gets a concession at a race track for a man who kicks back nearly $300,000 to him in three years and splits the take with a labor boss who is sent to jail for extorting money from workers at the same track.
> Influence peddling and corruption were not confined to members of one party. On March 2, 1954, the New York Times disclosed that Thomas T. Curran, Secretary of State under Governor Dewey, received a check for $10,000 in the negotiation that led to the establishment of the Yonkers Raceway.
> On March 14, the Moreland Act Commission sent to Governor Dewey a report that 35 percent of stock in all New York State Raceways was owned by politicians or political officers of both parties.
> On March 15, 1954, Governor Dewey proposed that all public officials and major political leaders be barred from having any connections with horse racing of any kind in New York State . . . Dewey said that such a drastic prohibition was necessary to avoid the risk of conflict between public responsibility and private interests.
> Speaking to the Legislature Dewey said: "Conceding the legality of ownership of race track stock by anyone, it seems to me that so long as political ownership is possible, there will always remain the opportunity of private gain through political influence."
>
> This then is a brief summary of what happened in New York State when politicians, businessmen and racketeers formed an unholy alliance to control the immensely profitable harness racing business.
>
> House Bill 905 is not a blanket indictment of politicians as such. It is a bill that should be passed to prevent a small minority of unscrupulous persons in positions of political power and influence to use that power and influence in a selfish and unscrupulous way.
> The experience of New York State stands as a warning to us as we begin to introduce harness racing here in Pennsylvania. If we do not act immediately to cut the ties between politicians and harness racing, we stand the risk of being plagued with the same kind of tragic and ugly consequences that began to reach the public in New York State on August 18, 1953 when the murder of a union official unleashed a scandal that racked that state and led to the same legislation we are proposing today.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the discharge resolution presented to this House today regarding House bill No. 905, which the House history clearly indicates is in the possession of the Rules Committee.

I rise to oppose the motion and ask that the membership, the entire membership of this House, oppose this motion because we can debate the issues in this forum, and we certainly are prepared to debate them.

Today we can only handle the discharge resolution and I ask that we oppose the discharge resolution pertaining to House bill 905, and I certainly will not waste the time of this House.

I will also insist upon a roll call, which is what they are going to do.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny rise?

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to file my reasons; I want to state my reasons.

I have consistently voted against every horse racing bill that was ever brought up in this House. I have also voted at all times against the discharge of any committee. At this time I am going to vote against the discharge of the committee as a matter of principle, not on the merits of this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the membership to bear with us for just a minute. We have two bills to amend.

I am going to ask for a meeting of the Elections Committee immediately. We were not able to get all the committee meetings in as they were scheduled today.

I also want to say to the membership of the House that we will convene tomorrow morning at 10 a. m. We will caucus off the floor on final-passage and third-reading calendar and we will be in a position to vote on approximately 35 to 40 bills tomorrow.

I will ask, Mr. Speaker, that the chairman of the Committee on Elections, Mr. Eilberg, asks for a meeting of the committee on elections in the room to the left of the rostrum immediately.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if we have passed over the order of resolutions? Since the resolution to discharge the Committee on Rules from consideration of the bill was defeated. I wish at this time to offer an investigatory resolution and ask for its referral to the proper committee.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. MARSH. RESOLUTION No. 55.

In the House of Representatives, April 11, 1961.

November eleventh, called Veterans Day, has been designated a legal holiday in honor of the men and women who served our country in her armed forces during times of war. It is an acknowledgment of the great debt we owe these patriots who sacrificed so much for the ideals of Americanism; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives call upon our people to celebrate this day with the solemnity that its noble purpose deserves, to close down all but the most essential business establishments, to refrain from all but necessary work or labor, to sponsor, promote and participate in patriotic exercises and parades, and to assemble for worship and thanksgiving to God; and we urge each individual Pennsylvanian on that day to reflect upon the measure of gratitude he personally owes to the men and women who have protected our country from ambitious aggressors who would make slaves of us all.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 56.

In the House of Representatives, April 11, 1961.

Recently the State Harness Racing Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania issued the first license under its authority. This license was issued, despite the opposition of the chairman of the commission, L. B. Sheppard, to a harness racing corporation headed by James Clark, a prominent member of the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania. He is at the present time Finance Chairman of the Democratic Party in Philadelphia.

Considerable criticism and opposition has arisen throughout the Commonwealth due to the issuance of this license; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, who together shall constitute a committee to inquire into the administration of the State Harness Racing Commission to determine if their policies are being carried out in the proper manner, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall elect a chairman and such additional officers as it may deem necessary, that the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such case. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee, and be it further

BIRTHDAYS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed that today we have several members celebrating their birthdays, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, and the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Slack. The Chair calls the attention of Dr. Dengler to this fact and asks that he takes the microphone.

Mr. DENGLER. I think we should sing "Happy Birthday, dear Ted and Tim." We can do this in one operation.

(Members joined in singing "Happy Birthday")

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the House that the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor, also has a birthday today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Let's do it again. The gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor, also has a birthday today. His first name is Percy.

(Members joined in singing "Happy Birthday")

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Dengler, and recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the assembly for the salute. The other evening going down the walk I had tried to bribe Mrs. Kooker into planting the osculatory salute on my cheek, and she ran out on me. She got kissed the other day and I do not get kissed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Birthdays are very important occasions, particularly to the men who are celebrating them.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Slack.

Mr. SLACK. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank Dr. Dengler for leading the singing; however, I am glad he does not consider me a kissing cousin.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The third gentleman I am going to recognize, I believe, is operating under a handicap and I know it is going to be rather difficult for him to say anything, but I insist. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, say a few words?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am his amanuensis today, if you will allow me.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair does not know what the word means.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, substituting for Mr. Lippincott, it is very gratifying to me when I see my name in the paper and it says elderly Smethport attorney, Albert Johnson, age 54.

I am pleased that now Ted Lippincott, like the rest of us, is getting older, and, as he mellows with age, he has authorized me to express his appreciation to the members of the House for the kindnesses they have extended to him and to say that he does not like getting older.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The Chair is aware that the gentleman has lost his voice completely, but would like to have him stand up and take a bow.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege on behalf of every member of this House.

In a statement recently issued, one O. D. Shipley, was asked why he had been subjected to criticism by members of this House, and with an unparalleled arrogance he replies, "They apparently feel that it is politically expedient to do so."

Now on the part of an agent of government it is just an instance of damnable holier-than-thou hypocrisy for anybody connected with this administration to intimate than any criticism leveled at a particular department is motivated by sheer partisan politics.

Something should be done about that man because as long as he reigns supreme as the lone agent here on Capitol Hill, incorruptible, with everybody else who disagrees with him supposedly grovelling in the depths of despicable party partisanship, there is a quarrel pending that is irreconcilable except by his change of heart or his eviction from the official status.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, speaking as a Republican, I do not know whether we want Mr. Shipley removed from office or not. As I said yesterday on the floor, when I go back home over the weekend, I have quite a number of people come to me about the way they are being treated by the Department of Safety. I understand they are suspending 5,000, 6,000 to 7,000 licenses a week and if you multiply that by 52 weeks in the year, it brings the number to 200,000 and 300,000 people, and there is a gubernatorial election next year and, if all those people are mad, this certainly should rebound to the benefit of the Republican Party. So I do not know whether I want to recommend Mr. Shipley's removal or not.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman. Does the gentleman care to make a statement?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at one time I am chastised publicly for going out of turn in the operation of this House; the next time I am condemned for doing this, but I say that we abide by the rules and then we shift the rules and it seems all right. It depends upon the occasion. Therefore, all I have to say is—page 17, House bill 337, the next order of business.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 337, entitled:

An Act providing for the issuing administration enforcement and termination of marketing orders on apples imposing powers and duties on the Secretary of Agriculture providing for the creation and operation of an advisory board prescribing the contents of orders and providing for the imposition and collection of fees.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill raises serious constitutional questions, some of which are that it creates a special tax, it creates a special appropriation, it violates Article III, section 7, of the Pennsylvania Constitution since the classification is not reasonable, it cannot be sustained by police power or general welfare since the sole purpose here is to benefit a few big apple growers to get a free ride while the Secretary of Agriculture of Pennsylvania pushes an apple tax down the little growers' throats.

It is also improper delegation of legislative power to the Secretary of Agriculture to legislate laws in the form of marketing orders and apple taxes for this General Assembly without reasonable standards.

We, the members of this General Assembly, are the law-making body and not the Secretary of Agriculture. The duty of the executive branch is to enforce the law and not to make the law. When legislative power and executive power are merged, you have a government of men and not of law, which we commonly refer to as a dictatorship.

Mr. Speaker, as the only Representative from the largest apple-producing county in this Commonwealth, the County of Adams, I say that even though this bill should happen to be held constitutional by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, the bill is nevertheless very bad on merits. I say that a majority of the apple growers of Pennsylvania and a majority of the people of Pennsylvania are against this apple-tax bill.

I have fifty letters against it, and only eleven letters for the bill. I also hold here in my possession the signatures of hundreds of apple farmers on petitions against this bill, and these signers are from Adams, Franklin, Lancaster, and York Counties, and I even have one from Cambria County. They are all apple producers on the lands of those counties.

If we start this with apples, there will be no end. Every Tom, Dick, and Harry will want to use State government machinery for his own ends; and if you let one do it, you cannot stop the others. You will probably find eventually the Department of Commerce will be advertising booze, cigarettes, and rouge, and the Department of Agriculture will eventually be bossing the farmers all around with taxes and marketing orders on every crop the farmer grows.

Remember this, Mr. Speaker, that only those who sell in Pennsylvania will be taxed under House bill No. 337, printer's No. 1158, but those who sell outside Pennsylvania will get the greatest benefit since they do not have to pay the tax under the definition of "producer," on page 3 of the bill. This is extremely unfair since the bill creates free rides to those who sell outside the State. Do you see what a few big apple growers would be doing to the poor little growers who sell inside the State? Let me illustrate how this works. United States Senator Byrd, as Democratic Party boss of the Commonwealth of Virginia, forced a somewhat similar apple tax through the Virginia Legislature. After this law was enacted, Byrd avoids payment of the tax on his own large production of apples by shipping his apples across the State line into West Virginia. The little apple growers of Virginia were too poor to ship their apples across State lines to avoid the tax and so the little apple growers of Virginia paid all the apple taxes that were collected to advertise all the apples of Virginia, while Byrd, the biggest producer of Virginia apples, got the greatest benefit from the advertising apple tax and at the same time got a free ride without paying any tax.

Now I do not think that the statesmen of this House will want to create such a bird in Pennsylvania, and I do not think the members of this House will permit any bird to rob the nests of the poor in order to give the rich a free ride. And I do not think that my city friends in the hall of this old House will want to raise food prices on apples to the consumer through an apple tax.

My fellow members, I say to you, let us vote this bill down in the interest of justice and fairness to all the people in this Commonwealth.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to disagree with my colleague. It appears that someone is trying to sabotage a good bill that the apple growers want.

I represent small apple growers in Berks County and I would like to read two letters that I have received from some of these apple growers.

One of the letters I have is from Ontelaunee Orchards, reading as follows:

ONTELAUNEE ORCHARDS

Leesport, Pennsylvania, March 16, 1961.

Hon. William G. Piper,
202 Harvard Blvd.,
Lincoln Park, West Lawn, Pa.
Dear Mr. Piper: Re. House Bill 337.

I wish to go on record personally as well as Ontelaunee Orchards favoring the enactment of the above H. B. 337.

For over 20 years we have been supporting a voluntary program of raising funds to advertise apples. Naturally on such a program eventually you have less than half supporting the program and the others riding along free.

What we are trying to do in H. B. 337 is to permit the apple growers to vote on whether or not they want to tax themselves to pay for advertising and research to help their own field of agriculture. We are interested in this bill only so far as it applies to apples. We feel that it is something that is needed if we are to have some orderly marketing in the future, when the industries young trees come into bearing.

We urge your support of this bill, and if possible discuss same with the other Berks County Representatives.

As to House Bill 336, which I understand would remove Act No. 144, which the administration claims the apple growers want. As I understand Act No. 144, approved May 24, 1927, relates to the marketing of closed packages of apples. The Horticultural Society did not to my knowledge at any time ask for the repeal of this act. They did several years ago ask for the enforcement of the grading and marketing laws, already on the books.

If H. B. 336, simply removes Act No. 144, because there is a later bill on the books that will do the same purpose, then it appears to be a matter of taking something off the books, that is no longer being used; and we would not oppose it. At the same time both bills should be tied together.

Very truly yours,
ONTELAUNEE ORCHARDS
John R. Mengel, Sales Manager

Another letter from Mt. Aetna Orchards reads:

MT. AETNA ORCHARDS

Mt. Aetna, Pennsylvania

Hon. Mr. Wm. G. Piper.
Dear Sir:

As an observer of what is happening with H. B. 337, at Capitol Hill, it intrigues me. For by this time I suppose the Administration has everyone partially confused. Let us keep our head and nose clear.

I with some other apple growers helped in drafting of the original bill. Today it looks as if apple growers were all Lawrence's Group.

The original Bill as we wanted it, and I urge you to consider it. The Bill (337) should read apples and apples only. We want no other commodities attached, hooked, or assumed in any way shape or form.

Trusting your vote and confidence in apple growers, I would urge you to speak to the other constituents from Berks County to include apples only. Please cast your vote for apples

I am Sincerely Yours,
Orville F. Stauffer

P.S. You know apples are good.

About two weeks ago I met with the legislative committee of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association of Berks County. At that time they indicated that they wished we would vote for this bill, House bill 337. Also, the Grange of Berks County is highly in favor of passing this bill.

I urge the members of both sides of this House to vote for House bill 337.

Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to be very brief on House bill 337, but I am going to say this and let you make the decision.

If similar legislation was so good for the State of New York and the New York apple growers find it to be excellent, where they themselves promote their product and sell it in every one of your communities in Pennsylvania, if the State of Oregon, the State of Washington, and the State of California found such legislation to be the right kind to promote their products and sell them within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, there must be some merit to it.

Very briefly, the gentleman from New York, speaking in Pennsylvania, said emphatically that at the time they proposed such legislation in New York the apple growers in New York were divided. But, would you care to ask them today if they would want to repeal it? They will give you the answer honestly and emphatically. You can call this an apple tax, as the gentleman from Adams has, but is there anything better when people who have been growing fresh fruit, apples, good Pennsylvania apples, want to, by their own initiative, by their own vote, provide the money to do something which they believe will help them in selling their crop? There is only one basic argument that has come here today and it has not come out here on this floor. There is an argument between processors and growers. And I say emphatically to you, sure there are many apple growers whose apples are contracted to the processor who processes the apples, and I think I am frank when I say to you that if I was the processor and I opposed this and I was purchasing under contract your apples from your orchard, I would ask you to oppose this. The gentleman says he got so many letters for it and so many against it, and for some reason I have gotten hundreds of letters both for it and against it. I feel every person who wrote to Mr. Worley of Adams County must have had word to be sure and write to Steve McCann, because I got more mail from Adams County on this bill than I have ever got in the history of any piece of legislation from Adams County, and I admire him for that. But I say to you, you make the decision. We say honestly, this is good legislation. We ask that you vote in favor of it because if they do not want it, if they do not favor it, the people themselves in the area in which the apples are grown, I assure you, and you know this to be so, they will not have the program there and it will not be forced down their throats in any way, shape or form. It is so much easier even to get out of it, if you do not want it and you do not like it. Then it is their decision and no one else's, and I think that in itself makes good legislation. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this House vote in the affirmative on House bill 337.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Anderson.

Mr. J. H. ANDERSON. Mr. Speaker, as a small apple grower of the State of Pennsylvania, and I would like the record to be clear that I classify myself as a small apple grower, not a grower of small apples, I ask that the House, both sides of the House, support us on this bill. The apple growers want this bill. I have letters here saying the York County Fruit Growers passed a resolution asking for the adoption of it. I have a letter stating that the Adams County Fruit Growers unanimously passed a resolution asking for the adoption of this, and the same thing is true from the State Association. And I request that the members on both sides of the House help us to pass this bill.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. The majority leader used my name and I would like to reply. In New Jersey, when they brought this matter up the Secretary of Agriculture made a study. But Pennsylvania never made any study of this problem. I say that this is foreign to the real functions of State Government. The functions of State government are not to promote every Tom, Dick and Harry's fancies. I will paraphase Abraham Lincoln: He said that one of the functions the government should perform for the people is that which they cannot do for themselves. And there are other major classes of State government functions, the second being Constitutional powers; and third, the things that are of concern to the great public interest, such as public schols, public roads, public morals, public health, and so on. But the subject of this Bill is not one of those things that is of the great public interest. Now, if anybody ought to be for this bill it should be I, from Adams County, if it were for the benefit of apple growers. But it is not, and I tell you that a majority of my people are not for this bill and the majority of the apple growers in Adams County are not for this bill, and I do not care what was said in a resolution at the Fruit Growers Association. That Association does not represent the majority of the people and growers, because there were many of them present who did not know what was being discussed and moreover many of the apple growers were not at the meeting. And some of them were never told about the provisions of this bill. Now, if you want to create a Senator Byrd in Pennsylvania and create a lot of free rides, the big boys will sell out of the State but the little fellow cannot afford to sell outside the State. The little apple growers will sell locally and pay all the tax. Two or three large businesses will ship outside the State; they will make all kinds of gravy out of this proposed legislation; but the little fellows will pay the bill. If you want to do it, pass the bill, but I say that this is foreign to the real functions of State Government. The functions of this Commonwealth do not encompass this kind of legislation—the kind that tells every farmer how to run his business. Now, I believe in being liberal and supporting those things that are for the general welfare and for all the people, but this is not an item like public schools, public roads, etc. This is getting down to promoting the wealthy man's products. There are only a few wealthy ones who want this, and they want to use the little apple growers' money to help pay their own advertisement bills to sell outside the State. And you members in the city of Philadelphia, and in other big cities of this Commonwealth, I tell you that you will find the tax will be passed on in higher food prices. And food prices to the consumer are high enough now.

Thank you.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 694, printer's No. 759,

was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 809, entitled:

An Act amending "The Dental Law" approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 216), further providing for advertising by dentists.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. UJOBAI and KNECHT asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by striking out "providing for" and inserting: "regulating."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 2, lines 16 and 18, by striking out the bracket before "or" in line 16, and after "practiced" in line 18.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 3, lines 4 and 10, by striking out the bracket before "(1)" in line 4, and after "signs" in line 10.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I understand that you are not supposed to discuss the merits of the bill on the question of amendments, so I am asking the members to vote down these amendments, because they are intended by the newspaper association to ruin the bill, to put the bill back in the same form that it is right now, the law. There would be no purpose in passing the bill if these amendments were included because the act would be the same as is now in force, so I ask all of members to vote down these amendments.

Mr. KNECHT. Mr. Speaker, the present form of the bill defines certain specific items which are objectionable and which are included in the law as being punishable by revocation of a dentist's license, but this bill, if it is enacted, would provide that any dentist who advertises in any way could have his license revoked and be prohibited from practicing in the State of Pennsylvania. These amendments restore the provisions of the original act which has only one addition, and that addition is to include television. We believe these amendments are good. We believe they ought to be passed. I have a rather lengthy statement which I would like to make in reference to this bill. It will take considerable time.

Dr. Boies has stated that this represents the view of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and I do not disagree with him on that. There is a principle, however, involved in this and I want to read the statement to the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is that statement on the bill or on the amendments?

Mr. KNECHT. I will read this statement on the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to remind the gentleman that his statement is not in order at this time, but it will be in order when we are considering the final passage of the bill. The only thing before the House is the amendments offered by the gentleman.

Mr. KNECHT. I ask the members of the House to vote in favor of these amendments.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, I will have to disagree with my colleague on this side and agree with Dr. Boies on the other side. This bill is needed to protect the minority group in the State and to change it by putting in these amendments will defeat the purpose of the bill. I ask the members on this side and the other side to vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. KNECHT and UJOBAI and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KNECHT. Mr. Speaker, as we understand House bill 809, it would prohibit any dentist in Pennsylvania from any advertising whatever. This would be accomplished by the threat to suspend and revoke the license or registration of any dentist who makes use of advertising by means of signs, handbills, posters, circulars, slides, motion pictures, radio, television, newspapers, magazines, or other publications or advertising media.

This bill is an amendment to the present law which already restricts dentists from advertising in the following areas:

Professional superiority.

The performance of professional services of a superior manner.

The character or durability of his work.

To guarantee any dental service.

To perform any dental operation painlessly.

Prices for professional services.

Free dental work.

Free examinations.

By display of a tooth, teeth, bridgework, or any portion of the human head.

By means of a large, glaring or conspicuous sign or signs.

It is our understanding that this bill has the backing of the Pennsylvania Dental Association. Now I have no quarrel with the dental association or its individual members who decide among themselves that advertising in any of the means or manners described is not for them. However, I certainly do take opposition to their proposal when they resort to State legislation and to threat of the revocation of a dentist's license in an effort to impose their personal opinion by law.

It seems peculiar to me that the dental association should approach their problems by trying to outlaw advertising in their profession. This is actually an inconsistency in their thinking and actions as outlined by statements in their own service letter. Let me quote a paragraph or two from their March 1961 letter to their members.

> "Dentistry in Pennsylvania has accepted a challenge: The meeting headon of the problem of doing something about the more than 60 percent of the public who never receive dental care. A special committee was established for the purpose of telling these people about dental health needs through dental health education and public relations. Objectives of this program are to make the public more conscious of the value of good dental health and to render more complete and effective care of our population."

At the time the committee submitted its program it listed means of accomplishing its objectives. Among these were included distributing pamplets on advantages of the dental profession to all freshman high school students and advisors. This service letter of the Pennsylvania Dental Association also points out to its members that its central office, and I quote, "will continue mailing monthly public education kits, which have a month's supply of weekly dental health articles for newspaper use." Continuing the bulletin, "These newspaper articles have two express purposes: to satisfy an obligation of the profession to tell people about dental health, and to keep the public abreast of advances within the industry."

I for one want to commend the dental professions of Pennsylvania for an admirable objective in bringing about better dental health for the people of Pennsylvania. I congratulate them on their initiative in preparing information for use in the newspapers, editorials, and news columns. However, I again repeat, this program which they have outlined in their service bulletin is in exact opposition to their program in this legislature with House bill 809.

Advertising has been proved to be one of the most effective means of education developed in our society. Exactly the same objectives outlined by the dental association, with their sought-for free publicity, can be achieved side-by-side with paid advertising whether it be in newspapers, radios, handbills, circulars, motion pictures, or what have you.

The question then occurs to me, why do the dental people support this public relations program with the material which is obviously expensive to prepare being sent to newspapers throughout the State, and at the same time want a bill in this House which will outlaw any type of advertising?

It seems to me that instead of outlawing advertising for the dental profession entirely, the dental profession, with its new awareness of public relations, should be amending this bill to broaden the activities in the advertising field permitted by its members. Actually some of the present restrictions which I have mentioned seem to me to be items which the public would benefit from if dentists could advertise. For example, the present law prohibits a dentist from describing the character or durability of his work, from guaranteeing his services, from advertising that he can perform dental operations painlessly, from advertising his prices or offering free dental work or free examinations.

It seems to me that the objectives of the dental association is to "make the public more conscious of good dental health and to render more complete and effective dental care to the population," that they should embrace the advantages and opportunities offered them through sound and legitimate advertising rather than trying to completely eliminate it through the threat of revocation of license or registration of any dentist who chooses to use this method.

I would like also to refer briefly to the broad aspect of the matter. I refer to the fallacy of restricting advertising of any service or of any product that is legally offered or sold in Pennsylvania. It seems to me that we should all take the position that any service or product that can be legally sold should also be legal to advertise, subject to the obvious regulation to protect against fraudulent and misleading statements. In my opinion, any compromise with this principle is an infringement on individual freedom. If this type of restriction is sanctioned by law in dentistry, what is to prevent its spread into other fields?

I maintain these restrictive measures, this anti-advertising attitude, is without sound basis or reason. If this bill is promulgated into law it can lead to the destruction of the competitive system in a very honorable profession. If you destroy competition, obviously you spawn the growth of monopoly which in turn is detrimental to the public.

I ask the proponents of this legislation what they are afraid of. What is wrong, for example, with a legitimate dentist advertising his place of business, his hours, his particular specialty?

I think we are mature people and understand the social and economic make-up of this country. I think too we can all agree that advertising plays a key role in the success and growth of our economy. Advertising makes for continued progress in every field, through keener competition and lower prices, through improved service to the public. If this is true in one field, it certainly is true for another. Dentistry is no exception. Finally, I have no quarrel with the dental profession's desire to set its own standards of ethics. We do not challenge for one second their right to decide that individually or as a group they prefer not to advertise. We do however most sincerely challenge their attempt to impose their personal decisions by State legislation. In short, this is a matter for self-determination and self-regulation and not a matter for State legislation.

In view of this I intend to vote against House bill 809, and I ask my colleagues to join me in supporting this type of anti-advertising legislation.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman, the proponent of the amendments, opponent of this bill, as we all know is a newspaper man. The newspaper association has given this letter to every member of the House. They are concerned, Mr. Speaker, with, as the gentleman read, promoting competition and thus reducing rates through competition. I ask any member of the House if he believes that competition in the healing arts—would any member be so foolish if he needed an operation by a surgeon, for instance, to wait until that surgeon advertised a sale to have this operation performed so he could save a few dollars. Would any person who believes in standards of public health and public welfare and the interests of the welfare of the public believe that the professional men in the healing arts should compete with each other in the matter of price?

There are some 75 hundred dentists, licensed dentists in the State and I believe there are only about sixty of them who advertise. There are two States in the Union which have prohibited all dental advertising and medical advertising, and I would like to read to you just briefly from the case of Semler versus Oregon State Board of Dental Examiners:

> The Legislature was not dealing with traders in commodities, but with the vital interest of public health, and with a profession treating bodily ills and demanding different standards of conduct from those which are traditional in the competition of the market place. The community is concerned with the maintenance of professional standards which will insure not only competency in individual practitioners, but protection against those who would prey upon a public peculiarly susceptible to imposition through alluring promises of physical relief. And the community is concerned in providing safe-guards not only against deception, but against practices which would tend to demoralize the profession by forcing its members into an unseemly rivalry which would enlarge the opportunities of the least scrupulous.
> "A total prohibition of all advertising by practitioners of medicine and surgery was sustained in the case of Laughney vs. Maybury."

Mr. Speaker, I submit that if there are only such a minute number of practioners who advertise daily by means of newspapers, television and any other means they can find, there must be something wrong with their services to the public or by the end of a few months they would have so many patients they could not house them in the hospital, not alone in a dental office.

You all know from your own personal experience with your own dentist, your own physician, and surgeon, as a rule they are busy men and they do not have to advertise for additional patients. There is only one reason for the continuous advertising, to victimize the public. They must get new victims every day because the ones they had before do not return.

I submit, Mr. Speaker, that the newspapers' attitude is purely selfish. There is no justification for it. The practice of one of the professions of the healing arts is not a business; it is a profession. They are not offering a commodity; they are offering a service to the public, and in many, many cases at a sacrifice to the public, which you all know from your personal knowledge. I therefore ask all the members to support us on this bill.

Mr. KNECHT. Mr. Speaker, I think that I have a right to object to the term the Doctor used in reference to the newspaper publishers, that they are a selfish group. The newspapers of this State, I think, are among the most unselfish groups that you will find anywhere. I only need to refer to you people that the newspapers have a public service which supports every worthwhile effort that is going on, and that is contributed to entirely by the newspaper publishers of this State, and that is on the bond sales of the Federal Government, in every cancer drive, in every heart drive, in every worthwhile drive that is made by the charitable organizations. The biggest contribution that is made by any group is made by the newspapers of the State that publish and give all that publicity without any compensation whatever. If that is a selfish attitude, I say the use of the word "selfish" is very inadvised.

Now, as for the act, I think there is something faulty in the act here, and if you will turn to line 10 and the following lines in the bill, I would like to call your attention to that: "Provided however That the foregoing shall not prevent the use of signs containing the name of any licensee and the word dentist or any abbreviation thereof or of habitual intemperance or who is addicted to the use of narcotic drugs or is insane," and so on.

I think there is a line omitted in that bill and that this is not the true bill in its entirety.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Dr. Whittaker, if I may.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHITTAKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Is it your opinion that this bill would prohibit any dentist from advertising in the newspaper or other media the fact that he is a dentist?

Mr. WHITTAKER. It would not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. So if this bill is passed you can still insert an advertisement in the newspaper, containing your name and your address and the fact that you are a dentist; is that correct?

Mr. WHITTAKER. If you are starting a practice, you may advertise that you are starting on such and such a date, and you have the right under the association rules to run that three consecutive days, and so forth.

Mr. McCORMACK. Apart from that, assume that you have been engaged in that profession for ten years, would this bill prohibit you from inserting that advertisement in the newspaper, the fact that you are a dentist?

Mr. WHITTAKER. The same as is the telephone directory?

Mr. McCORMACK. No. Your name and address.

Mr. WHITTAKER. You are allowed to have your name in the back of the telephone directory. It does not stop you.

Mr. McCORMACK. No, not a telephone directory. I am talking about a newspaper.

Mr. WHITTAKER. If it is a conspicuous ad, if it is an ad of normal size, I do not believe it would stop you.

Mr. McCORMACK. It depends upon the size of the ad, is that it?

Mr. WHITTAKER. This bill now, as it is now, would prevent, as it states there, advertising in any media.

Mr. McCORMACK. I do not want to get off the subject. I want to stick to that specific language—the fact that I am a dentist, my name and my address. Under this bill, as I read it, Dr. Whittaker, you are not prohibited from inserting that kind of an advertisement in the newspaper and I want to find out whether you share that opinion.

Mr. WHITTAKER. That is my opinion. I agree with you.

Mr. McCORMACK. Then as a dentist and a professional man, let me ask you whether or not you believe that is a violation of ethics merely to insert that?

Mr. WHITTAKER. It is if you are a member of the association, but this bill is not directed at the members of the association. For your information, Mr. Speaker, of the 7500 registered dentists in Pennsylvania, 1500 do not live in Pennsylvania. They are either retired, or in Jersey, or took their schooling here and took the state board beyond the boundaries of the State. That leaves 6,000 men. As of yesterday morning, there were 6,475 in our association. That leaves 525. A good share of those are older men who can no longer pay their dues, live in rural areas, and so forth, but this bill is directed at correcting a certain situation which is harmful to the general public, and the number of men this bill is directed at, probably 60 would cover it.

Mr. McCORMACK. If it is in violation of the code of ethics for a professional man to advertise, should it not be an absolute restriction against advertising regardless of what is contained therein if you maintain and the dentists maintain that it is in violation of professional ethics to do so?

Mr. WHITTAKER. That's right.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well then, would you agree with me that this bill does not go far enough?

Mr. WHITTAKER. We are satisfied if we can have it just the way it is. This will take care of the situation at hand.

Mr. McCORMACK. All right. Now with respect to those lines which were pointed out by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Knecht, is it or is it not correct that there would appear to be a line missing the way it reads now under this printer's number? It does not make sense.

Mr. WHITTAKER. We checked that with the dental society lawyer and the Justice Department and that is the way they want it.

Mr. KNECHT. Mr. Speaker, I still maintain that the wording of this bill has an omission. There is an omission in the wording of this bill. I certainly feel that it should be checked with the bill as it exists today.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, rise?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FINEMAN. That portion of the bill to which the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Knecht, is presently referring is existing law which is in no way being changed by this proposed act that is before us.

My point of inquiry is this: If this bill in its present form were to be enacted by the General Assembly, what does the Secretary of State who is charged with the responsibility of punctuating the bill, what does he do with that portion of this act which does not change existing laws? In other words, if we have an act on our books where I assume the language is correct, and assuming that the language in this act is incorrect but there is no change in existing law, therefore, this language is not necessary to the act before us, what does the Secretary do in that instance?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is the opinion of the Chair that the Secretary of State has the power to punctuate and correct errors in the bill, but I do not believe he has the authority to change the actual act as it is passed.

Mr. FINEMAN. If the act that is before us does not in any way change existing language, it is merely a restatement of existing language, and through inadvertence something is left out, would the act that we have before us go in in its present form, or would existing law prevail.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair believes that there would be a risk involved in passing it if it is a faulty act in spite of the fact that there is an existing law which is not changed by this act. The Chair would like to have an opportunity to get an opinion from the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, while this debate was going on I called the reference bureau and that language is exactly the way it is in the amendment of 1937, and the Secretary of the Commonwealth has attempted to clarify it somewhat by, on line 13 on page 3, putting a semi-colon after the word "thereof," and then the language "or of habitual intemperance," and so forth is existing law. It is exactly the way the present act is. If the error was made it was made back in 1937 when the amendment was made.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Boies.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, may I again inform the House that both Dr. Whittaker and I brought this matter to the attention of counsel for the dental association and the Justice Department and they told us that it was intended to be the way it is now, and that is the way it should be. I ask all the members to support this bill and, if it should need any correction, we may amend it in the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I just use this opportunity to make an observation? We have had pointed out to us today, in my opinion, the need for having legislation presented to us with punctuation in it. Many times we get bills that we just cannot understand. This bill, without punctuation, as pointed out by the gentleman from Schuylkill, just does not make sense. I am the cosponsor, with Mr. Lippincott, of a bill requiring punctuation and I would like to see this House take favorable action on that bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE

Messrs. STIMMEL, PRICE, PIPER, ZEMBER, WEIDNER, BACKENSTOE, HEFFNER, Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. STECKEL, ADAMS, KNECHT, McDEVITT, and WM. JOSEPH LONG offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 12, 1961.

Whereas, When President Abraham Lincoln issued his proclamation of April 15, 1861, calling for volunteers to defend the authority of the United States after Southern forces had captured Fort Sumter, five companies of Pennsylvania troops were among the first to respond to his call; and

Whereas, These five companies, the Allen Infantry of Allentown, the Logan Guards of Lewistown, the Ringgold Light Artillery of Reading, the National Light Infantry of Pottsville, the Washington Artillerists of Pottsville, were mustered into the United States service at Harrisburg early in the morning of April 18, 1861, and that evening reached the imperilled national capital of Washington where they were immediately stationed in the United States Capitol building for its defense; and

Whereas, The patriotic men in these companies as the first volunteers from any state to reach the threatened national capital in response to the President's call were given the proud title of the First Defenders, and they were the beginning of a tremendous outpouring of men and resources from this Commonwealth to preserve the Federal Union from disruption; and

Whereas, The one hundredth anniversary of their stirring answer to the summons to protect the national Capital will be observed at Harrisburg on Sunday, April 16, 1961, by appropriate ceremonies in which National Guard units deriving from the original First Defender companies will participate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby pays tribute to the prompt and sterling services of the five Pennsylvania companies known as the First Defenders, whose example of swift and voluntary response to our country's need will remain an inspiration to patriotism whenever our flag, our nation, and our Commonwealth stand in need of ready and unhesitating defenders; and be it further

Resolved, That the centennial anniversary of the First Defenders is highly deserving of notice, attention, and thoughtful consideration by all patriotic citizens of this Commonwealth, and that this House commends the efforts of National Guardsmen and other public-spirited citizens to commemorate a brilliant and inspiring page in the annals of Pennsylvania, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Berks County Historical Society, Reading, Pennsylvania, Lehigh County Historical Society, Allentown, Pennsylvania, The Mifflin County Historical Society, Lewistown, Pennsylvania, and The Schuylkill County Historical Society, Pottsville, Pa.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 731, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code" approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103) increasing the daily expense allowance for delegates to meetings of the State associations of township officers.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill, it seems to me, was just a breach in the dyke. I do not think there is any other State association of local officers, be it city council or mayors in the city, registers of will, prothonotaries, whatever you care to name, that the expenses for daily attendance to State association meetings exceed $20. Over the course of the years we have determined that this is a proper amount. This bill, as I think we all know, raises that amount to $25. It seems to me that in order to be consistent it would cost just as much for your county register of wills to live at a convention as it does for a township supervisor. I see no reason or logic or justice why supervisors should be paid $25 a day and everybody else $20. As I say, it is a breach in the dyke. I think we kid ourselves if we think that every other association will not be in with a bill raising their expenses to $25 either later on in this session or next session. Under these circumstances I think this is bad legislation and I ask the members on both sides of the House to vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. McCANN. The record will show that Mr. Eilberg voted in the negative as I voted in the negative. I think each of us is entitled, for reconsideration purposes, to bring the bill back.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The only way that can possibly be done, Mr. McCann, would be by suspension of the rules.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe if there is a sincere attempt to bring this bill back that the proper person would be obtained for reconsideration, without resorting to a fiction here.

Mr. McCANN. I am satisfied, thank you.

SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John J. Haluska) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PETER CHRISAFIDEIS, Pastor of the Greek Orthodox; Church, "Ypapanti," East Pittsburgh, offered the following prayer:

In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit.

O God, great and inscrutable; O Father, Who has no beginning; O Son, Who, likewise, hast no beginning; and Spirit, Who equally existeth from everlasting time, incline Thine ear from Thy holy place on high and accept from us, Thy humble servants, prayers of gratitude, praise and thanksgiving.

O Lord, grant unto these men assembled here Thy richest benediction as they begin their difficult duties for justice in the affairs of men. Guide and direct them. Assist them to forget themselves in their greatest interest for the larger sentiments of public good and human brotherhood. Endow them with the right understanding of Thy will. Give them a keen sense of discernment, judgment and uprightness. Accord them with wisdom and knowledge so that they may wisely undertake the affairs of our great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

O most merciful Lord, satisfy with Thy mercy those who have known Thee. Be Thou unto all tribes and nations in Thine only true Christ. Let all the peoples from the rising of the sun, even unto the going down of the same, cry aloud with praise unto Thee in every language, with the voice of rejoicing.

For Thine is the Kingdom and the Power and the Glory, of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

SB 99—The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. ROONEY offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 604.1), page 3, line 16 by inserting after "years": In addition to the other provisions of this act relating to the suspension or revocation of operating privileges, in the event that a licensed junior operator is involved in an accident for which he is partially or fully responsible, in the opinion of the secretary, pleads guilty or nolo contendere or is convicted of any violation of "The Vehicle Code," or violates subsection (c) hereof, the secretary may, after a hearing suspend the operating privileges of such junior operator until he has reached the age of eighteen (18) years or for any other period of time.

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 604.1), page 4, line 10 by striking out "SIXTEEN (16)" and inserting: seventeen (17).

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 604.1), page 4, line 13 by inserting after "secretary": and who has not been involved in any accident for which he is partially or fully responsible, in the opinion of the secretary required to be reported under section 1217 of this act or who has not pleaded guilty or nolo contendere or who has not been convicted of any violation of this act.

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 604.1), page 4, line 19 by inserting after "application": (1) an affidavit of a parent or person in loco parentis indicating the age of the applicant and indicating his consent to the issuance of such license and (2)

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 604.1), page 5, lines 11 to 16 by striking out all of said lines and inserting:

(c) No person possessing a junior operator's license or no person possessing a regular operator's license who is under eighteen (18) years of age shall operate any vehicle or tractor upon the highways of the Commonwealth between the hours of midnight and five o'clock antemeridian unless he is accompanied by a parent or a person in loco parentis.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I wish to object to the amendments submitted by Senator Rooney.

The amendments put back into the bill the same sections which were removed from it last week. The most outstanding part of this bill requires supervision of drivers from sixteen to eighteen years of age. It requires that drivers in this age group be accompanied by an adult, parent or someone in loco parentis after the hour of 12:00 o'clock midnight. That, in my opinion, encroaches on other types of juvenile law in force. It encroaches on the Criminal Code, on the Delinquency Acts, on the Juvenile Acts and so on.

It is taking the Bureau of Highway Safety into a type of jurisdiction where, in my opinion, it does not belong.

A young man may be out after 12:00 o'clock with his lady friend,—conceivably without an adult—and he would be violating the law and would be subject to arrest and fine. This provision requires that parents be with their children after 12:00 o'clock. I do not think this is a reasonable requirement in this day and age, especially when there is no school the next day and the children stay out after 12:00 o'clock.

A broader argument is that this is part of a continuous policy on the part of the Bureau of Highway Safety in its drive against people. This monster, which we created several years ago, was intended to be an educational institution to educate drivers. Now it seems to know no bounds—never when to stop—and I do not suppose it is going to stop with this type of legislation. It is going to continue and continue until somebody stops it, and I hope the General Assembly will stop it at this point.

Boys between sixteen and eighteen years of age are adults. They are not boys. They make good drivers and very efficient drivers. I happen to have children of that age. They are very capable drivers. They passed the drivers' training test and secured their operators' licenses the first time they took the test. They are much more capable than ill drivers, drivers who are nervous, drivers who are elderly and so on, and here we are attacking this younger generation.

Are we looking for a Nation of pantywaists? Do we not want our children to be capable and competent to do the things which are expected of them? We take them into the military service at sixteen and seventeen, with their parents' consent. Further, they hold jobs and they do all sorts of other things. Sixteen and seventeen year old men hold jobs driving cars and other jobs where they must know how to drive. Some of these jobs keep them out after 12:00 o'clock at night on occasion. We are hereby hampering their economic existence.

In one State, boys eighteen years of age have been given the right to vote, and here we are denying boys just under that age the right to drive a car as an adult.

I know that on the farms of the Commonwealth, boys—and even girls, for that matter—have been driving tractors from the time they are eight and ten years old, and even earlier in some cases. They are very complicated machines. They are as complicated as an automobile, and yet this would hamper even that type of activity.

Insurance statistics show that the careless driver among the youth is not the driver between sixteen and eighteen. He is the driver between twenty and twenty-two years of age. If we are going to hit the worst offenders, why do we not require the same of the driver between the ages of twenty and twenty-two?

I think these amendments are undue and unreasonable restrictions on the right of people to drive. I hope the Senate does not pass these amendments.

I can understand why parents say they would want jurisdiction over children between sixteen and eighteen insofar as their giving them permission to drive. I think that permission of the parents is entirely reasonable. However, to put undue restriction on them, to put penalties on them and things of this sort which will make them violators of the law, I think should not be done in this Senate.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I would like to comment on the amendments.

Two years ago, we introduced in this Senate a bill which was similar to this one, but which was even more restrictive. At that time, I found that New York State had the same type of a law to restrict junior drivers since 1928. It has been very successful in New York State. Connecticut has a similar law. It has been very successful in Connecticut.

As to the number of accidents being fewer in the sixteen to eighteen year old bracket than in the twenty-two to twenty-four year old bracket, the reason is that there are fewer drivers in that bracket. There are fewer drivers in the sixteen to eighteen year old bracket than there are in the twenty-two to twenty-four year old bracket.

As far as the parents are concerned, when I introduced the bill two years ago, practically every parent came to me and asked me to get that bill through quickly. They want a certain amount of restriction on the children until they find out if they are capable of driving. You will find out that ninety-five per cent of the parents in the State of Pennsylvania are in favor of this bill. I think it is a good bill.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, insurance statistics are very carefully drawn, and their statistics as to accidents are based on percentages.

I want everyone to realize that the parental control is still in this bill. I am discussing the additional restrictions. I do not think the parents have been consulted insofar as I can say, and I do not think we are in a position to know what all of the parents think about this bill.

However, I do think that we, in our capacity in the General Assembly, ought to know what is proper and just.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. ROONEY offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by striking out "REGULATING THE OPERATION OF VEHICLES."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE FISCAL YEAR OF CERTAIN SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Messrs. YATRON, SESLER and MAHADY, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 114), which was read and referred to the Committee on Education:

In the Senate, April 17, 1961.

The fiscal year of most political subdivisions of this Commonwaelth begins on either the first day of January or the first Monday of January, except in certain school districts of the second class and school districts of the third and fourth class in which the fiscal year begins on the first Monday of July.

The commencement of these fiscal years at different times gives rise to much confusion and resultant inefficiency in the assessment, levy and collection of local taxes; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the reasons why the fiscal year of certain school districts should differ so greatly from the fiscal year of other political subdivisions, with a view toward a more orderly system for the assessment, levy and collection of all local taxes; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the General Assembly as soon as possible its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

HB 132 CALLED UP

HB 132—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up, from page 2 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. BERGER.

BILL ON THIRD READING
AMENDMENTS OFFERED

HB 132—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 132 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to the request that this bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John J. Haluska) in the Chair.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 132 go over in its order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on this motion.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the motion.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FLEMING and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Staisey,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus, to be held in the Democratic Caucus Room on the first floor.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there will be a Republican Caucus for the same length of time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I merely want to call to the attention of the Majority Leader the fact that certainly he has the right to request a meeting of the Democratic Caucus, and I would always give him that right. However, Mr. President, I want to caution him on any attempt to keep the Caucus out until 6:00 p. m., and then use that as a subterfuge to adjourn the Senate. We are not prepared to adjourn the Senate until we do dispose of House Bill No. 132 on Third Reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not know which experience the gentleman is thinking about. However, this has been the previous experience here in this Senate. I think he will find that the record will show this has not been the experience during this Session. I believe that the gentleman's remarks are not well taken and that he is completely out of order. If I would have had a delay in mind, I would have requested a recess until 6:00 p. m., and not a fifteen minute recess.

I think also the gentleman might be well advised, if he wants proper consideration of some of the amendments which he and other Members want to discuss, to present some of those copies to us. I will be happy to take those up in Caucus at the same time. I also think the gentleman is ill-advised on the position he has taken because he was one of the people, along with some others, who asked that this bill go over in order every week when we had the votes to pass this bill. This is the first week when we do not have all of our people here, and it is the first time the gentlemen on the other side have moved to amend this bill and try to pass it. I think the record also speaks for itself in that regard.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I might say to the gentleman from Allegheny County that his expressions came with very poor grace, indeed. I want him to know that we, on the Democratic side, are not adopting the policies of the Republican Party in the past, such as using subterfuge. They have done that over the years. I have been here long enough to know.

We are going in Caucus to discuss this particular problem. It also should be a lesson to the Democratic Members of the Senate to be in their seats. The Republicans are taking advantage of a condition which exists today. They know it exists and that is the reason why they are so adamant at this particular time.

I resent very much the inference made by the gentleman from Allegheny County when he stated that we are going into Caucus for the purpose of delay.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I merely want to correct the record on one thing. The Majority Leader has said that I was one of the persons who, day after day, requested that this bill go over in order. I would like the gentleman to very closely examine the record and see how many times I asked for this bill to go over in order. I asked, at the request of two Members of my Caucus, on one occasion, that the bill go over in order. That is the only request that I have ever made for it to go over in order.

I would remind the gentleman that when we, on this side, were in power, we always honored the request of any Member of the Minority for a bill to go over in order. I would draw to the gentleman's attention that he has not honored those requests from us. He has ridden over us in a pretty roughshod manner on occasion by insisting that bills be moved merely because he had the necessary votes to move them up.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as long as the gentleman is setting the record straight, let us have it absolutely correct. I did not say that the gentleman asked for the bill to go over in order each of those times. I stated that he was not in favor of this measure and that he has, on occasion, asked for this bill to go over in order. That is fact number one. Number two, I do not think the record will bear the gentleman out on the fact that when we asked for bills to go over in order, that our requests were always heeded. If the gentleman wants me to show him that record, I will be most happy to do so by picking up the Legislative Journal of either the previous Session or the Session before that, when we were in the Minority.

Also, Mr. President, there were longer discussions on some of these matters. We went into them in great detail. I have stated here that we have been trying to move this bill each week. Each week, when this bill went over in order, I did not quarrel about it. I merely pointed out, each of these time, as to how long this bill had been on the Calendar.

The only reason for this bill being moved today, in order for the record to be absolutely clear, is because these amendments which are to be inserted are crippling amendments and will injure the bill. They will make it impossible for some of the Members on this side to vote for this measure. That is the only reason why the Republican Members of the Senate are pressing for this bill to be passed at this time.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I also would certainly like to set the record straight.

In a very friendly gesture to the gentleman, I would like to have the record examined for the past four Sessions. If, during the three previous Sessions before this one, the Republican Leadership objected to a request from the Democratic side for a bill to go over as many times as the gentleman has objected during this Session, I will buy him a good dinner and I will allow his Assistant, Sam, to make the search. I will accept his count.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this is an example of how this unfairness continues. The gentleman knows that I am on a diet and now he offers to buy me a dinner. This is what causes the difficulty.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think, as long as we are straightening out records here, the reason for the request for the bill to go over in order on previous occasions was so that we could study it and offer additional amendments. That is the reason why the bill is here and that is the reason why action has been delayed on it. We now have those amendments.

The gentleman has requested that it would be proper to allow them to have a copy and to take it into Caucus. We are very glad to do this. I have here the amendments and I intend to permit them to take them into Caucus and go over them. There are other amendments which I believe also be offered. These are also partially the reason why the bill has gone over in order on previous legislative days. I am quite sure that one of the amendments is not objectionable to the Members on the other side. One of them may or may not be. Consequently, we would like to offer the amendments at this time and we offer every opportunity for the gentlemen to discuss them at their Caucus.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, of course, I have no way of knowing how extensive the amendments to this bill, which are about to be offered, are. However, I think it is a highly unusual procedure for a Member of one side to refuse, to the Caucus of the other side, whatever time is necessary to make an adequate study of what the effect of the amendments would be.

I noticed that the package of amendments which Senator Berger brandished about over at the microphone seemed to be rather voluminous. If this is true, then it will be necessary for the Caucus on this side, obviously, to study what the impact of every one of those amendments will be. I have not seen any of these amendments.

I would also say to the gentleman that if, as he said, there are other amendments which we have not seen, I would hope that we will see them. If we do not see them until they are subsequently offered, I will ask at that time that we have another Caucus in order for us to have time to study the effect of each one of the amendments upon the bill. Therefore, Mr. President, in the interest of saving time, I hope the gentleman will give us a copy of all the amendments which are to be offered.

I would also say to the gentleman that fifteen minutes have been asked for, but I do not feel that I, myself, am bound in any way to request my Caucus to remain in session until we know clearly what each of these amendments do to the bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sure that the perspicacity of the Senator will permit him to comprehend these amendments in very little time, that is, the ones he stated I bandied about over the microphone, which is a pretty fair electronics feat.

Mr. President, the fifteen minutes requested by the Majority Leader for a Caucus will be up soon, and I suggest that we now return to our respective Caucuses.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I would like to delay the Caucus just for one minute more to say that I hope an amendment which I submitted to the Majority Leader and his colleagues last week—a revision of an original amendment which was made by me at their request—has been a subject matter of their Caucus, and that we are all in accord that this will be an amendment which will add value to the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Chair now declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to preface the motion I am about to make with a few remarks.

It has taken us quite some time to comprehend very slightly the proposed amendments to be inserted in the bill. As a matter of fact, there are amendments on about fourteen or fifteen pages, and we are not sure as to just what they mean.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 18, 1961, at 2:00 p.m.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on this motion.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Camiel,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Staisey,
Devlin,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Kalman,	Mullin,	Silvert,	Haluska,
Lane,	Murray,		Presiding Officer

NAYS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Mallery,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Fleming,

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if any one of these gentlemen who introduced these amendments, either Senator Stroup, Senator Hawbaker, Senator Ware, Senato Pechan or Senator Shafer, will allow himself to be interrogated.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I certainly would have no objection to an interrogation. However, it would seem to me that the orderly procedure would be to introduce the amendments, have them read, and then have them explained to the Majority Leader who, I am sure, will be much better able to understand them when they are in that form. If Senator Stroup does not object, I would yield to him. However, I point out to the Chair that the proper procedure would be to offer the amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the amendments being offered. May we do them one at a time so that we can talk about them in a logical fashion?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, may I suggest that we offer the amendments and then discuss them in a logical fashion, one at a time?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have already agreed that they be offered.

Messrs. STROUP, HAWBAKER, WARE, PECHAN and SHAFER, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford, Senator Stroup.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to have Senator Stroup explain what this does and the purpose of these amendments.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the gentleman has asked me to explain. Does he wish to interrogate or does he want me to offer an explanation?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will do it any way the gentleman would like. I think it would be easier if he would explain it to me and then I can just follow the best I can.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I then will make a preliminary statement to this effect.

Mr. President, the amendments offered by my colleagues on this side of the Senate are designed primarily to correct one of the most palpable errors to be found in this bill, and that is the denial of State-aid to local districts if they fail to comply with the rules, regulations and requirements of the State Librarian and/or the Advisory Council.

These amendments make it possible for local districts—local libraries and county libraries—to receive State-aid and yet, at the same time, maintain their own autonomy, in control of all of the functions of their libraries. That is the basic purpose of these amendments. I think anyone, if they are in favor of increasing aid to libraries throughout the Commonwealth, will vote for these amendments. However, if they are in favor of increasing aid and requiring increased local effort only if State control by the State Librarian and Council can be implemented, and if a possible potential patronage situation can develop, then they will be against the amendments.

Mr. President, if the gentlemen of the Senate have the bill before them, we can go to page 3, Section 3, line 7. We have deleted this language in line 7 and—

Mr. WEINER. Excuse me, Mr. President. I just want to make sure that we are following correctly. Do you mean amend Section 102, and not Section 3, page 3?

Mr. STROUP. Page 3, Subsection 3.

Mr. WEINER. Your amendment only says: "Amend Section 102, page 3 . . ."

Mr. STROUP. That is correct. We are now on line 7, of page 3. We are striking out:

". . . of coordinating the services of all local libraries within the district which by contract became part of the district library center system . . ."

In other words, we are not permitting the district library center to set up a coordination of local libraries. The local libraries will handle their own affairs, and the library center will merely make available to them basic information, documents, collections and so forth.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman allow himself to be further interrogated?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please explain to us why he is striking out the word "coordinating," what he feels is bad about this, and why we should take this out of the bill?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the district library center, by having the power or coordinating the services of the local libraries, therefore, will control the functions of the local libraries within the particular service area center, and it takes away the autonomy of the local library; that is, the county library, the borough library or whichever type of library it may be. It is an element of control, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please tell us what he is afraid of and what fear he has that he wants to remove the word "coordinating"?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I fear a large segment of professional librarians in the library centers around the Commonwealth who may be able to reach down into the local areas and tell them what to do and how to do it, and if they do not do it, then they do not get State-aid.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman speaks in generalities. I would like him to be more specific. Is he stating that he is concerned that the libraries will tell the people what books to read or what books they should have on their shelves? Is this what he is stating?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, there is that possibility. However, I do not think there is as much possibility of thought control through the library centers or even from the State Librarian, under the way this bill came to us amended by the House, as there is in compelling the local libraries to conform to rules and regulations. As a consequence, if they do not conform through the coordination of the libraries in the entire area, they lose the State-aid.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman allow himself to be further interrogated, and may he continue to be interrogated without asking permission? He can stop anytime that he cares to do so.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, allow himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I am satisfied to have the gentleman continue the interrogation without requesting permission.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us if he takes this out of the bill and does away with the rules and regulations, what is the purpose of having this bill? Is it not primarily the tenor of this measure to have a coordinated library system, and have a library system that is good for all of the people of Pennsylvania?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the purpose of the bill, as amended,—if these amendments should pass—will be to provide a Commonwealth-wide library service for our people, who will have control of the libraries themselves through some representation, if they go into increased local effort, upon those library boards of trustees from the political subdivisions or municipalities, or through their own selective groups by those municipalities who are responsible for the increased local effort.

The rest of the situation, as far as State-aid is concerned, would be provided by the State Government without reaching into the local function and dominating control of public libraries.

It is purely a question of this, Mr. President: Do we want to increase local effort and receive increased financial assistance from the State solely, or do we want to receive increased local effort and financial assistance from the State only if the State regulates?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise the Members of the Senate if his amendments pass, what will be the purpose of actually passing this bill? What can we not do right now that will be able to be done after we pass this bill with his amendments? What will we have accomplished?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the provisions of increased local effort financing and the provisions of increased State-aid are sufficient to validate the bill and encourage us to be in favor of it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise the Members of the Senate that when he speaks of control, is he not giving it his own interpretation rather than the general interpretation that is given to these things in the general areas where you have this type of situation, such as speaking of the highway situation, speaking of fire and police protection, and other general areas of public service where the State and local areas cooperate with each other?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I cannot, first of all, subscribe to the validity of the analogy which has been suggested. I cannot see that there is a substantial analogy. I believe the public libraries, as such, should stand upon their own, and we should discuss this matter without reference to what we do in other areas of State-aid.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us then if we just discarded this bill and passed one which provided these revenue measures to give this money, would we not accomplish the same purpose?

Mr. STROUP. No, we would not, Mr. President. This bill does very admirably provide suggestions on how supervisory provisions may be brought to the local libraries by the State Librarian and by the Advisory Council, and the local library—the county library—can then operate on that. It can accept it, and no doubt will.

Mr. President, it seems to me that we must have some faith and some confidence in the ability and capacity of our citizens on the local level, and those who are on the boards of our local libraraies and would be on those boards.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please explain to us what gives him the impression that the kind of control he speaks of will actually take place, and what evidence does he have that this is even intended by this bill?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, a careful study of the bill will show that there is that potential throughout this entire piece of legislation unless it is corrected and restricted, as these amendments do restrict it.

The long-arm of government always follows its pocketbook. We cannot afford that here. We want better libraries, but we see in this a possible domination by one man, the State Librarian, or a small Advisory Council which may function without too much portifolio—and this would be dominated by the State Librarian—over all of the libraries throughout the Commonwealth. That is the reason for our amendments and the answer, I believe, to the question.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise me if he is familiar with the State Highway Program?

Mr. STROUP. I am, but I believe not as familiar as the Majority Leader. However, I am somewhat familiar with it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman also advise us what kind of control the Federal Government has in choosing the people who do the work, whether they be engineering firms, contractors or design engineers? In what way do they influence the hiring or use of these people or any of the employees of the Highways Department?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the gentleman is wasting his time because from the direction of his question, I know whence he is leading. There is no analogy between the Highways Department, as I see it, and the State public libraries.

Nevertheless, in answer to his question,—partly at least—let us say that the Bureau of Public Roads, from my understanding, exercises a considerable amount of determination as to where the roads will be built and just exactly how they are going to be built. I think the Public Roads Act of 1956 provides rather carefuly for that.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, can the gentleman point to any control at all by the Federal Government over the State Highway Program? Is it not also a fact that the gentleman stated earlier—unless he wishes to retreat to a former position—that government control follows its pocketbook? That ought to be analogous to what he is telling here. I would like him to show me where this has taken place. Maybe I would like to vote for these amendments myself if this, in fact, is the truth.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I first of all stated a basic philosophy. Secondly, I now state that at the present time, in so far as the Interstate Highway System is concerned, I am trying in my area to secure a certain exit on an Interstate Highway. The approval is secured through the central department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—the Department of Highways—but final approval, if it comes, will come from the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I also direct the gentleman to, if he would please, answer my question. Has he any evidence at all that the people who have put up the money—and the Federal Government, in many instances, puts up ninety per cent of the money—have in any way shaped the policy, in any way directed the hiring or the firing of anyone or in any way shaped which area we are going to build or not build in? Has that occurred? Do you have any evidence of that at all, Senator, whether it be directly or indirectly?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I have been exceedingly patient with the gentleman on his interrogation because I hoped that I could persuade him to the real verity of these amendments, and that he will go along with us on them. However, I must repeat that I cannot see the analogy and, therefore, I do not think I shall answer further questions with relation to the Highways Department.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is the gentleman familiar with the public health program and the school program, that we have in this State?

Mr. STROUP. I would say again, Mr. President, that, of course, I would not be as familiar as the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia. However, I have some slight knowledge of these programs.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us whether he has any evidence of the State giving any subsidies in these areas and, thereby, controlling the program? Do they dictate the policy or in any way play any role and violate the principles which he states will be violated in this program? Can he supply evidence of that?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I am not debating the highway program, the welfare program or the health program. We are presently debating these amendments. He is driving into an area of analogy which I do not consider to be particularly cogent in this discussion, and I would ask that he confine his interrogation to this particular bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman advise me if it would be a fair statement that where the State has given money, in so far as the local areas are concerned, they have played no part in either the hiring or firing of people, been in involved in the patronage end of it, or in any way set up policy that was inimical to what we regard as American principles and also inimical to the area concerned? Would that be a fair statement, Senator?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I shall not answer one way or the other. The gentleman is in an area in which he has much more information than I have. I am pretty well confined in my discussion and interrogation here to the bill which is before us.

I have repeatedly said that I cannot see the validity of the analogy which he attempts to draw. I think if we read the bill, Mr. President, we will there find full possibility for potential State control and refusal of State-aid because the local areas do not submit to that control.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. It might very well be that the analogies we have presented here have been in an area where the gentleman cannot see very clearly because of his point of view in this particular area and he cannot quite see the analogy.

May I point out to the gentleman that there is no evidence, either directly or indirectly, that any of these areas are affected.

I submit to you, Senator, that if you remove the word "coordinating," you are tearing the very heart out of this bill and the very purpose for which we are enacting it. The purpose of this measure is to set up a central system which will help administer and provide decent library facilities.

You know, Senator, it is very interesting that we are discussing this measure this week because this week is National Library Week. The Census Bureau figures—this census was taken long before the advent of the Democratic Administration, and so they certainly are not Democratic figures I am giving you—just appeared in yesterday's paper. The Sunday Bulletin, in Philadelphia, had an entire section dealing with the library program and the library facilities. There are 50,000,000 people in this Country who are denied any kind of library facilities whatsoever. There are about another 25,000,000 who have inadequate library facilities.

Right here in our own State,—and I am ashamed to tell you—there are many libraries that do not even have an encyclopedia of any kind. If you think that is the kind of a library system we want to continue to foster, if you think that is the kind of a library system that we ought to have in this State, and if you think that is the kind of a library system we ought to make available to the young people and the adults who are trying to better themselves by getting an education in their off-hours when they are not employed, I certainly would like to say to you that I think this is a backward step.

This bill would be a forward step. This is the same bill that was introduced last Session and never got out of committee. It seems to me that all you are trying to do is amend it to death at a time when you feel that you can be successful with these amendments.

I want to assure you that all you will do by these amendments is guarantee that this bill will never pass this Senate because if you put these amendments in the bill, it will be impossible for us to vote for the mere shell of the bill that will be left, and without twenty-six votes, this bill cannot pass.

I know there are gentlemen sitting on the other side of the aisle who have expressed interest in this measure and they would vote for it. However, once you amend it and kill it this way, not only will we not be able to pass it, but we will have no library bill.

I think this is wrong thinking. I think it is not the proper thing to do, because this bill has passed the House and has had bipartisan support over there. If the intention is to kill this measure, you are certainly on the right track, and you are doing it in the proper way by making it appear that you are trying to accomplish a result which is not a result but, rather, it will be the end of this measure.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, as a consequence of the splendid oration delivered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I feel I must make some response.

It is not our purpose whatsoever to kill the library bill. It is rather our purpose, Mr. President, to improve the bill to the point where it can be acceptable throughout the Commonwealth to our people. It is our purpose to provide funds by increased local effort and State-aid which will enable our local libraries—the controlling groups there—to take care of their own problem with the funds that are provided. The money, to a great extent, is coming from the local effort, not from the State effort, and they certainly should have the final say as to how they are going to handle their particular local situation.

These amendments, Mr. President, improve the bill. These amendments do everytihng that the distinguished Senator asks should be done in the libraries in Pennsylvania except one thing. "These amendments remove the domination of the State Librarian over all local areas." They remove the denial of State-aid if your local libraries, governed as they are by your municipalities, do not conform with the so-called suggestions made by the State Librarian or his inspectors. Therefore, I cannot follow the argument of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. President.

I think the bill is greatly improved with the amendments which we offered, in all sincerity. We see no reason, unless the gentlemen on the other side are convinced they must have State control if they are going to give any State-aid, for them to vote against these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford, Senator Stroup.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise the Members of the Senate where the word "control" appears in the bill, if it appears at all?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, the word "control" is, naturally enough, very carefully kept out of the bill. It is the implication and innuendo. It is reading the bill in its full context. It is taking Section 303 and Section 304, and the other sections, setting up the power of the State Librarian and the denial of State-aid if you do not come up to the rules and regulations or obey the rules and regulations of the State Librarian. There is where you get your control. I am certain it is there. You do not have to look for a needle in a haystack to find it, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us what suggestions he feels the State Librarian will make that will be objectionable or will result in control?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I should imagine, by and large and on the whole, without very much more, that most of the suggestions to be made by the State Librarian for local libraries would be excellent for improvement. However, I do not think that because the local libraries and the boards there do not agree to go along with the suggestions that they should be denied State-aid.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the proponent of the amendments, on this particular section of the amendments, if he is willing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I hope I may have the same dispensation as Senator Weiner; that being a continuous interrogation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You are given the same privilege, Senator Seyler.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to begin, as did Senator Stroup, by stating a little philosophy. I would like to tell him, as a background for understanding the questions I am about to ask him and his answering them in the spirit in which I ask them, that I am just as concerned as he—and I think that I speak for all of the Members on this side in that we are just as concerned as he is—that we do not have anything in this bill which exerts any authoritarian control over local libraries. Therefore, my interrogation—and I think Senator Weiner's interrogation and everyone else who may be moved to interrogate on any of these sections—is concerned with trying to understand the gentleman's point when he says there is such danger of authoritarian control.

I would like to begin by asking the gentleman just what he understands by "coordinating the services of local libraries"? This is the phrase that he objects to and in which he finds authoritarian controls. I have in my mind, the members of the committee have in their minds, and I think librarians pretty clearly understand what coordinating services in a library would mean. However, I do not know what the gentleman from Bedford thinks coordinating the services of libraries might mean, and so I ask him that as my first question.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, we are getting into a question of semantics here. As to just exactly what the word "coordinating" will mean, it is what it may mean under certain interpretations that one must consider. Under certain circumstances, it may not. However, then under others, it may. If as we suspected it might mean, it would require the district library to impose upon all local libraries certain relationships, each with the other, which they might wish to accept. It might mean the swallowing up of a smaller local library by a larger local library. It might mean an imposition upon their economy as an individual entity. Therefore, as a consequence, we fear the coordination of the district library center. We do not think it is necessary at all.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the part of the section which the gentleman is not amending, which appears directly before the passage which he is amending reads as follows:

". . . providing supplementary library services to local libraries within the district . . ."

Does the gentleman fear any authoritarian implications in providing supplementary services?

Mr. STROUP. No, I do not, Mr. President. Supplementary services can be provided and accepted if they want to accept them. It is only where there is an imposition and requirement that if you do not do it you lose State-aid that we take issue at all.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, preliminary to further questioning, I would like to tell the gentleman now that I do not have a very clear idea of what he thinks coordinating services means. However, I have a little better understanding of why he fears it.

I would like to tell the gentleman my concept of coordinating services. I think that by coordinating services we mean that somebody—not in any one library, but somebody on a level so they can look over the whole field—could do a considerable service by finding out what services each library can offer and then making provision so so that the people of that area can be served by all of them rather than only the one they are close to and the only one they would ordinarily know anything about.

For example, if one library in the larger area has a reference service which is not available to the others, coordination would mean arranging so that the other libraries who do not have that service can, by calling on the library which has, furnish that service to the people over that district. Obviously, if one library is mainly one of fiction and it cannot provide such reference services, it would be an advantage to the people who live near that library if someone would arrange so that the services provided by a nearby library can also be provided to them by bringing over to that library the services which they do not perform.

It is quite true, Senator Stroup, that in a community that has a library which is mainly a fiction library, there may be a small number of people who would need the reference services. However, if there were some who did, it certainly seems to me to their advantage if someone who could look over the whole situation would say: "Well, if you need this service in this library, you can get it by asking your adjoining library over here to furnish it to you."

This is something which I do not believe libraries could do for themselves unless there is some coordination. It seems to me to be an innocent, simple and useful idea. I do not see anything in it, in my concept of coordinating services, that would alarm anyone.

I ask you now, Senator, accepting my view of what coordinating services means, do you see any reason why anyone should fear any authoritarian controls in the type of service I have described?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, in the event that the coordinating services, such as the Senator describes, were implemented, if there could be assurance that refusal to accept the suggestion of coordinated services by the district library center would not deny State-aid, then we could accept it. However, coordinated services, as we find here in this particular Subsection 3, could result very well in the rule or regulation and the requirement, and refusal to comply with the requirement would deny State-aid. That is the reason we are amending it out.

Mr. SEYLER. Are you saying, Senator, that if Library B, which I described as having a service not enjoyed by Library A, were asked by whoever was coordinating it—the district library center—to allow the citizens of Library A's area to use its resources, you think this would be an undue request and that this would be something unfair or unreasonable?

Mr. STROUP. We think that in nine out of ten cases,—maybe not that many—the local library would accept it. However, in those instances in which the local library would not care to accept it, we think they should not be required to, and that is the crux of the whole matter.

By the way, Mr. President, this question of the local library coordinating services of the district center is just one small phase of this entire problem. We have not even touched upon the big problem which is in the heart of the bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman that we mean to be just as intensive about each one of the sections which he is amending because this is a far-reaching thing. This is something on which a lot of time and effort has been spent in building up. If we can improve it by using the gentleman's amendments, of course, we are willing to do so. However, we certainly want to understand the connotations.

I do not consider this at all a useless question. I think it is important for use to know because—

Mr. STROUP. I beg your pardon, Senator.

Mr. SEYLER. I yield to the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. STROUP. Thank you very much, Senator. I would never say that the Senator would ask a useless question, and if you got that interpretation, I certainly want to correct it immediately for the record.

Mr. SEYLER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President, and I assure him that I will try to avoid useless questions.

I assume now that we have reached a sort of impasse here. He says there might be one case in 100—or whatever figure he cited—where a library would be asked to do something that it would not want to do. In my own opinion, the libraries in the Commonwealth were constantly in touch with this. Senator, I believe, from my mail at least, they were pretty unanimously in favor of it. Not only that, but the Parent-Teachers' Association is in constant communication regarding the bill not only in my area, but on the State level. I find most of the educators of the Commonwealth have this same line of thought because, as educators working with children, they, too, are interested because oftentimes the community furnishes the best source of reference material. The school library, of course, is usually present. However, ofttimes its total capacity and its ability to offer services is somewhat limited, and there are times when more adult books, particularly for the gifted students, and materials on a higher level are needed. This type of resource is important to people in education.

So far as I know, the Parent-Teachers' Association, the educators and the librarians themselves are aware of what the bill says and are interested in having it.

Moving on to the next question, Senator, I would like to ask you whether you have noted that in the original language of the bill before you violated it, the services suggested here, both for providing supplementary services and coordinating services by the district library center, are only for those local libraries which "by contract become part of the district library center system"? I am saying, in other words, Senator have you noticed there is nothing in this section which you are amending which would force any library to enjoy these services or—adopting for a moment your assumptions—to be directed in some authoritarian way by these services?

Mr. STROUP. If the gentleman is correct whereby—and I am not so sure I accept his explanation, Mr. President—if the local libraries have entered into a contract to coordinate services, then, of course, they would do it voluntarily. However, if in order to get State-aid they must enter into the contract, which I think you will find in the context of the bill, and if they did not they would not get it, then, of course, you are giving here again control by the State and denial of State-aid.

Mr. SEYLER. Would the gentleman be willing to yield on his fears in this matter if he were assured that amendments to the bill would be made which would state that no library shall receive less money as a result of the bill whether they enter into a contract or not?

Mr. STROUP. That would be a consideration, Mr. President. Of course, I must point out that would not correct the huge fault in the bill in other phases or in other sections of it.

Mr. SEYLER. Would that correct the authoritarian part of the bill that you fear?

Mr. STROUP. I think it would help the denial of State-aid in the event compulsion does not enter into coordinating services on the local level, yes.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, may we be at ease for a few moments so that I may consult with my attorney?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, after advice from counsel, I would like to make a statement about this particular section. I am merely referring to Subsection (3), on page 3, because I want to interrogate at length, and discuss at length, on all the other sections which are involved in this.

However, Mr. President, I want to say to the gentlemen who introduced these amendments, and to all the Members of the Senate, that there is nobody on this side, there was nobody on the committee which worked for a long time in drawing up this bill, there is no one among the Library Association's members who have supported this bill, there is no one in the P.T.A., there is no one among the professional educators, all of whom support this bill, who want, in any way, to put any authoritarian or dictatorial powers in anybody's hands in so far as operating local libraries is concerned. The whole purpose of this bill and this subsection is to make it possible so the people of this Commonwealth may have developed over this Commonwealth the library services which they need and should have. If we are going to go forward in education, one of the greatest educational factors in any civilized nation is its libraries. If we really mean that we want to do something in education, libraries are basic.

All the people who have studied this bill have been perfectly aware of the issues involved. They have carefully constructed this. Therefore, there is no possibility of dictatorial controls. However, on the other hand, there is a possibility of bringing people together, such as the professional educators, the lay people who are involved in the libraries, and through consultation to build up something which will be good. In that way, we will not have some communities with no libraries and we will not have some communities where they have a few shelves of fiction. However, the most expensive and the best books available in the world will be somewhere in this Commonwealth and will be available to any person, in any section of Pennsylvania, through this coordination which we are trying to obtain. Believe me, Mr. President, this subsection about which Senator Stroup felt, perhaps, I was spending an undue amount of time is vital to this. Unless we have the kind of coordination described here, the money which we may give the libraries will be so much money poured down the drain. If we are going to do this without a plan and without any way of making it effective, then we are wasting taxpayers' money to even propose giving aid to libraries.

Therefore, Mr. President, this is important. Each one of the sections about which the gentleman is concerned is important. I intend to see that, at least, we look over them carefully and thoughtfully and find out what the gentlemen on the other side have in mind in wanting to change it, before we take action which might wreck this bill. I believe the effect of these amendments, collectively, is to destroy this bill. They will destroy its effectiveness.

Duck and dodge, as we may, but let us face up to it. A vote for these amendments is a vote for the death of effective library service in Pennsylvania. I do not say that the gentleman has in mind the intention to kill this bill. A person who is killed by somebody's accidental action, of course, is just as dead as someone who is killed intentionally. However, I say in my considered opinion—and the people who have worked on this bill say the same thing—that this set of amendments would destroy the effectiveness of this bill. I hope we do not have very many Members in this Senate who are willing to go on record as helping to kill a bill which is so important to the welfare of our citizens.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate make this matter a Special Order of Business at 3:00 p.m., at tomorrow's Session. The date is April 18, 1961.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, it seems as though we are going to have a hot, critical issue about the arts, set for 3:00 tomorrow afternoon. It just so happens that the Penn-State Glee Club is on tour. At the urgent request of the two good singers in the Senate, the distinguished alumnus of Temple University, President pro tempore Anthony DiSilvestro, and the illustrious alumnus from Cornell University, the Senator from Allegheny County, we have been able to get this group to stop here at 2:00 tomorrow afternoon, to try to fill this Chamber with harmony for twenty or thirty minutes.

The Penn-State Glee Club will perform for us at 2:00 tomorrow afternoon.

PRAYER

The Reverend Albert W. Smith, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Carmichaels, Greene County, guest Chaplain and guest of the majority leader, Mr. McCann, and the House Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Eternal God, our Heavenly Father, Thou who art the Creator and Sustainer of all life—Thou art the Giver of every good and perfect gift. It is in Thee we live and move and have our being. We thank Thee for Thy Divine Providence, protection, and perservation. Manifold are the blessings and benefits we receive at Thy hand. Abundant and abounding is Thy Grace toward us. We are so unworthy.

We thank Thee for our Nation and pray for Thy continued mercies and considerations. We thank Thee for this Commonwealth, for its leaders, its peoples and its institutions. May we ever as a people, in this State be grateful and humble and walk before Thee in the land of the living. To this end grant Thy unlimited blessing, spirit and guidance upon this body and House of Representatives that those choices and decisions made may enable the people of this State to more perfectly do Thy will and more worthily magnify Thy Holy Name.

May we find in Thee and in each other, and in the work Thou hast given us to do, inspiration and challenge that will result in a commitment to Thee and the task at hand, that we may be found to be good and faithful servants through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair declares a brief recess in order that we may have the pleasure of presenting two distinguished Pennsylvanians.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. First, George A. Goodling. I think a great many of you remember Goodling. We miss his apples. We miss his apples very much, and we miss Goodling, and we hope that being down at Washington has not rubbed off any of the gloss and polish that characterized him when he was a member of this House. George, say a few words to the Members.

HONORABLE GEORGE A. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker. I want to assure you I have apples in the Washington office all the time. Any time you come down there you can get your usual apple.

I am scared to say anything. There was a time when I liked to speak, but I no longer do that. I was talking to a group some time ago and I thought I was doing a reasonably good job and some fellow in the back of the room said, "Well, you are silly." I did not pay any attention to him. I just kept on talking and I thought I was doing better all the time. Again he said, "Well, you are silly." That time I thought I had noticed a little thick tongue that he had, and I continued and I thought I was getting to the climax of my speech and doing a still better job, and again he said, "You are silly." I said, "You are drunk." He said, "Well, I will be sober tomorrow morning."

It is nice to come back here and meet with my old friends, and bring you greetings from Washington and I trust that sometime, if you are in Washington, you will drop into the office to see me. The door is always open and I will be delighted to have you. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for the privilege of being here.

SENATOR SCOTT WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. It is now the Chair's pleasure to present a friend, a political opponent now and then, but a friend throughout the years, United States Senator Hugh Scott.

SENATOR HUGH SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House of Representatives, it is indeed true that some of the things I say are quite partisan and some perhaps may be thought of as unduly harsh, but I assure you that friendship is more valuable than partisanship. My admiration for the Speaker of the House and for its membership is long standing. I have not spoken from this rostrum since 1947. I have had some experience in another House of Representatives, but in January 1959, when I went to the Senate, I was quite curious as to their parliamentary procedure and I assure you that it is far more lax and less orderly and is not kept in quite the same formal control and dignity as the Honorable Speaker here has managed to do with this House.

Not knowing exactly what to do as a new member of the Senate, and being anxious to talk, since under the House Rules I could only talk one minute, and I was told I could talk as long as I wanted in the Senate, I asked Senator Williams of Delaware what I had to do to propose a bill or an amendment or to introduce some document, and he said, "Any time you feel like it, you get up and you address the president. You do it any time of day; you do it whenever you are moved to do it; and if the presiding officer sees you he will recognize you. And the first thing you have to remember in the Senate of the United States is that we do not have any rules down here." I have found that more true with every day that has passed.

I am very happy, indeed, to be here with you. I greatly appreciate the honor. Again my thanks to the Speaker for permitting me the chance to delay and hold up the wheels of progress of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and at the same time managing to neglect my duties in Washington, happily, for this one day. Thank you.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER. The time of recess having expired, the Chair will proceed with the regular order.

DELEGATION OF GIRL SCOUTS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the gallery of a delegation of six Sisters, nuns, and more than one hundred girl scouts from St. Raphael's High School in the Morningside district of Pittsburgh. In charge of the delegation is the Reverend Sister Vincent Mary. They left Pittsburgh, incidentally, at 6 a. m. this morning. The delegation are the guests of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk. Will that delegation please rise?

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair also noticed a few minutes ago the presence in the House of a former member of the House, from Fayette County, Burton Tarr. If the gentleman is still in the hall of the House, will he please rise?

The Chair thanks the gentleman.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, April 12, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

BIRTHDAYS

The SPEAKER. There was a big demonstration around about this morning. The Chair is sometimes in doubt as to what it was all about. General of the Army Eisenhower was in town, and it was the birthday today of the gentleman, the minority floor leader, Albert Johnson. He autographed all the cards that were presented to him this morning, every one.

It is also the birthday of the gentleman from Pittsburgh, Mr. Foerster.

Will Dr. Dengler perform his usual function?

Mr. DENGLER. Mr. Speaker, I think we should first sing our adulations to our minority leader, Happy birthday, dear Al," then "Happy birthday, dear Tommy."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to go a little further on what you mentioned this morning. We were all at the railroad station, waiting for the arrival of the President, and the auditor general, Charlie Smith, came up to me and said, "Albert, this is your birthday today. I know because I sent you a birthday card." So, the news of my birthday, of course, spread through the crowd down there and there was some question as to whether my birthday was not more important than the arrival of President Eisenhower. But soon my thoughts along that line were dispelled because the President came and, of course, it was a tremendous day in Harrisburg, because of the arrival of the President.

I want to thank you people for remembering my birthday and I want to tell you all that I enjoy immensely being a member of this great House of Representatives and I cherish the friendships that I have made with you lovely people all through the years.

I thank you.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GEORGE, OGILVIE, KISTLER, HORST, COMER and WORLEY. RESOLUTION No. 57.

In the House of Representatives, April 12, 1961.

Upon the one hundredth anniversary of the Civil War, the various states which took part in that epic struggle are commemorating the historic events and locations associated therewith. The vital role which Pennsylvania played in the Civil War is known by all. Our Commonwealth was among the first to take a firm stand in defense of the Union, and by many brave deeds and noble efforts fully kept that pledge. In addition thereto, the most decisive battle of the Civil War, the Battle of Gettysburg, was fought within our boundaries.

U. S. Highway Route 15 served as the major route for the armies of both the North and the South to reach that battle. It is fitting that this highway be officially named as a tribute to the men in blue and gray who marched so gallantly into battle thereon; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby respectfully requests the Governor and the Secretary of Highways to officially name and designate U. S. Highway Route 15 in Pennsylvania as "The Blue and Gray Highway," and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor and the Secretary of Highways.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. CURWOOD, CROSSIN, SHUPNIK, WILLARD and DOWN. RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, April 12, 1961.

Saturday night, March 25, 1961, the Nanticoke High School basketball team won the State Championship in the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg, by defeating the Hickory Township Basketball team of Mercer County. The final record of these two teams was Nanticoke won 25 and lost but 1 game. Hickory Township won 25 games and lost only 2.

The enthusiastic welcome received by the Nanticoke players upon their return home testifies to the high esteem by which this team is held in their home town. The people of Pennsylvania are proud of this team. The team represents an enormous amount of effort and work put forth by the Coach Sylvester Bozinski and the members of the team who put out the great efforts that resulted in the championship of the State of Pennsylvania.

The City of Nanticoke and Luzerne County are justifiably proud of this team and the State of Pennsylvania takes this method through the House of Representatives to commend the basketball team of Nanticoke, the Coach, Sylvester Bozinski, the Principal of Nanticoke High School, Anthony Diksa, the Superintendent of Schools, Joseph Siesko, and the good people of Nanticoke and Luzerne County.

The Hickory Township Basketball Team of Mercer County is also to be commended, together with Francis Webster the head coach for the spirit of splendid sportsmanship shown in the playoff for the championship of the State in Harrisburg. Hickory Township and Mercer County are to be congratulated on the splendid record of this team and the championship caliber it evidenced in the final playoff.

The records of these two does not entirely indicate the full meaning of this victory. Basketball has become one of the outstanding sports in this State. Each area of the State has entered the competition with consummate zeal and a will to win. As a consequence more than half the teams faced by the winners were of championship caliber. These young men who participated in these games have received valuable experience in true sportsmanship and life's stern battle of competition. The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proud to hail these young men as citizens of this State; therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives hereby commends and congratulates the Basketball Team of Nanticoke in winning the State Championship of Pennsylvania. We further congratulate Sylvester Bozinski the coach of the team, Anthony Diksa, Principal of Nanticoke High School, and Joseph Siesko, Superintendent of Schools, for their efforts in producing a team of this caliber; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Sylvester Bozinski, Coach, Anthony Diksa, Principal of Nanticoke High School, Joseph Siesko, Superintendent of Schools in Nanticoke and to Francis Webster, Coach of Hickory Township, Mercer County.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 104.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 104

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of Senate Resolution Serial No. 104.

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

In the Senate, January 23, 1961.

On January 20, 1961, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to Pennsylvania from which his ancestors came prior to the migration which led them to Texas where he was born in 1890.

He gave all of his life to our country and brought honor to the Pennsylvania of his origins.

From a humble beginning, his boyhood, life and training led him in the direction of his country's service to the United States Military Academy at West Point from which he graduated in 1915.

He served the Armed Forces in the Canal Zone under General Fox Conner, in the Philippines with General Douglas MacArthur; was placed in command of the Allied Forces for the North African Invasion in 1942 and, on December 31, 1943, he was named Commanding General of the Allied Powers for the European Theater of Operations. Later he served as Chief of Staff of the United States Army and was placed in command of the NATO Forces in Europe.

A scholar and administrator, he served as President of Columbia University before ascending to the greatest height of our time, the Presidency of the United States.

As our Chief Executive and Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces, he kept the peace through eight long troublesome years.

After half a century of distinguished service to the nation and the world, it is mete and right that he should return to Gettysburg, there to dwell in his first permanent home with his good wife Mamie, overlooking the field of the great decisive battle which preserved the Union of these great United States.

Resolved (the House concurring), that it is with great pride and enthusiasm that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania welcomes Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower to the soil of Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Eisenhowers at Gettysburg.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was unanimously concurred in.

Ordered, That the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

STATEMENT BY MR. WORLEY

Mr. WORLEY submitted the following statement for the record:

I am sure the Sunday Patriot-News of yesterday was writing in good faith, but on the basis of inadequate information, when their editorial stated that a legislator's job is a part-time job. Mr. Speaker, I want to make it very clear that being a legislator is a full-time job, at least for some of us. Anyone can see me working at this Capitol five full days per week, with the exception of about two weeks before the primary and general elections. For 17 years I have worked five days a week here in Harrisburg whether this General Assembly was in session or not. In addition, my constituents come to our home to consult with me, thus taking up many evenings and a good part of Saturdays and Sundays. Incidentally, I wish to point out that even when the legislature is in session I receive mileage allowance for the 43 miles round trip only once during the week. Thus, for four days each week I pay the mileage myself. When the legislature is not in session, I pay all five days.

Mr. Speaker, I do not see how I can be called anything but a full-time legislator on the basis of the facts.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 430

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 430, Printer's No. 1302, entitled:

"An Act declaring the policy of the Commonwealth with regard to discriminatory practices in educational institutions based upon race, religion, color, ancestry or national origin, prohibiting such discriminatory practices; providing for procedure and enforcement; providing for judicial review; providing for administration by the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission in the Department of Labor and Industry and defining its functions, powers and duties hereunder."

was defeated on final passage Wednesday, April 5, 1961, be reconsidered.

Mr. HOLMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Holman vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HOLMAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. I will be happy to be interrogated, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is there any reason why the bill being revised cannot be put on the postponed calendar in order to consider some amendments tomorrow when we have more time?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. Honestly, if you remember that was the reason we held it up until this time. I think we should roll the bill today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am only thinking of the time element here. The order of the day is 6 o'clock adjournment, but we can do the same thing tomorrow when we have more time on our hands. That is the only thing. But I will abide by the wishes of the gentleman.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House bill 430, printer's No. 1302, passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 4, page 5, by inserting between lines 15 and 16:

(d) Nothing in this section shall prohibit any educational institution from accepting and administering any intervives or testamentary gift upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the donor.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to debate the amendments at length, but merely mention the provisions of the amendments because we have previously gone over this whole subject, I think, quite thoroughly in the debate on the bill when it was up the last time.

These amendments merely provide that nothing in this section shall prohibit any educational institution from accepting and administering any inter vivos or testamentary gifts upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the donors.

In effect, it means that if a donor leaves a gift to an institution, similar to what was reported on Amherst College just last week, where the courts turned down the gift and declared it invalid because the restrictions as to its use were to the benefit of a restricted class of people and not generally for all classes who want to attend Amherst College, if a person wants to make a gift either during his lifetime or by a will and put certain restrictions on the thing, the educational institution will have to administer the gift according to the terms of the gift.

We ask you to support this amendment.

Mr. FINEMAN. I rise to oppose these amendments, Mr. Speaker.

First of all, I would like to correct—

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I find it very difficult to follow this argument without having a copy of the bill on my desk. I think this bill should be put on the postponed calendar or, at least, members should be furnished with copies of it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman well knows the only bills that are on the member's desks are the bills on the day's calendar, and he also knows that a request to a page to get a particular bill with a particular printer's number will result in the gentleman having the bill on his desk.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I understand that, Mr. Speaker, but it seems to me that this bill is of such importance that every member should have a copy of the bill on his desk. I do not think there is any reason for haste. I think we can pass this bill tomorrow just as well as today.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would rule that that is not a point of order. That is a complaint which can be remedied by a motion to postpone temporarily.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cameron made mention of the Amherst College case in which the New Jersey Supreme Court had ruled that a $200,000 scholarship loan bequest could not be restricted to a particular religion.

I want to bring to his attention that the reason the Supreme Court of New Jersey so ruled in that particular case was because of the fact that the charter of the school itself specifically said that it could not accept any such grant under those conditions. It was the school which took the position that it would not accept this bequest because the charter said we cannot restrict the type of students that will come into this college. It was for that reason, and not the reason that you seek to advance at this time, that the bequest was turned down.

Now, the point that I want to make most emphatically to the members of this House, and the reason I stand here today to oppose these amendments and to oppose all amendments that are going to be made to this bill, is this: The Democratic Party, if it can help it, is not going to be called upon to vote for a bill that makes only a pretext of barring discrimination in education. It is not going to have before it a bill for a vote that is only a sham. We either are going to have a law that says there shall be no discrimination, or we shall tolerate discrimination, and that is the choice that you are going to be called upon to make. We cannot accept discrimination in degrees, or in shades, or on a piecemeal basis. We want discrimination outlawed entirely and completely because it is in contravention of existing laws, it is in contravention of every moral and religious tenet that I know of.

Only last week the very charming lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley, took the microphone in this House and very eloquently spoke about the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. During the course of her remarks she said words to the effect that we should not tolerate discrimination among our motorists and we should not make certain motorists second-class citizens.

Now, should the plea of those students who desire to enter our institutions of higher learning and who are turned away fall upon less sympathetic ears than the plea by Mrs. Markley on behalf of motorists? I think not.

Last week you will recall that our gallery was full of children from the eighth grade. Is it reasonable to believe for a moment that it is proper that any one of those children should some day be denied the right to pursue a higher education because by accident of birth they happen to be of a religion that is in the minority or a color that is in the minority? There is a very trite but appropriate expression that goes, "There but for the grace of God, go I."

I want to make one more point, and I hope that members of the press will give proper coverage to this point, because when I read the newspaper articles after our debate last week, it was the adamant refusal of the entire Republican delegation, except for two people, and it was your adamant refusal to pass this bill that caused its defeat. Yet you might think, after having read the article, that the defeat was caused by the Democratic Party. And I was not quite sure that the articles described the same occurrence in which I participated.

But I want to repeat this, and I hope the press repeats it in the newspapers, you people have made a pledge, you have made a platform, and there are men sitting in this House today on your side who helped phrase that platform, who helped put together the language and the principles that are in that platform. Do you mean to say that you are going to make a platform that says one thing and you are going to come in this House and do the complete reverse of what you promised the people you would do?

If you expect the people to have any confidence in your integrity, in what you stand for, then you better follow through on your commitments.

I repeat that the Democratic Party, which has also made this pledge, today is going to redeem that pledge; at least, it is going to make an effort to redeem that pledge; and I hope you do likewise.

It is for these reasons that I ask the members on both sides of the aisle to turn down these amendments.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of these amendments.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is it the purpose of this amendment to specifically exempt Girard College?

Mr. TOMPKINS. No, these amendments will protect any man who wants to make a gift to an institution of higher learning to see that the funds and the purpose for his bequest or his gift is carried out.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, it no doubt would include Girard College, but it is not limited to them by any means. So, Girard College would be included within the provisions of the bill as it now is written.

Mr. TOMPKINS. As I understand it, Girard College is not a post-secondary school and therefore it would not be included under the provisions of this bill, but there is nothing that says that the bill could not also draw them into it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, is it that you are not sure, sir, that Girard College is included?

Mr. TOMPKINS. My understanding of the bill is that it applies only to post-secondary schools, and Girard College is not a post-secondary school. Therefore the provisions of the bill, in any event, would not apply to Girard College with or without these amendments.

Mr. McCORMACK. The amendments would not affect that, is that correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is my understanding.

Mr. McCORMACK. One further question. With respect to the United States Constitution, does a person have a right to make a provision in his will that discriminates on the basis of color?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I have always understood that a man has the right to do anything with his property that he wants to.

I hope we have not come to the point where they can tell a man what to do with his property other than what they take away from him in taxes.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am sure you are not serious in meaning what you just said, that a person has the right to do anything with his property by will.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I am serious.

Mr. McCORMACK. Anything that is legal.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, of course, you are trying to get into the question of putting out a lot of money for corruption, and so forth—no, I do not believe in that.

If a man wants to give money for the benefit of higher education to a certain group he certainly ought to be allowed to.

Mr. McCORMACK. But there is nothing in the decisions construing the Constitution as now prohibiting a person from discriminating in his will on the basis of color, is that what you said?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is my understanding. Even the United States Supreme Court in the Girard College case so held, within the last couple of years.

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, and ask him that same question, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Is that the gentleman's understanding of the decisions construing the Constitution?

Mr. FINEMAN. I think that the gentleman well knows that the right to transfer property, the right to bequeath, or to divide property, is in fact not a right at all. It is a privilege. It is a statutorily created privilege that the State gives to any testator. Since it is a privilege, it can therefore be enshrouded in reasonable restrictions which will prevent a bequest or devise that works contrary to public policy. For instance, a man could not bequeath a certain sum of money to his child, conditioned upon his child never getting married, because that is contrary to public policy. Therefore, the courts would not tolerate any such provision and would strike it down.

Now, when we enacted Senate bill 53, which is our Fair Housing Bill, we adopted a public policy in this State and said "public accommodation." It cleared institutions of higher learning, the same institutions that are referred to in House bill 430, and there cannot be any discrimination in public accommodations. Therefore, if the matter were to come before the court today I would have to say that the court would strike down such a provision. However—and this is the important point—there is nothing in this bill that says that a man cannot leave money that will give preference to a religious sect, to a particular group, to any named group of individuals. All we are saying is that a man cannot leave money if under the condition it says, no Negro, no Italian, no Jew, or any other minority person can come into this clause. But he can give preference.

Mr. McCORMACK. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what the gentleman from Philadelphia has said is exactly what these amendments provide for, that they be administered according to the terms of the donor's will, according to the terms of the gift. I disagree very heartily with his philosophy regarding the inability of a man to dispose of his own property as he may see fit.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, if these amendments were enacted into law, a testator today would have a perfect right, if this bill were to pass, to leave money creating a school, but the school could get the money only upon the condition that no Negro would come into the portals of this school. If that is what you want, vote for these amendments. That is not what we want on this side of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DONALDSON asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 13, by striking out "primarily"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. DONALDSON. For the purpose of speaking on the amendment, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman for that purpose.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, this is a very simple amendment. It simply takes out the word "primarily" on page 3, line 13, of the bill. The purpose of the amendment is to clarify the exemption from the provisions of the bill for certain universities and colleges that have a religious or denominational connection. This was impressed while I was in church on Sunday when in the Presbyterian Church they requested particular support to six particular colleges in Pennsylvania which have a definite Presbyterian background. These types of institutions, I believe, should be exempt from the provisions of the bill insofar as they might wish to admit a certain number or percentage or quota of their own denominational people for the reason that these colleges and universities receive substantial support from the local churches that make up that particular denomination. In connection with these amendments, Mr. Speaker, I would request permission to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, when we considered this bill about two weeks ago, I asked the gentleman this question and I will ask it of him again: If Allegheny College with its long Methodist tradition would decide that it would set a quota for its entering class, and that it would admit 10 percent—

Mr. FINEMAN. I am sorry, set a quota for what?

Mr. DONALDSON. For its entering class, for its new freshman class—if it would decide that 10 percent of its entering class would be Methodist, would that be a violation of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. It would not.

Mr. DONALDSON. Then I would ask the gentleman if Allegheny College would set a quota of 50 percent Methodist, would that be a violation of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. It would not.

Mr. DONALDSON. Now I would ask the gentleman if Allegheny College would set a quota of 100 percent, would that be a violation?

Mr. FINEMAN. It would.

Mr. DONALDSON. Will the gentleman tell me, without making a speech, what percentage he arrives at between 50 and 100 percent that does not constitute a violation?

Mr. FINEMAN. This bill does not concern itself with percentages. It may be just a single student involved. This bill concerns itself with exclusion. I do not care if a school has 99.99 percent of the faith of a particular religion, or of a particular sect, or a particular color, as long as they do not close their doors to someone who is not of that faith and comes to the school in order to have the opportunity to pursue a higher education.

Mr. DONALDSON. If Allegheny College decided that 99.9 percent of its freshman class must be Methodist, would that be a violation of the bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. Why, you are stretching it to the ridiculous, Mr. Donaldson. I will answer your question.

There is nothing in the bill that says that a school cannot prefer students of one particular religious sect over another. The bill states that no institution shall turn away any student, however, because he does not happen to be of that particular sect, or race, or color.

Mr. DONALDSON. Well, I will ask the gentleman this: If Allegheny College decided that 10 or 50 or 90 percent of its entering freshman class should be of the caucasian race, would that be a violation of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. I think not.

Mr. DONALDSON. Well then, the gentleman thinks that if they got to 100 percent they would be in violation, but anything less than that would not be, is that it?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is right. At that point, that marks the delineation between exclusion and preference.

Mr. DONALDSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. FINEMAN. You are welcome.

Mr. DONALDSON. Members of the House, I recognize the gentleman is a learned attorney. I have ofttimes heard the term "Philadelphia lawyer" used, sometimes with some humor, and if there is a difference between 99.99 percent and 100 percent, I think you would have to be a Philadelphia lawyer to understand the difference.

The fact of the matter is, Mr. Speaker, that certain denominational institutions are exempted from the operation of this bill because of their organic character, and other denominational institutions that have paid equal attention to the denomination from which they are derived are within the purview of this bill. For that reason I think this amendment should be adopted to clarify the bill and to exempt all these institutions which are denominational in character, which have a right to be and which I think every member of the House agrees they have a right to be. I would ask for a roll call on the amendment.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is my considered judgment that the gentleman from Allegheny does Allegheny College and any other school that has some religious traditions a great injustice to stand here on the floor of the House and tell these members that we want this amendment because we want to give the school the right to discriminate in any extent. That is a serious reflection on those schools. Why, these schools would be the last, the very last, to tolerate any sort of discrimination.

As long as we are in this area of religion, just let me say this, and I am no theologian and I am no student of the Bible, but I know there is a basic tenet that runs through all religions which has to do with fraternity or equality or brotherhood of man, and if you would stand there and tell these members that you are trying to enact into law something that is contrary to what these people believe, contrary to the brotherhood of man, then you are doing them a disservice, and I ask the members, in the interest of Allegheny college and the other schools similarly situated, as well as in the interest of justice, plain, simple, basic decent, honest justice, to vote down these amendments.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his great interest in Allegheny College and assure him of my own continued interest in that estimable institution.

The fact of the matter is, Mr. Speaker, there is absolutely nothing wrong with Allegheny College or any Presbyterian college, or any other denominational college having a certain number of its entering class of that denomination because it receives substantial support and revenues from that church or denominational group; there is nothing wrong with that. And the further fact of the matter is, and I think the gentleman knows it, that practice could and I say would be interpreted by the people who are going to administer this bill as a violation of this bill, and they have no business interfering in the affairs of that university or college. I again ask for a roll call on the amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Amend Sec. 6, page 7, lines 4 and 5, by striking out "except religious or denominational institutions"

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gross, for the purpose of explaining the amendments.

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, these amendments are very simple. They are to open a better bill, an education bill. These amendments make it a fair education bill and they include all institutions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, these amendments were just handed to me for the first time, but I am not going to ask for any delay on this thing while I read the amendments. We are going to vote this bill today. Now, these amendments, as I gather from my hurried reading of them, seek to strike out religious institutions. Now, religious institutions under the terms of this bill are accepted. And they are accepted for the principle that is set forth on page 2 of the bill, a principle that is set forth in one sentence and I would like to read that one sentence. "It is recognized that there is a fundamental American right for members of various religious faiths to establish and maintain educational institutions exclusively or primarily for students of their own religious faith." I am not going to seek to destroy that principle. And I do not ask any member of this House to seek to destroy it, so for this reason I ask that these amendments be voted down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, desire to be recognized?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly speak on these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, although it is true that the sponsors of these amendments said they are very simple ones, nevertheless, they raise a very important and serious question in my mind as to whether or not we are doing the right thing. Now, I have sat here and voted against the amendment by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson, that struck out the word, "primarily." And I think the primary reason why I voted against that amendment was that you could frustrate the will of the legislature and the very intent behind this legislation by striking out that word. But I say the very important distinction between that amendment and this is that religious institutions are created primarily for the purpose of giving a person a full and a whole education, not alone with the education that we get under the public school system or any other type of private school system. We have a religious school that teaches you the moral law and that is the prime purpose why we have religious schools, to inculcate religious training in the individual student.

Now, I am taking for example a Catholic institution that is controlled by the Catholic Church, that has religious boards of trustees. There is no question but that they fit into the definition, to the exclusion definition in the original bill, and rightly so. I say that they have a right to discriminate, they have a right to permit a student of that particular faith to go to that school over and above a student of another faith. And I say that that is legal discrimination, it is lawful discrimination, and under the Constitution their rights to have that type of a school are protected. Specifically, the case going back to 1925, Pierce versus the Society of Sisters, held that they had a right to have private religious schools. So if this amendment were to be adopted, you would be saying, although this school is primarily established and established exclusively for the purpose of giving, in addition to a secular education, a student the education concerning the laws of the Church and religious education, it just does not make sense. And I therefore say there is a basis for discrimination here that is lawful and legal and entirely moral. And therefore I ask you to vote down this amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

Mr. DONALDSON. I agree about one hundred and fifty percent with the statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack. The only purpose of the prior amendment was to grant that same privilege to those other schools which have denominational characteristics. I thank the House.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. ANDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like these remarks spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The lady will send her statement to the desk to be spread upon the record of the House. The Chair hears no objection.

Mrs. ANDERSON filed the following statement for the record:

Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on behalf of House bill 430 and to urge upon the membership of this House in connection therewith affirmative favorable action that will clearly and unmistakably point up that discrimination, and the denial of equal education opportunities cannot find approval or endure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

There are certain basic and fundamental principles that give birth to this legislation, the preservation of which is essential to our collective well-being and which every fair-minded citizen knows to be beyond attack. Among these tenets is the proposition forming the very foundation of our Democratic state and being the very bedrock of our Constitution, that all men are created equal, having been endowed with certain inalienable rights, and that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. There is implicit in this declaration the right to be able to secure and to pursue an advancement of one's position in society through education. We also adopt with complete accord and unity in our approbation the proposition that the progress of our community relies upon the development, the encouragement, the discovery and the fostering of talent without regard to race, religion, color, ancestry or national origin. We have been made painfully aware of this truism in the last decade since the advent of exploration into outer space which has resulted in a national call for developing on a crash-program basis our full scientific and educational potential.

If then we are in agreement that the most precious asset of American life is the assurance of equal rights for all, the allowance of broader opportunities for all, the preservation of the dignity of the individual, then I say we have too long delayed in striking down those practices that run contrary to these beliefs—practices that we have naively tolerated as not being unduly oppressive or destructive of our desired way of life. This Commonwealth has traditionally been identified as the Keystone State in the struggle for human freedom. It is time, indeed, that this freedom should be extended into the domain of higher education so that educational opportunities should not be denied to anyone because of race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin.

House bill 430 is legislation that seeks to accomplish this equality of opportunity and in this purpose it in no way imposes any undue burden on the schools that are covered by the law. This bill is not an indictment; it is not an accusation—rather it is an expression of policy. It is not geared primarily to the processing of complaints but rather to a comprehensive educational program under which the human relations commission will be empowered to deal with the subject so as to ensure full and equal opportunity to every student on the basis of his individual merit and without regard to his race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin.

The human relations commission is empowered by this bill to make visits to the schools, study their admission practice procedures, observe what factors determine whether a given applicant will be accepted or rejected and work out amicably whatever adjustments are needed in order to eliminate and prevent prejudice and discrimination in educational institutions.

In this day of exploding populations and resultant increased student enrollments, the Commonwealth must publicly declare a policy on admission to institutions of higher learning. The facilities for educating our students have not kept pace with this population expansion and of necessity therefore it is to be anticipated that there will not be space for all. We must therefore insure that the opportunity to obtain an education will be determined solely by merit and ability and not by factors which run contrary to our Constitution and the welfare of this State. The need for this legislation exists and I ask the members of this House to respond to this need and to cast their votes for House bill 430.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Kistler, rise?

Mr. KISTLER. I would like to have the statement of my reason for my vote spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will send his statement to the desk.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. KISTLER filed the following reasons for his vote on House bill No. 430.

Colleges, whether they be church connected or not, have a responsibility to educate the whole child. To prohibit, by an act of the legislature, an inquiry as to the race, ethnic origin or religion of an applicant for admission to any school will prohibit school administrators from providing for the religious and social welfare and wellbeing of their school students. This will create a vacuum into which the devil will quickly rush, gleefully proclaiming that now the spiritual and social concern of students has been brushed aside by a secular drive in the name of fairness to minority groups.

If there is anything, any place or any point where we languish as a Nation it is in matters of the spirit. The brotherhood of man, under the fatherhood of God, will never be brought into being through the process being considered here today and those who look to the legislative halls for the regimentation and enforcement of social moves of the nature under consideration here today do so in vain and at the expense of the spiritual wellbeing of the students of these institutions of learning. I believe that children of every race, color and creed should be treated with equality, with fairness, with concern for his wellbeing as a child of God in the institutions of learning of this Commonwealth. If it were a matter so simple of solution as to be capable of treatment by legislative action, is any one of us so naive as to believe that it would not have been accomplished long ago?

RESOLUTION

COMMENDATION

Messrs. TOMPKINS, A. W. JOHNSON and RENWICK offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1961.

Whereas, On April 17, 1861, Thomas L. Kane, of Smethport, McKean County, Pennsylvania, issued a call by authority of Governor Curtin for volunteer rifles and marksmen "prepared to take up arms immediately, to support the Constitution of the United States and defend the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania"; and

Whereas, James Landregan, while lounging in front of the Smethport headquarters, spied a deer hide hanging outside a butcher shop across the street. Noticing that the tail was somewhat larger than the average, he cut it off and stuck it in his hat, little dreaming that he was about to give an entire regiment its distinctive insignia. Thomas Kane thought that there could not be a more appropriate name for an outfit from the mounains of Northern Pennsylvania since deer abounded upon every hillside. Kane decided immediately that it would be the "Bucktails"; and

Whereas, Volunteers from McKean, Elk and Cameron Counties responded and converged upon the town of Driftwood, Cameron County, Pennsylvania, from where, on April 27, 1861, the Cameron County Rifles under the Command of John A. Eldred, afterwards Company "C" Bucktails, mustered in June 1, 1861, mustered out June 11, 1864; the Elk County Rifles under the Command of Captain Thomas B. Winslow, afterwards Company "G" Bucktails, mustered in May 29, 1861, mustered out June 11, 1864; and the McKean County Rifles under the Command of Captain William T. Blanchard, afterwards Company "I" Bucktails, mustered in May 30, 1861, mustered out June 11, 1864; all under the leadership of Thomas L. Kane, afterwards Commanding Officer of the Regiment and later a Major-General, embarked upon four rafts for Harrisburg, where they were mustered into the service of the State and formed the nucleus about which the Bucktail Regiment of the 13th Pennsylvania Reserve Corps, the 42nd Pennsylvania Volunteers was organized, which, during the term of service, was almost continuously attached to the Army of the Potomac.

During their service, they participated and were engaged in the following campaigns and battles: Danesville, Mchanicsville, Gaines Mills, New Market Cross Roads, Malvern Hill, Harrisonburg, Cross Keys, Catlett's Station, Groveton, Second Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietum, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Wilderness, Spottsylvania Court House, North Anna and Bethesda Church; and

Whereas, On April 27, 1908, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania caused to be erected at Driftwood an appropriate monument to the valor and glory of this patriotic Regiment; and

Whereas, The Historical Societies of McKean, Elk and Cameron Counties are meeting at Driftwood on April 27, 1961, to mark the centennial of the departure of this colorful outfit for enlistment in the service of their country; and

Whereas, On May 30, 1961, the present Veterans' Organizations of McKean, Elk and Cameron Counties, together with descendants of this famous Regiment, will gather at the Bucktail Monument at Driftwood to commemorate the centennial of the departure of these volunteer rifles and marksmen for the war between the States; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, pays tribute to these valiant men who constituted the volunteer rifles and marksmen who became known as the "Bucktails"; and be it further

Resolved, That we commend the Historical Societies of McKean, Elk and Cameron Counties and the Veterans' Organizations of said Counties, for commemorating this centennial event, and for carrying on the spirit, the courage, the faith and the patriotism of such worthy and hardy men; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Historical Societies of McKean, Elk and Cameron Counties.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GEORGE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 18, 1961, at 1 p.m., e.s.t.
